Declaration, a little common sense spirited 1776

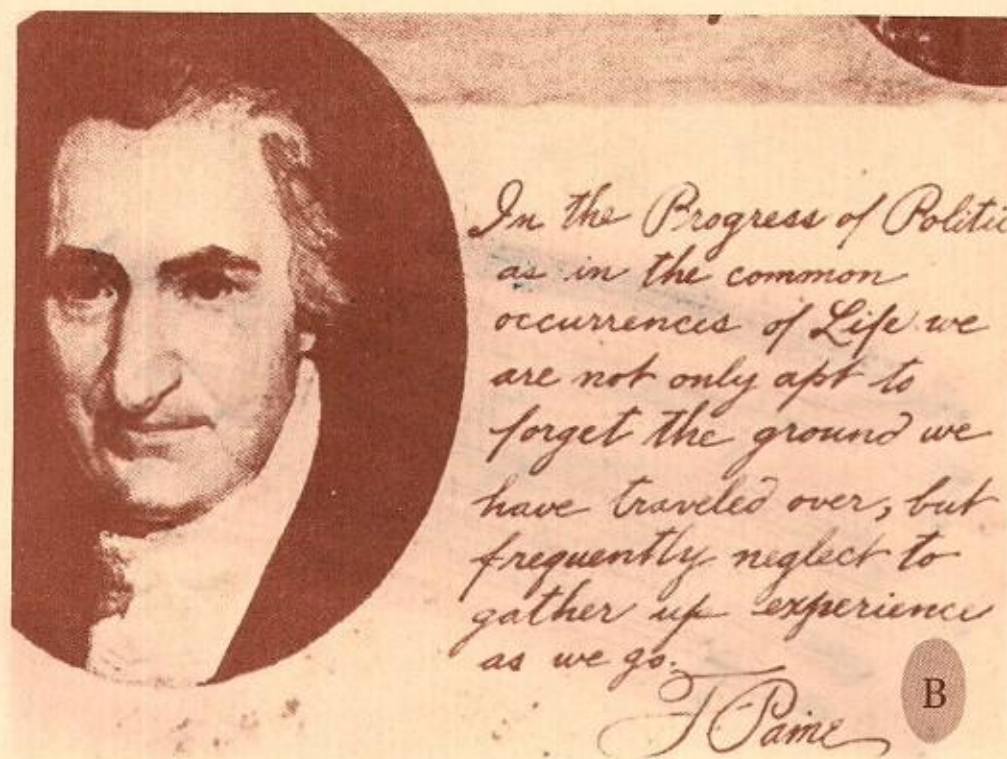

January 9-Thomas Paine (B), a young Englishman who had recently come to America, published a 47 page pamphlet titled "Common Sense." Within three months it had become a colonial best-seller, selling over 120,000 copies, and quickly became a major factor in influencing people's views on independence. George Washington noted: "I find 'Common Sense' is working a powerful change in the minds of men."

It was also about this time in 1776 that Paul Revere (D) became a member of the Committee of Correspondence. Revere is chiefly remembered for his famous ride on the night of April 18, 1775, to warn Lexington that the British were coming.

In the Progress of Politic as in the common occurrences of Life we are not only apt to forget the ground we have traveled over, but frequently neglect to July 4-The Declaration of Independence was signed and adopted by members of the Continental Congress at Independence Hall, Philadelphia (F). The actual document was written by a committee of five, headed by Thomas Jefferson. Other members were John Adams, Benjamin Franklin (C), Robert R. Livingston and Roger Sherman.

D

During the summer of 1776, Daniel Boone (E) was busy searching the woods round Boonesboro, Kentucky, for one of his daughters who had been kidnapped by the Indians. She was later found. Allied with the British, the Indians, mainly Shawnee and Cherokee, tried unsuccessfully to detach Kentucky from Virginia in the American Revolution.

Indiana-frontier territory-becomes 19th U S state

1779-With the Revolutionary War going on in the east, General George Rogers Clark captured Ft. Sackville in Vincennes, Indiana, on Feb. 25. Clark, along with 100 men (A), brought about the surrender of Colonel Henry Hamilton, thus securing the Northwest Territory.

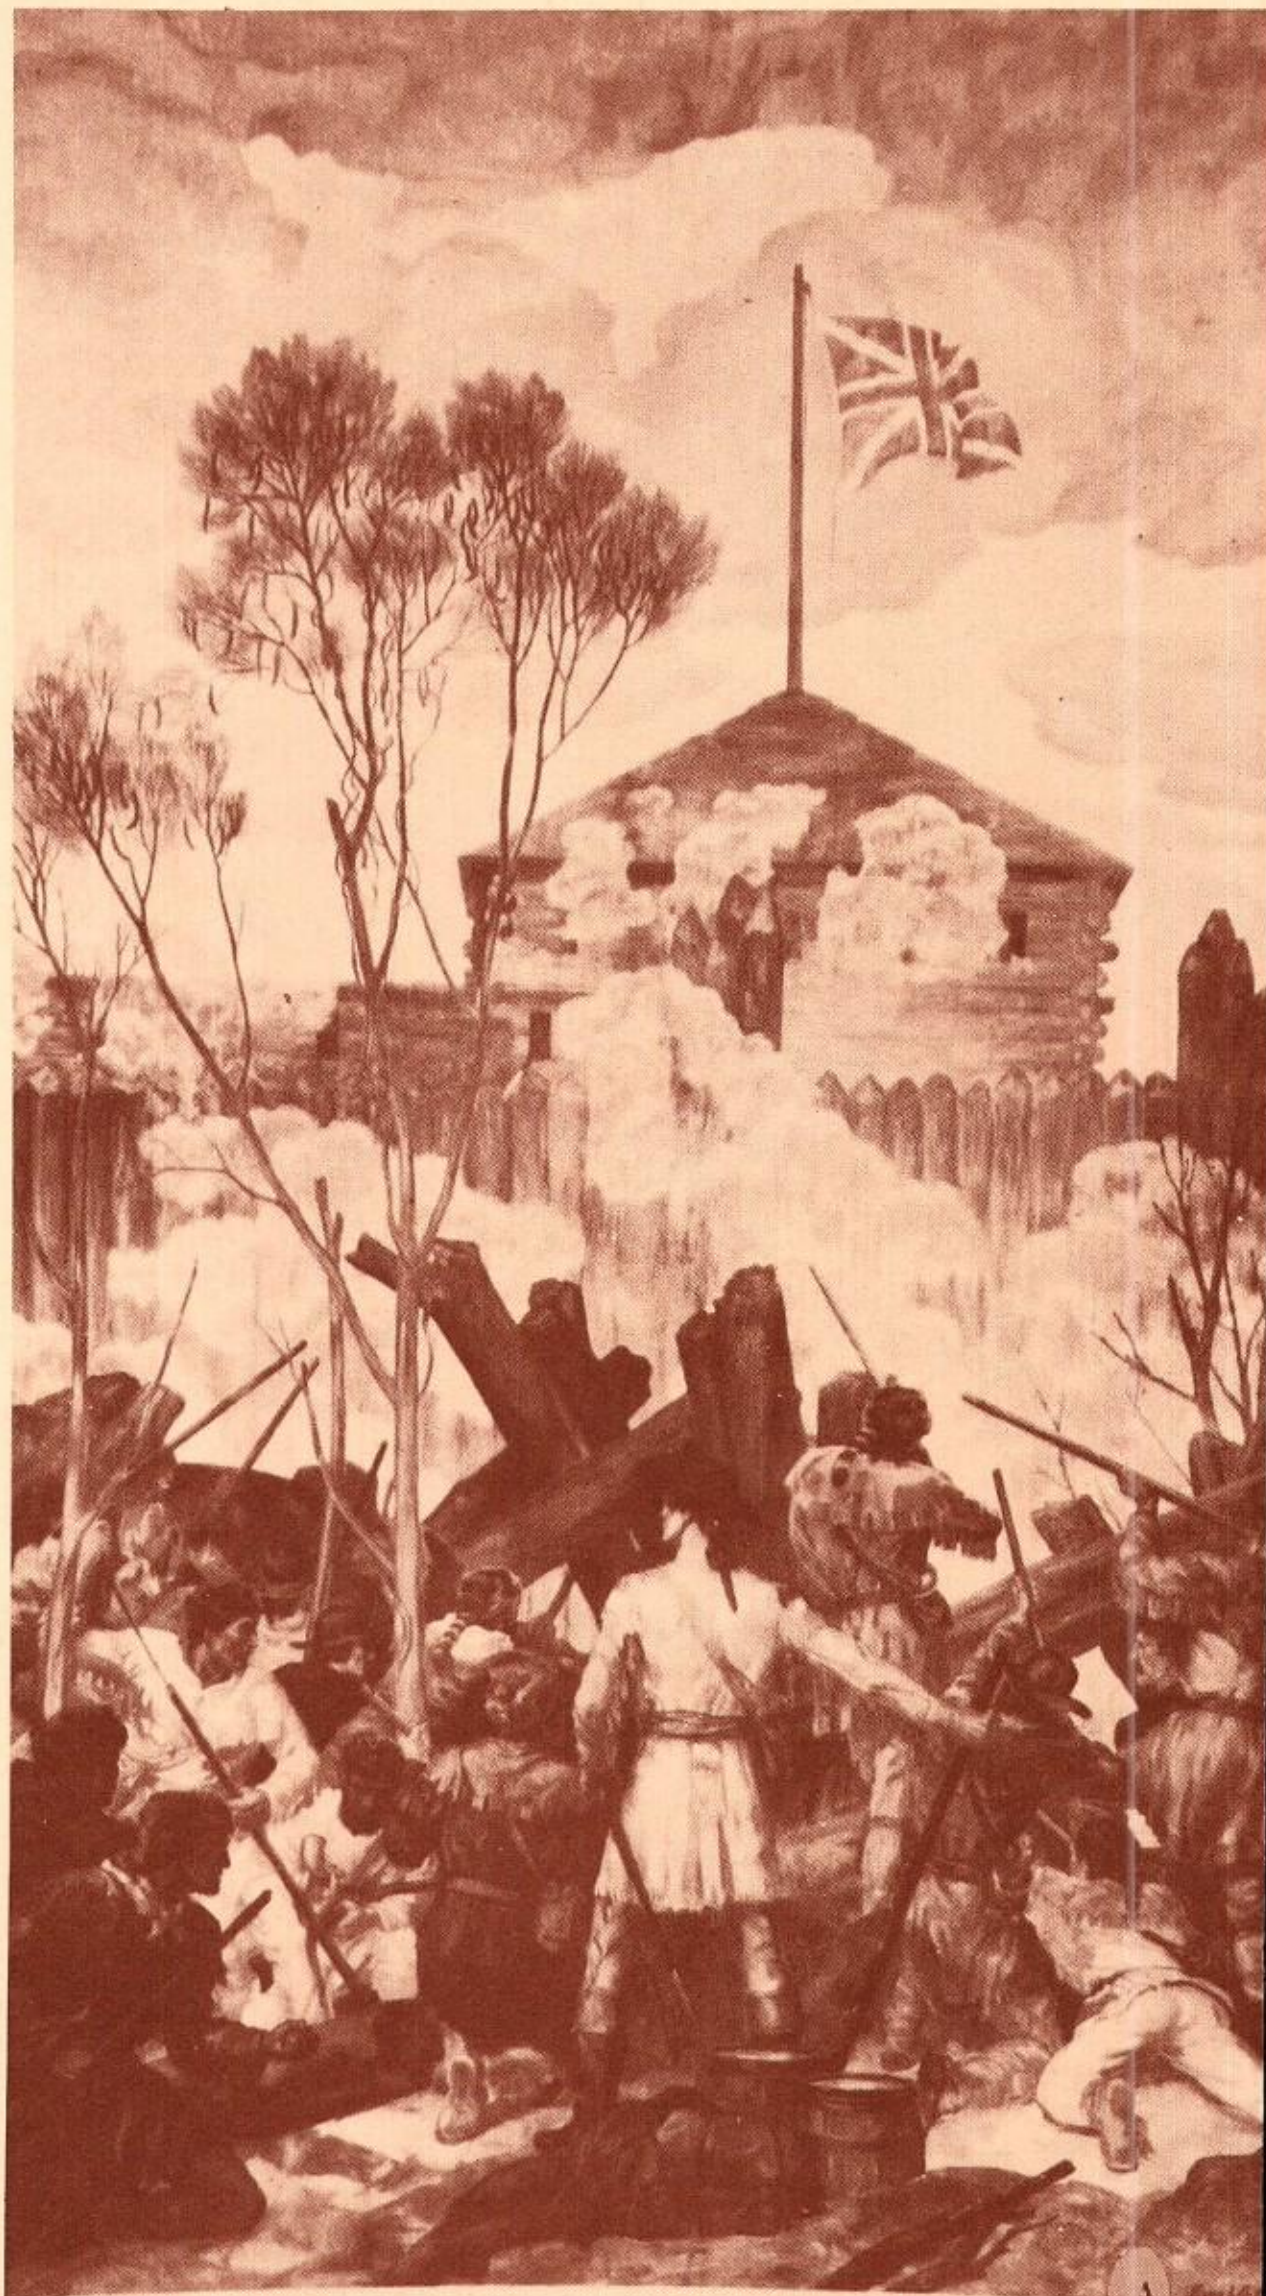

1800-Indiana officially became a territory, and William Henry Harrison, a future president, was elected the first territorial governor. At that time, the population was 6,500.

1811-Indians led by the Prophet attacked Harrison and his 1,000 man camp on the Tippecanoe River, near present-day Lafayette, before dawn on Nov. 7. Harrison, losing 190 men, defeated the Indians. They later rallied behind Tecumseh (F), brother of the Prophet.

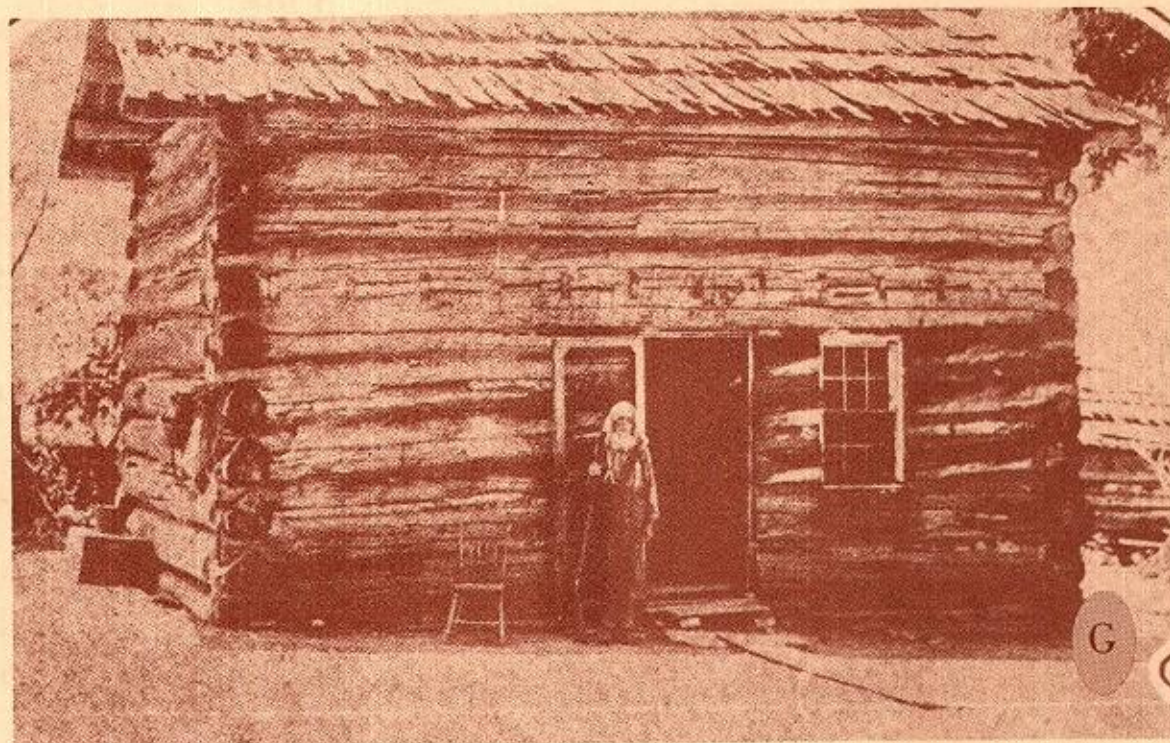

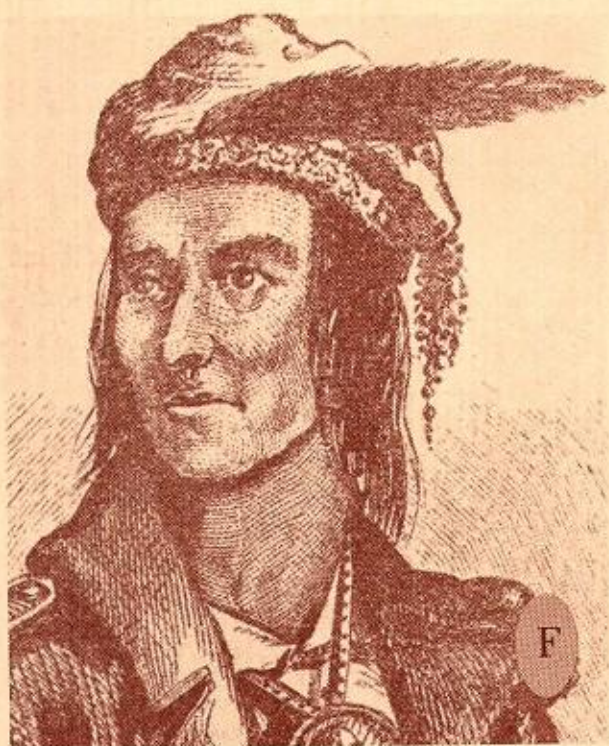

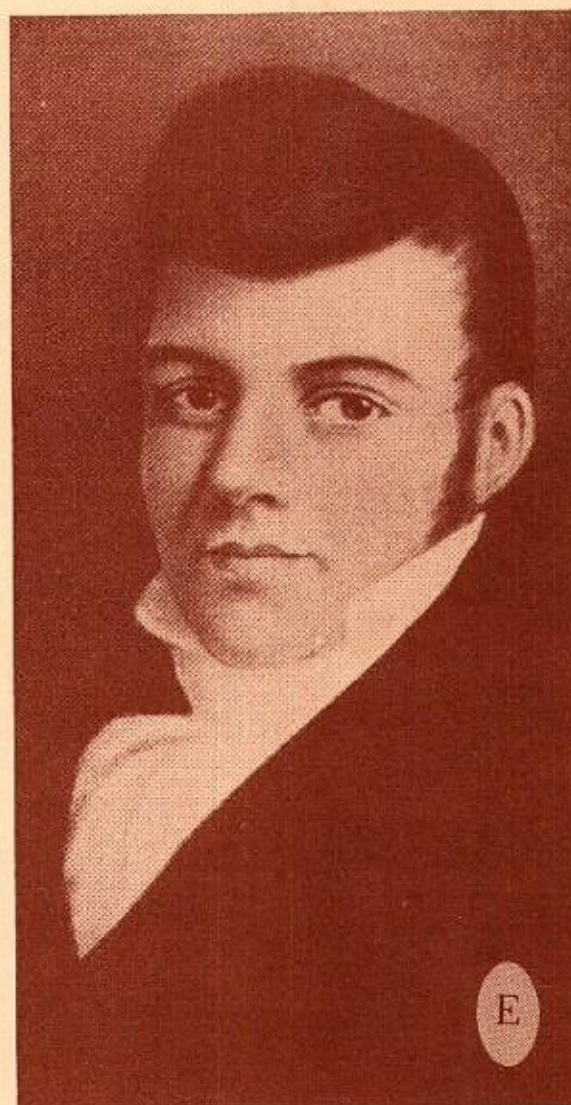

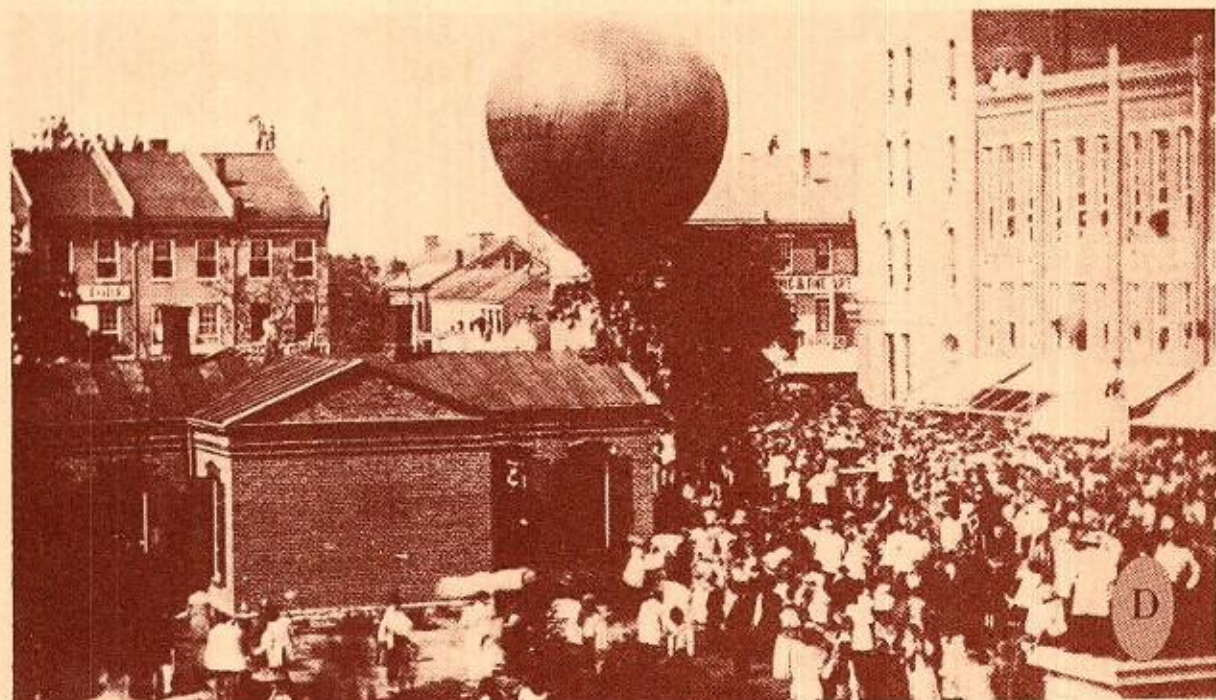

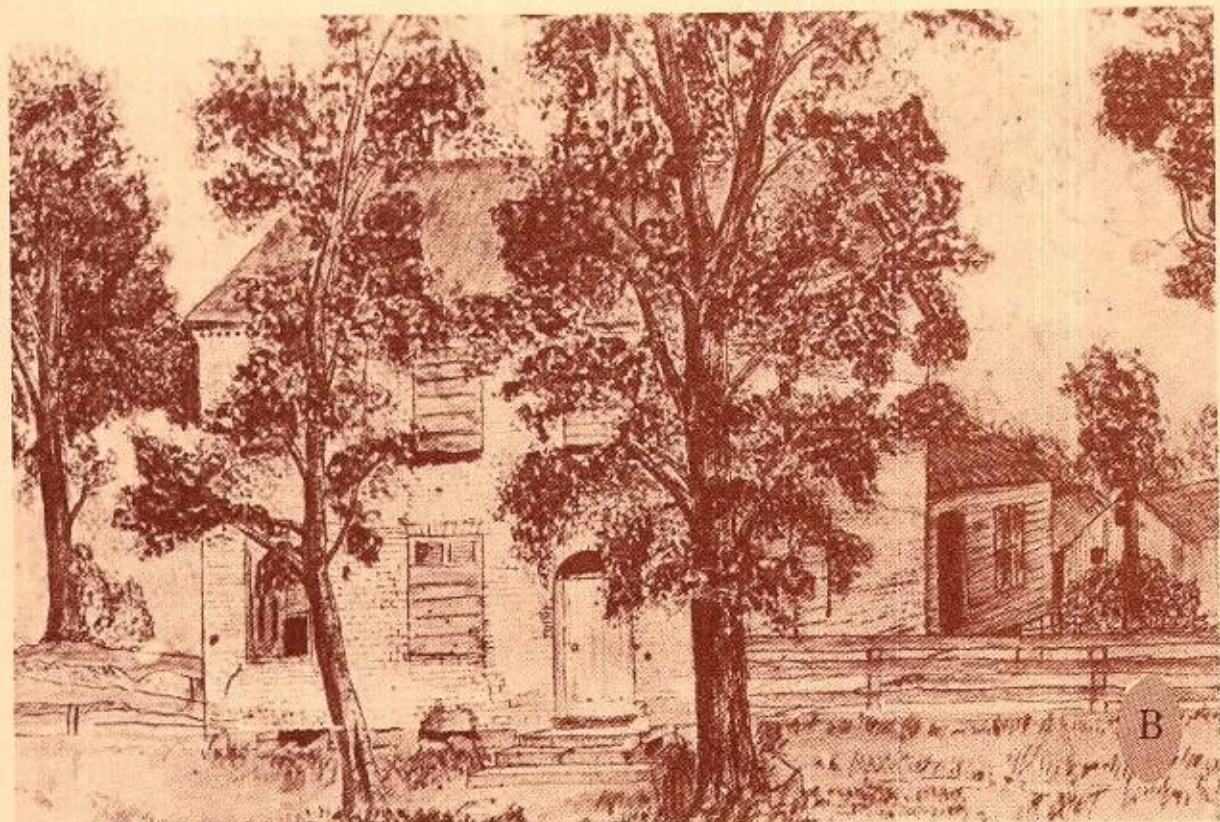

1815-The first cabin near Sunman was erected by Richard Wortman. The home (G) was typical of ones built in Indiana during that period. A common mode of travel at this time was the covered wagon. (C).

1816-On Dec. 6, Indiana was formally admitted to the Union by Congress. Jonathan Jennings was elected the first governor (E) with a salary of $1,000. With his wife, he lived in the governor's mansion at Corydon (B), until he resigned in 1822 to accept a seat in Congress.

1859-The world's first air mail trip by a balloon, Jupiter (D), took place in Lafayette on Aug. 17.

1827-The governor's mansion (G) was not exactly the model of efficiency between 1827 and 1857. Planned by Alexander Ralston, the governor's mansion was worth $6,500. Situated on the Circle, the mansion was built right after Indianapolis, (F) became the capital in the fall of 1824.

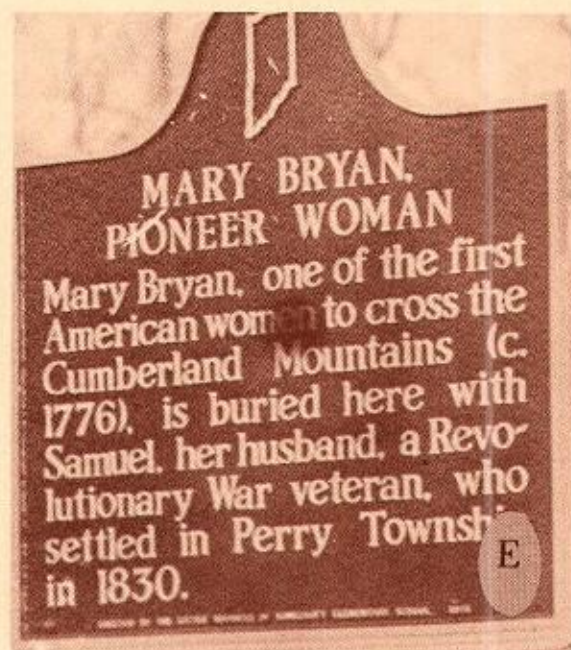

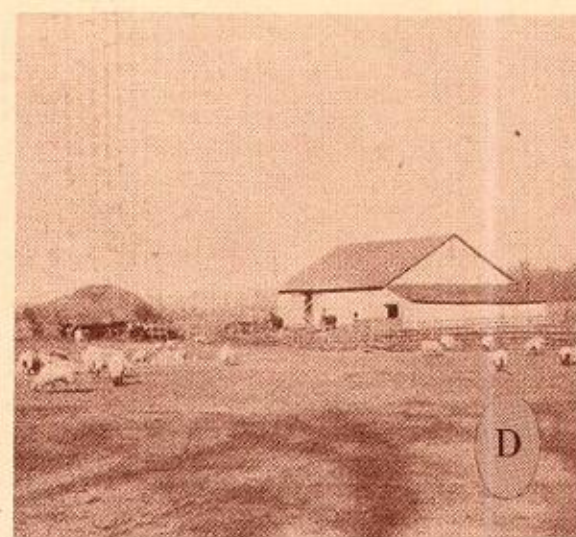

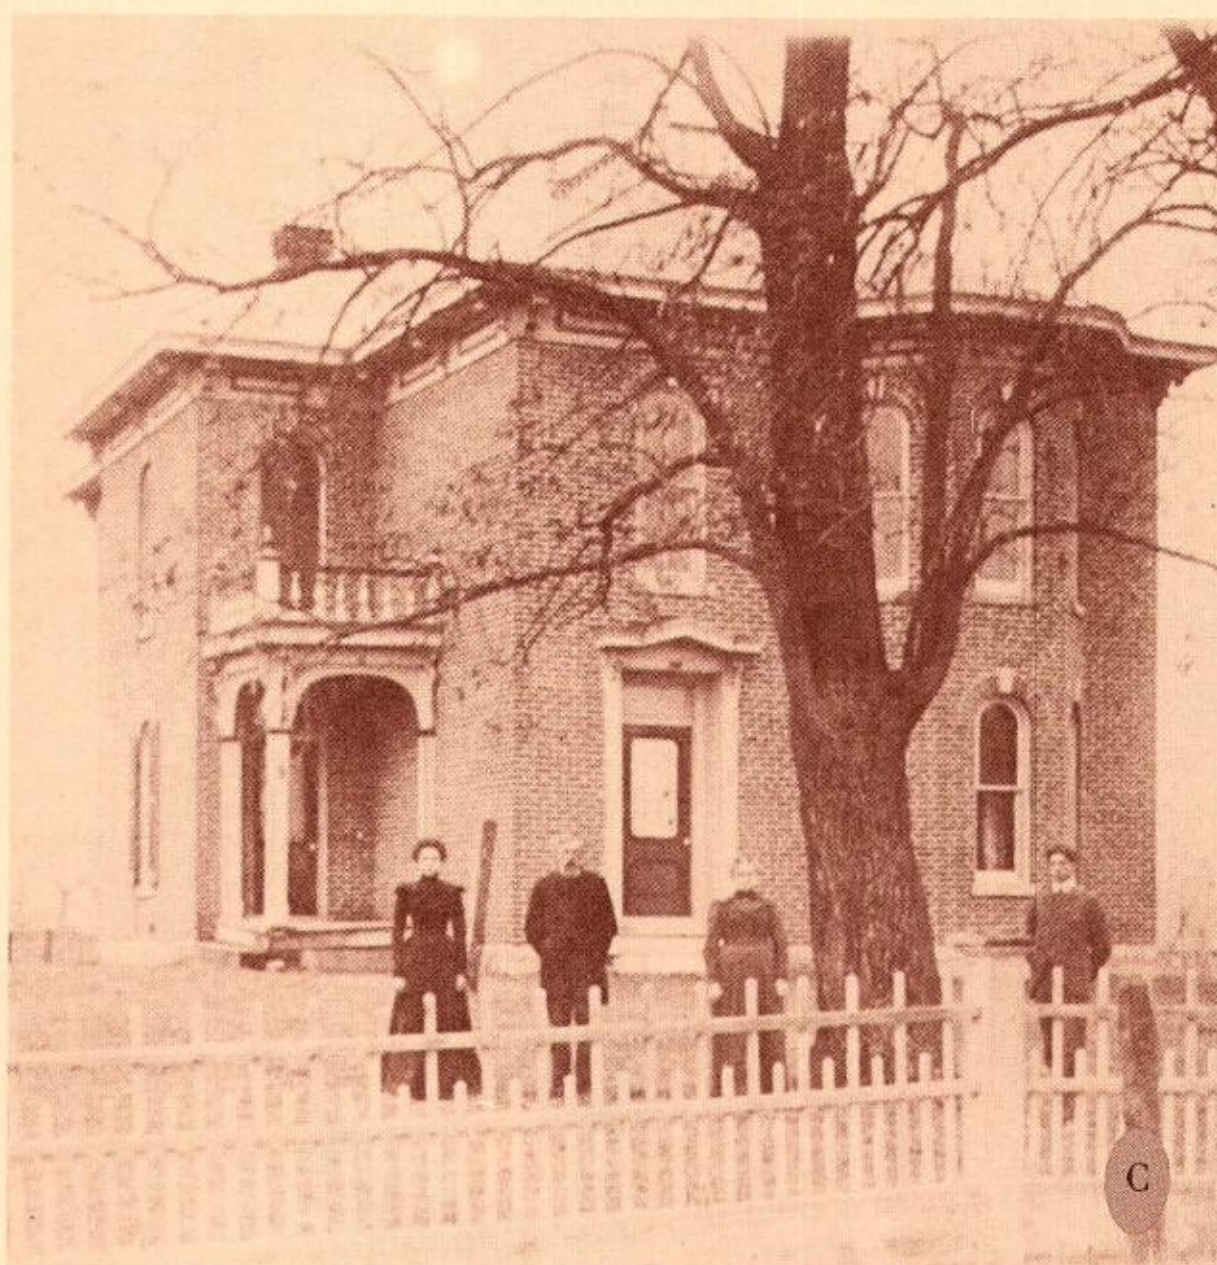

Aug. 22, 1889-The cornerstone of the Soldiers and Sailors Monument was erected. (E) On the south side of the monument is a plaque commemorating the Civil War and the War with Spain. The plaque on the north is in remembrance of the Mexican War and the War of 1812.

In the Governors Circle, called Monument Circle today, was the English Hotel and Opera House (B). It was erected by Mr. English and was known at the time as English's Folly. It later was used at the meeting house of the Congregational Church.

World War I was the reason for the Victory Arch (D). It was Indy's way of welcoming back soldiers from World War I.

A tour around the town, anyone? If you had gone on a tour of the Circle in 1907, you might have ridden in a touring car like the one in picture C.

May 30, 1911-Ray Harroun drove his Marman Wasp, car 32,500 miles to become the first winner of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. (A) Around an all brick track Harroun had an average speed of 74.59 mph.

From Indy to Madison, Southport is first stagecoach stop 1779-Mary Bryan became the first woman to cross the Cumberland River. Settling in Kentucky, the sister of Daniel Boone had 2 sons. Luke settled in Southport and is buried in the Southport Cemetery. There is a plaque (E) in commemoration of his mother there.

Around the early 1800's another family moved into the Southport area. The Brewers set up farming. (D) is a picture of the Day farm buildings. This is a family portrait (C) of the founding Brewers in front of one of their homes.

1835-As early as this year the little town on the way to Madison, Indiana, was called Southport (A). It was called this because it was the first port south on the stagecoach route to Madison.

1902-An all Negro school was started in Southport. A man brought some Negro families north to help him farm his 400 acres. The school had 61 pupils and a teacher. The farm was torn down in a few years, and the families went into the city for the most part.

Billy's Barber Shop was where Hildy Hildebrand played pool (B). As all good high school athletes kept their hair short, a weekly trip to Billy's may have been a must at one time. And if you didn't need a hair cut, you could always practice your pool. Hildy is one of Southport's most famous athletes.

With only 6 students SHS becomes official in 1894

1894-Southport was officially commissioned as high school. With six graduates and two teachers the total value of the school property and all its contents was valued at $25,000.

1903-Perry Township was divided into 14 districts for convenience. Throughout the township there were 19 teachers (A).

1907-"Will the boys please bring back the gate from the school yard." This was a note left on the principal's desk in November.

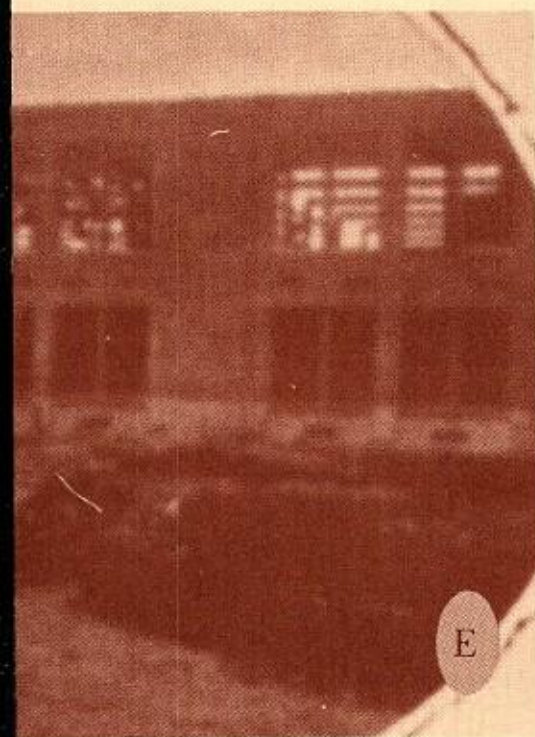

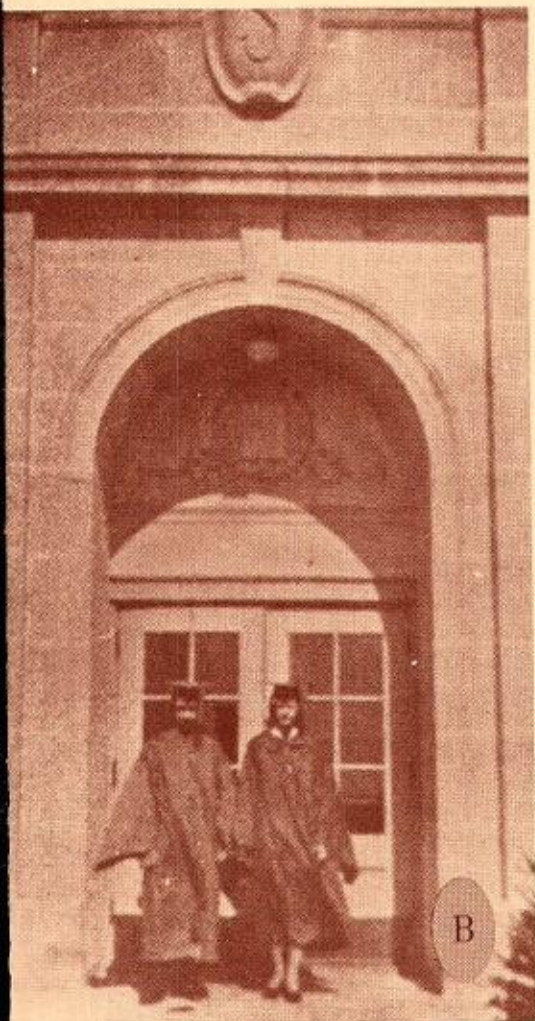

1911-A new high school was built to house the recently consolidated schools of Southport, Number Nine and Glens Valley. This building was later torn down. The spring play that year was Shakespeare's "The Merchant of Venice."

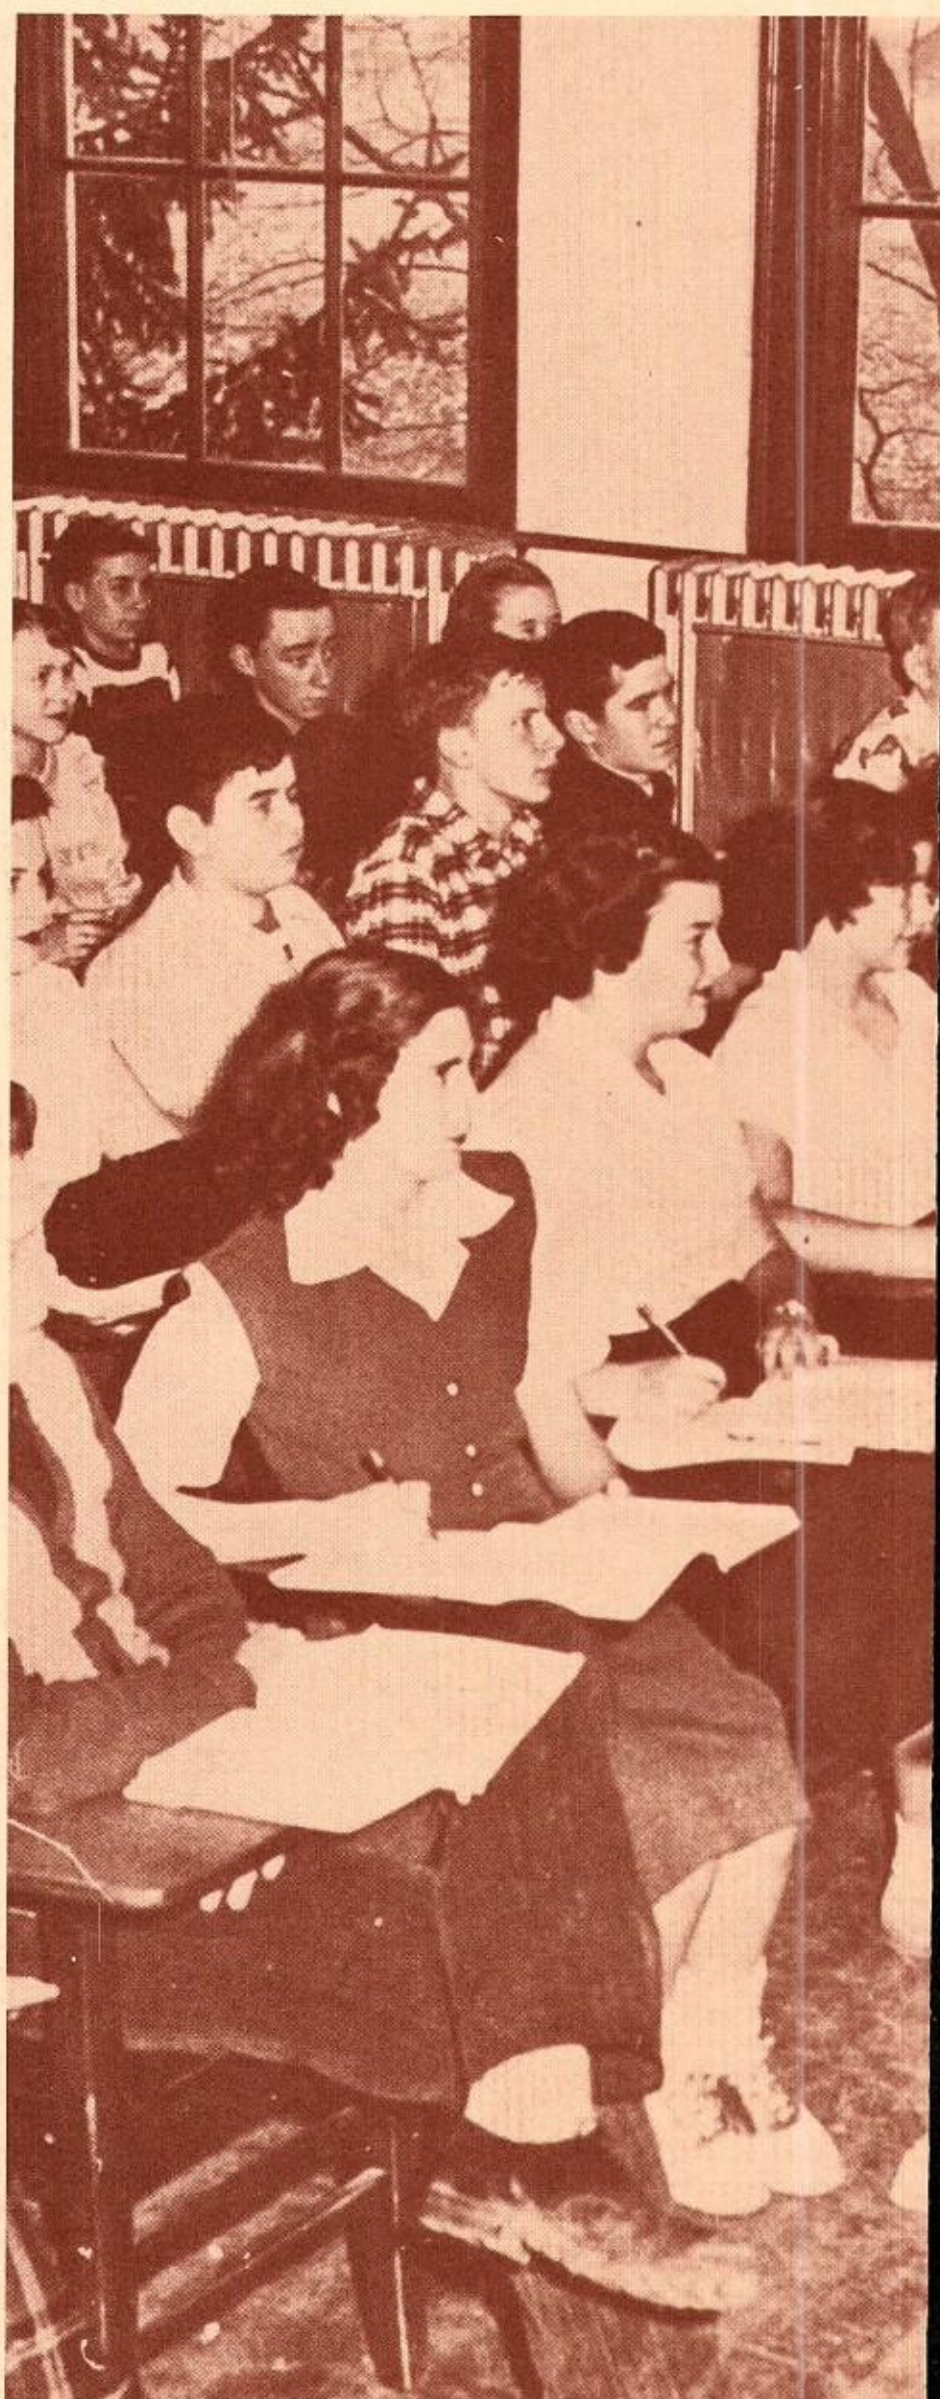

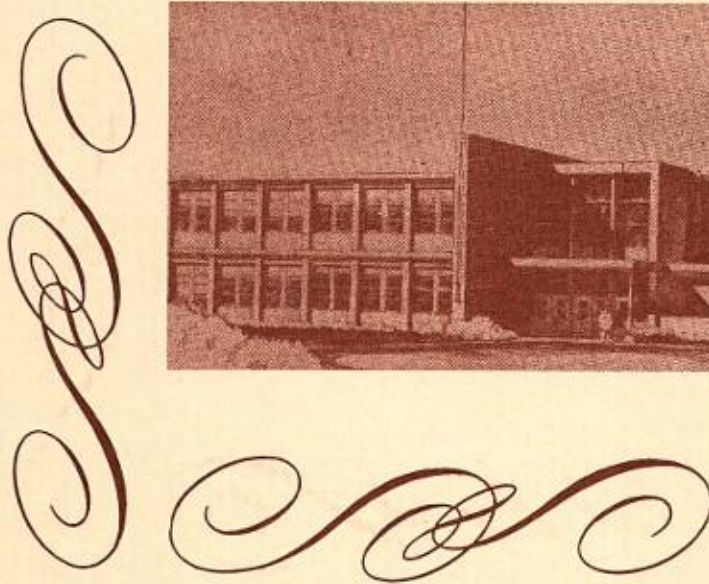

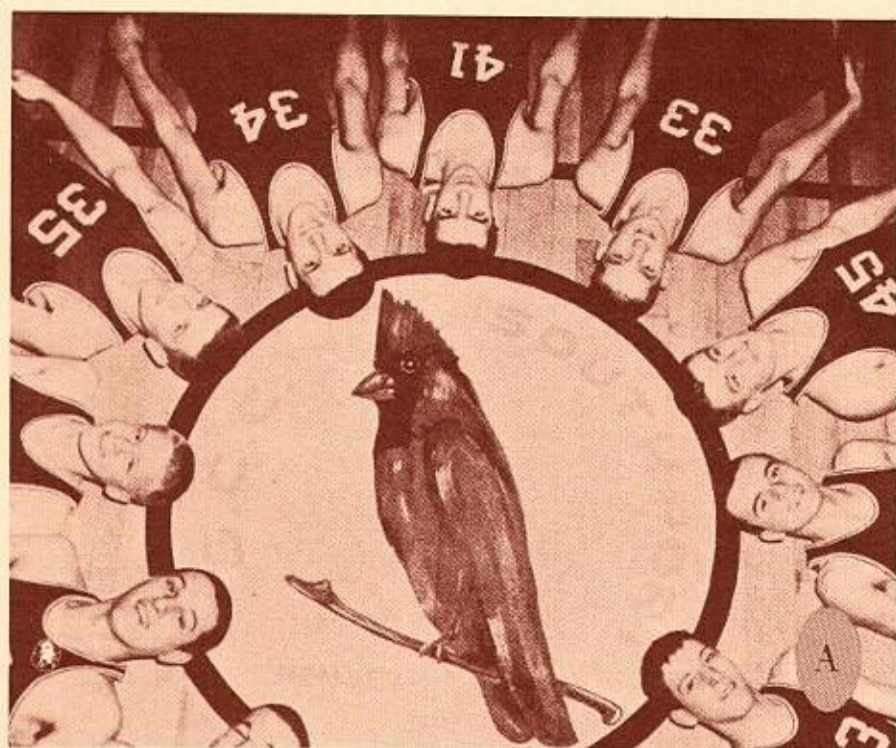

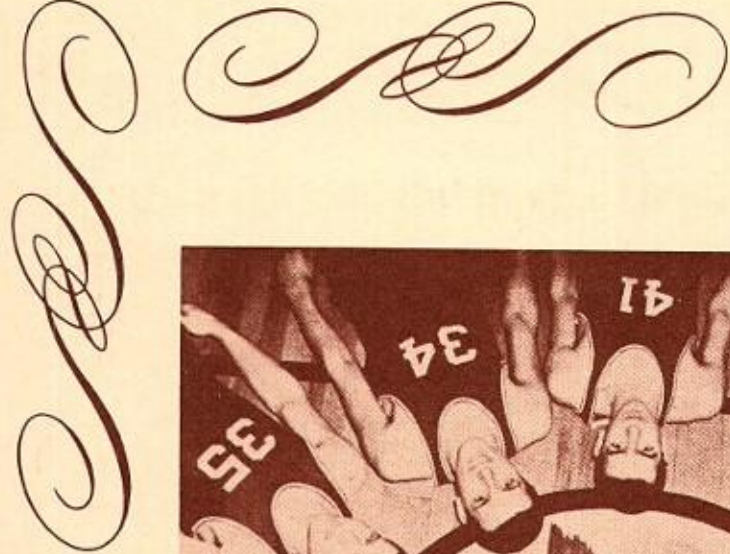

1929-Designed after William and Mary College in Williamsburg, Virginia, a new high school was again built. (E). Not exactly today's idea of fashion and beauty, the "yell leaders" (F) of 1929 did their best to raise school spirit.

1930-Even though this was the beginning of the depression, these three girls (D) at Southport don't seem to be too disturbed and neither do the kids in photo C.

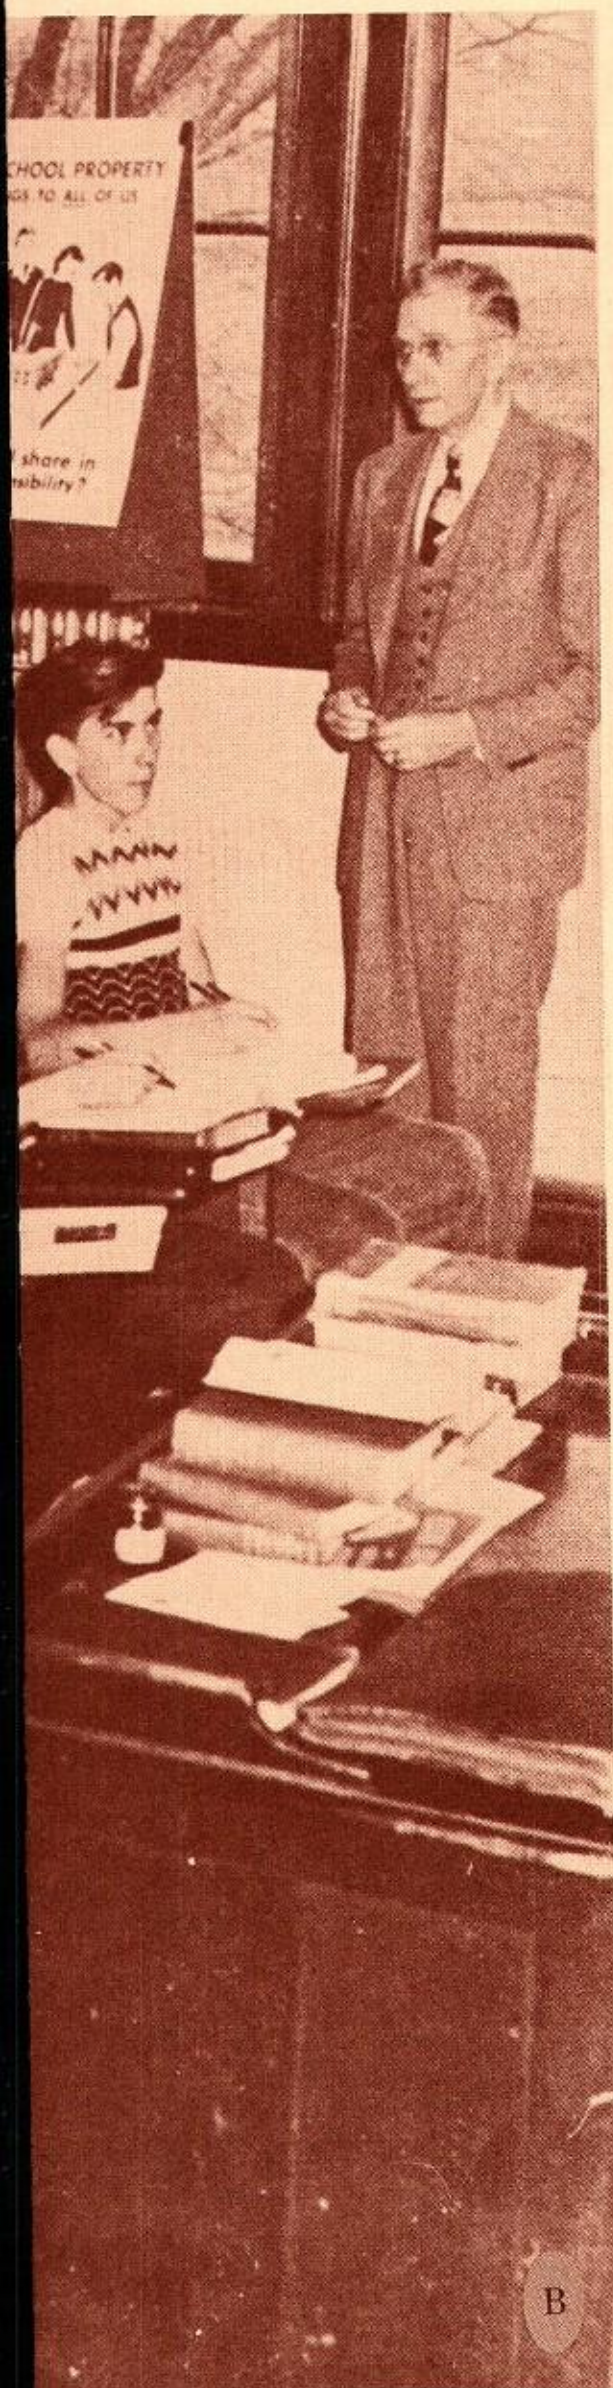

1931-Leaving Southport High for the last time are two seniors (B) Dressed in cap and gowns, they walk through the arch and on to receive their diplomas.

1950—Plans for a new $2 million junior high school were announced. The building (E) which today houses Southport High School students looked something like this in 1966.

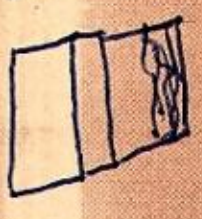

1951—Freshman didn't seem to enjoy being in school any more than they do today. A typical classroom (B) in the fifties shows just how much the styles have changed since then. "Pirates of Penzance" was the annual operetta (C) for that year.

1966—Southport High was enlarged (D), featuring an enlarged and better equipped cafeteria, a new library and instructional materials center and additional science, art, language classrooms and laboratories.

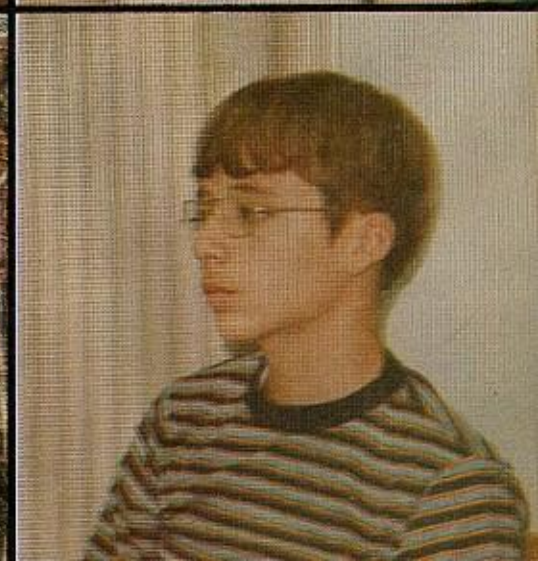

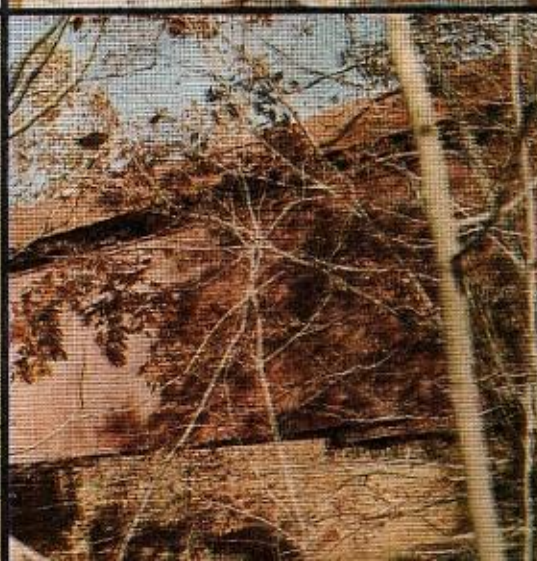

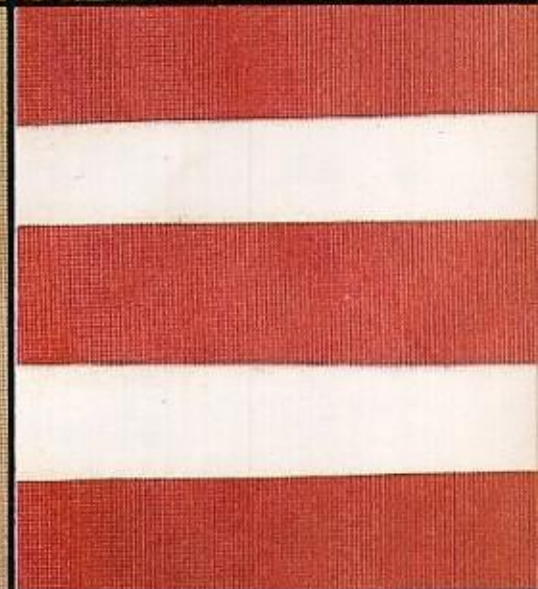

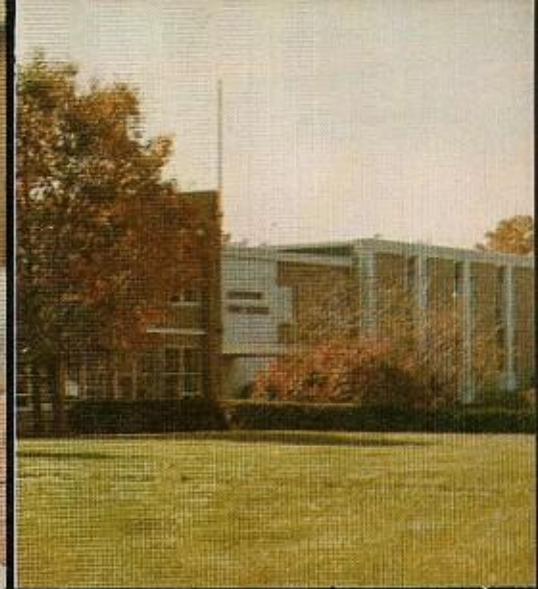

1967—Race around the track of Roosevelt stadium on tricycles? You must be joking! Thus started the Mini-500 (F) at Southport. At 4:30 p.m. 132 senior guys and gals raced around the track to be the winning team. Winners were Cheryl Riley, Gordon Vessels, Chris Morris and Kristy O'Toole. In front of 2,000 spectators the Mini-500 was destined to be a tradition at Southport until 1975. Because of the new all weather track built in 1974 the class of 75 had a tug of war which proved to be just as much fun.

PERSEVERANCE

"Four-score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation . . ." When Abe Lincoln gave the Gettysburg Address, he realized that America was won through the perseverance of the people. It was a great effort on the part of the football team to keep persevering each week even though they had a losing season this year. It is an accomplishment for the Dolphinettes to put on a good show each year and it is only through determination that the Easter Sunrise Service is given every spring. We can do anything if we just persevere.

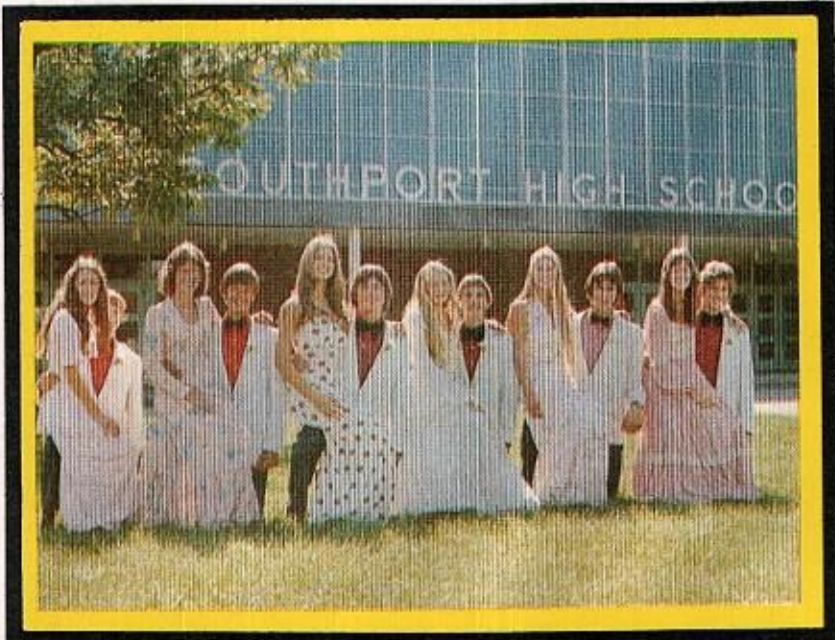

SOLIDARITY

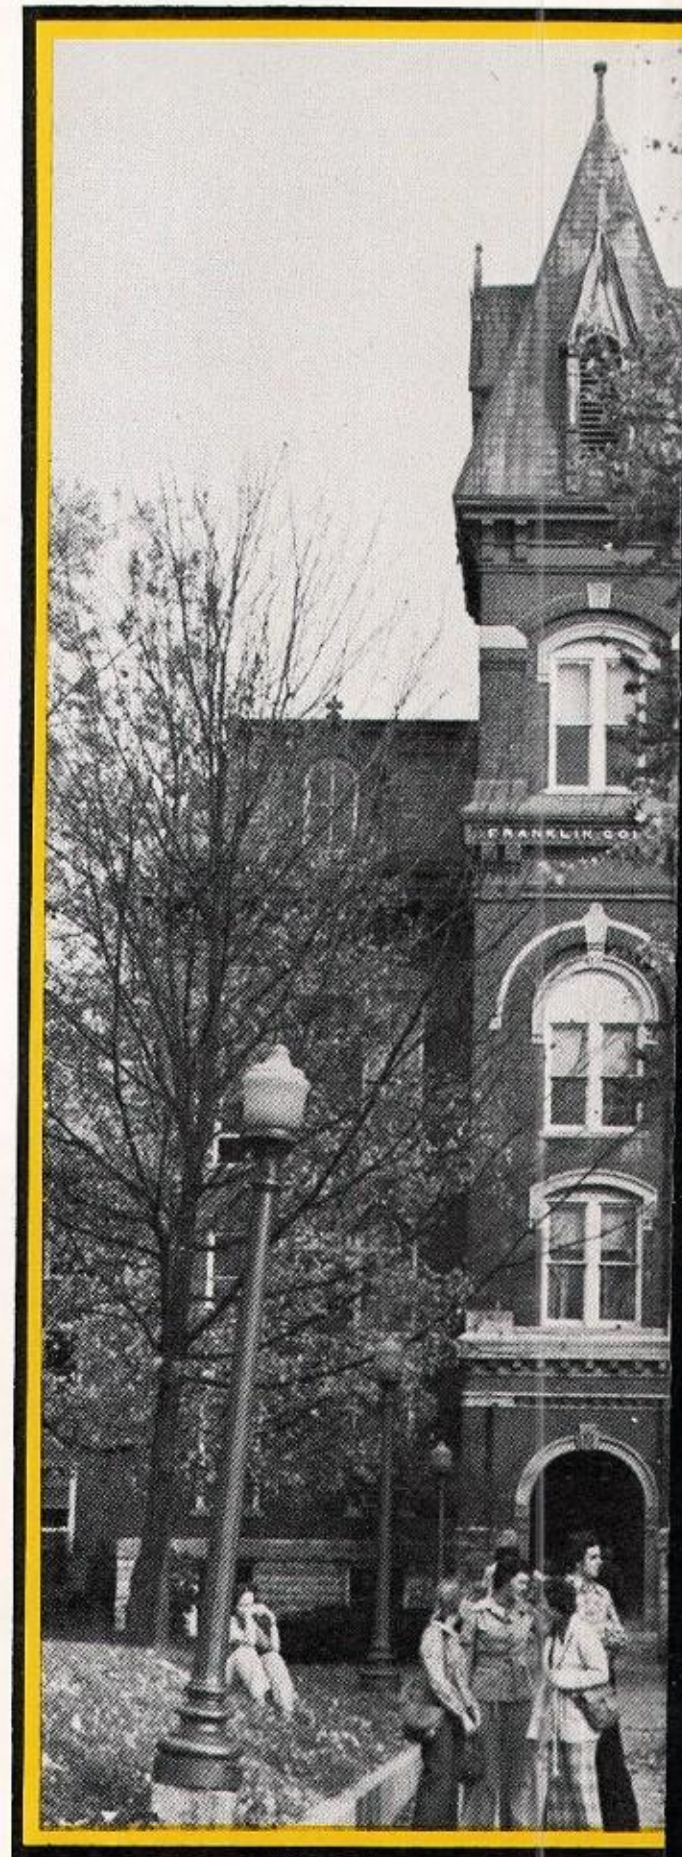

"We must all hang together or assuredly we shall all hang separately." —Ben Franklin. The best example each year of solidarity is homecoming when we all unite to create the magic of floats, the excitement of mums and carnations, new this year, and the crowning of the queen. Spirit Week, another new invention this year held before the first Southport-Perry Meridian football game, brought the school together in spirit. The Nest, the new cheer block, also got people involved in football and basketball games. The band, the senior, junior, sophomore, and freshman classes, the speech team and Student Council all contributed to the solidarity within SHS.

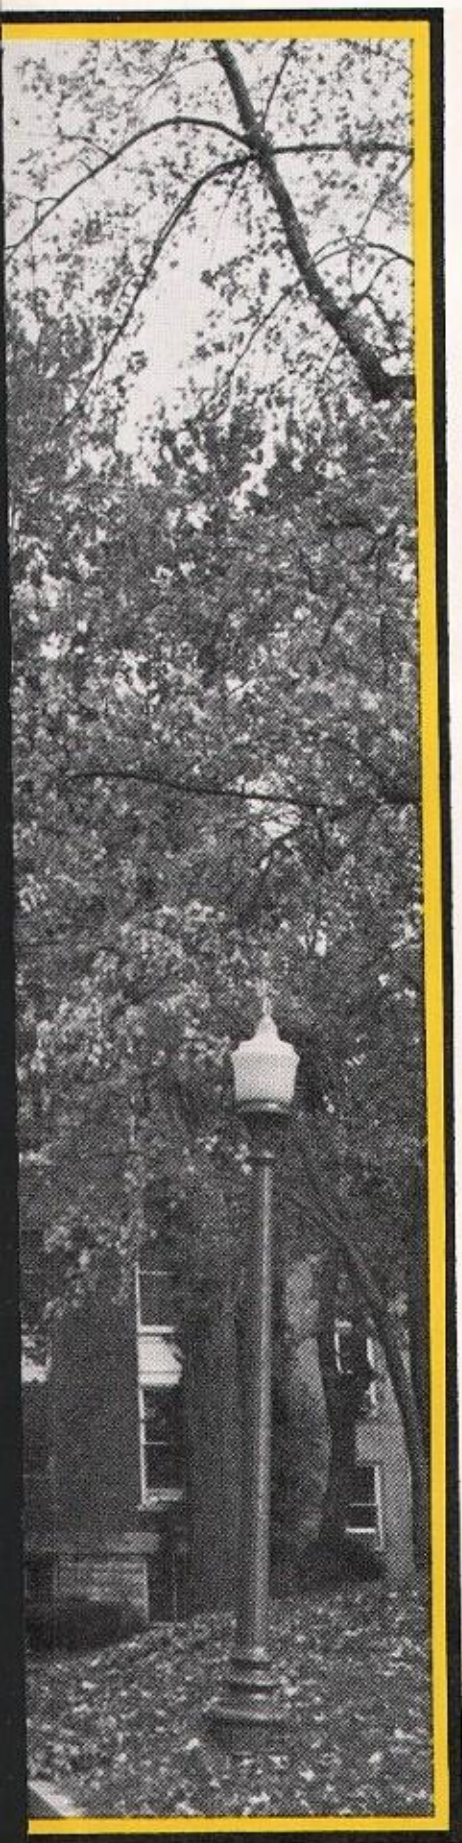

INDEPENDENCE

"Give me liberty or give me death!"—Patrick Henry. Throughout the country, independence has been reflected this year by increased equality for everyone. On the local scene, seniors have been waiting all year for May 29, 1976, when they gain their freedom through graduation. For many, colleges around the country are the next step. Voting in local elections this year was a new experience for many 18-year-olds. In English, history, math and science courses the ES program helped students have more independence in their study habits.

REVOLUTION

"We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men are created equal . . ."

Revolutions bring about happenings and new ideas. So what has happened? Women "fighting for equal representation" with ERA, the capture of Patty Hearst, busing, Cincinnati Reds winning the World Series, "Tommy" and "Jaws," the fall of South Vietnam, Japanese Emperor Hirohito's visit, financial crisis in New York City, Paul McCartney and Wings, Elton John and The Captain and Tennille pounding away on keyboards, the remarriage of Liz and Dick Burton, attempts on President Ford's life, the return of the 30s in fashion, the deaths of Aristotle Onassis and King Faisal, Jack Nicklaus winning the U.S. Open Golf Tournament, new TV shows: "Welcome Back, Kotter," "Phyllis," and "Laverne and Shirley," and "Starsky and Hutch," rock concerts, more Russian wheat deals, higher food prices and Cher with or without Sonny. As time marches on, changes always follow.

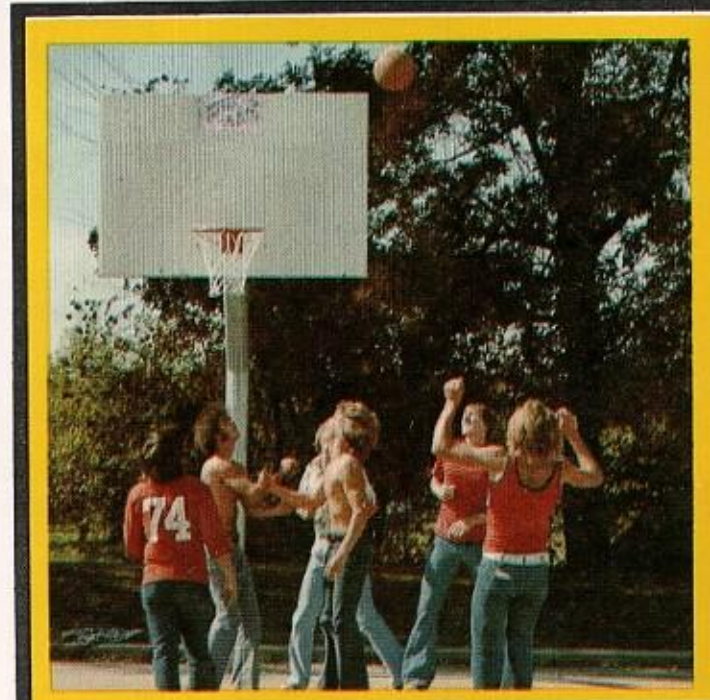

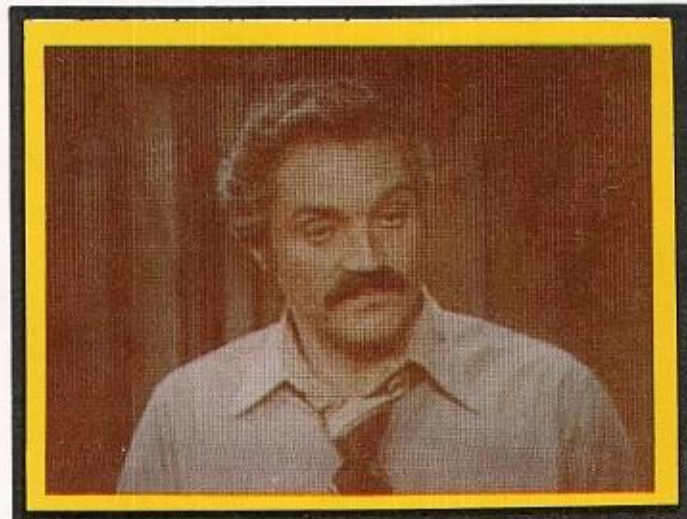

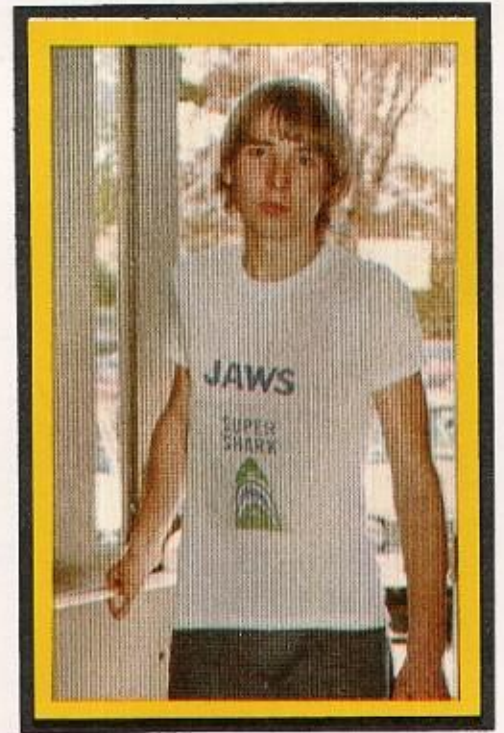

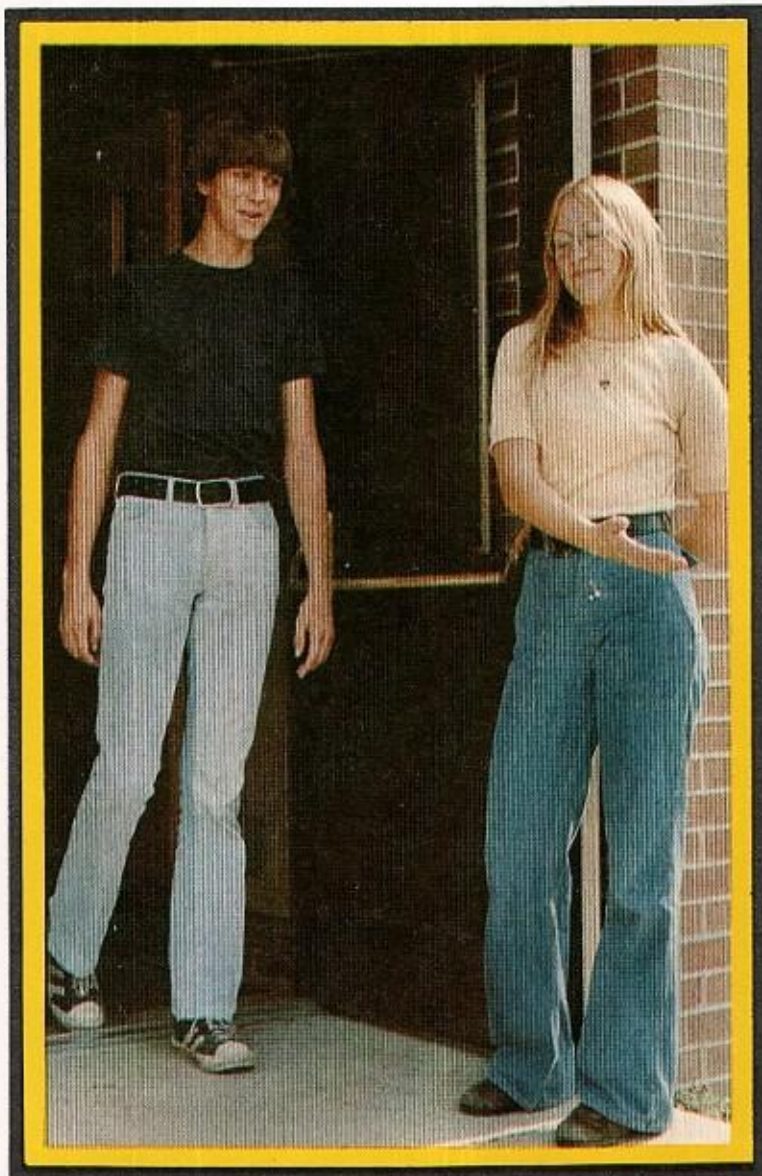

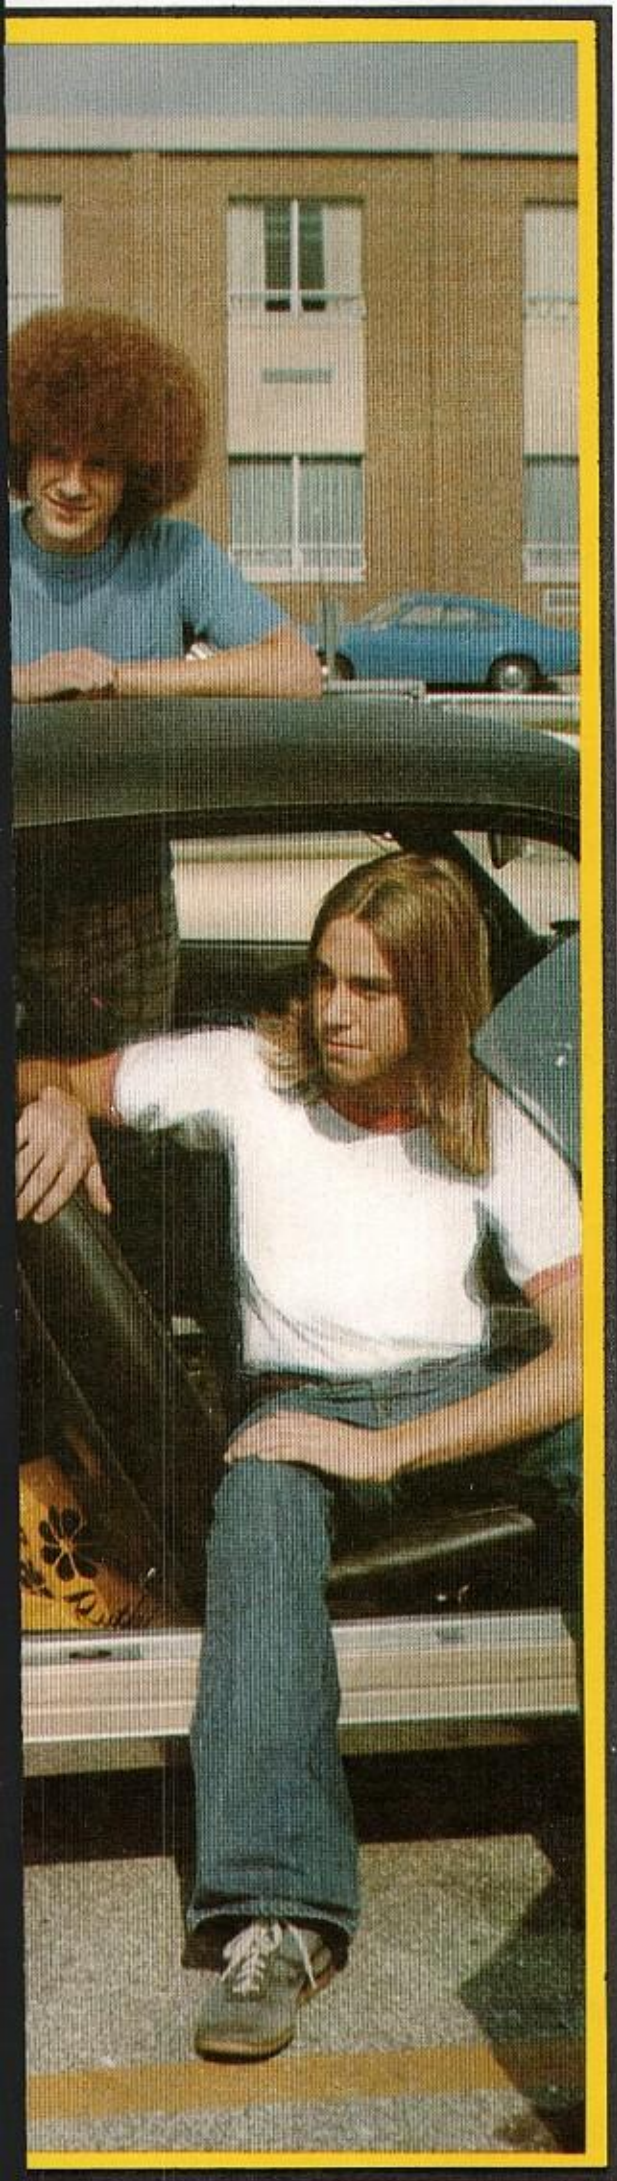

To Paul,

EXPLORATION

"One small step for man, one giant leap for mankind." As he made man's footprint on the moon, Neil Armstrong expressed how others felt at the time. Today man's exploration of space continues with the Appollo-Soyeuz link-up last summer and the first clear photos of Venus from Mariner 10 earlier this year. In Indy students explored in books and libraries. They investigated life in Brown County and in the world around them and read of happenings within the school in this year's Journal.

ATTAINMENTS

"Let the world go forth from this time and place to friend and foe alike that the torch has been passed to a new generation of Americans."

It was one of John Kennedy's goals to be a good president when he gave this speech at his inauguration. This year the biggest schoolwide attainment was the construction of the new Bicentennial hall by the Student Council. Having outdoor activities in both spring and fall was another accomplishment of Student Council. It's an attainment for many to make it through the first big date, to pass the driver's test and get their license, to receive their first pay check or to graduate. To achieve our goals we must believe in ourselves.

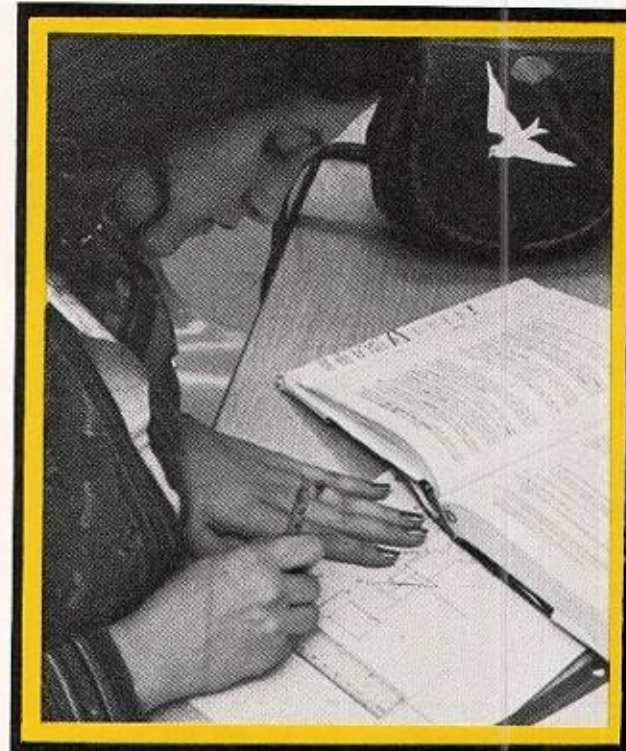

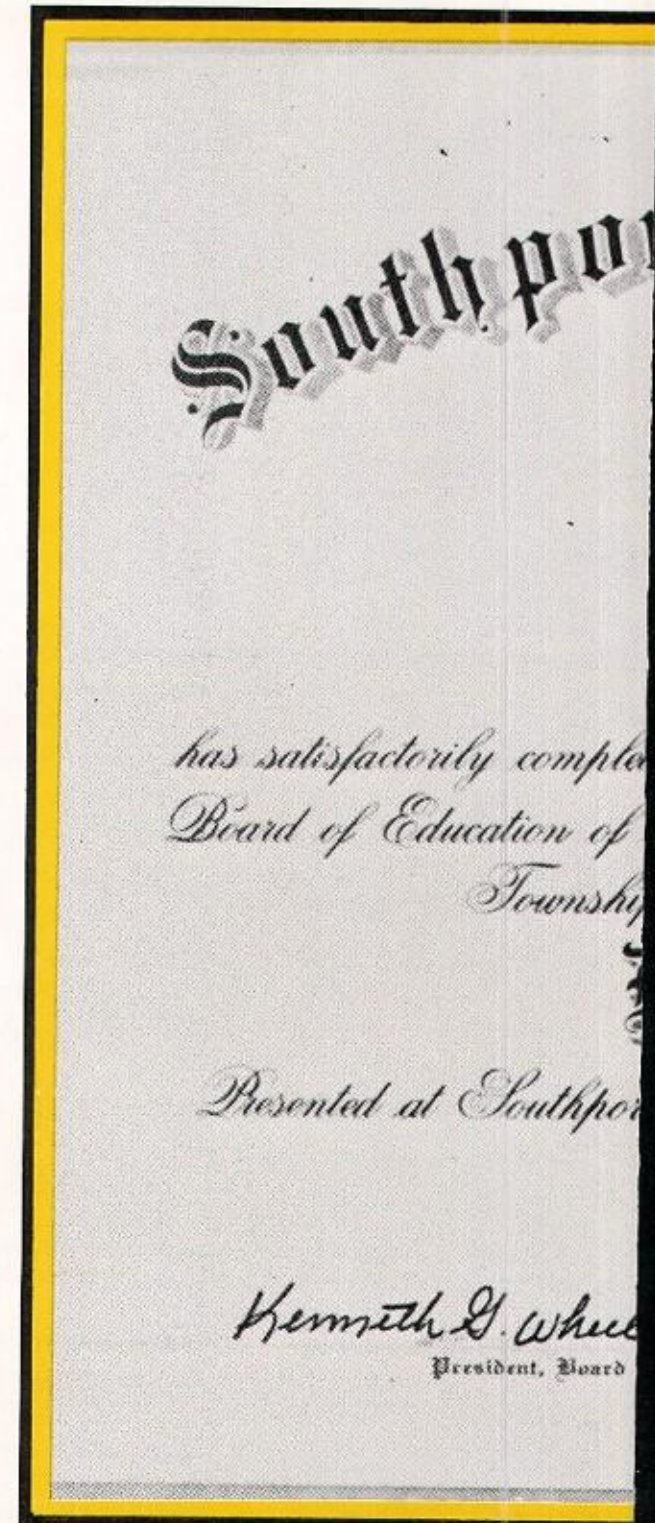

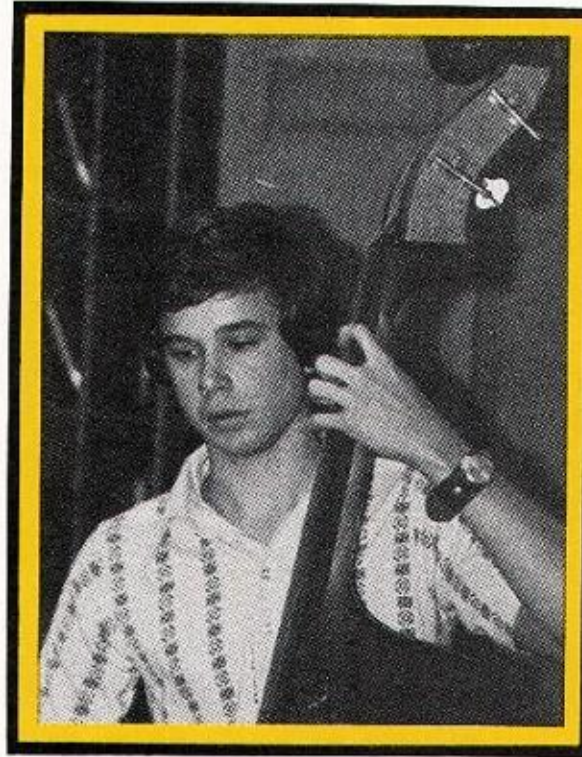

CHALLENGES

"From the day I enter upon the command of the American armies, I date my fall and the ruin of my reputation"

George Washington was faced with this challenge in 1775, but look how he came out on top. It was a challenge for the cross-country team to win the state meet this year, but they to came out on top. It was something for Bobby Unser to win the 500 and for Bill Hudnut to be elected mayor of Indianapolis. For many trying out for the fall play was hard while others worked long hours practicing an instrument. The biggest challenge we face today and in the future is to live life to its fullest.

Students explore new cultures

SHS' English department now offers four required courses, these being grouped basically alike, and various elective courses.

The Hero in Tragedy, as a result of insufficient enrollment, was discontinued this year, marking the first time a course in the English department has been canceled for this reason.

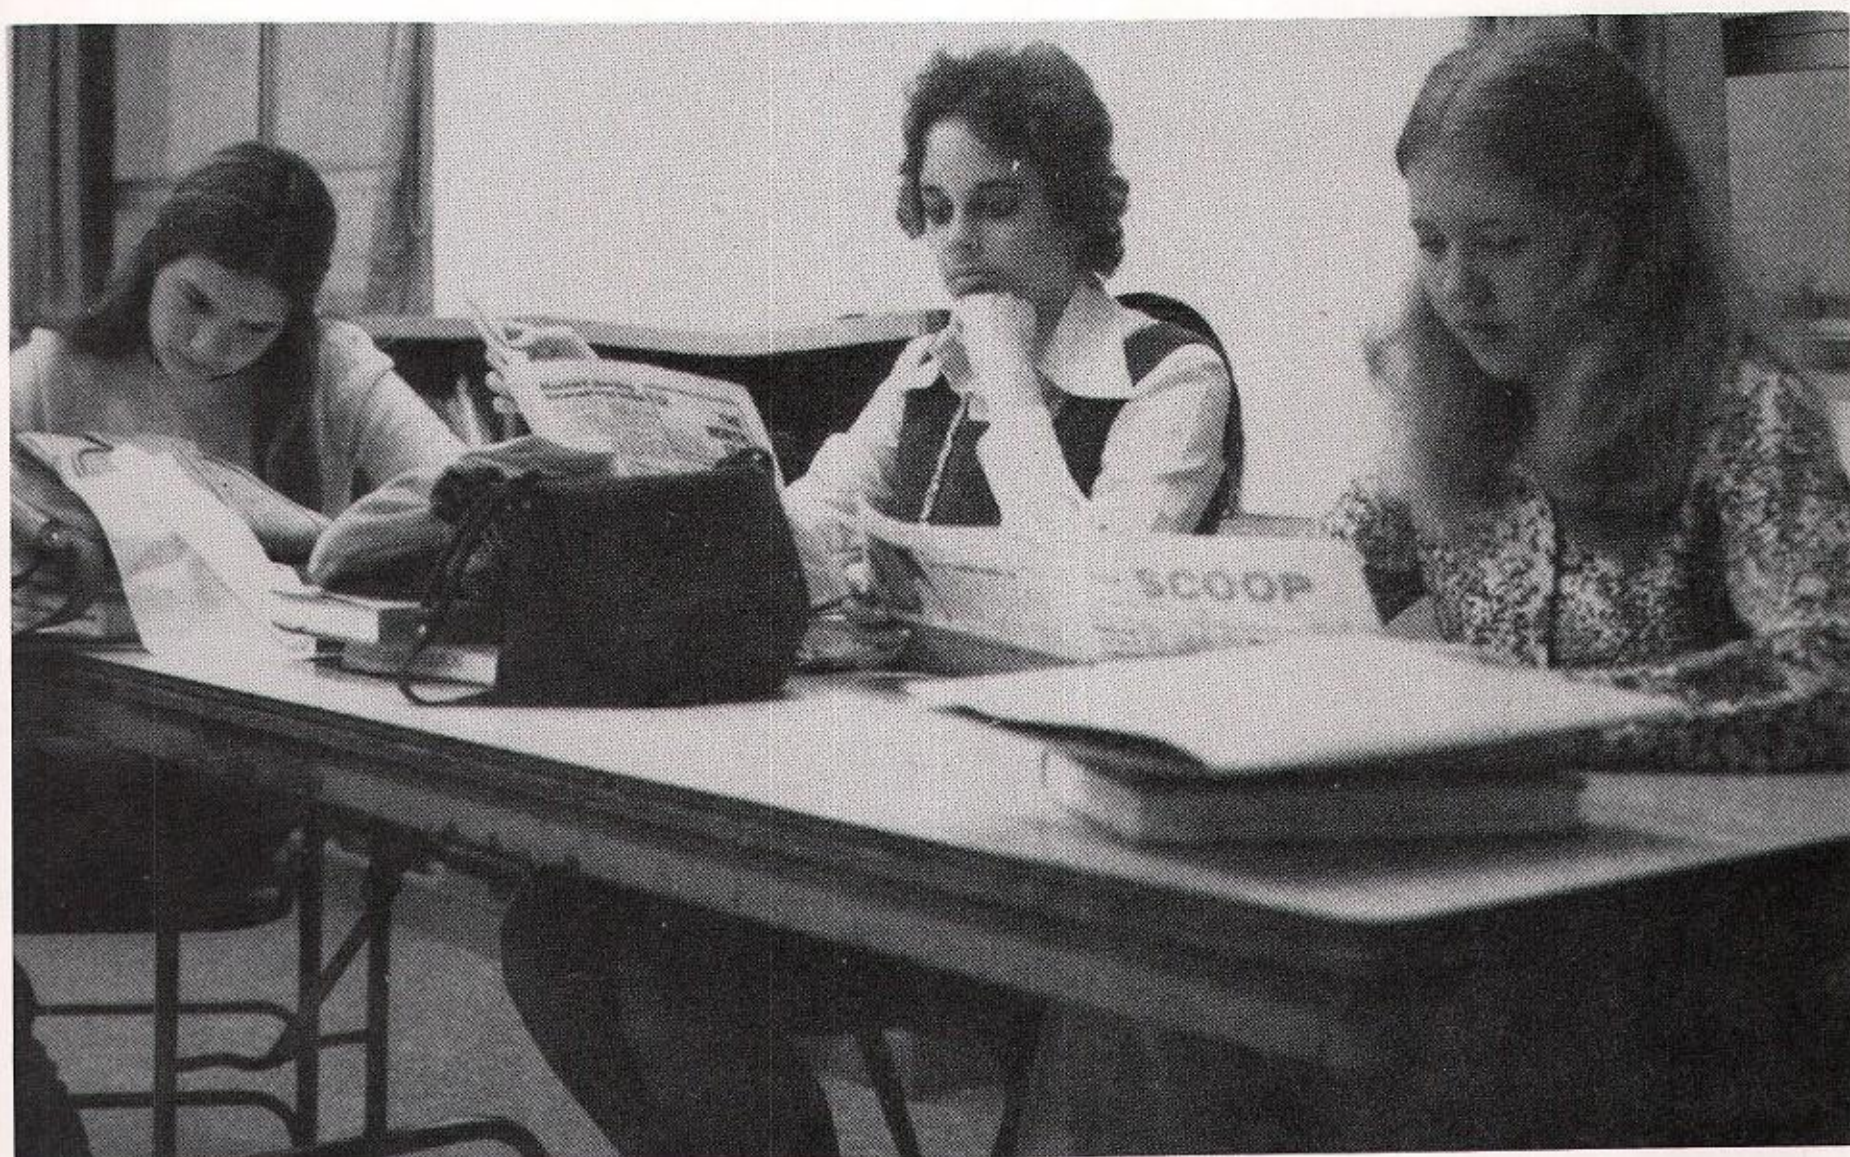

Studying the philosophies of Eastern nations are Vince Pollard and Bill Laut.

Gary Marks reads Kristi Dill her cue, as Ray Freese looks on, during one of the skits students in Dramatics study each year. Mr. Daniel Gilligan is the dramatics teacher.

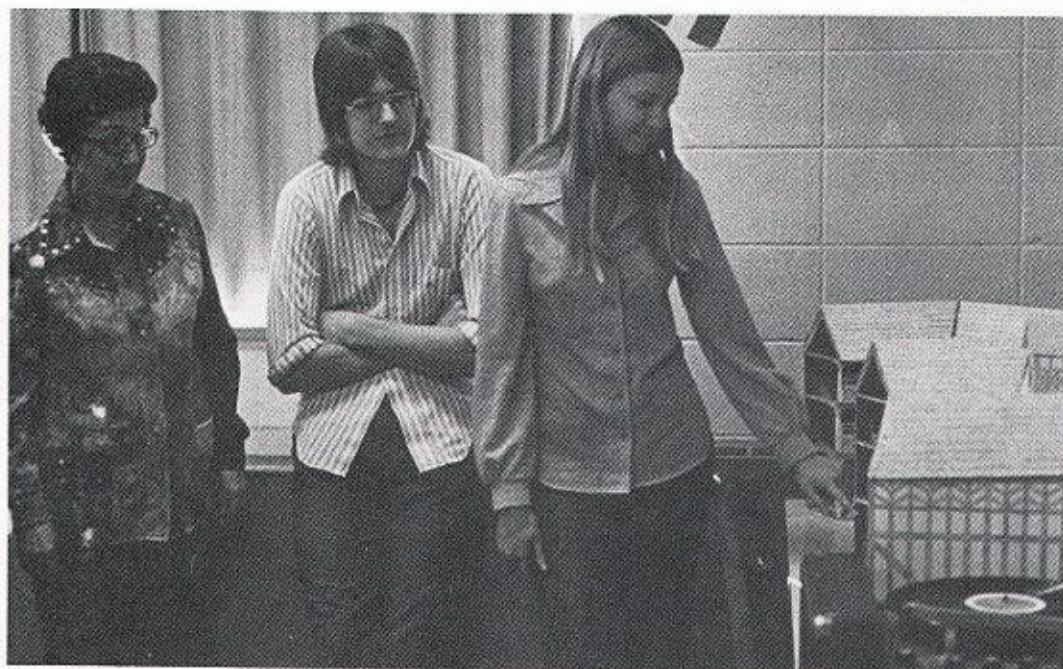

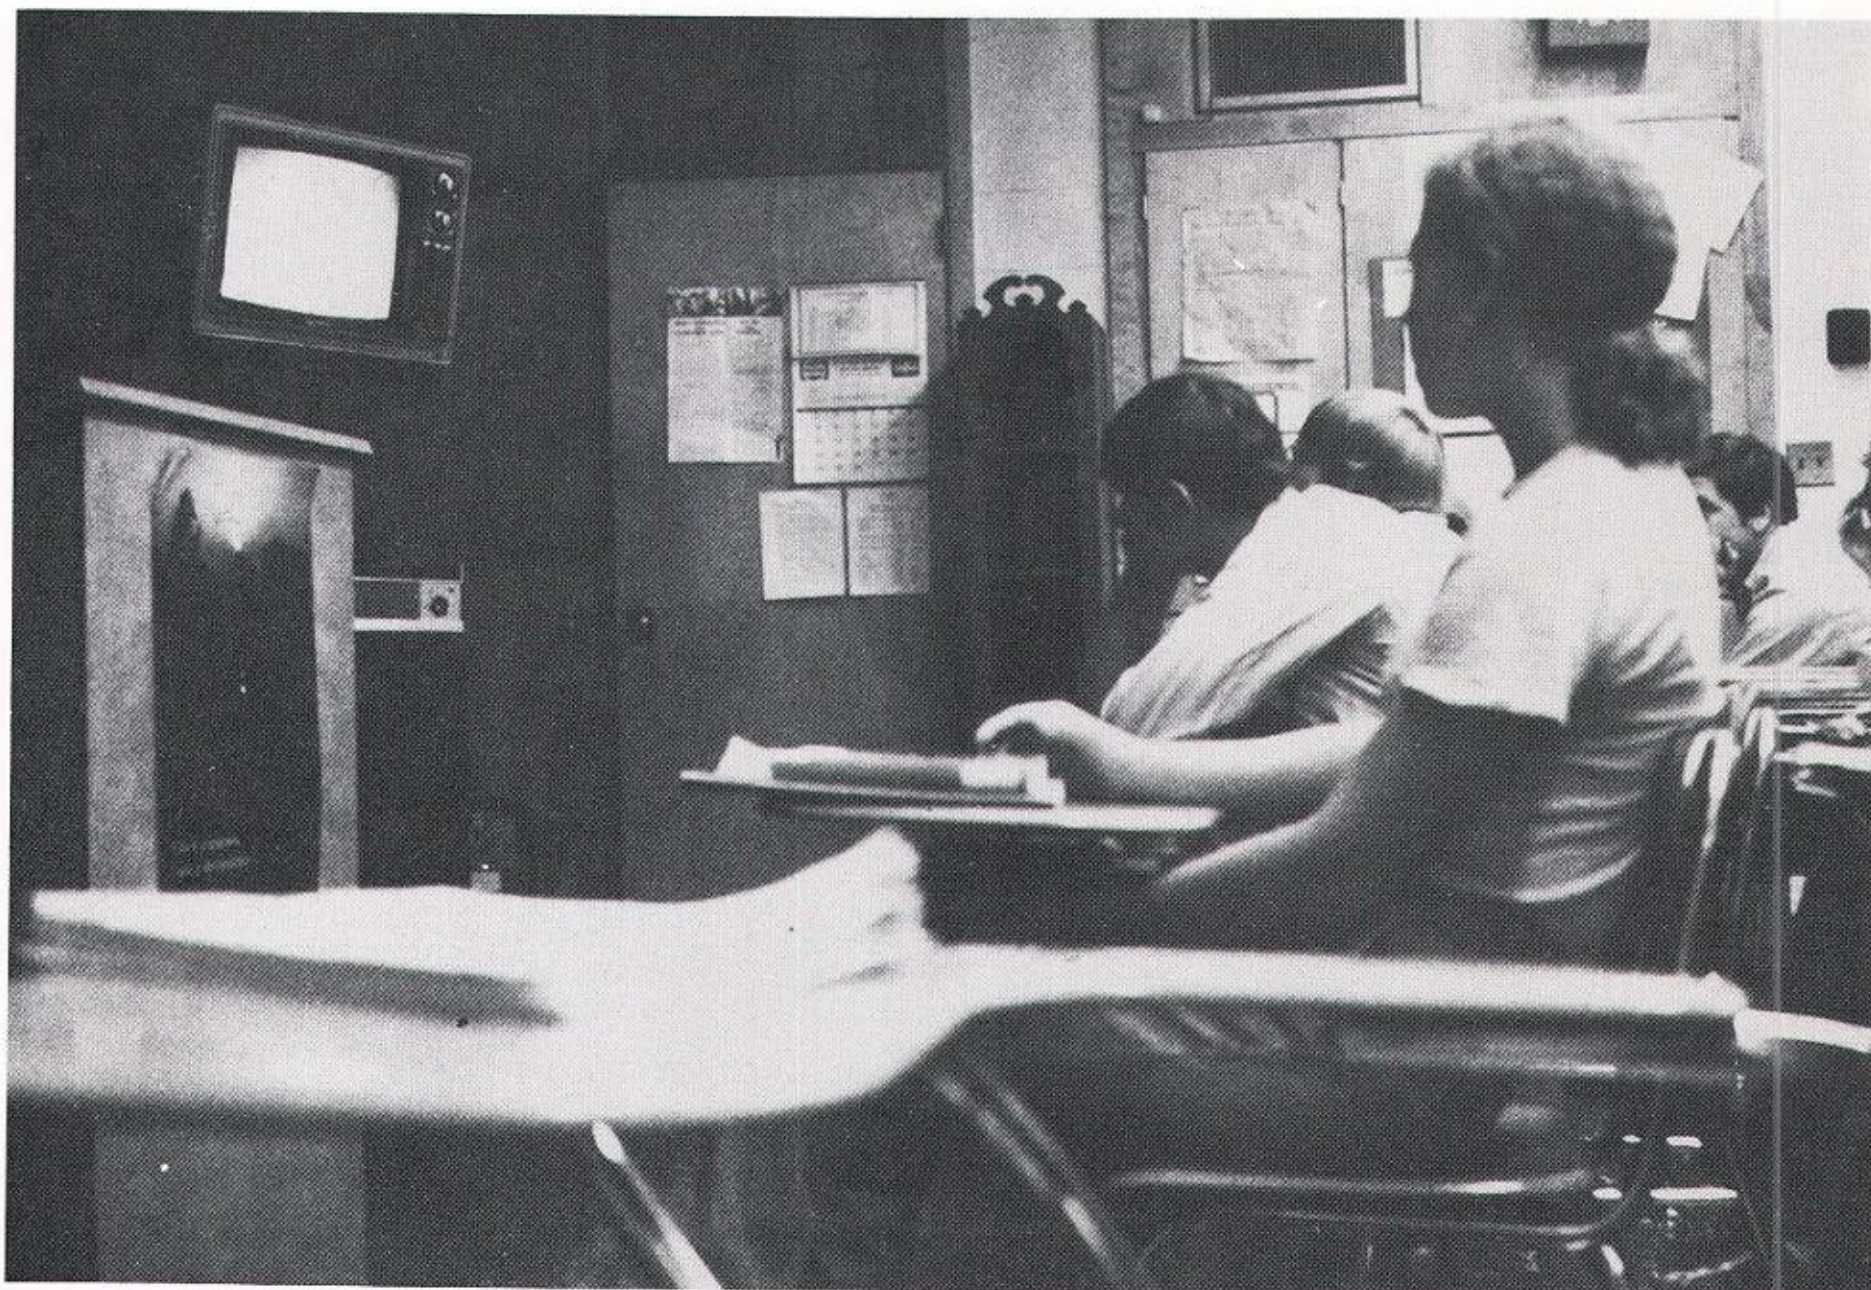

Is this Tom Sawyer? No, it's David Hensley, dressed for a skit in English III.

Laughter is not always prevalent in Mrs. Janet Stumpf's Humor class when they are discussing black comedy. Movies and records are used as educational sources except when the class and teacher get carried away by Bill Cosby.

Journalism I students Linda Reinking, Lisa Engelhardt and Janis Dunn read newspapers from other schools as they learn about different styles of writing and type. The staff for the Journal is chosen from Journalism I students.

Students in Film Study review a film on closed-circuit television. In this class, students learn the fundamentals of filmmaking and how to appreciate films. They view films for the purpose of studying social art that reflects ideas in our society.

Shakespeare and his exciting tales are relived by Mrs. Doris Wendeln, Rick Lee and Susie Llewellyn in Anglo-Saxon Literature.

Southport Cardinal (alias David Grenoble) studies how literature is a comment on today's social world.

Denise Aurberry and Mrs. Mary Holeman discuss a passage from the book Brave New World in Futures.

Yesterday, tomorrow discovered.

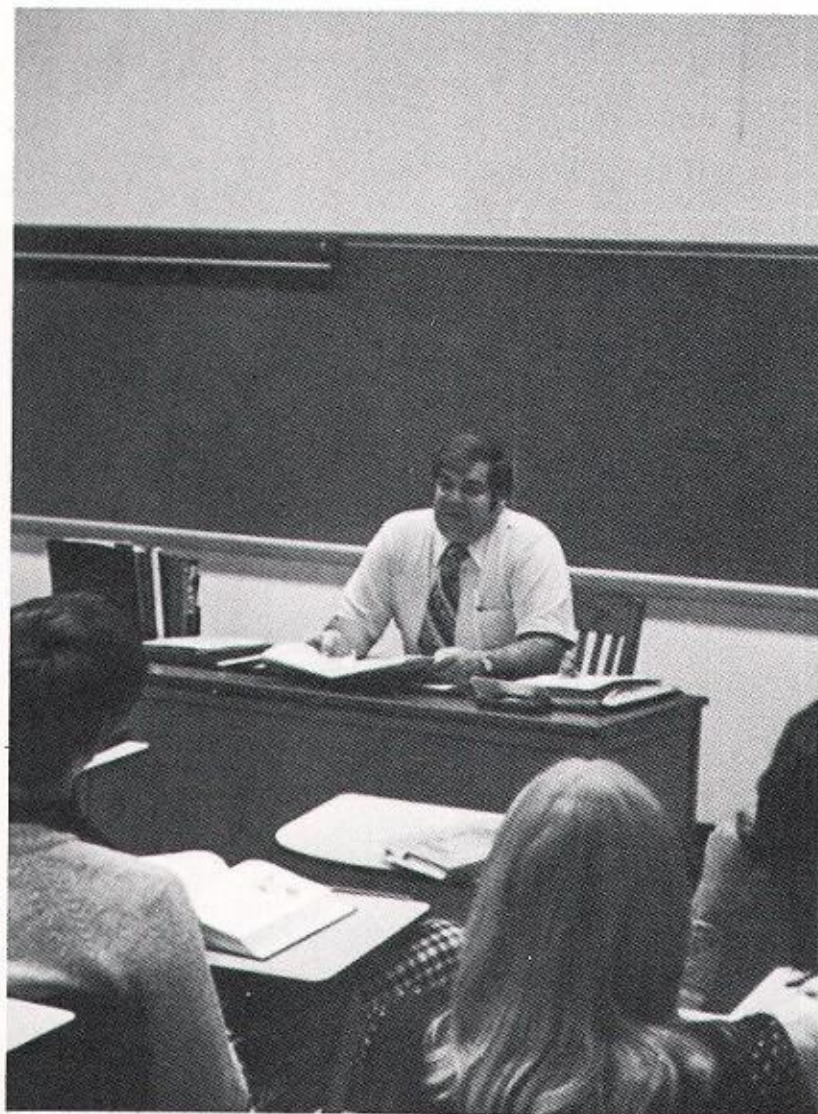

Steve Holman, senior, gives his opinion on how medieval artists expressed themselves through painting in Humanities class.

Frosh students read Romeo and Juliet, study Shakespeare and read To Kill a Mockingbird in English I.

Discussing the death of Chou En-lai along with other world events are Mr. Marvin Hawkins and a Government ES class.

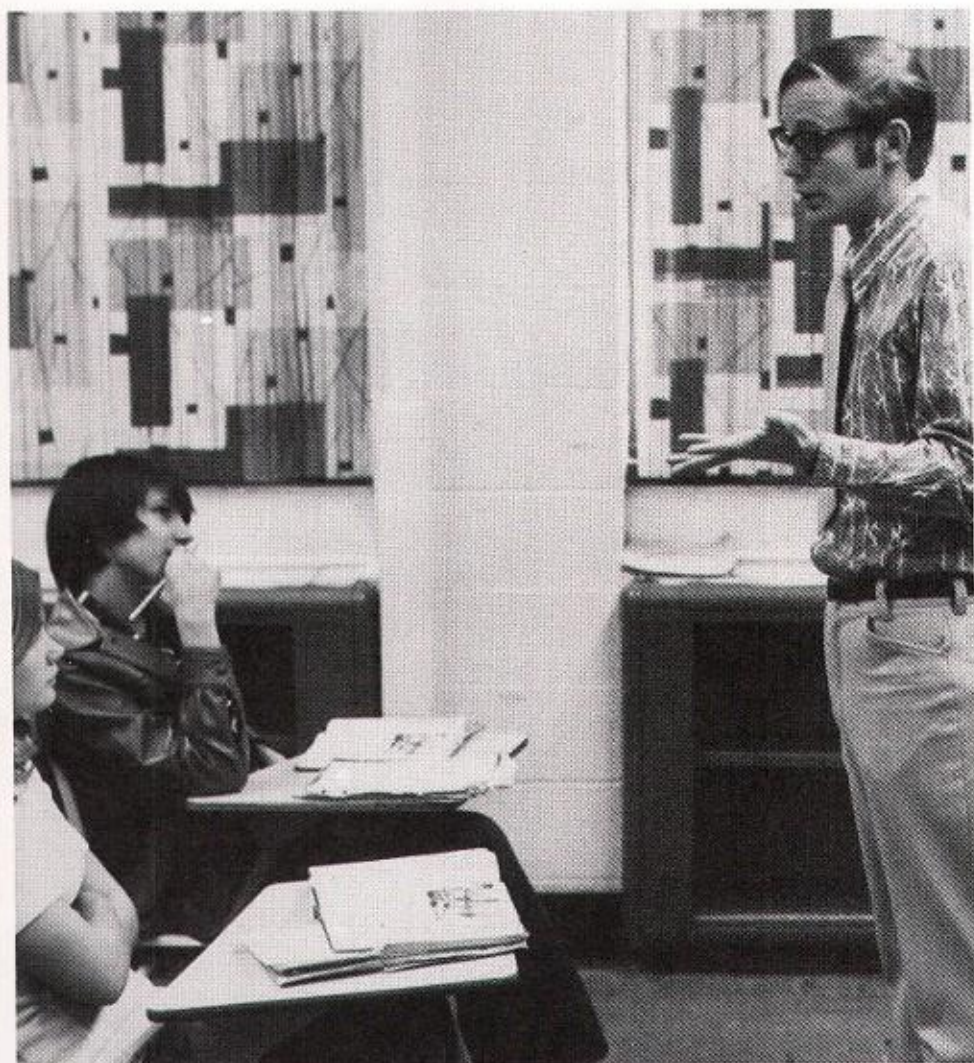

Kathy Schnëpp, senior, tries to remember all she has learned as she completes a test in Psychology class.

Smiling, Mr. Jim Spencer, new this year at Southport, nods his head in agreement to a right answer given by a student in World History II. The political, economic and social developments of nations are studied in this class.

"Should there be a national U.S. police department?" asks Mr. Terry Wright as Lori Breedon and Jeff Loble, freshmen, listen in Civics.

US birthday observed in history

"History is something that moves every day and we move with it," stated Mr. Richard Dart, head of the Social Studies department.

Past history was important this Bicentennial year, but current events also played a role.

A mock convention of the Democratic party, a special Open House display and registering seniors to vote were some activities of the social studies department.

Mr. James Spencer, new at Southport this year, and student teachers Mr. Mark Judge and Mr. Donald Ewigleben, also helped make this a very special Bicentennial year.

"The answer to number six is Thomas Jefferson and the Declaration of Independence," states Mr. Mike Congleton in U.S. History. For juniors, U.S. History is a requirement for graduation.

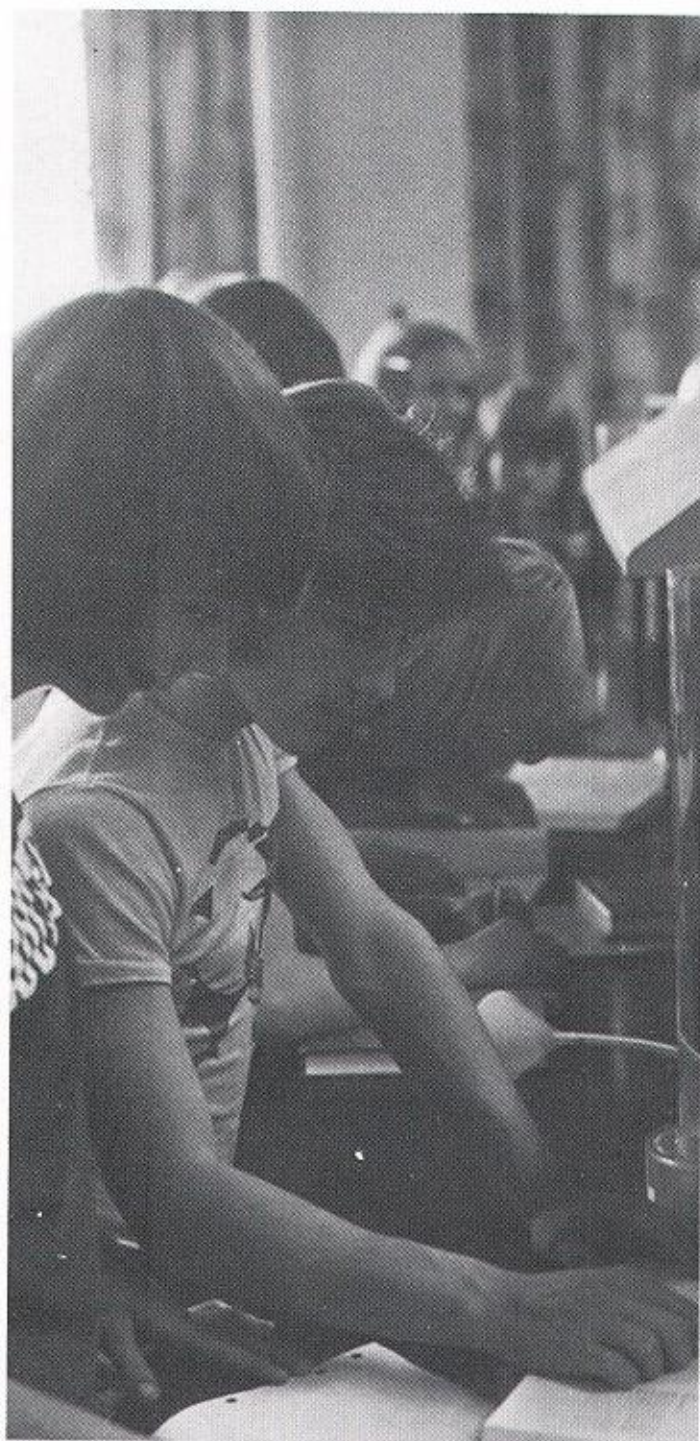

Environmental control will be science course

Space exploration, environmental measures and population control are all components of the new senior seminar on environmental control which will be offered next year. It was offered this year, but not enough interest was shown to warrant its being given. It will be open to those who have had at least one year in biology, chemistry and physics.

One year of science is required for graduation, and other courses in the department are Biology, Chemistry, Physics, Physical Science, Earth Science and ISCS Science. College preparatory students should take at least two years.

Tomorrow's scientists will send man throughout the universe.

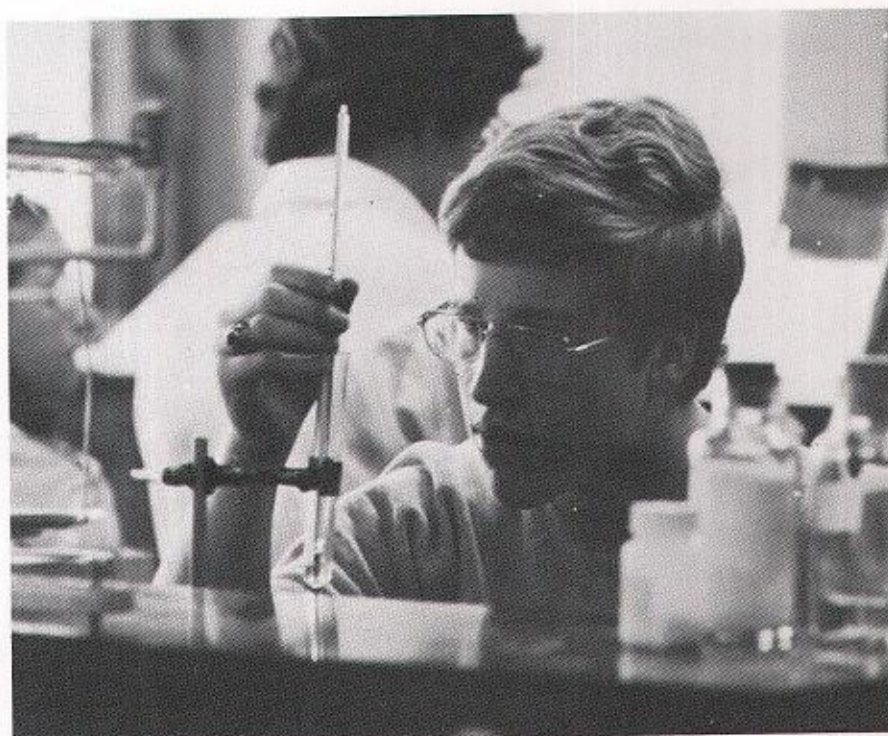

Carl Luedemann and Randy Miles, freshmen, check out some information during Earth Science.

"Don't break the string," says Mike Cox to Doug Walters, Mike Rogers and Ross Turley as they measure force in Physics I.

Concentration rests upon junior Tom Pressley's face as he watches temperature change of a chemical in Chemistry I.

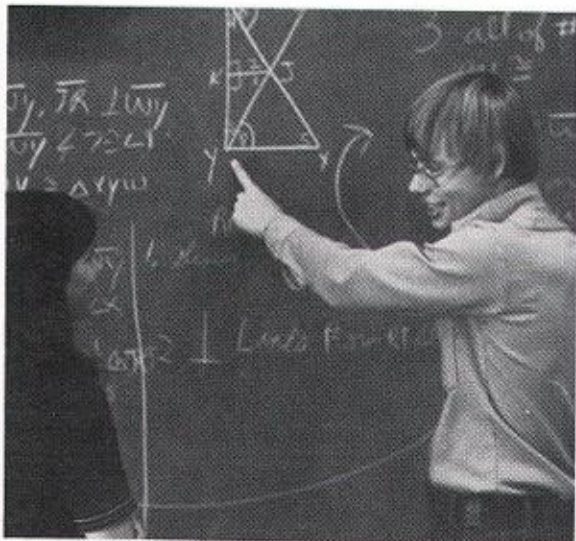

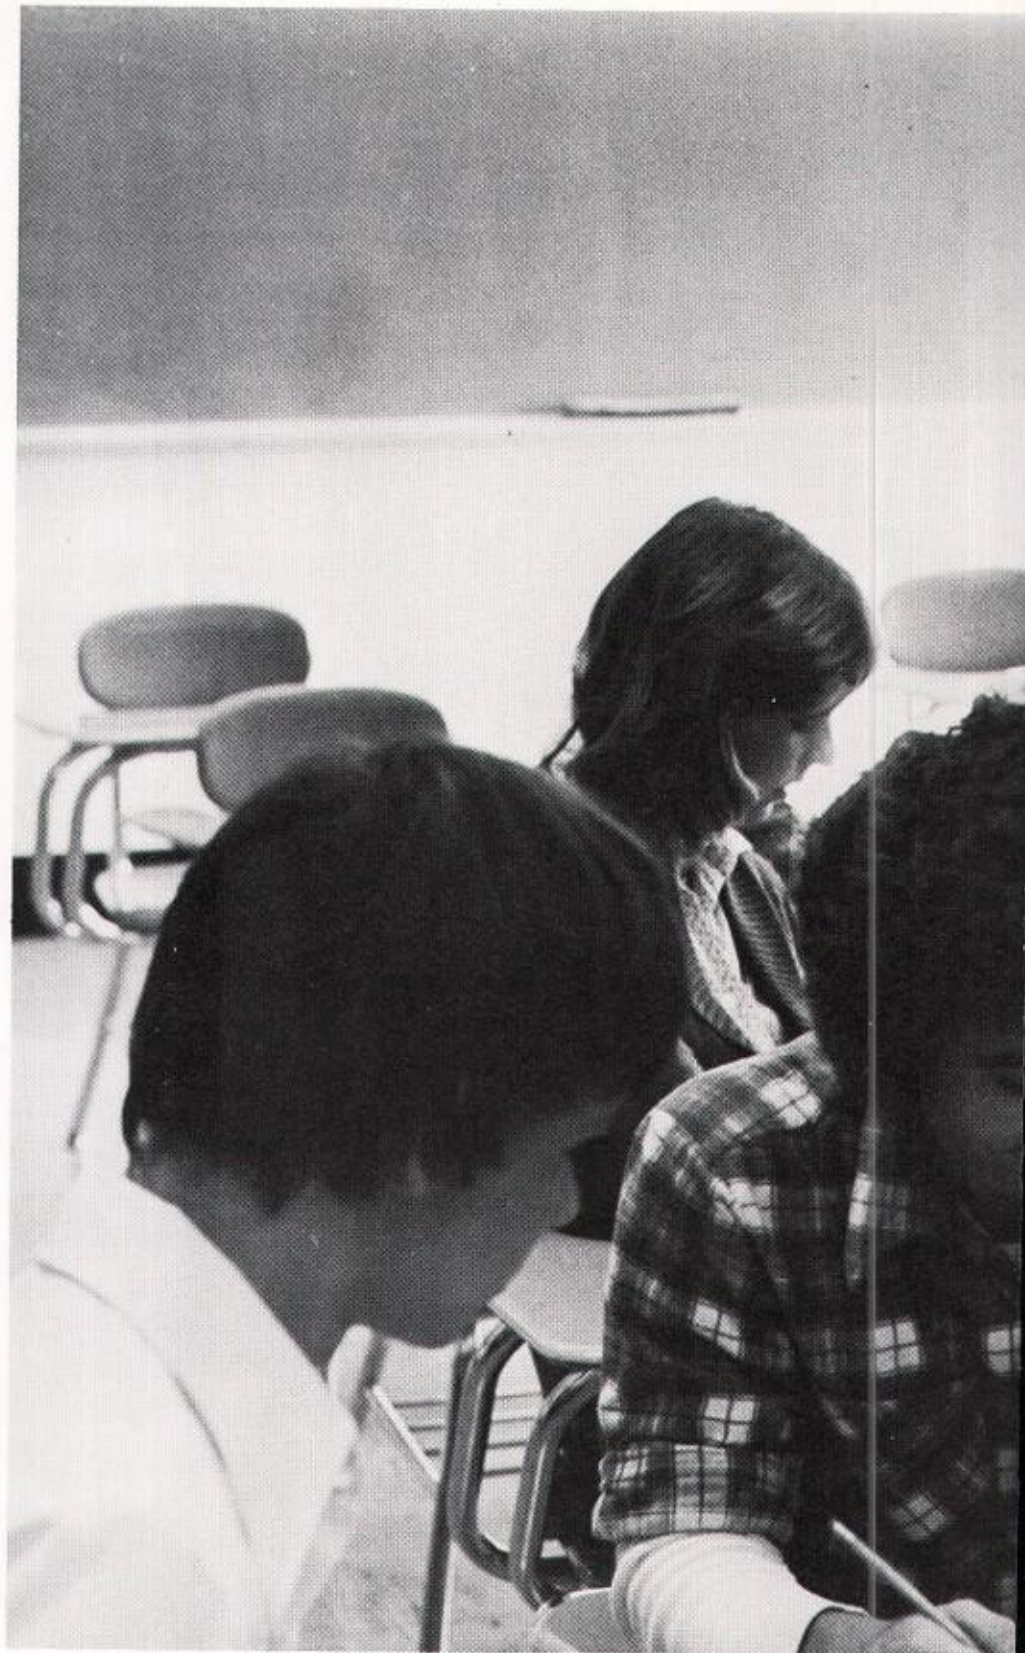

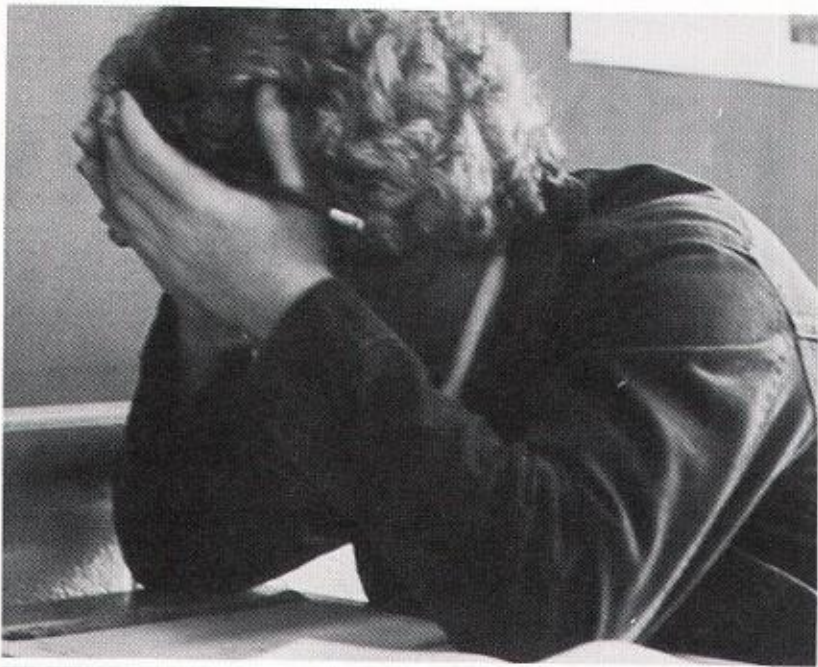

Finding mass is shown by Mr. Tom Pedigo in Physical Science as Ronna Brenton, Linda Jones, Gary Peters and Ray Caric watch.

Working with yeast cells in a food materials experiment are Bob Armstrong and Alan Miller in Biology III.

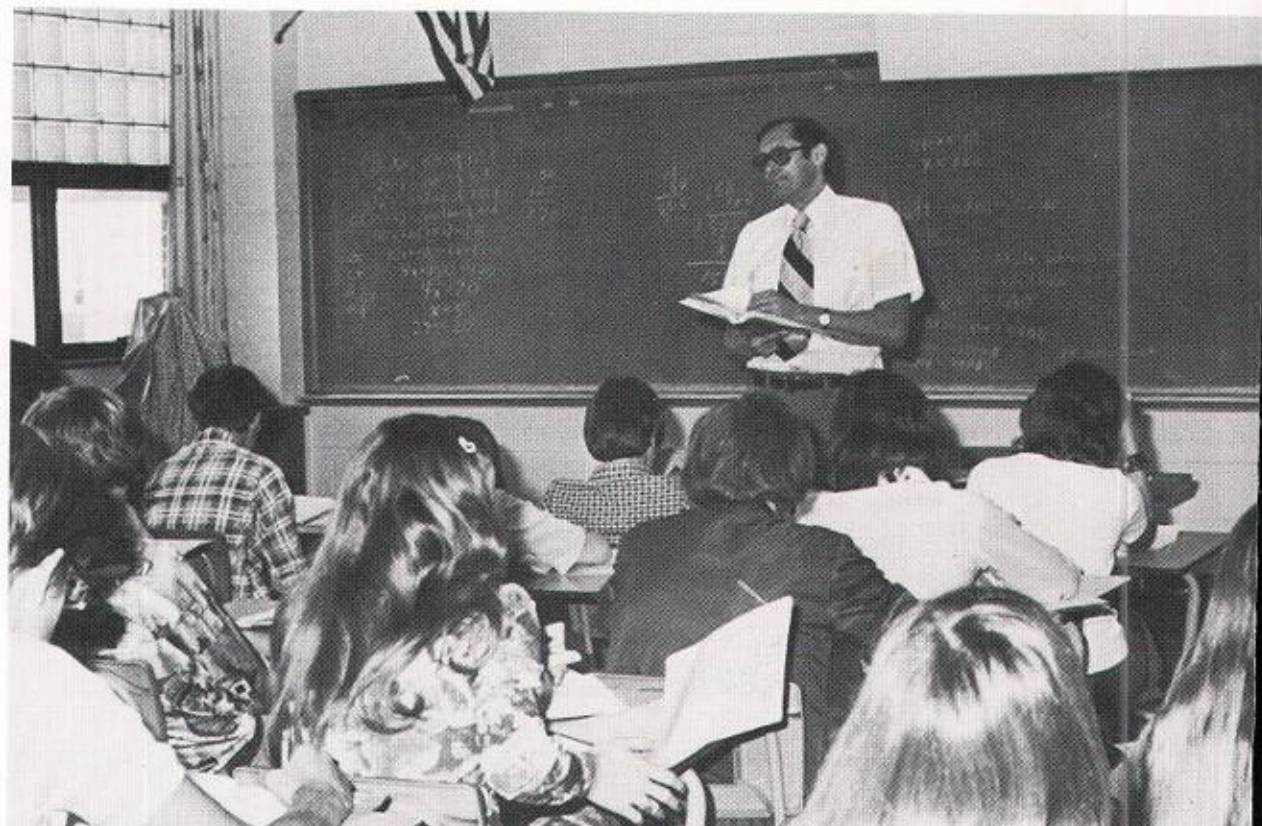

Mr. Chuck Robbins watches as Dave Marshall points out a mistake to Mike Engel and Steve Lockett in Trigonometry.

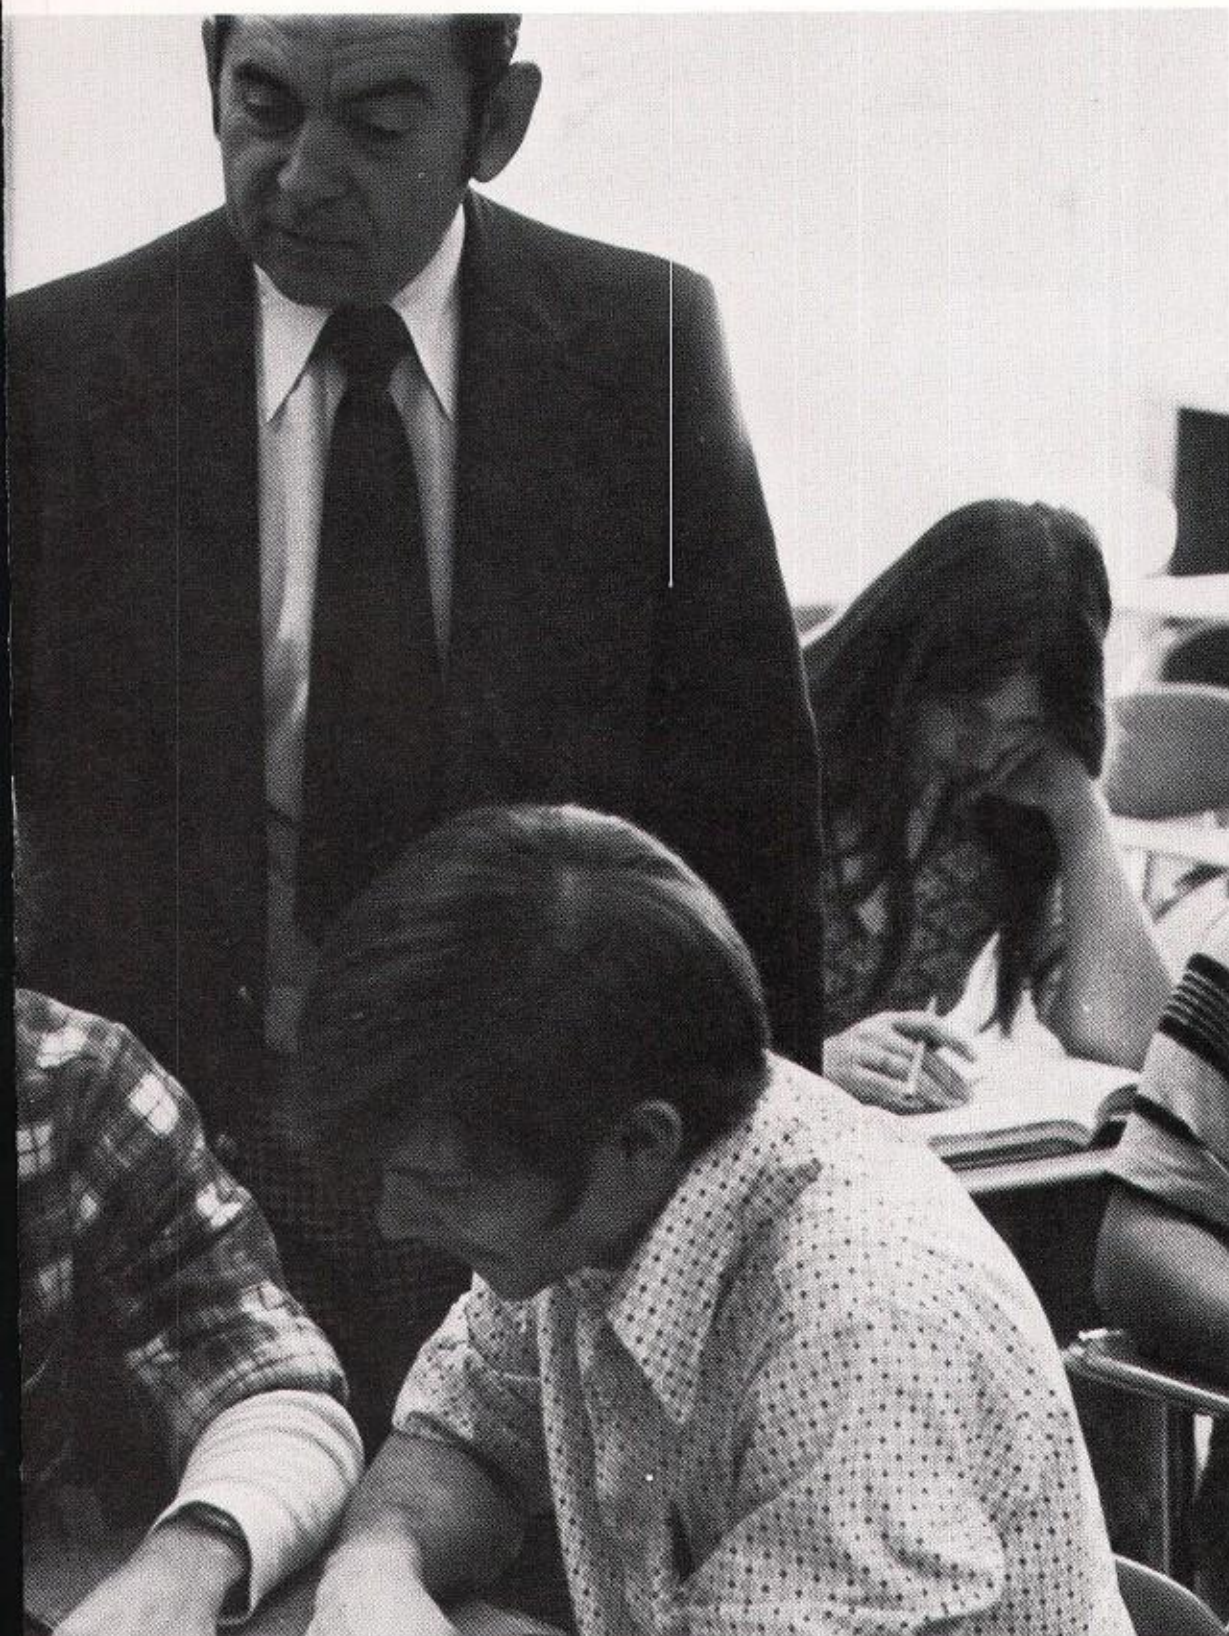

Agony and ecstasy are evident as Greg Nolan, junior, wrestles with a very difficult problem in Algebra III.

Beverly Jones receives instruction in Geometry I from Craig Engel.

Mr. Baker's Algebra I class is deeply engrossed in algebraic fundamentals.

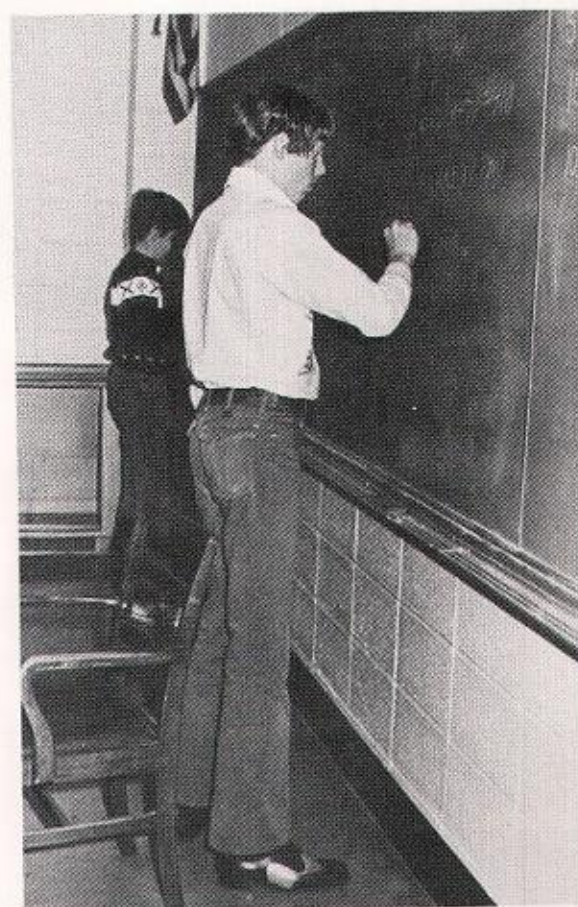

SHS claims honors, new math books

It was a little harder than adding 2 and 2 for seniors Linda Mussman and Gary Fisher as they captured first and second place honors at the Franklin College Math Day, Nov. 8.

The classroom scenery was slightly changed this year with the addition of new textbooks. And a course in introductory Algebra was offered for the first time this year. This course is intended for the student who wants to continue math studies but doesn't want to take Algebra I and II.

Seniors Linda Mussman and Gary Fisher go over information they received upon winning first and second honors at the Franklin College Math Day.

Russ Souder and George Cross demonstrate their math abilities in Algebra I.

Students demonstrate creativity

The reproduction of images, stationary or fleeting, the material creation of a dream-these are the ever changing gifts of art.

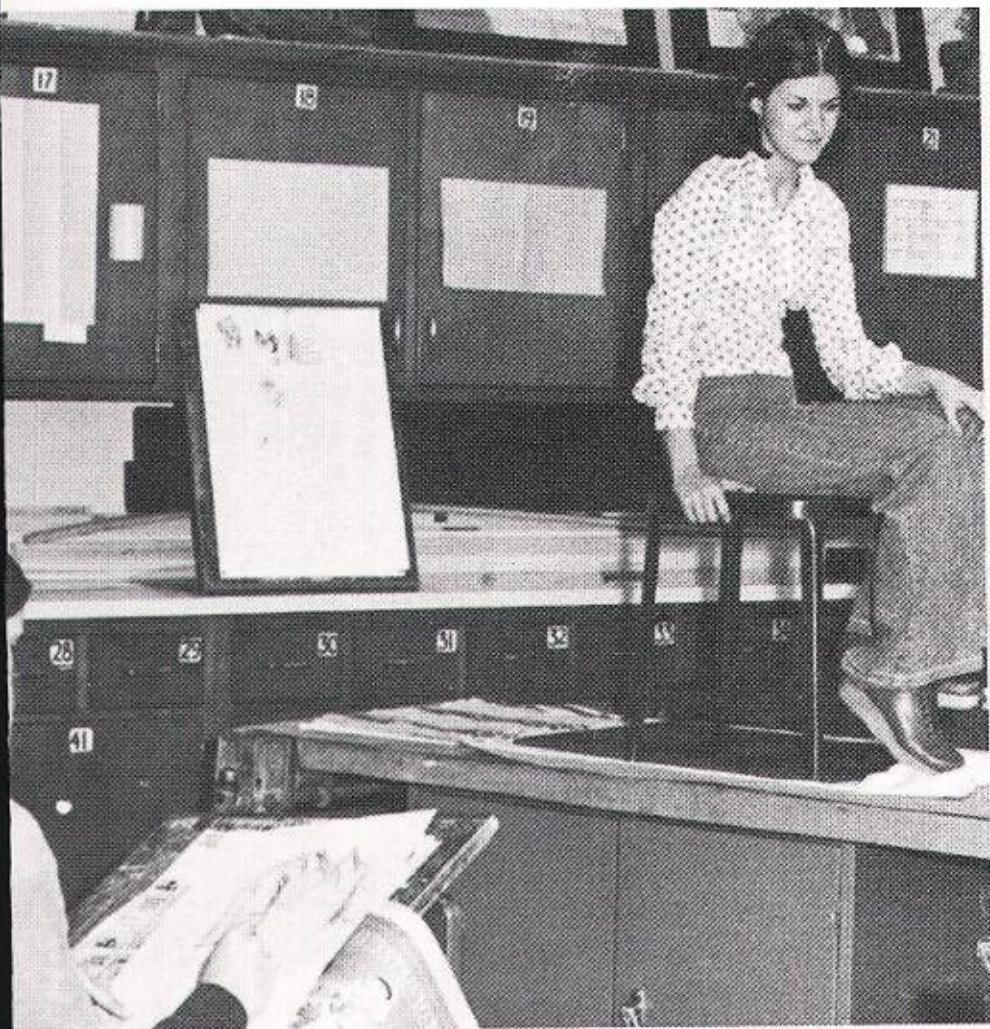

Through the variety of art courses SHS offered this year, many students may have found where their talents lie. Whether it was wood sculpture or hooked-rug making, pottery or still life in pastels, students were given an opportunity at each. Finished art projects by students often filled the front display case.

Slowly taking shape is the stone sculpture John Burch and Chris Reinhardt, sophomores, are working on in Crafts II.

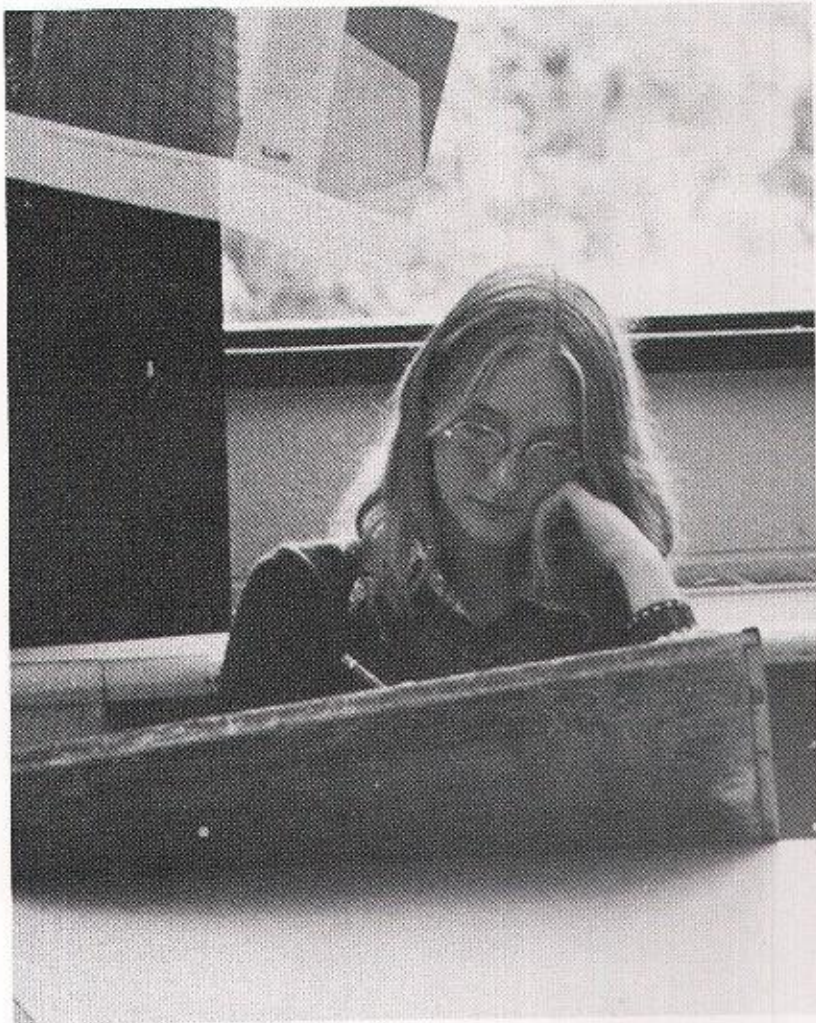

All kinds of art are viewed and discussed as to how they reflect the society in which they were created in Historical and Environmental Art. Students Sandy Long and Tom Aliff study a painting by Rembrandt.

Muscle work goes into the filing of wood as students Jeff Simpson, senior, and Debbie Wilbur, freshman, create their wood-craft projects in Crafts I. Some other crafts projects are pottery, plaster carving and applied design.

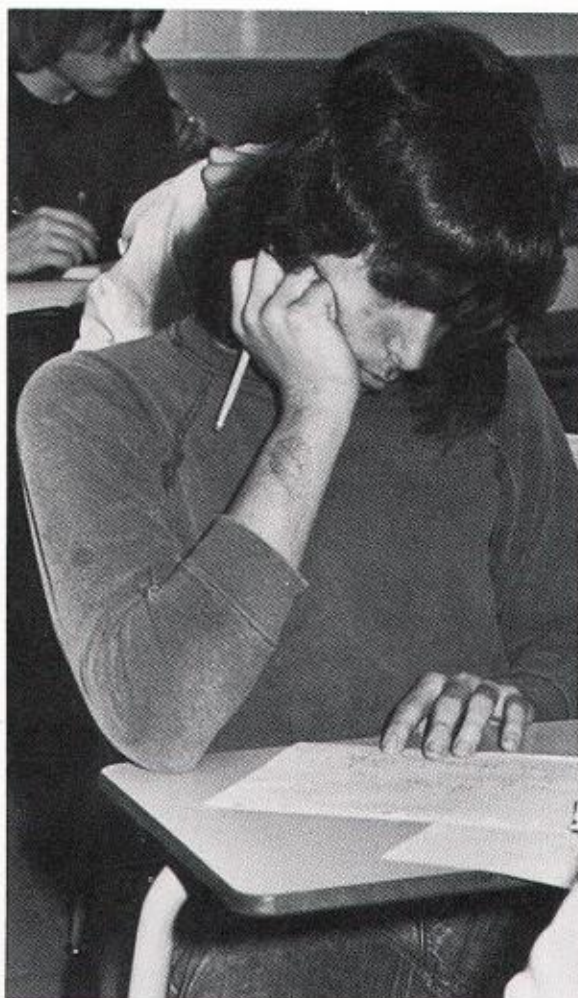

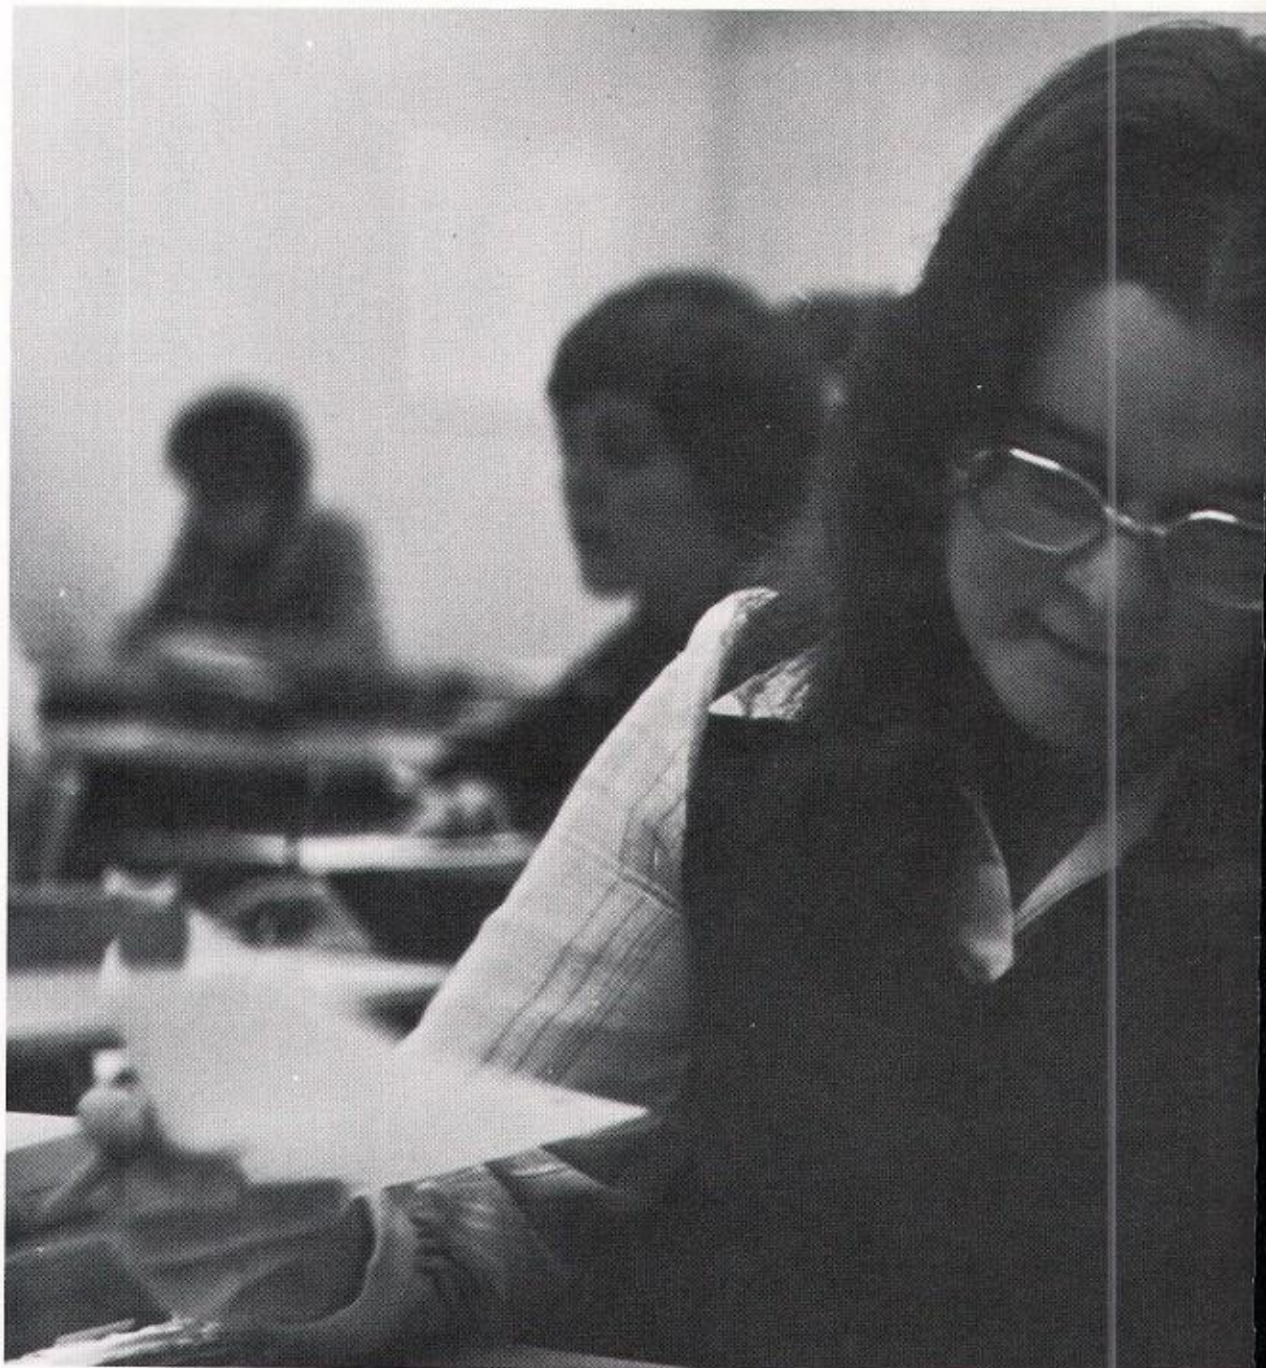

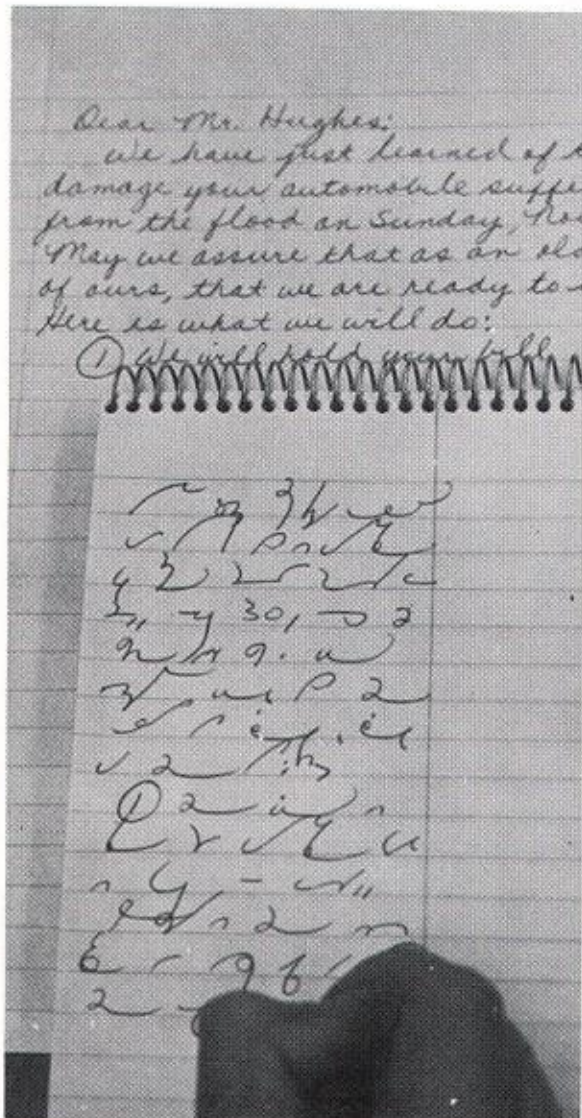

Patience is needed by Paula Coens, senior, as she poses for Laura Glander, senior, in Art I.

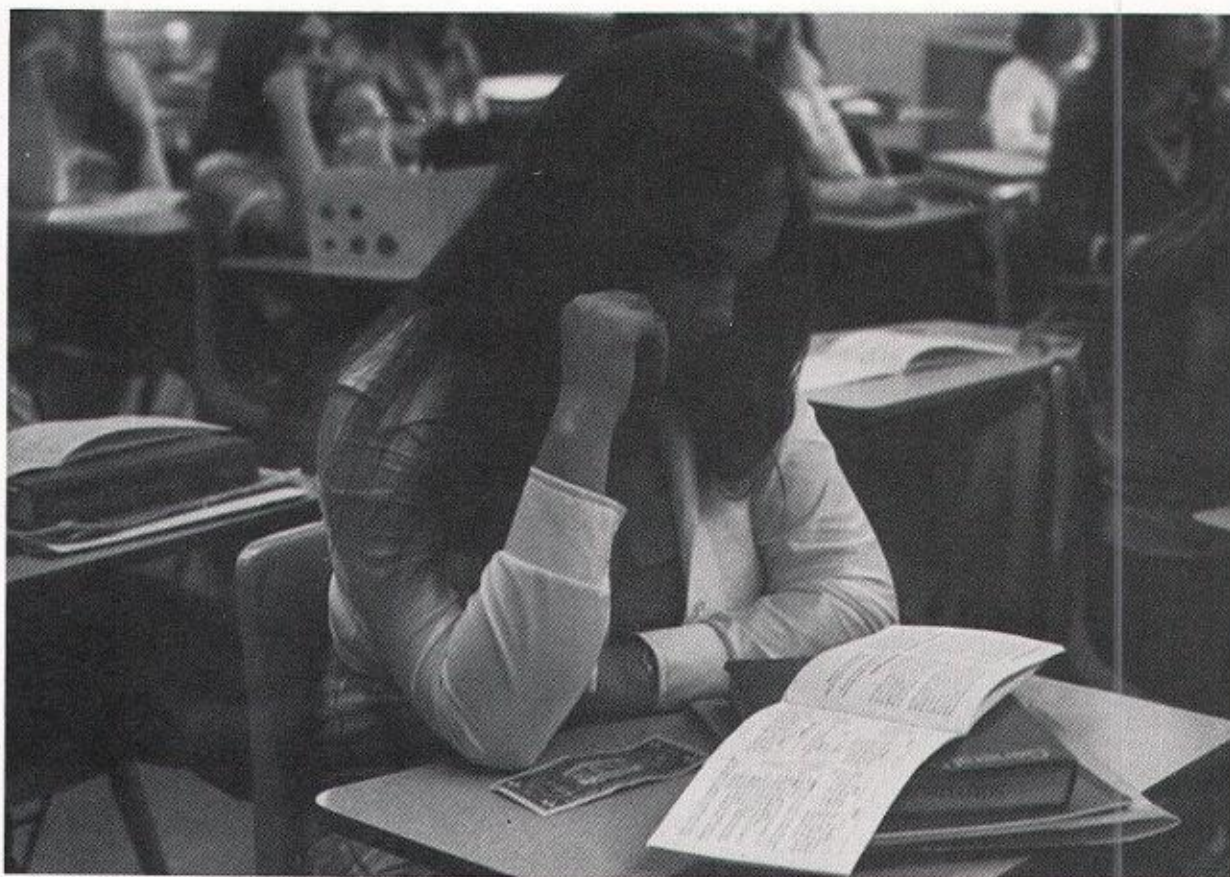

Annette Schoene, sophomore, concentrates on sketching a dried floral arrangement in Art I.

Many hours of work have gone into Cheryl Riley's daily assignment in Shorthand I.

A puzzled Tom Forni thinks about the answer to a Business Arithmetic problem.

Dawn Hilton listens as her General Business class discusses money. In front of her is a one-dollar bill, which the class learned has an average life of 18 months.

Schedules, machines are change

Assets + liabilities = capital. Brief forms. Timed writings. This is the language of the business department.

According to Mr. Steve Cline, business department head, new developments in the department included a planning schedule to aid business students in making their high school schedules and new office machines which made dictation and transcribing easier.

Cathy Jessie, senior, ponders over an answer in Business Law, a one-semester course. The class deals with contracts and owning property.

Senior Brenda Noe diligently takes notes as the class discusses disposal of fixed assets in Accounting III, while others listen.

As she thinks, "Practice makes perfect," Lisa Dye, senior, types busily in Typing III.

2 new courses broaden foreign language horizon

Combien pour les billets?

Wie viel ist es?

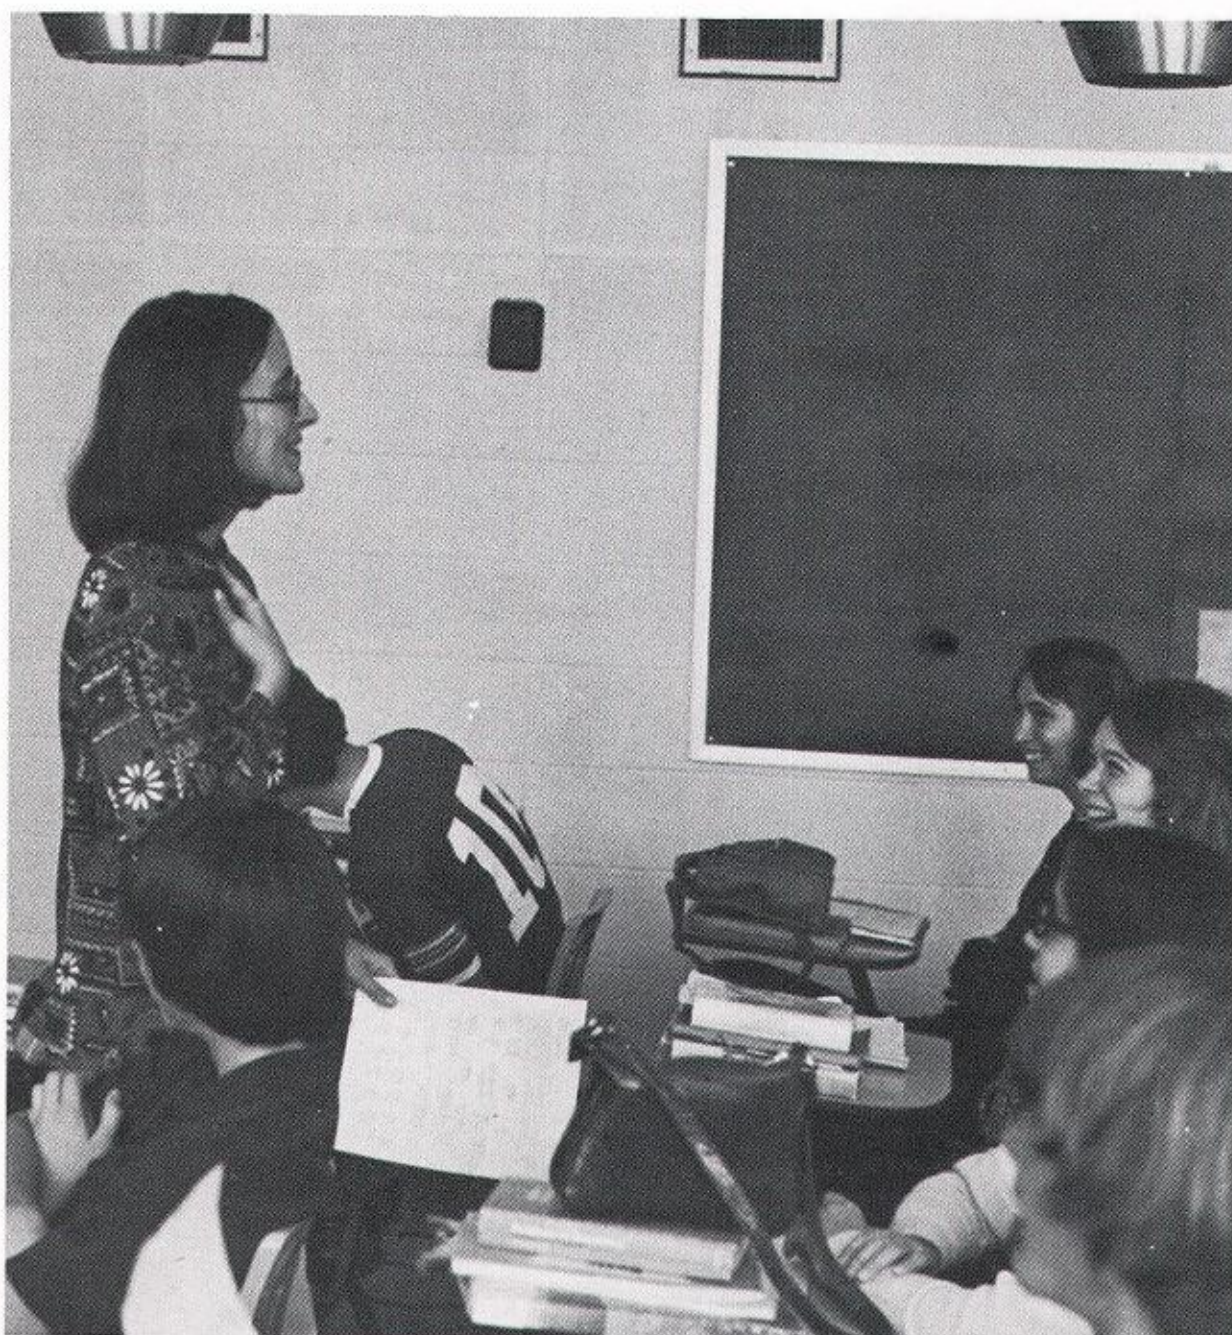

¿Cuanta mucho para les zapatas?

These are phrases in French, German and Spanish one would have heard in a new arrival this year called Cultural Studies. Taught by various teachers, it gave non-foreign language students an understanding of common phrases encountered when visiting a foreign country. Also customs of these foreign countries were discussed.

Another new course of the Foreign Language department was Etymology. This small language class learned the beginnings of words by use of Latin and Greek derivatives.

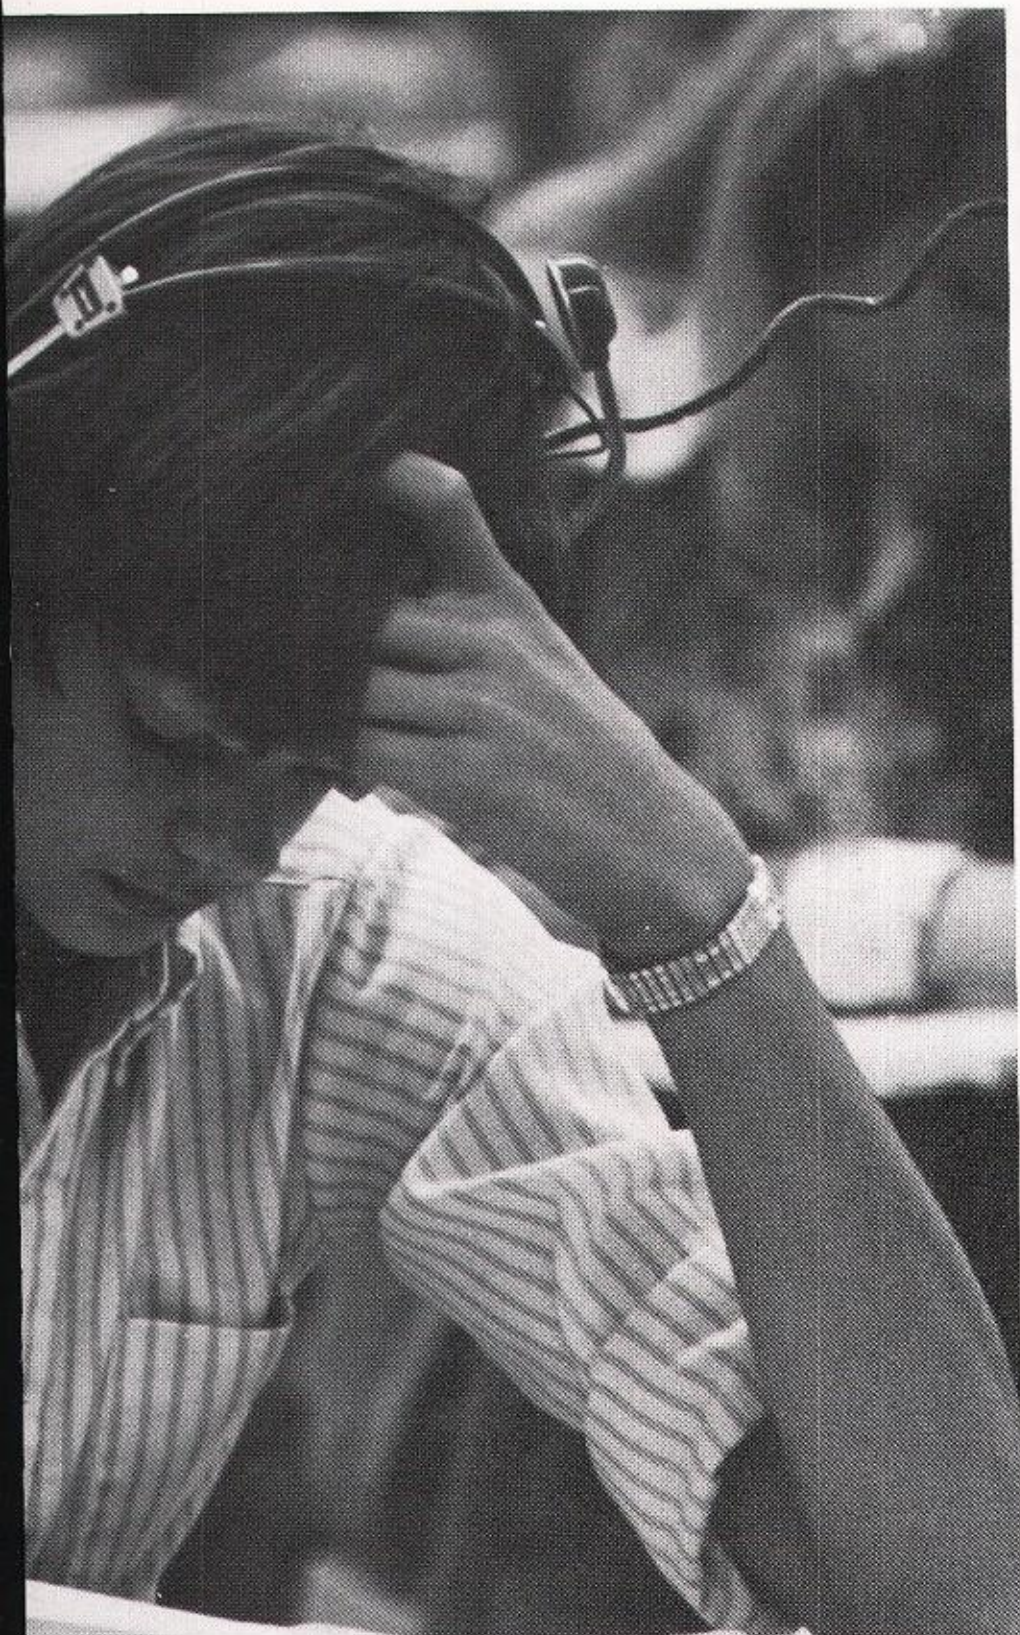

Besides the two new courses, there were five levels of German, Spanish and French offered and four levels of Latin. These classes concentrated on learning grammar, literature and speaking.

Teaching phrases like "thank you," "please" and "how much" in German, Spanish and French is part of the job of Miss Sharon Zehner in Cultural Studies.

Headphones are used frequently in Spanish classes. Here Joel Hammond, sophomore, concentrates on his lesson.

"E pluribus unum" probably isn't the phrase Nancy Best, junior, is learning from Mrs. Shirley Lynch in Latin.

Carol Carson, Alan Miller, Cheryl Pike and Mr. Floyd Chamberlin listen as Jenny Brodie presents her views in a discussion in French VII.

Sharon Ensinger, sophomore, and Bill Rollison, freshman, point to the Federal Republic of Germany's industrial area.

New electric equipment, men in kitchen spark SHS

One new course and brand new equipment for the electricity lab were additions to the Industrial Arts department this year.

Introduction to Industry is now a required course for all majors and minors in this area. It teaches applied math and measuring used in industrial arts. According to Mr. Ray Linson, department head, the equipment in the electricity lab was the finest available and it has upgraded the lab.

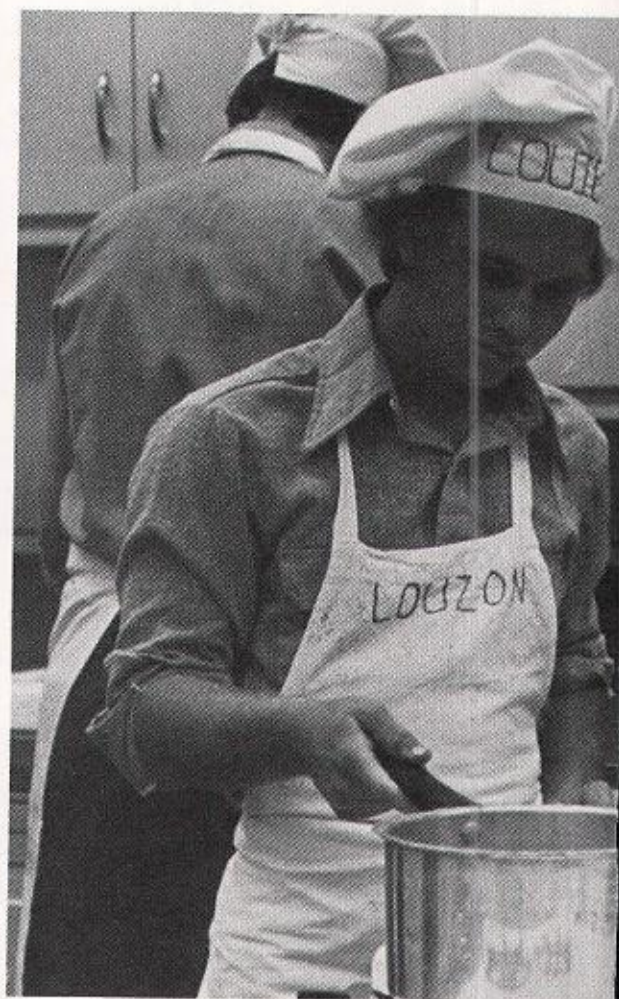

Watch out, girls! The guys are catching up!

Mrs. Jean Norman, the new department head for Home Economics, feels that Southport is unique because of its fine boys' foods program. Many schools are just starting a boys' food program, while Southport has had one for 18 years. The one-semester course was offered to senior boys. The young men practiced their culinary skills on Fridays.

Karen Turk and Pam Andrews prepare biscuit dough in a foods class.

Learning the care, appearance and special problems of materials is all part of Textiles and Clothing. Kathy Brown, senior, practices sewing on different kinds of materials.

Chef Dan Louzon finds that boiling water is one ingredient of Boys' Foods.

"No, this goes here!" says Don Carney to Mark Van Horn, seniors, while replacing a synchronizer as they rebuild a four-speed manual transmission in Power Mechanics III.

Electricity gives us the conveniences of today's soociety as Pius Boehm, sophomore, explores its many facets in Electrictiy I.

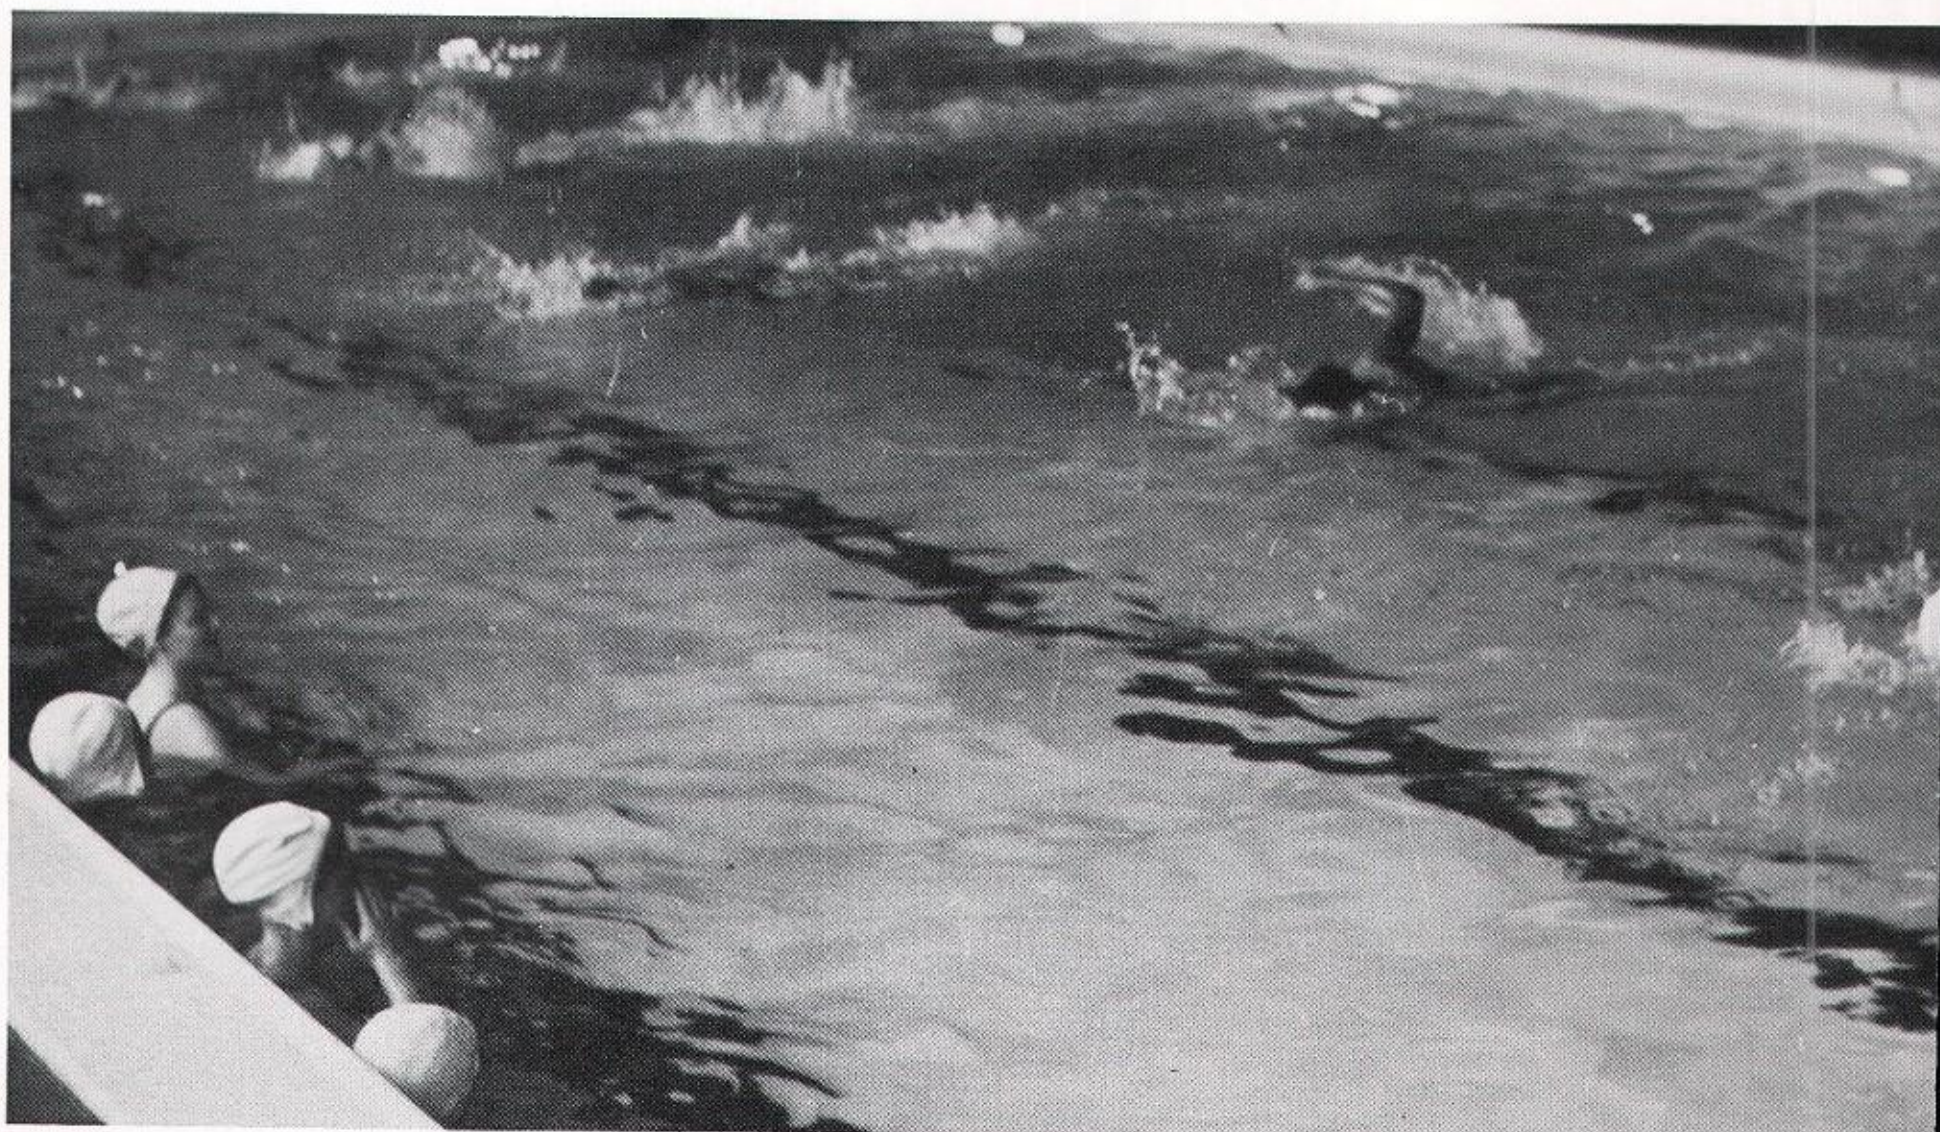

Joe Abraham cuts a football sled, one of Metals III many activities, as Mark O'Neil and Mark DeHebreard watch.

A group of ninth and tenth grade swimmers move across the pool, trying to stay in correct form while others cheer them on. Starting next year, swimming will be a requirement in ninth grade classes rather than in tenth grade classes.

"Heave ho!" Boys in Mr. James Beckham's ninth grade physical education class put up nets after a rousing game of volleyball.

"I may not be in perfect form, but I'm having fun!" says Rhonda Anders as she jumps on the trampoline.

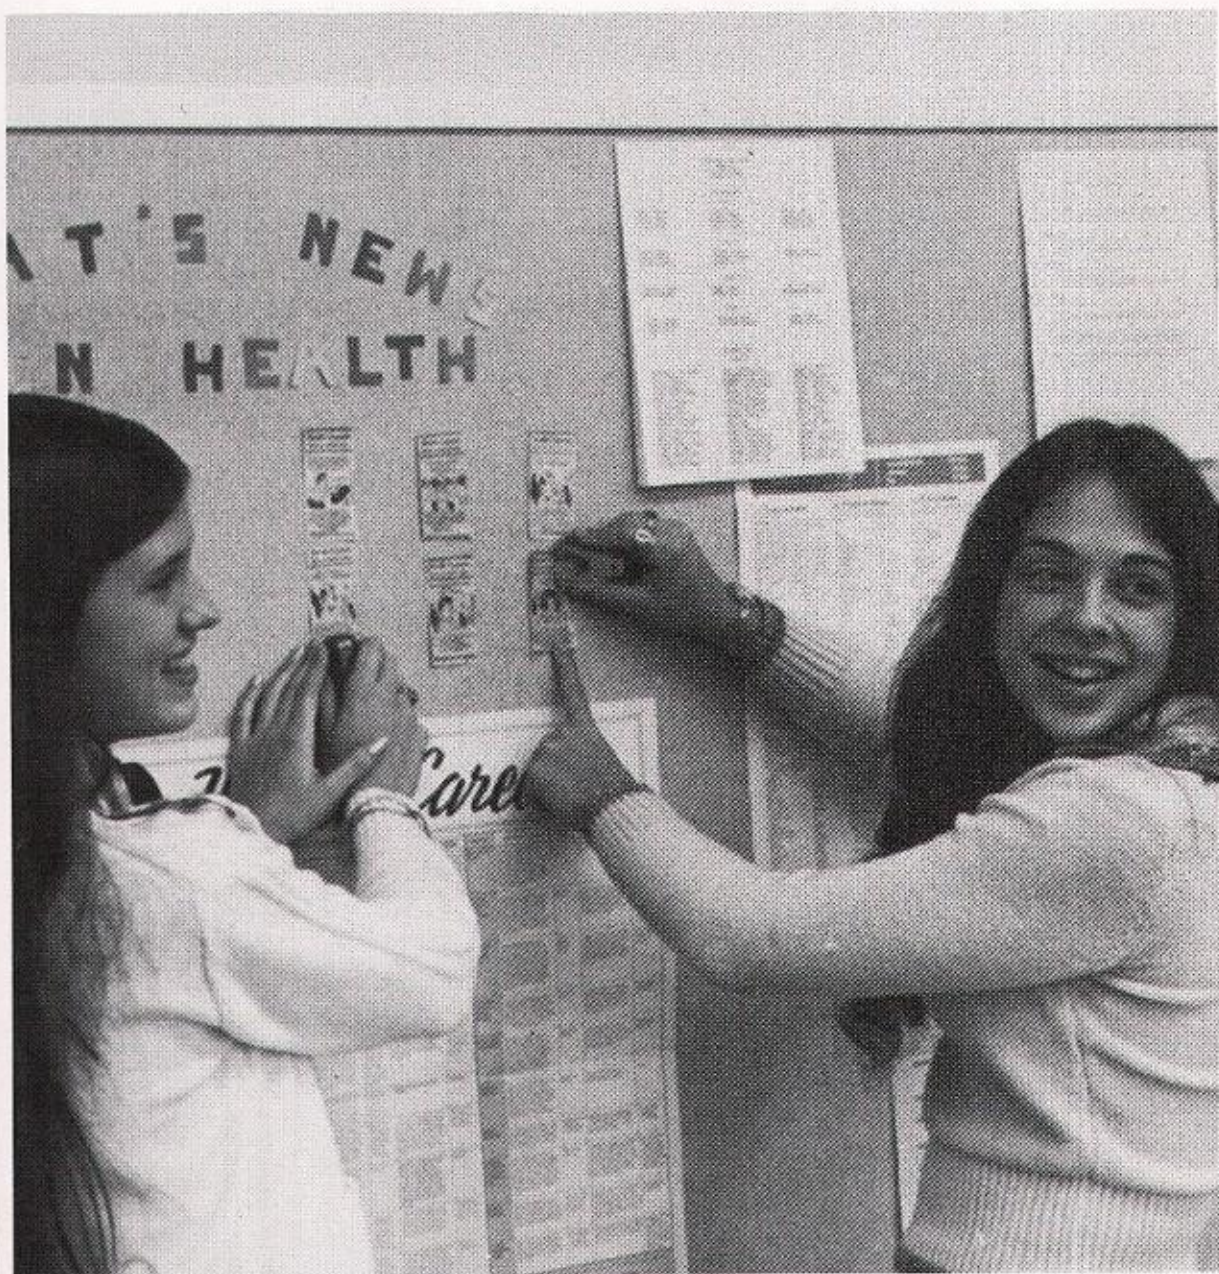

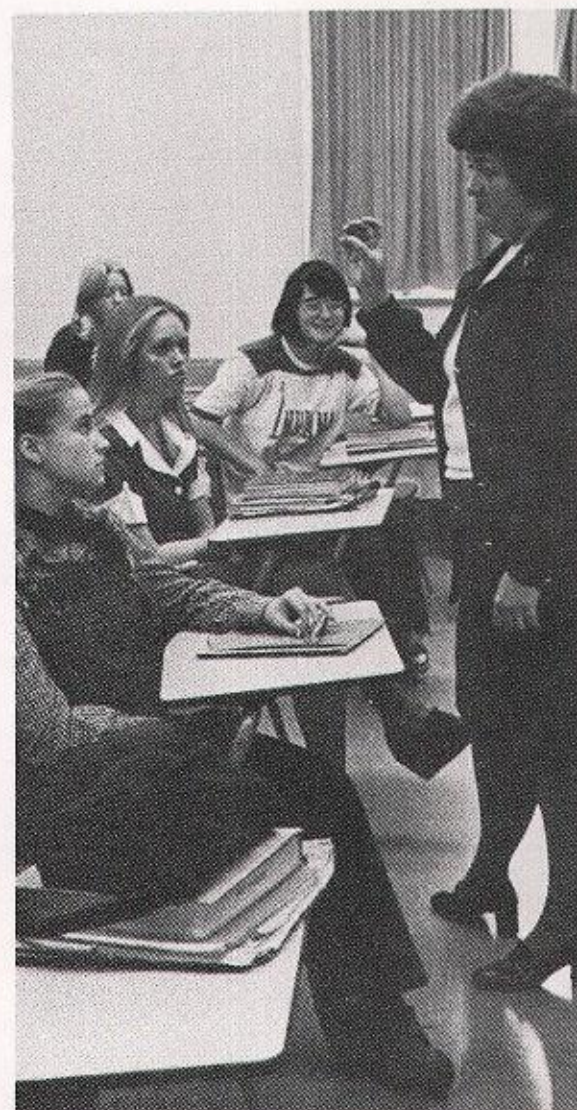

Changes include swimming and health-safety books

Swimming freshmen may now be seen at Southport as classes are being taught to the freshmen. Described as a major change in the physical education department by Mr. Steve Dial, head, the name of the advanced group of swimmers has also been changed to the swimmers group.

A gymnastics room wall was torn out for more practice room.

New textbooks were adopted in the health and safety department this year, prompting teachers to revise their course of study. Along with this, teachers spent more time studying various social problems. The department has also been studying the sexual integration which must soon takes place in all classes where males and females are segregated, according to the new law.

Mrs. Ruth Kelly explains about the ear to her health and safety class.

Karen Steeb and Tammy Pittman, sophomores, staple on good health rules as they prepare a bulletin board telling "What's new in Health," in health and safety class.

Health class must have its funny moment as shown by these boys.

Driving, teaching bring fun?

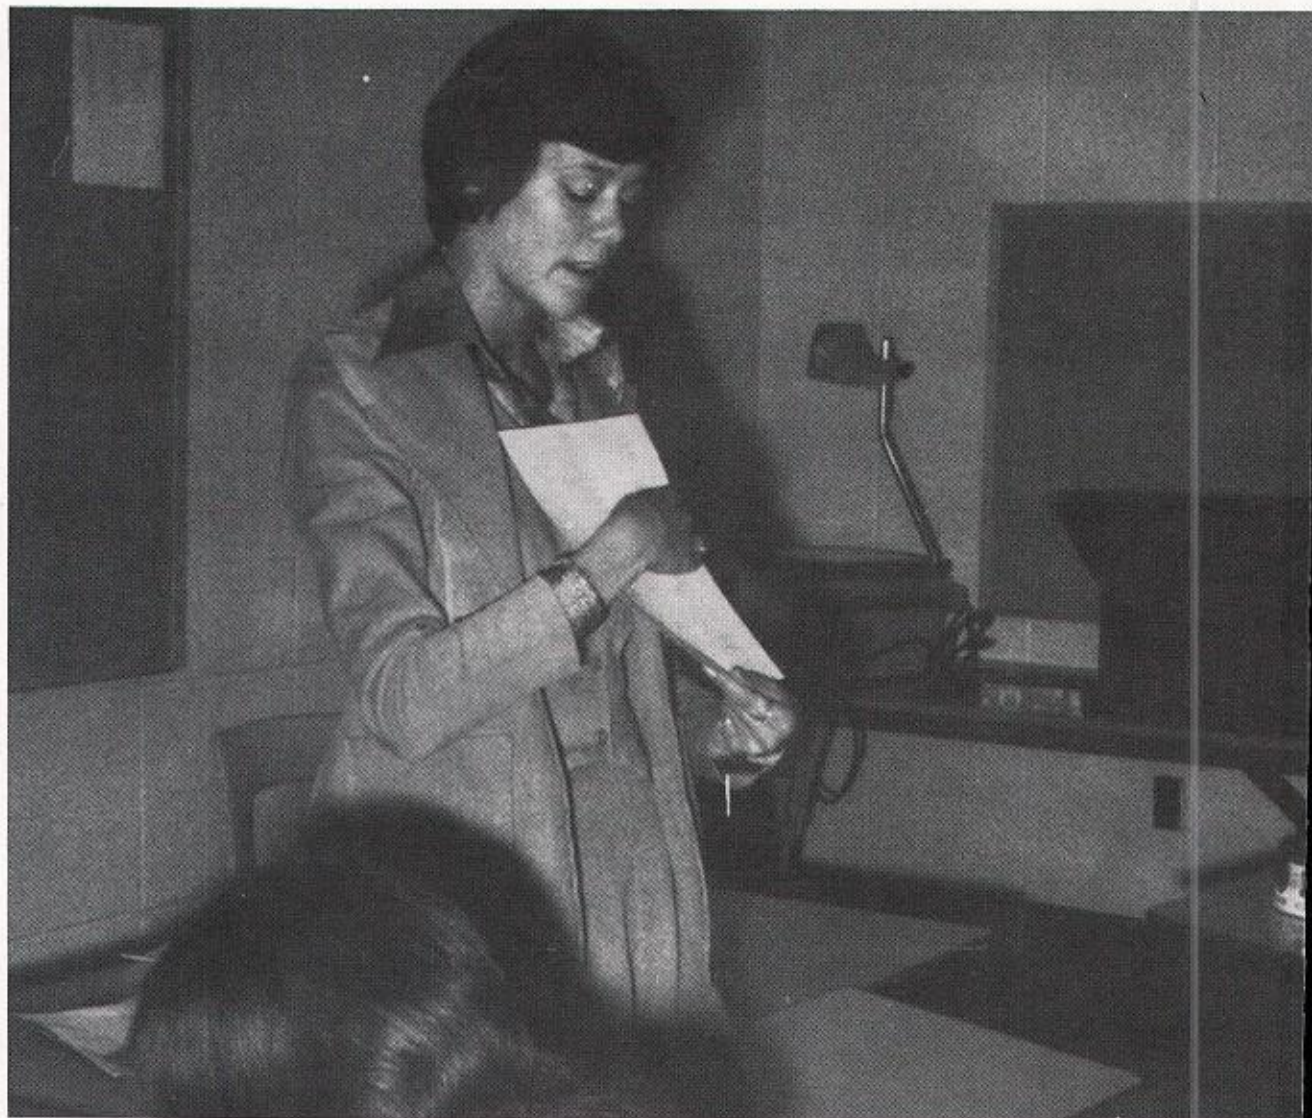

"Bobby, stop pulling Carol's hair right now!"

These were words one of the many exploratory teachers might have said to her students during the year. Open to seniors, Exploratory Teaching offered students a chance to see whether teaching might be a career they would enjoy.

"Get on the right side of the road!" "Watch out for that ditch!" These were few of the many things quoted by Mr. Chauncey McDaniel, Mr. Larry Stanford and Mr. Richard Theil, who were in charge of all Driver's Education.

Two '76 Ford LTDs and a '76 Impala were the types of new cars driven by the students.

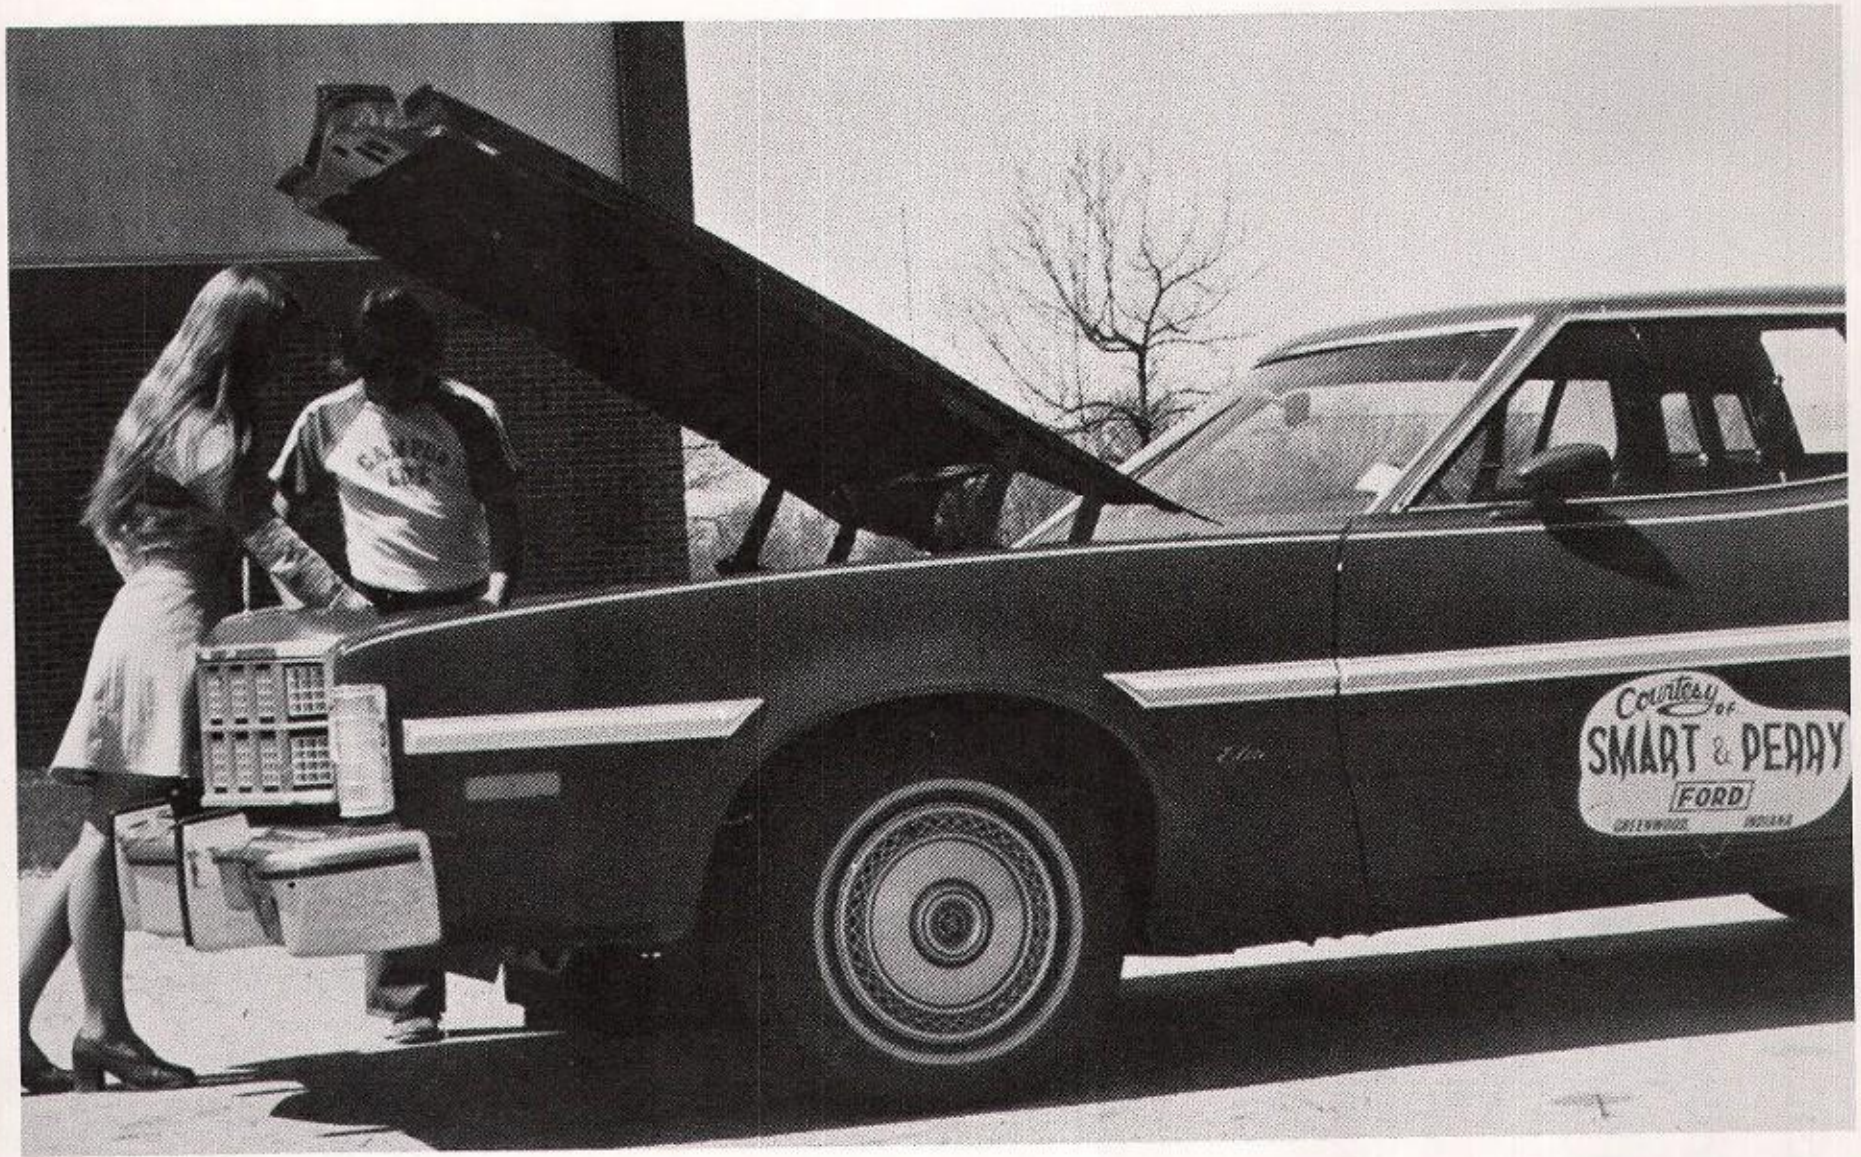

Dianne Coppock, a student in Exploratory Teaching, watches over her elementary school students as they attempt to do some painting.

Senior Eda Grahn demonstrates her abilities as a teacher as she presents a required 10-minute lesson in front of her high school class during Exploratory Teaching.

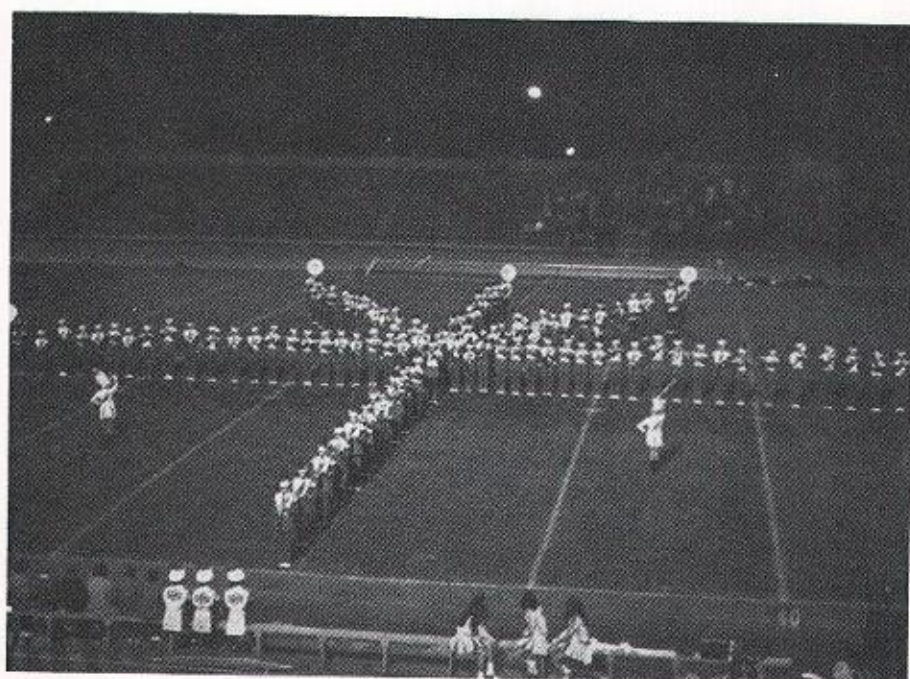

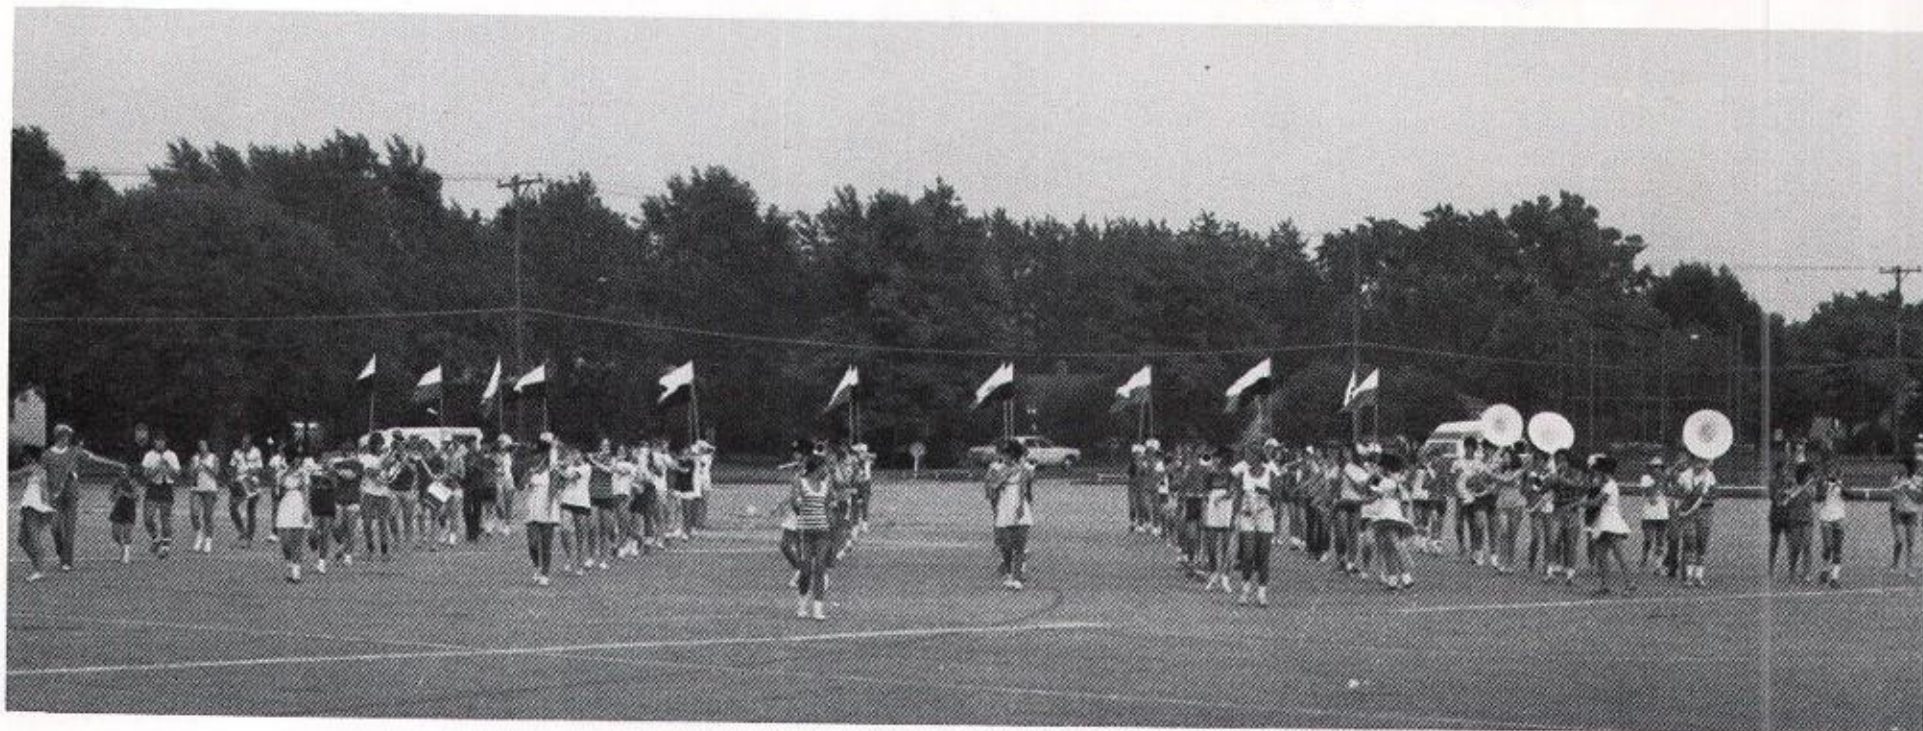

Paul,
a really cool guy and goofy too (just kidding). Stay strong in the church at all times. Have fun doing your paper route in the mornings. Stay the way you are and you will go far.

Driving a car carefully and with confidence is the goal of Driver Education. Sophomore Cindy Duke prepares to take her hour drive, a requirement of the course, as Mr. Richard Theil and Dennis Angrick, sophomore, travel with her.

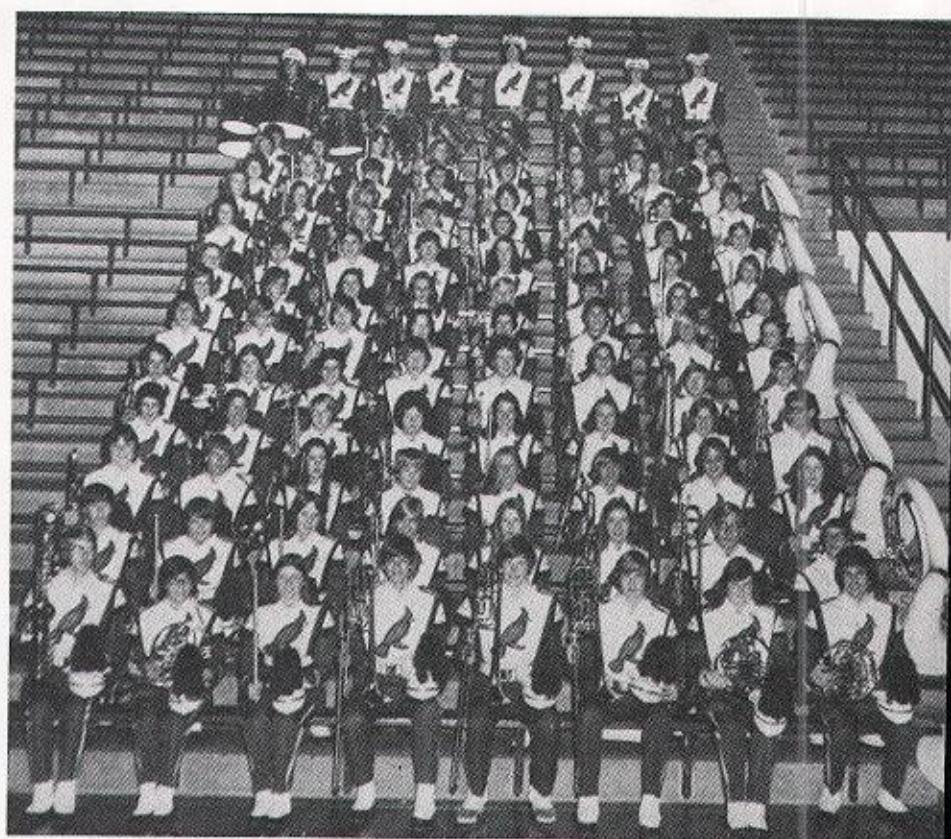

Carburetor, spark plugs, manifold, pistons, air cleaner and the water pump are parts of the engine juniors Carolyn Burch and Todd Chestnut are trying to learn for a Driver's Education test. This may be helpful with later car troubles.

Blood, sweat and tears went into last summer's marching practice. Here the band is preparing for the Delaware County Marching Contest held at the Muncie Fairgrounds each year. Though the band did not return with top honors, they enjoyed attending the fair.

The last football show's theme was "Nashville Sound." Here the band forms a railroad signal as they play "Rock Island Line."

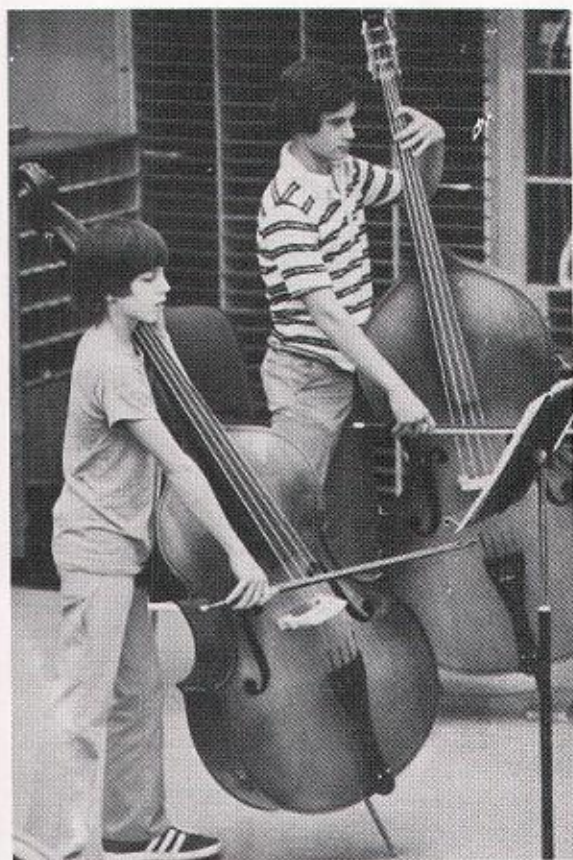

These instrumentalists performed at all band activities and after marching season divided into the Symphonic and Varsity Bands.

The whole orchestra plays through a number composed by Vivaldi during the Winter Concert on Dec. 7.

Busy feet are happy feet, say SHS Marching Cards

Busy, busy, busy are the only words to describe the Marching Cards year.

Though the state marching contest was not held at Southport this year, the band had its hands full, or rather feet full, with other activities. The marchers participated in four parades, one of which was the Martinsville Fall Foliage parade. They attended Muncie Band Contest and Ball State Band Day and played for the lighting of the Salvation Army Christmas Tree. The band played for all home football and basketball games besides its many other activities.

Highlights of the orchestral year included new pink dresses for the girls and a much larger string section. The orchestra performed for holiday convocations, the Winter Concert, the spring musical and the spring music concerts.

Playing musically is the string orchestra's goal. The orchestra met every day in class to learn and to prepare for upcoming concerts. The strings were joined by the wind instruments on Monday nights for the complete orchestra rehearsals. Director is Mrs. Candace Putz.

Singing praises of thanks giving are the combined choirs during the Thanksgiving convocation. Directed by Mrs. Patricia French, the choir sang several numbers.

Songs from choirs fill SHS halls

"Sing . . . sing a song."

This year many choirs fulfilled that song line. All the choirs performed during the year at convocations and concerts. Cardinelles made many appearances including one at the Murat Temple for the Shriners. Other choral classes were A Capella, Concert Choir, Intermediate Boys' and Girls' choirs and Freshman Boys' and Girls' Choirs.

Pretty positions serve as the setting for a song by the Concert Choir.

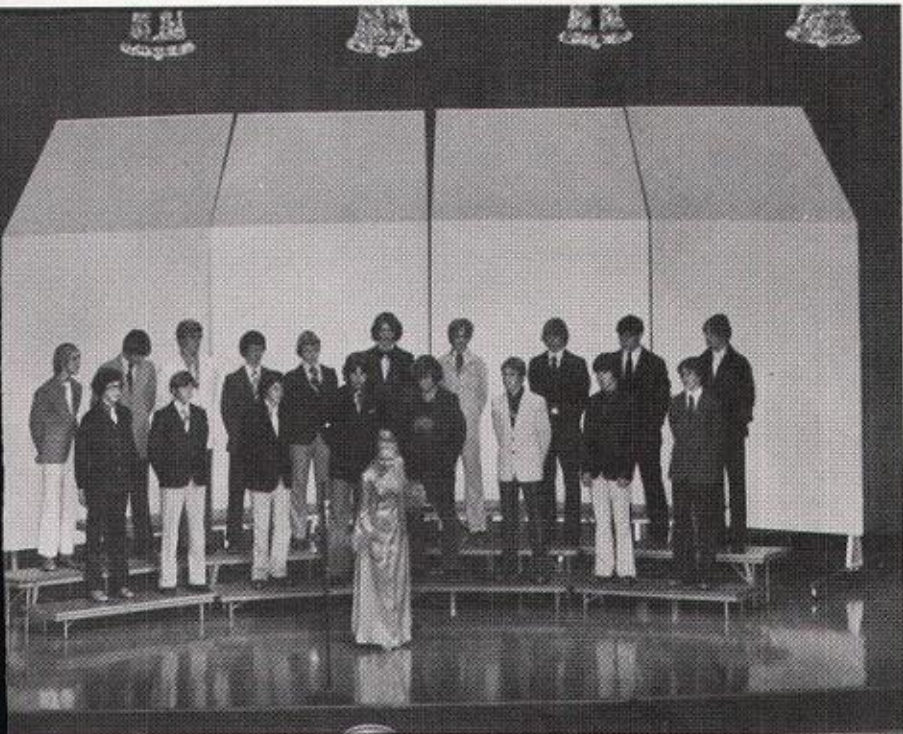

Mrs. French introduces A Capella Choir's pianist, senior Connie Bolser. Connie also plays for Cardinelles and Swing Choir.

"Gloria in excelsus deo" sings the "Monotone Angel" as the Freshman Girls' Chorus performs at the Winter Concert.

Christmas greetings are sung by the Cardinelles. With their bright dresses and silver accessories, the girls dazzled many audiences at their special performances. They are directed by Mrs. French.

Mrs. Patricia French takes a bow after the Winter Concert performance of the Intermediate Boys' Chorus.

"Ah, it's over!" think many nervous girls from the Intermediate Girls' Chorus after their presentation at the Winter Concert.

Students Tom Skaggs, Sandy Long, Kevin Bryant, Burt Rigdon, Jim Rolley and Walter Finke study together in the ICCRC. The center offers books, pamphlets, magazines and AV materials to both teachers and students.

Mr. Richard Hilfiker, ICCRC director, shows two of the AV assistants, Mike Hopper and Reinhart Muehl, some new AV equipment.

ICCRC librarian Miss Gleela Detar points out some helpful information to sophomore Jody Kramp.

ICCRC helps many find knowledge

ICCRC. Instructional, Cultural and Community Resource Center. Not library, because it provides more than books. It provides films, records and knowledge.

With the addition of a color video cassette recorder and monitor, AV broadened its services to both teachers and students. Mrs. Barbara Richardson, librarian, and Mr. John Brooks, student teacher, were new to the center this year.

What college will you choose? What type of job would you like? These were some of the questions answered in freshman guidance class.

Miss Lois Lichtsinn, guidance teacher and counselor, speaks to her freshman Guidance class about next year's class schedules. A required course, Guidance helps students better acquaint themselves with college and job opportunities.

Central Nine training supplements Southport

"Reading, 'Riting and 'Rithmetic . . ."

The three Rs in education do not meet the needs of some students planning their future around technical and manual trades.

Central Nine offers students a chance to learn these skills and get high school credits for them.

Begun in the fall of 1972, Central Nine Vocational School is now entering its fourth year. There were about 150 SHS students enrolled this year contributing to the approximate total of 700 students from the 10 high schools attending Central Nine.

Both morning and afternoon classes are held at Central Nine with 19 total courses offered.

Mr. Harrison Williams, guidance director at Central Nine, and David Wisdom listen as senior Rita Krietemeier tells why she likes vocational school.

Senior Chuck Leck selects numbers to use for his computer in Data Processing.

Carefully sanding a cabinet piece is Jim Meador in Cabinet Making.

"Oh, my, I'm going to call the doctor," states Terry Price to Cindy Anderson. Both girls, who are juniors, are enrolled in Health Occupations, which teaches students skills and procedures from different health fields.

Junior Craig Hurt carefully tapes together some printed material. Craig is enrolled in Printing, which introduces students to many areas of the printing field.

Students and teachers line up for outdoor activities, turn-of-the-century style. The school is the first Southport High School, built about 1885 and razed in 1911, on the southeast corner of Madison Avenue and Union Street in Southport, where a branch of the American Fletcher National Bank is now. Local history authorities believe the picture was taken in 1910.

Seniors tug through mud; students fly skyhigh

Sunny but muddy describes the tug of war last May.

Close to half the class of '75 dressed in costumes to participate in the new contest which replaced the mini 500 of recent years. Teams were dragged through the mud hole as they lost.

Winning the tug of war was Brown 25 with Kevin Robbins, Diane Dietel, Rose Ann Kindred, Gary Raasch, John Altman, Scott Christie, Steve Eberg, Nancy Ferree, Mardi Gibbs and Karri Wade.

Best dressed team was the Powerhouse Ten with members Lynn Weber, Michelle Boyd, Cindy Kerkhoff, Gary Dupre, Larry Elliott, Patty Bennett, Sue Allen, Steve Schafter, Rob Sleeth and Mike Wycoff.

Windy and chilly was the April day of the kite-flying contest.

Tom Wolsifer and John Allen flew the highest kite.

Is it the three pigs? No, it's a mixture of mud and three mature seniors. One advantage of being a senior is having an excuse to get really grimey at the tug of war.

With only a stick left of her kite, Kathy Rivers, '75 graduate, keeps on giggling.

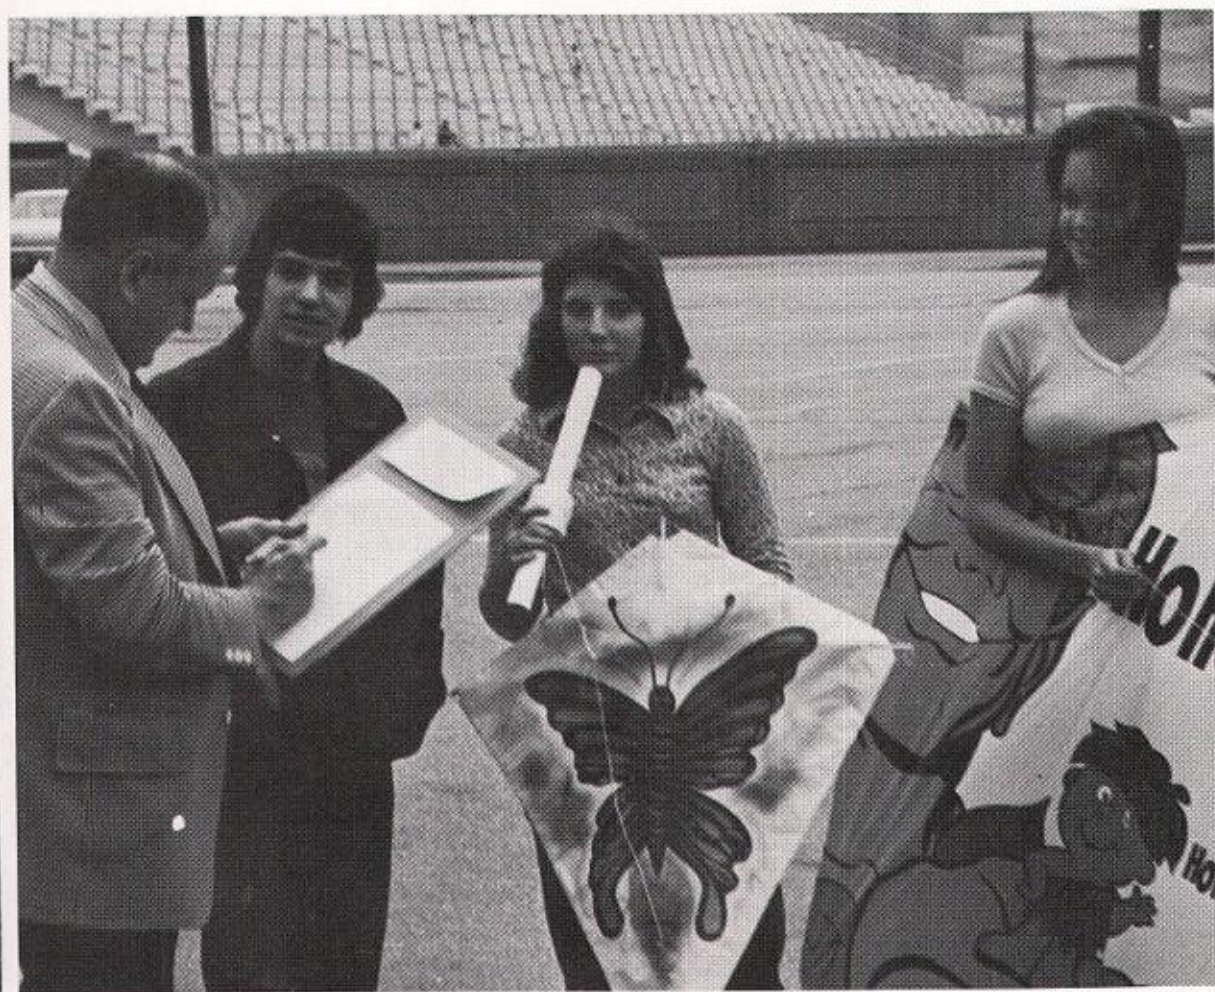

"Pull!" is the shout of Goober. It's a real team effort with Goober and the Peanuts—and a lot of laughs, too. The team came quite close to winning—but not quite close enough as they took their turn through the mud. By the way, Goober is the guy in the cap.

"Hurray!" shout the Brown 25, winning seniors of the 1975 tug of war. The Brown 25 also was the only team not covered with mud.

"Yuck!" think 10 defeated seniors. Losing means a mud bath at the tug of war.

Spending an evening with students at the kite-flying contest, Mr. Albert Theil names Val Perry and Jeff Cooksey winners of the most original kite as Karen Gaines watches.

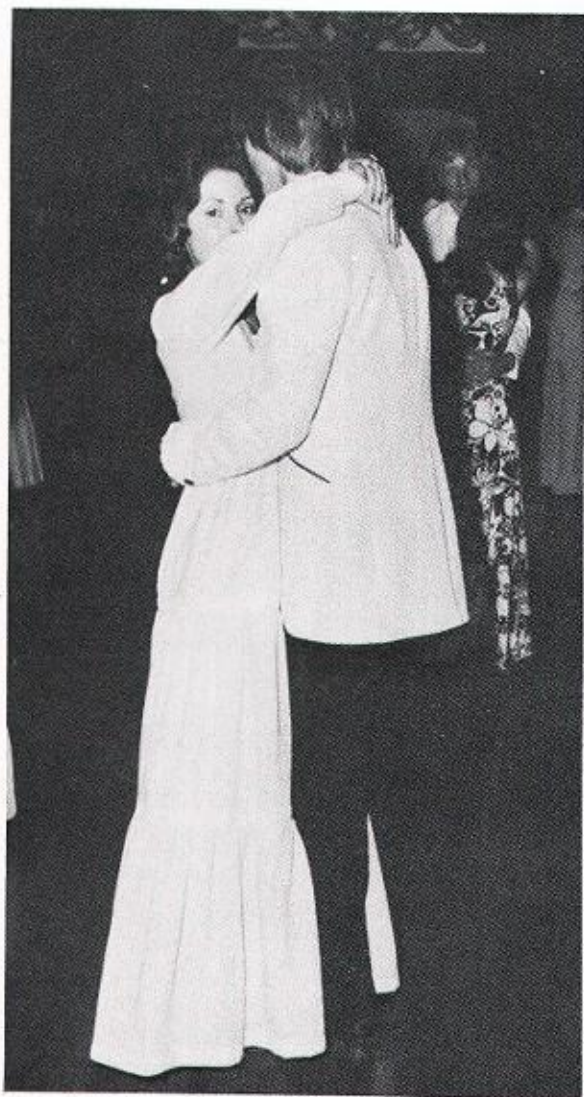

Students visit other countries

Couples danced their way through various nations at the 1975 prom, Passport to the World.

As an SHS tradition, juniors presented the prom to seniors.

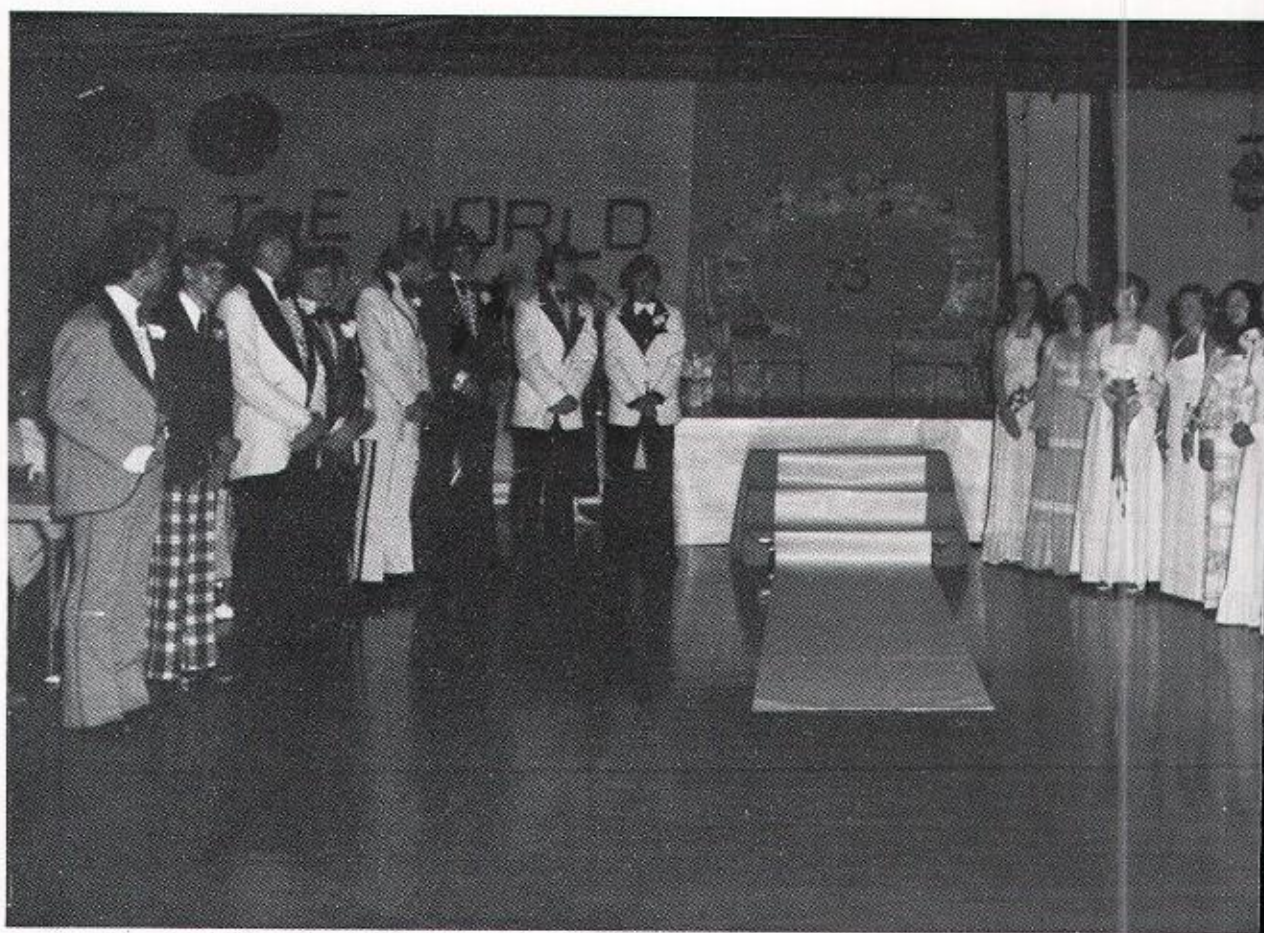

Sue Moriarity won the honor of prom queen, and Jim Hammond was crowned king.

More than 200 couples danced under a ceiling of multicolored crepe paper to the rhythm of the Bill James Orchestra.

During a romantic dance students drift on Cloud Nine with their special someones. The couples are under a colorful ceiling made from 42,000 feet of crepe paper.

Prom queen and king candidates are Bob Wasson, Mark Romesser, Kevin Robbins, Gary Raasch, Hugh McFadden, Jim Hammond, Phil Foley, Roger Engelau, Mark Bay, Patty Bennett, Celia Carter, Crystal Francis, Lynn Gillum, Rossie Mallender, Terry Melloh, Sue Moriarity and Marty Stiliz.

Gary Dupre, 1975 valedictorian, presents his classmates with a wise message.

"What will I build with my tomorrow?" burns within Mary Ann Elrod.

Graduation brings new thoughts

"Wow!" this is where my life really begins," thought 403 seniors at commencement May 25, 1975.

Class president Rick Simpson gave the traditional welcome, and Gary Dupre, valedictorian, presented the graduation speech.

Mr. Albert Theil announced close to 200 seniors received awards.

Hunter Chua from the Philippines was Southport's first foreign student to receive an SHS diploma.

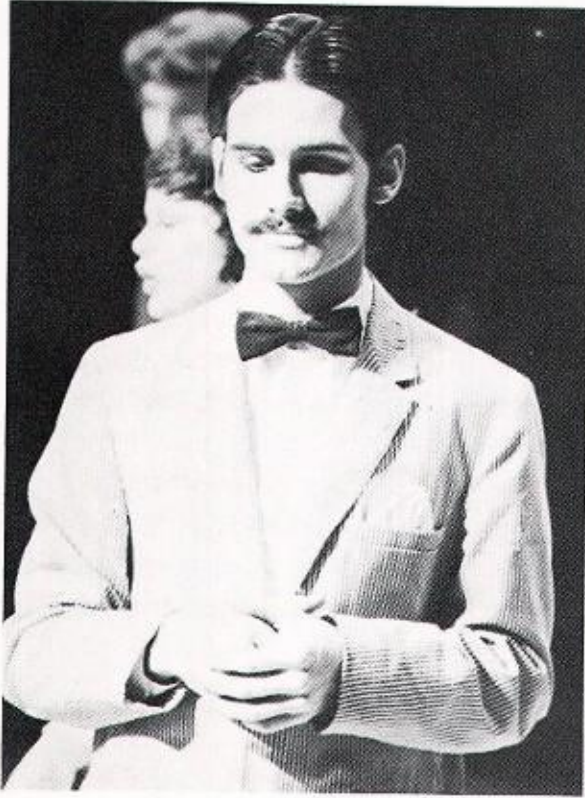

As custom, the switching of tassels marks the end of high school days and the beginning of new experiences. With smiles the class of '75 completes the ceremony. As an entire class this is the last time the students will stand united.

It's all peachy as star Chris Kepright, playing the part of Nanette, performs "Peach on the Beach." Accompanying her is the boys choir.

Dave Llewellyn, as the fast-talking Billy, takes time to help his friend Jimmy.

David Fye lends a hand—or two—in the dance on the Atlantic City beach.

Uncle Jimmy, played by Phil Foley, talks to Flora from Frisco, one of the three gold diggers causing him some headaches.

Dreaming of their future, Nanette and Tom (Kipp Bentley) sing and dance to "Tea for Two." The couple is planning a happily-ever-after marriage.

Jazzy 20s roar again in musical

"No, No, Nanette," the 1975 musical, brought back the jazz age of the roaring 20s.

Playing lead parts were Chris Kepright, Kipp Bentley, Celia Carter, Phil Foley, Patty Tomamichel, Dave Llewellyn, Kathy Winters, Johanna Lovingood, Lynn Gillum and Lois Bushur.

About 20 tap dancers helped bring sparkle to the show.

Mary Ann Elrod was head of the costume committee that made lots of spiffy colorful outfits.

While Pat Tomamichel (center), playing the part of Sue Smith, sings, toes are heard tapping to the sound of "Take a Little One Step." Dressed in costumes from the 20's, the SHS actors made the age of the flappers come alive again.

Computer responsible for panic

A reference room of a major broadcast corporation was the setting for the '75 spring play, "The Desk Set."

Susie DeHebreard as Bunny Watson and Brian Cummings as Richard Summer were main characters. Mr. Dan Gilligan directed.

All the broadcast corporation workers feared losing their jobs when a new computer was installed.

Because of a malfunction, the computer does exactly that—fire all employees, including the president.

Doug Strain, '75 graduate, demonstrates proficiency behind the scene using his ability by setting stage lights for "The Desk Set."

Barb Riney takes notes for the "Anchor Man" played by Chris Abel.

Celia Carter, Susie DeHebreard, Brian Cummings and Cheryl Pike discuss plans for a new computer to be installed in the office of a radio corporation.

Playing the parts of typical politicians, seniors Brian Cummings, Joe Coutz and Lee Lasky perform in a political discussion.

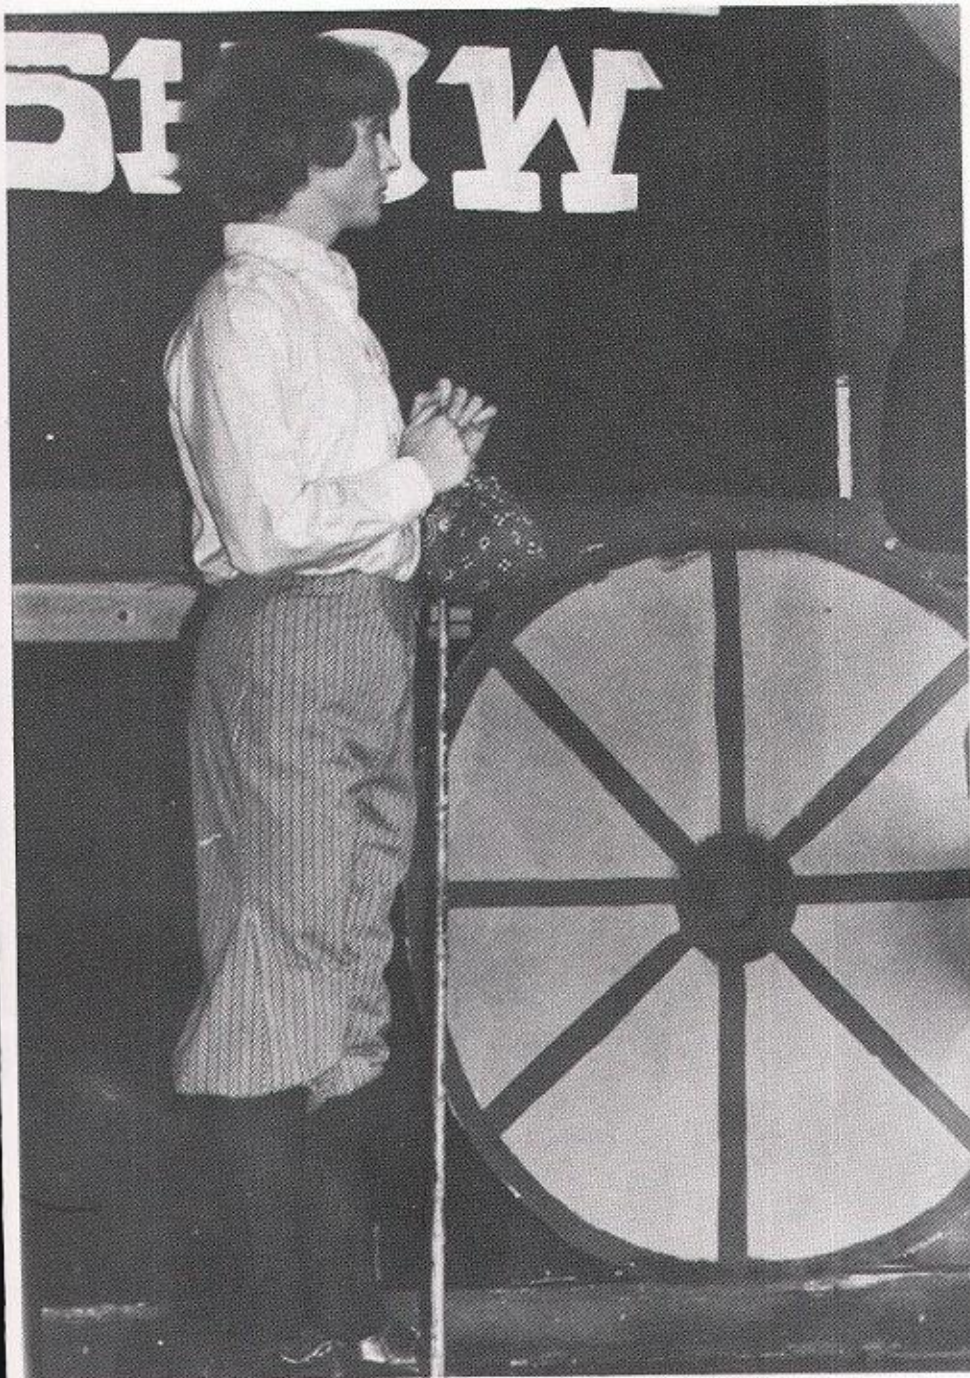

American folks return for fall play

During this Bicentennial period "Stephen Vincent Benet's Stories of America" was brought to life.

The play featured folks like Paul Revere, Tim Hallorian (He met a leprechaun.) and Johnny Pye (He met the Fool Killer.) Each play was told by a group of narrators.

A cast of 32 and about 45 crew members made the play possible, under the direction of Mr. Daniel Gilligan.

Brian Cummings displays his acting ability as he performs a scene having conversation with a herb doctor in "Stories of America." Cheryl Pike portrays the unusual part of a leprechaun in "Stories of America."

Cheryl Pike portrays the unusual part of a leprechaun in "Stories of America."

Club and organizations spread spirit of 'Noel'

The Spirit of Christmas sprinkled itself most generously over SHS this year. Many clubs and organizations had a part in keeping that Spirit alive.

Future Business Leaders of America collected and distributed toys and canned goods to a needy family in Perry Township. The Current Events Club collected toys for Central State Hospital. Student Red Cross answered 1,000 letters written to Santa Claus.

Future Home Builders and Chef's Club gave a Christmas tea after school one evening for the staff, and Boys' Foods classes served rolls and breads later that week. Seniority worked long hours to decorate the school creatively.

The German Club had a party and sang German carols and learned traditional dances. The Spanish Club enjoyed a pinata.

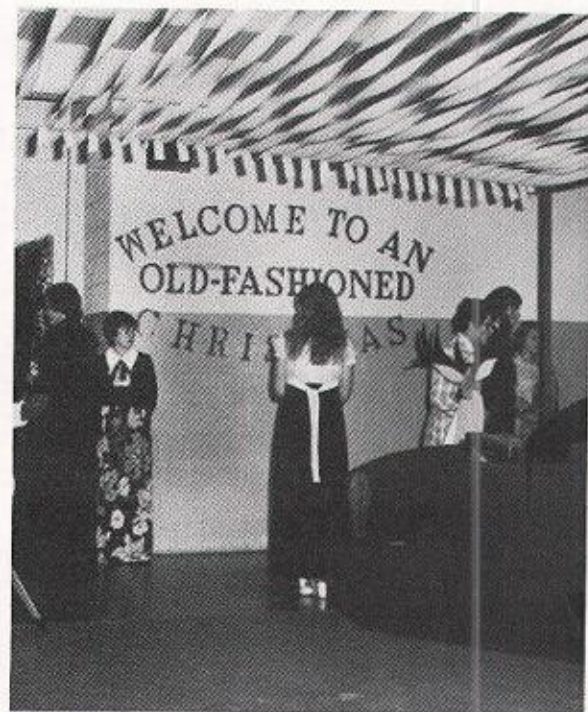

This year's Christmas dance, "An Old-Fashioned Christmas," was centered around a "grab-bag" tree. The ICCRC won the card contest with a portrait of Christ. And as a first this year Swing Choir performed and led carols around the tree.

While high school students supposedly have outgrown Santa Claus, everyone really enjoyed the cheer and good will Santa spread at the Christmas dance.

Streamers were hung with care, in hopes that students soon would be there.

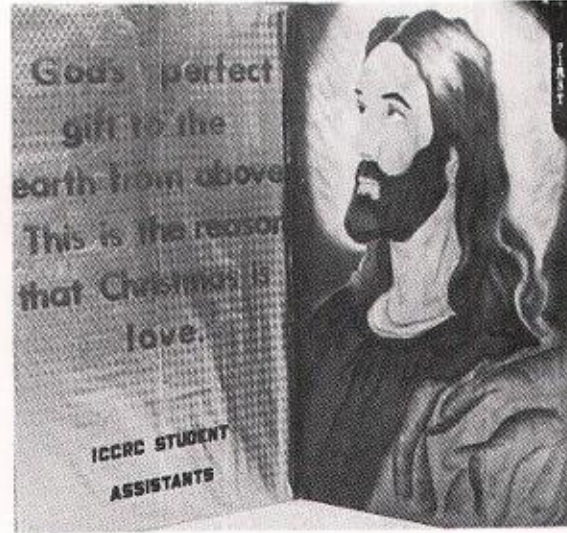

Decorations, refreshments, which included cookies made by students, and ticket sales were just a few of the many preparations Student Council made for the Christmas dance.

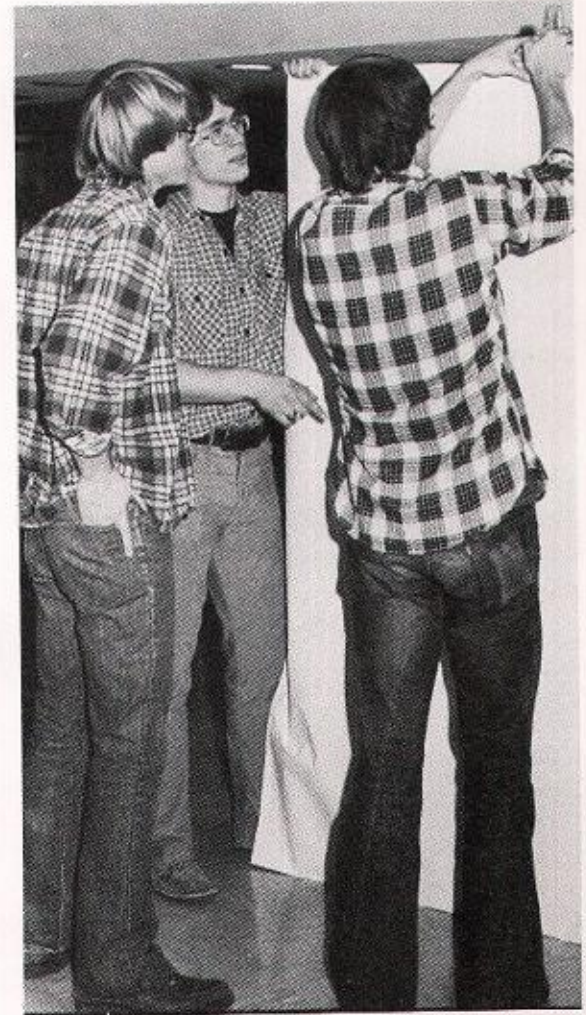

Popcorn on the tree, students singing carols . . . just an old-fashioned Christmas.

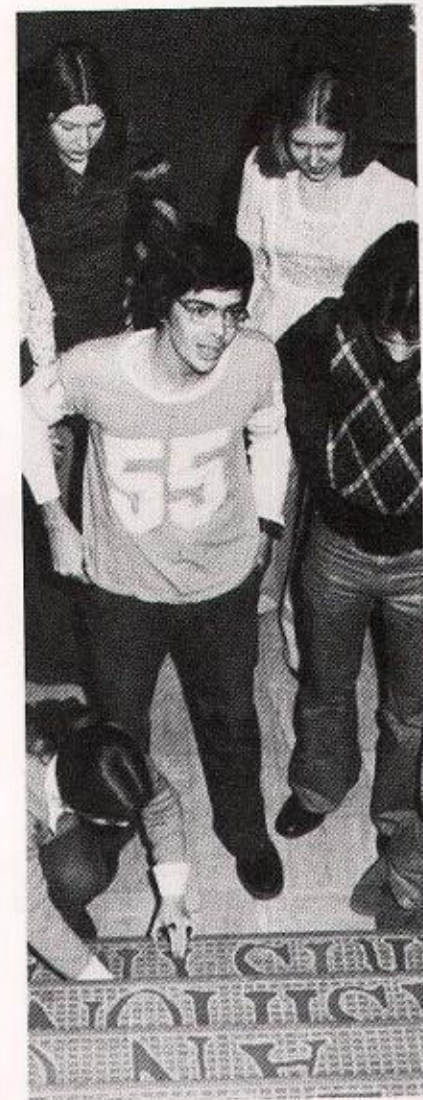

Winning the Christmas dance card contest is the ICCRC student assistants' card.

Mark Flannery, Rex Christie and Mark Kafader work on a Christmas card.

It's heaven on earth as students glide around a giant Christmas tree decorated with symbols of Christmas joy. The "grab-bag" tree was new this year.

Students spread the Christmas spirit with decorations.

Nation's progress is celebrated

Cold but nice describes the night of this year's Homecoming.

Going along with the Bicentennial celebration, the theme was 200 Years of Progress.

With the sound of the half-time gun, the band marched out onto the field, after which 21 floats paraded around the field. After a short welcome, the underclassmen queens and escorts and the senior queen candidates and their escorts were introduced.

Michelle Larrabee, the '74

Homecoming queen, gave the crown to this year's winner Cyndy Love.

Next came the announcement of the float winners, which everyone was anxious to hear.

Coherence for theme, originality, color and neatness were the four things each float was judged on. The judges were Mr. Albert Theil, principal, and Mr. Jack Farr and Mr. William Pickard, vice-principals.

Winners were the junior class, winning best over-all class; the FEA, taking best over-all club; the String and Spanish Clubs, tying for "best adherence to theme"; the senior class, winning best use of imagination class; and the Art Club, taking best use of imagination for clubs.

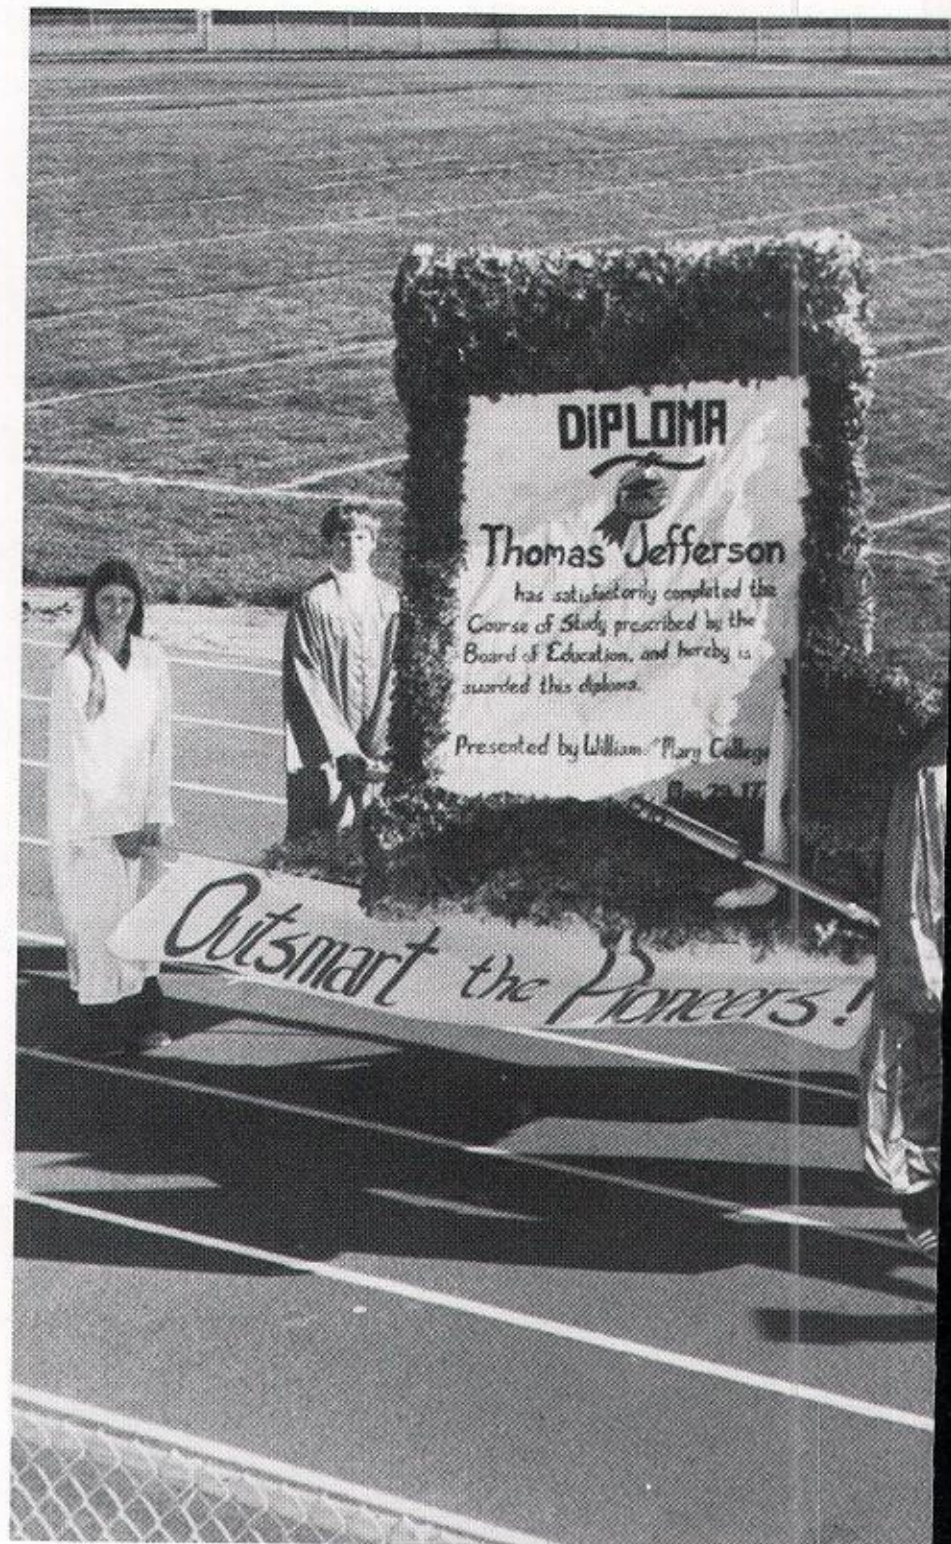

Mrs. Mary Dorrell, Janet Ellis, Peggy Bobenmoyer and Chris Kepright began organizing Homecoming as early as July.

Dave Grenoble wrote and narrated the Homecoming narrations.

Mark Atkins, Tom Pressley, Rick Laursen and Mike Hopper carry the Spanish Club float representing discovery.

"You're a Grand Olde Card," circles the field during the parade of floats, scaring off the opposing team.

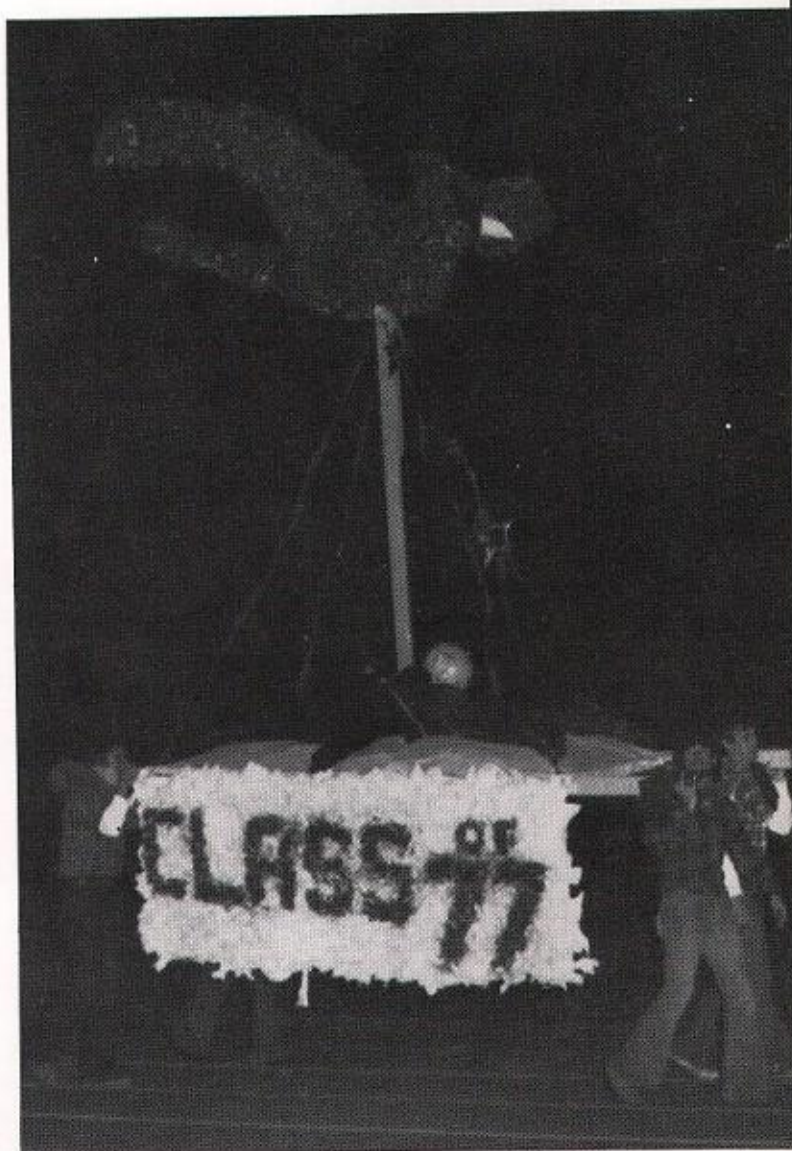

Cyndy Love, with her escort Andy Karozos, reigned as the 1975-76 Homecoming Queen. Cyndy was the class of '76's Homecoming representative all four of her high school years. Her court included Melanie Hammond, Diane Stanley, Jenny Reynolds, Jill Blankenhorn and Jenny Ruoff. Escorts were Joe Cassady, Joel Hammond, Jim McAdams, Carl Lee and Steve Sandler.

Graduation came early for Future Educations in Action, when members took their "big" diploma around the track during the judging of the floats.

Presented by the class of '77, a winning cardinal flies around the football field.

Voice of the students told by Student Council

Senior Brian Quack gets attention at a Student Council sponsored convocation.

Through the Student Council students are given the opportunity to voice their own opinions and manage many of their own school affairs.

Some of the '76 Student Council projects included a student lounge area and Bicentennial wall design and many school convocations.

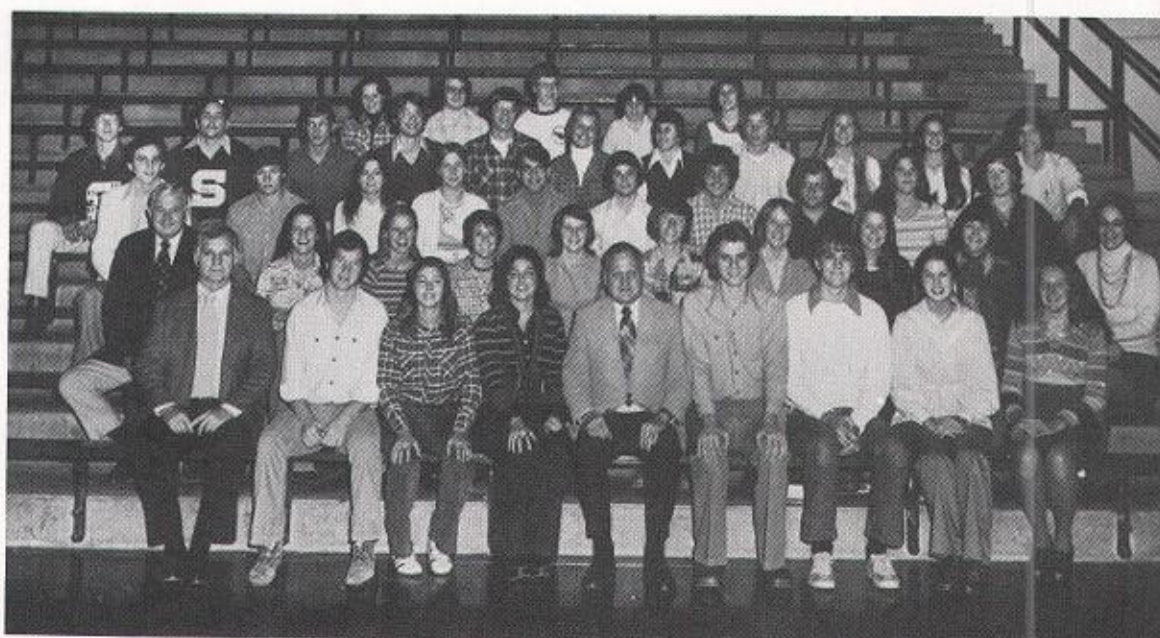

Individual homerooms elected their Student Council representatives.

All club presidents and representative students from other various school organizations made up the Student Cabinet.

With the principal and assistant principal the Student Cabinet met to ensure good communication among fellow students and between students and administration.

President Matt Weisenbach and V-P Dave Grenoble create school spirit.

Cardinal enthusiasm blossoms

Cardinal spirit blossomed this school year with the Booster Club, which holds a membership of almost the entire school.

New organizations formed within the Booster Club helped get more pupils involved in promoting school enthusiasm and spirit.

For the first time varsity sports such as swimming, track, cross country, tennis, golf, wrestling, baseball and gymnastics were supported by a special organization, the BOSS Club.

New color was displayed at the basketball games by the card section. With red and white cards they formed cardinals and often spelled Southport.

Frequently the new Nest Club met to organize cheer blocks. They held various mini pep sessions where exhibitions were often performed before major games or meets.

About four signs a week were put up by the sign committee, organized this year.

During an all-school pep session the card section practices the cardinal formation for the school. The new card section brought much color and spirit to the basketball games.

Recognition given for achievements

Students had the chance to receive recognition for their various goals with honorary clubs.

National Honor Society juniors from the spring of '75 were required to hold at least a 3.5 grade average, 4.0 personality rating and must have earned 15 activity points throughout the year.

Drama was the spotlight with International Thespians Society. Ten Thespian points were earned to receive membership.

Amercanism and citizenship were taught at Boys and Girls State. Students actually ran for political offices.

International Quill and Scroll recognized students in the top third of their junior class who showed journalism skill and interest.

Academic letter sweaters were awarded to students who performed outstanding academically.

This year's International Quill and Scroll members were Denise Toller, Kim Enochs, Tracy Williams, Beth Rutherford, Kathy Boyd, Thom Minner and Lisa Nardina. They enjoy an evening of fun at a publication staff get-together in Denise Toller's family room.

They danced their way to stardom

Hard work, determination and numerous practices go into the make-up of a Cardinalette or majorette.

Summer practices are at least once or twice a day.

"A Salute to Disney," "A Nashville Show" and a "Salute to the Armed Forces" brought the girls onto the football field.

This year the Cardinalettes and majorettes danced their way to stardom during a halftime show entitled "Hooray for Hollywood."

Cardinalettes and majorettes go back in time to their childhood to perform a Mickey Mouse routine which was danced to the sound of the SHS band.

Cardinalettes this past year were Tammy Cotton, Ellen Dye, Susan Brandly, Diane Sewall, Tammy Pitman, Yee Yee Hammond, Judy Horton, Theresa Trefry, Nancy Hooper, Beth Fleener, Karen Steeb, Connie Bolser, Karen Quebec, Diane Stanley, Susan Ferree, Suzy Kays, Ellen McDonald, Laura Breedon.

Southport's 1975-76 majorettes are Drum Major Rhonda Fisher, Jayne Sims, Jeanie Adams, Lisa Parks, Lisa Nardina, Vicki Hayslett, Patty Bruner, Anita Osborne, Laura Pike and Drum Major Cyndy Love.

Barb Baker and Denise Larrabee lead the crowd in cheering the Cards on to victory.

Peggy Bobenmoyer aids team spirit as the school mascot.

Boosters are there when needed

What would football and basketball be without cheerleaders? This year the cheerleaders not only cheered for the major sports, but cheered for gymnastics, wrestling and swimming. During the summer the varsity cheerleaders visited Burkhart Grade School to help fourth and fifth grade girls learn to cheer. Once the cheerleaders baked cupcakes for the entire football team. Before school the cheerleaders were often busy decorating athletes' lockers.

Where would we be without music?

What is a school without music? Musical oriented activities give students the opportunity to advance their musical talents in various specialized capacities.

Stage band sent notes dancing through many ears at convocations, concerts, the musical ("The Sound of Music") and contests.

Madrigals performed at concerts and, as tradition, entertained pedestrians downtown on Monument Circle.

Swing Choir danced and sang their way through many parties, dinners and convocations.

With a total of 45 members the orchestra performed at convocations, concerts and played for the spring musical, "The Sound of Music." Often on Monday evenings, the orchestra played with the melodic sounds of the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra.

Greg Stevens, Tim Decker, Mike Engel, Gloria Sutherlin, Greg Nolan.

"A Mighty Fortress Is Our God" by Nehylbel is played by the orchestra at the Thanksgiving all-school convocation. This was the orchestra's first performance of their new concert season and the appearance of the girls' new long dresses.

Small Journal staff covers large school

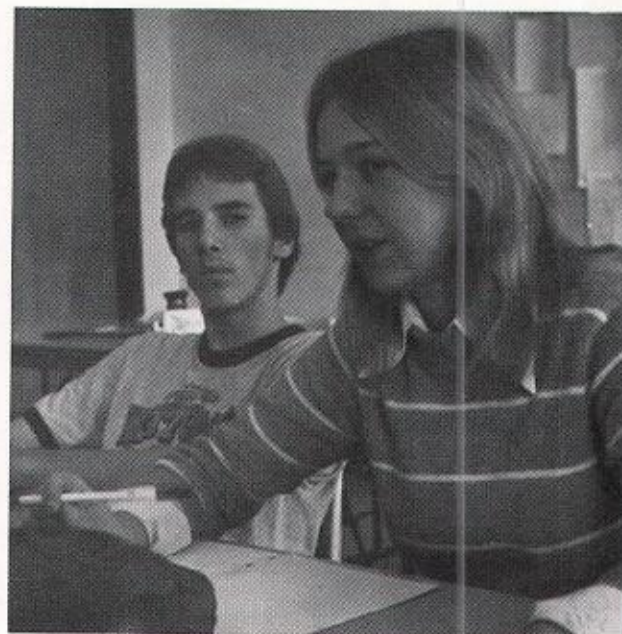

Marching to the beat of a different drummer, the Journal entered its 53rd year. Printed bi-weekly at the Shelbyville News, the paper's policy was to inform the students and faculty of all the news in and around Southport.

Staff members included: Thom Minner, editor; Kathy Boyd, managing editor; Denise Toller, business manager; Susie Winingham, news editor; Kim Enochs, opinion editor; Tracy Williams, feature editor, and Carl Lee, sports editor.

More student participation was stressed and ideas for features were accepted. Also to help celebrate the Bicentennial a special 200-years-ago feature was run each issue.

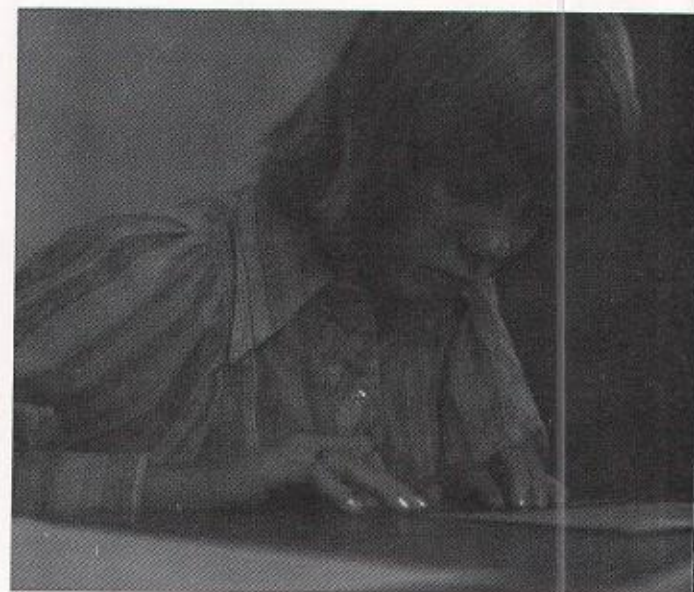

Denise Toller presents a story idea during brainstorming as Carl Lee listens.

Susie Winingham, news editor, advises Kim Enochs, opinion editor, as she types an editorial for the editorial page of the Journal.

Tracy Williams and Thom Minner paste up an issue of the Journal at paste-ups held at the Shelbyville News the night before the paper comes out.

Kathy Boyd, managing editor of the Journal, works diligently at whatever task she is put to.

School routine is broken as students learn useful crafts. Mr. Randy Gunyon and seniors Tom Davis and Robin Laurence discuss various leathercraft tools.

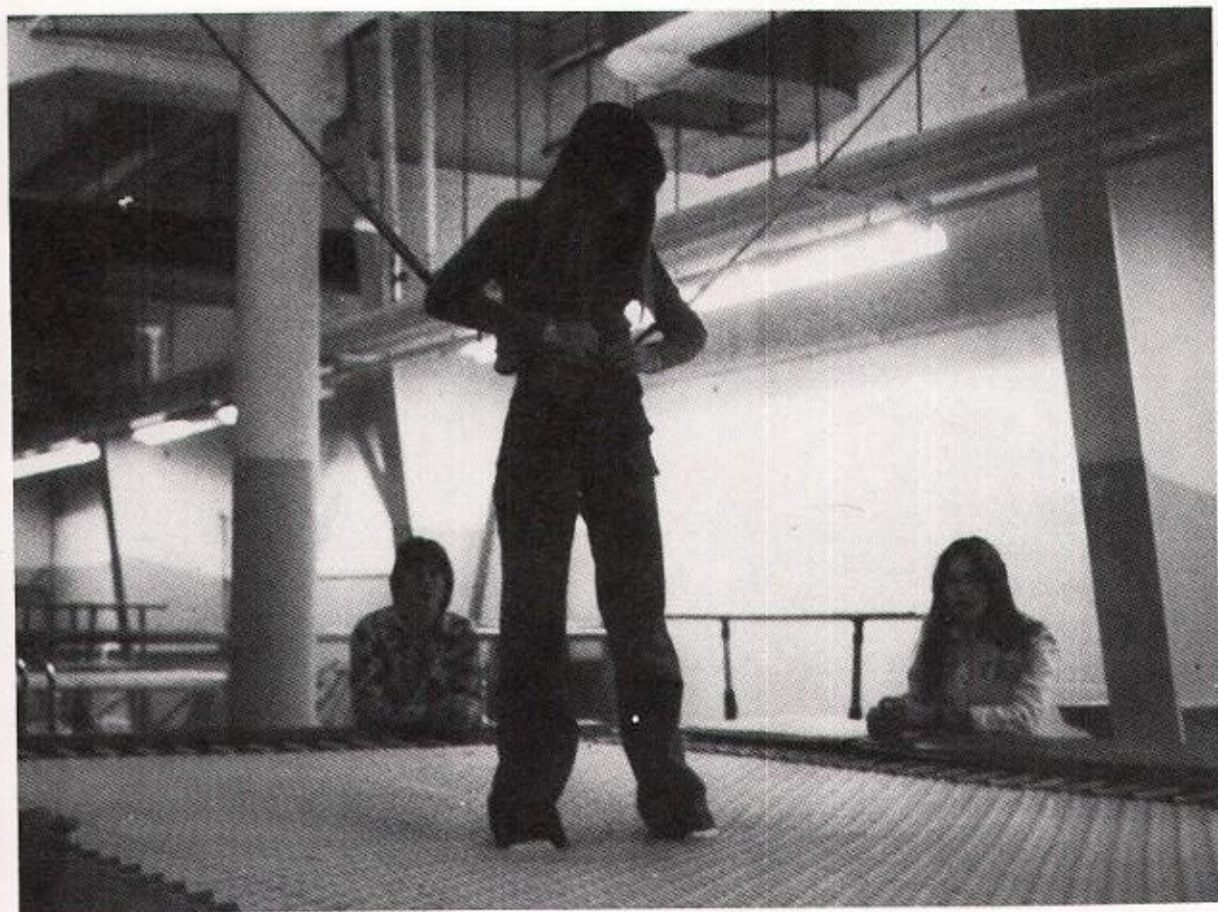

Mini-course encourages creativity

From Candlemaking and Crewel Embroidery to Spelunking and Star Trek, mini-courses helped to fill the void during homeroom on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

The program, completing its fifth year, offered many new activities. Included were such unusual courses as Cameraless Film, Computer Programming, Modern Rocketry, Emergency First Aid, Rap Sessions, Pet Care and Golf.

Deatra Huffman, Marylinda Sanchez and Bernadette Keller prepare candle molds.

Tracy Baugh fastens her "jump belt" before trying maneuvers on the trampoline during the mini-course, taught by Mr. Larry Stanford.

Bruce Huehls pounds away as he develops a new talent with leathercraft.

Current Events Club discusses US problems

This year's Current Events Club was involved in many discussions concerning problems in the U.S.A. At Christmas, collecting toys for Central State Hospital was their main project.

Future Business Leaders of America enjoyed collecting and distributing toys and canned goods to a needy family in Perry Township at Thanksgiving and Christmas.

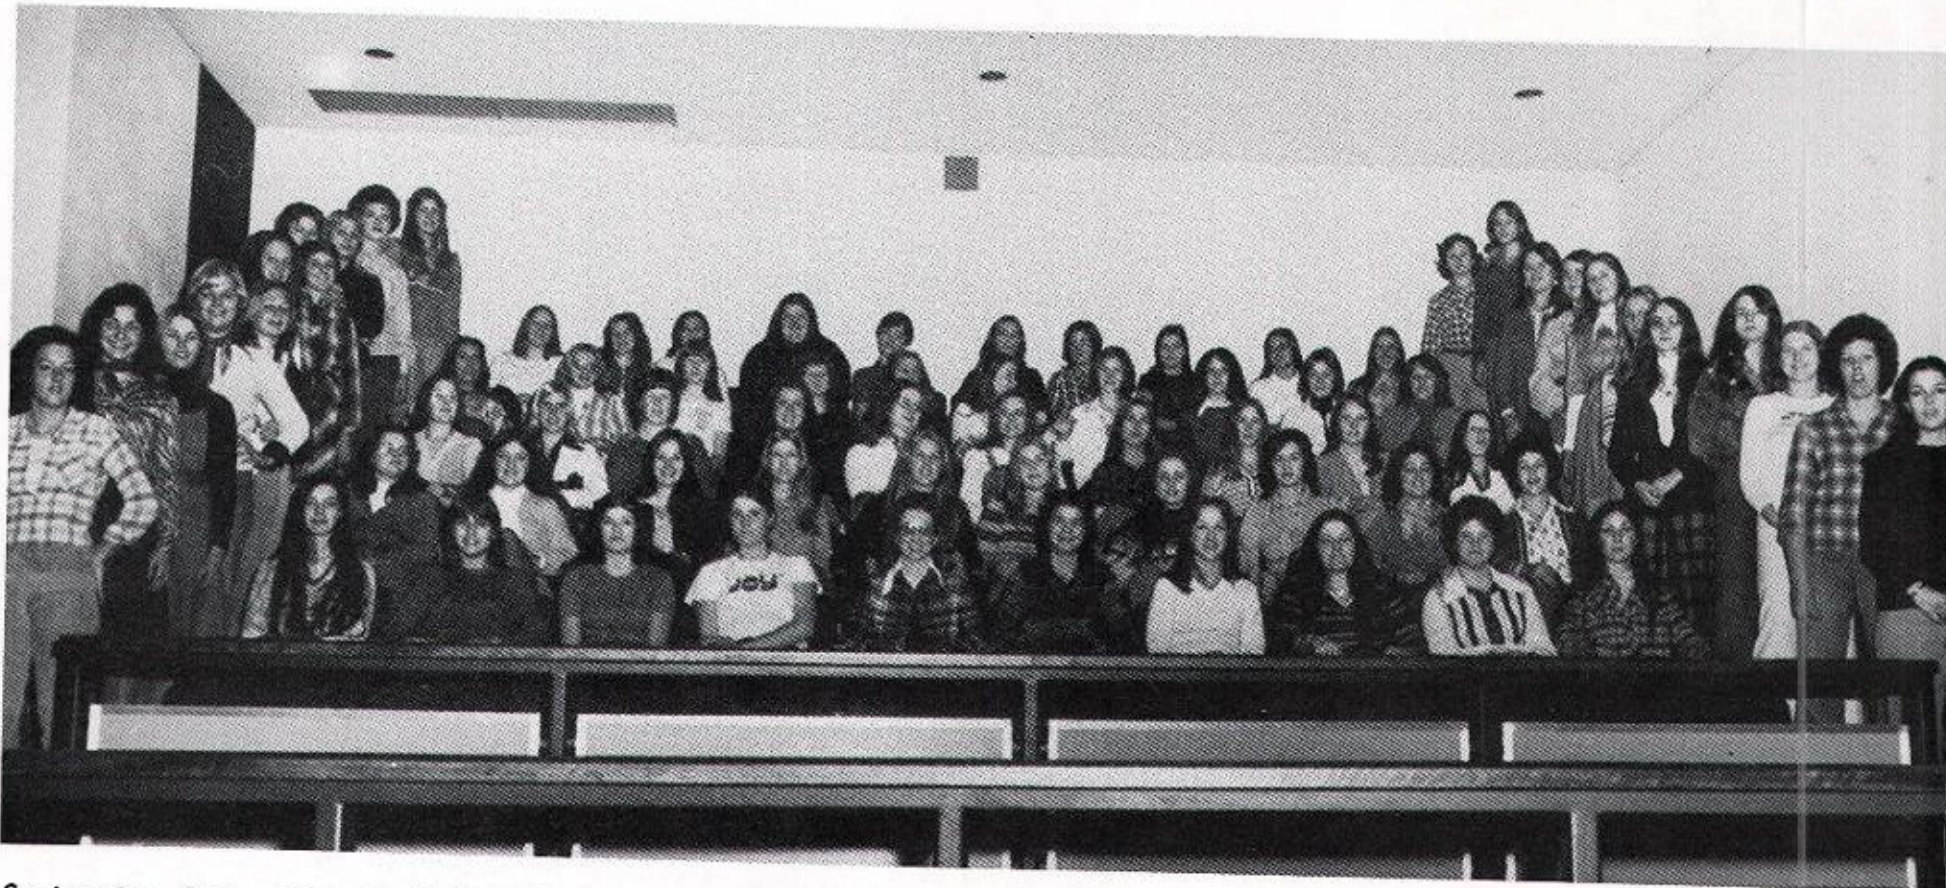

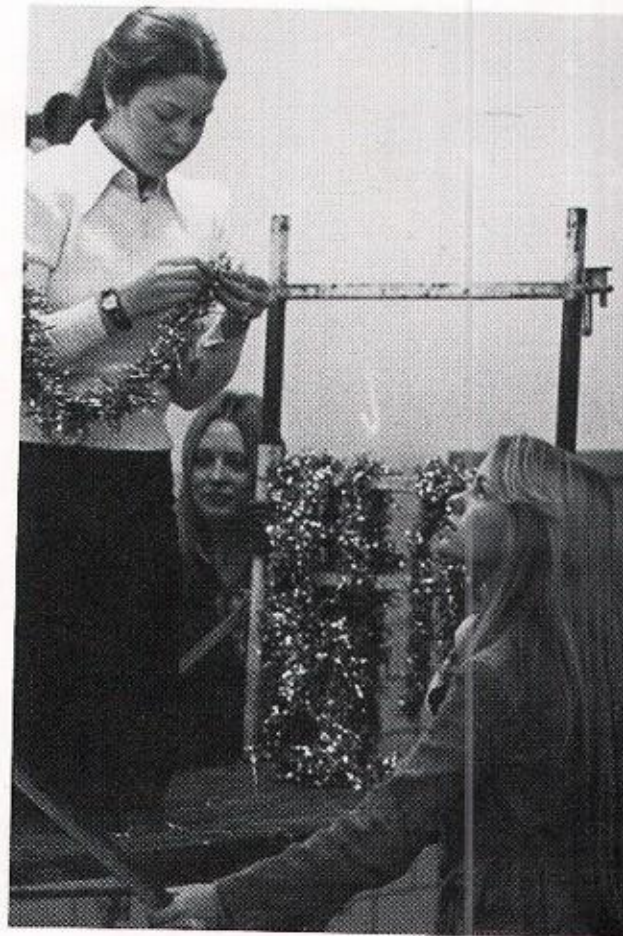

A main money-making project was a coat check at all the home basketball games. All members prepared for the state convention at Ball State in March.

Seniority was also busy at Christmas. The enormous job of decorating the school increased fellowship among the girls.

Honors were bestowed on the SHS Future Educators in Action this year when Martha Butts, an active member of the club, was named Miss FEA at the regional convention in Whiteland.

Seniority girls Susie Stilz, Sandy Lents and Terri Newhouse "deck the halls."

Future Business Leaders of America—Seated: Patty Morgan, Brenda Manning, Peggy Sharp, Carol Morlock, Chris McKay, Tracy Williams, Rita Krietemeier, Paige Bobbitt, Kim Enochs, Eddie Beaver, Penny Lowry, Debbie Crismon, Jayne Ozment, Jim Wysong. Standing: Cathy Cravens, Cindy Stewart, Beth Standeford, Cindy

Horizons expand with fellowship

Starting the school day with an early-hour Bible study, the Fellowship of Christian Athletes took steps to widen their scripture knowledge. The Future Nurses Club visited various surrounding area nursing homes taking cookies, tea and a cheerful song.

Phy-Chem joined the interest of chemistry and physics for students that were interested in science. To give a clearer understanding to the broad area of both fields, club members presented experiments and scientific theories.

Those planning a career in health joined the Medicii Club. It is affiliated with Indiana Health Careers, Inc. Members of Medicii looked into medicine as their future occupation.

Practice, practice and more practice paid off for the Forensics Club, which was involved in speech and debate. Many victories were brought to SHS by the speech and debate teams.

Around the world at Southport

One of the big events in the Foreign Student Club this year was International Day.

SHS's Foreign Exchange Student, Paivi Ranta, along with many other exchange students from Central Indiana attended SHS on this day to visit classes and talk about their respective countries. Also, the Foreign Student Club participated along with the History Club in carnation and mum sales and distribution.

Chefs Club gave boys the opportunity to cook foods and plan their own meetings which include guest speakers and films.

Using money raised in mum and carnation sales, the History Club journeyed to Springfield, Ill., for the annual spring field trip.

FHB hosted a mother-daughter banquet in April. They also helped sponsor a Christmas tea for the faculty.

The Student Red Cross Club focused their attention on answering 1,000 letters written to Santa Claus. The club members answered lots of letters to Santa written by small children and delivered to the Southport Post Office.

Students join in German Oktoberfest

Pastries, bratwurst and something cold to drink were consumed by many students who participated in the German Oktoberfest at Southern Plaza this year. The advanced and beginning clubs had their own Christmas parties, singing German carols and learning traditional German dances.

Having a complete French banquet, with French food, decorations and entertainment, was one way the French Club members better understood culture.

The Spanish Club was combined of advanced and beginning to form one club. The club participated in making a float for Homecoming and received a trophy for best adherence to theme. A pinata, refreshments and caroling were a few activities the club shared while attending the annual Spanish Club Christmas party.

First-year Latin Club students were sold as slaves to other club members in the Latin Club slave sale. The slaves served their masters at the annual Latin Club banquet.

Creative clubs help with play

Stagecrafters worked along with the Art Club to build and paint sets for the fall and spring plays, with "The Sound of Music" as the main project. Stagecrafters were responsible for lighting the musical, Christmas dance, water show and concerts. Mr. Roger Gale, sponsor of the Art Club, gave "enrichment" as the key word of the Art club.

Theater Club gave its students experience in drama, poise and self-assurance. Members in the Theater Club are striving to gain the required points to become Thespians. String Club enabled its members to better appreciate string music of all kinds, such as classical, pop, country. They highlighted their year with a celebration of Beethoven's birthday.

One of the many Art Club activities was a visit to the Indianapolis Museum of Art. Students gain a better understanding as they tour the museum.

Students develop outdoor skills

The Outdoor Life Club learned about the outdoors this year through trapping, archery and marksmanship, pistol making and fish plug making. They also held their yearly fishing contest. Working along the same lines was the Environmental Club. Members studied conservation of energy and observed activities of Earth Week.

The 4-H Club helped keep the county and most important the school informed on what was going on in 4-H and with the county and state fairs. The club planned a trip to Chicago to tour the Museum of Science and Industry.

How to finance a car, how to buy a used car, learning new driving skills and overall safety of a car were among the activities of the Auto Club. The Auto Club was one of the new additions to the many clubs at Southport.

Athletics

Physically fit, a 1930 Southport athletic team (unfortunately unidentified) stands before the brand new Perry Township High School, now Southport Middle School, which boasted a gym that seated nearly 3,000. The dedication booklet of 1930 promised:

"Always the spirit and good will of former athletes of past years will hover near and encourage and inspire new athletes . . . any true Perry Township boy to do nothing but his best!!" Today such a statement would have to include Perry Township girls, too.

Baseballers swing to 20-9 season

Coach John Dwenger's varsity baseball team ended the 1975 season with a record of 20 wins and 9 losses.

Led by the pitching of senior Joe Carson (12-2) the Card batmen won three straight games to grab the sectional championship. The Redbirds opened sectional action defeating Wood and Franklin Central and then took championship honors by defeating Washington in the finals. The Cards lost in the finals of the regionals to Marshall.

Senior Dan Whalen, one of Coach Dwenger's top batmen, seems as if he is flying through air, but he is really only jumping back to first base to keep from getting put out.

"Whoa!" says senior outfielder Jeff Duhammel as he holds up on first base.

Experience lacking in 2-6 season

With two-thirds of the varsity team underclassmen, the 1975 track team, coached by Mr. Steven Dial, was a little inexperienced. Wes Taylor, Bob Wasson, Dory Crismon, Steve Schutz, Ron Zarro and Karl Glander were Dial's top senior cindermen. In the underclass meet at Perry Meridian, Southport's Cards took two new meet records as they blasted the field in the four-mile relay and also the pole vault.

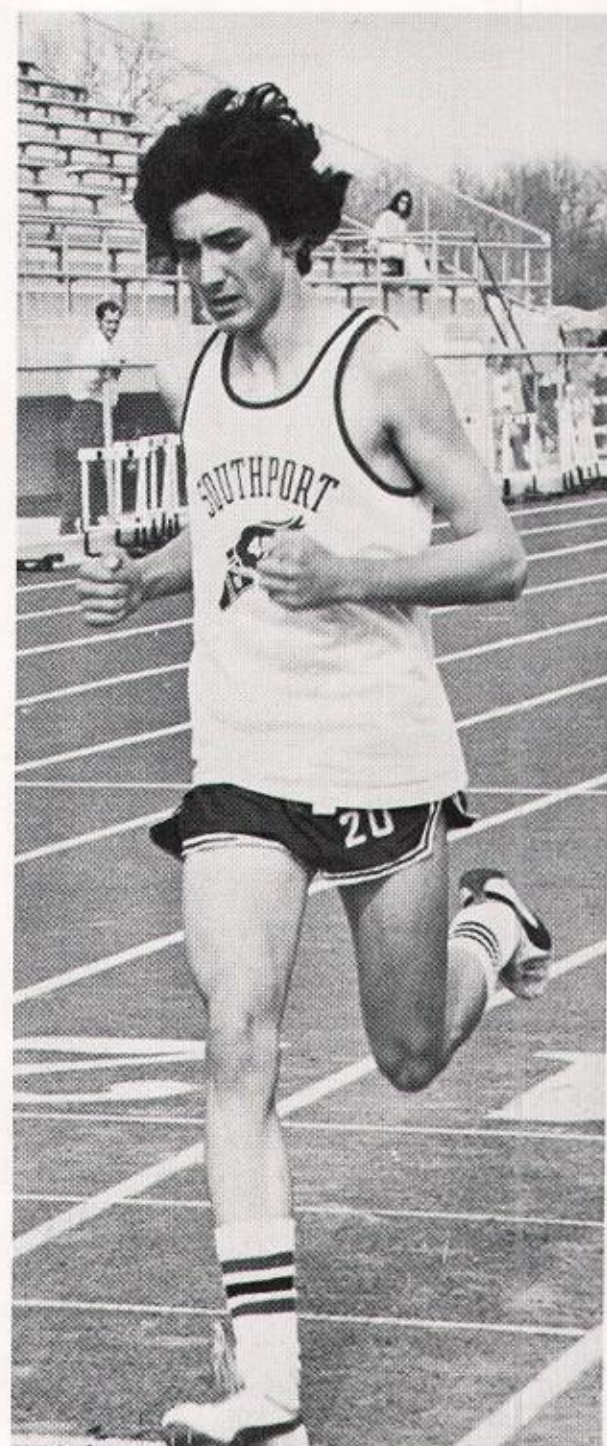

Mark Flanary and Dory Crismon stretch to provide a one-two punch in the high hurdles. Dory and Mark were one and two men throughout the year.

Racketmen sectional runner-ups

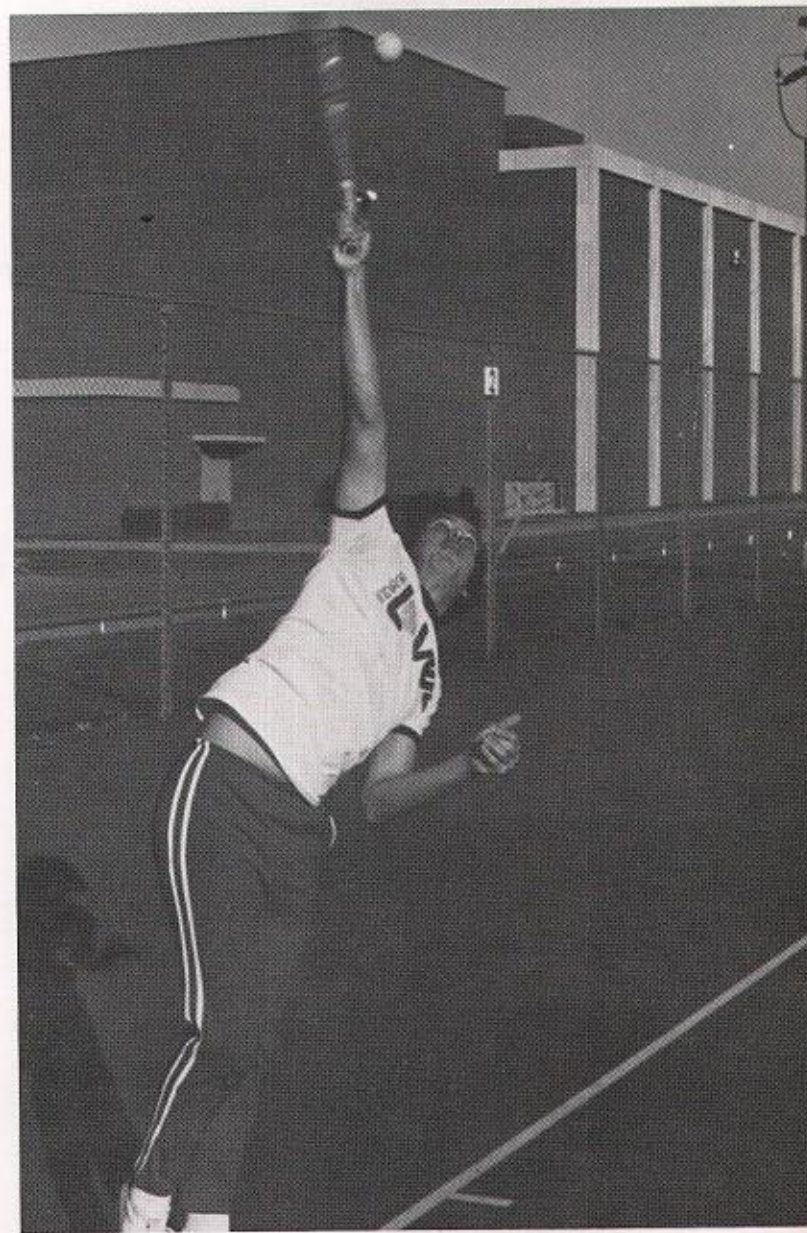

Coach Steve Cline paced the 1975-76 racketmen to a fine 17-4 season record.

The racketmen were defeated in the semi-finals in the county by county champs Lawrence Central.

The team placed a respectable second place in the sectionals despite Jim Jacobs' ankle injury. Jacobs was this year's only senior tennis player. Kyle Poole won the number two singles and Greg Steven and Mark Voight won the number two doubles. The team was defeated 3-2 in a close match in the finals with rival Perry Meridian.

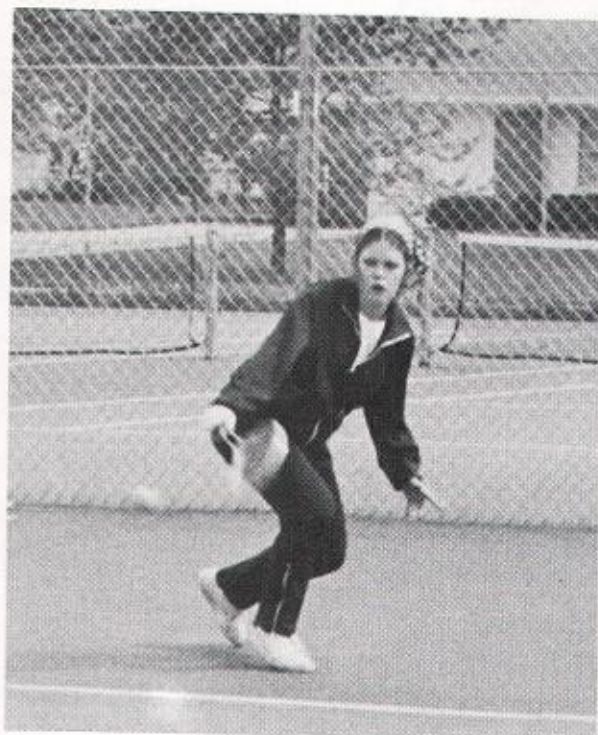

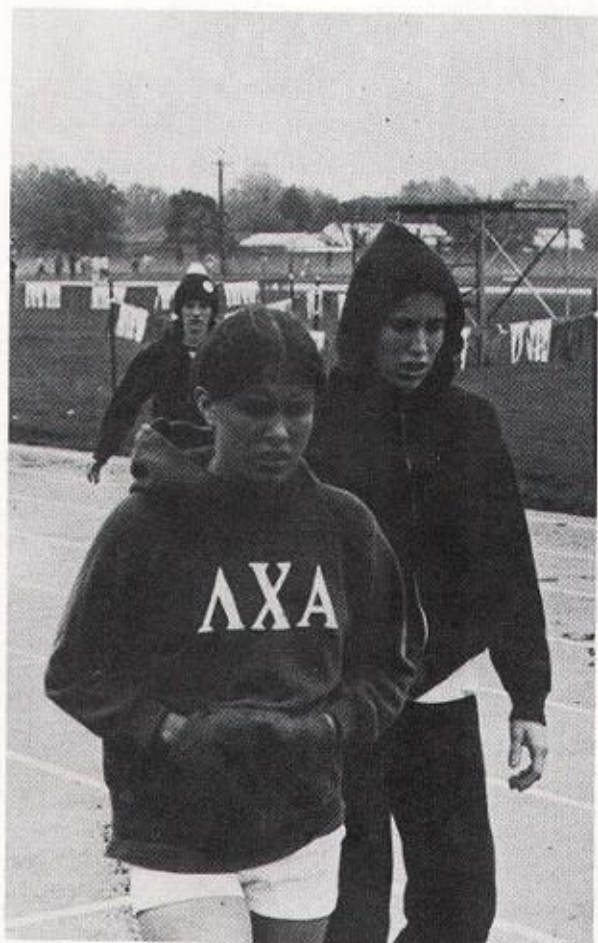

Junior Joe Cassidy prepares to show his backhand during warmup before a match. Joe was Coach Steven Cline's number one racketman throughout the year.

Rain puts the damper on practice for Becky Short, Paula Bueno and Jeanie Hoover.

With a determined look on her face junior Bev Byers practices her backhand return.

Penny Porter, Coach Pat Stanley's top golfer, works on her swing before a meet with North Central's girls golfers. Penny was No. 1 throughout the year.

Girls excel in track, golf, tennis

The girls track team led by coach Miss Marilyn Ramsey had an exceptionally good year. They won seven meets and lost two. The girls placed second behind Ben Davis in the county and third in the sectionals. In state competition the team tied for twelfth. Jeannie Hoover ran the mile in 5 minutes and 14.7 seconds. Jeannie was a senior last year and she broke the school record for the mile and the half mile run. Her time remains undefeated in any regional, county, sectional or state records.

The girls golf team coached by Mrs. Pat Stanley had its best season in four years this year. They had 12 wins and four losses. They placed fourth out of 11 teams in the sectionals and fourth out of seven teams in the county. Penny Porter was the low scorer for the team this year. The varsity team members were Diane Huckleberry, Diane Olmstead, Judy Horton and Lori Smith. The reserve team members were Linda Sanders, Kathy Jesse, Kathy Reed and Sandy Hoof.

Southports' girls tennis team had an 8-2 season. They were defeated by Columbus North and Carmel. The sectionals held in May were at Perry Meridian. Kathy Donica and Bev Byers represented Southport in the singles tennis matches. Kathy Donica placed third and Bev Byers placed fifth. In doubles competition Sue Rivers and Vickie Reed lost their first game and won their second. LuAnn Schnell and Cindy Scheib won their first and lost the second game. Last year's senior letter winners were Jane Jackson, Kathy Rivers and Vickie Reed.

Linksters take county golf honors

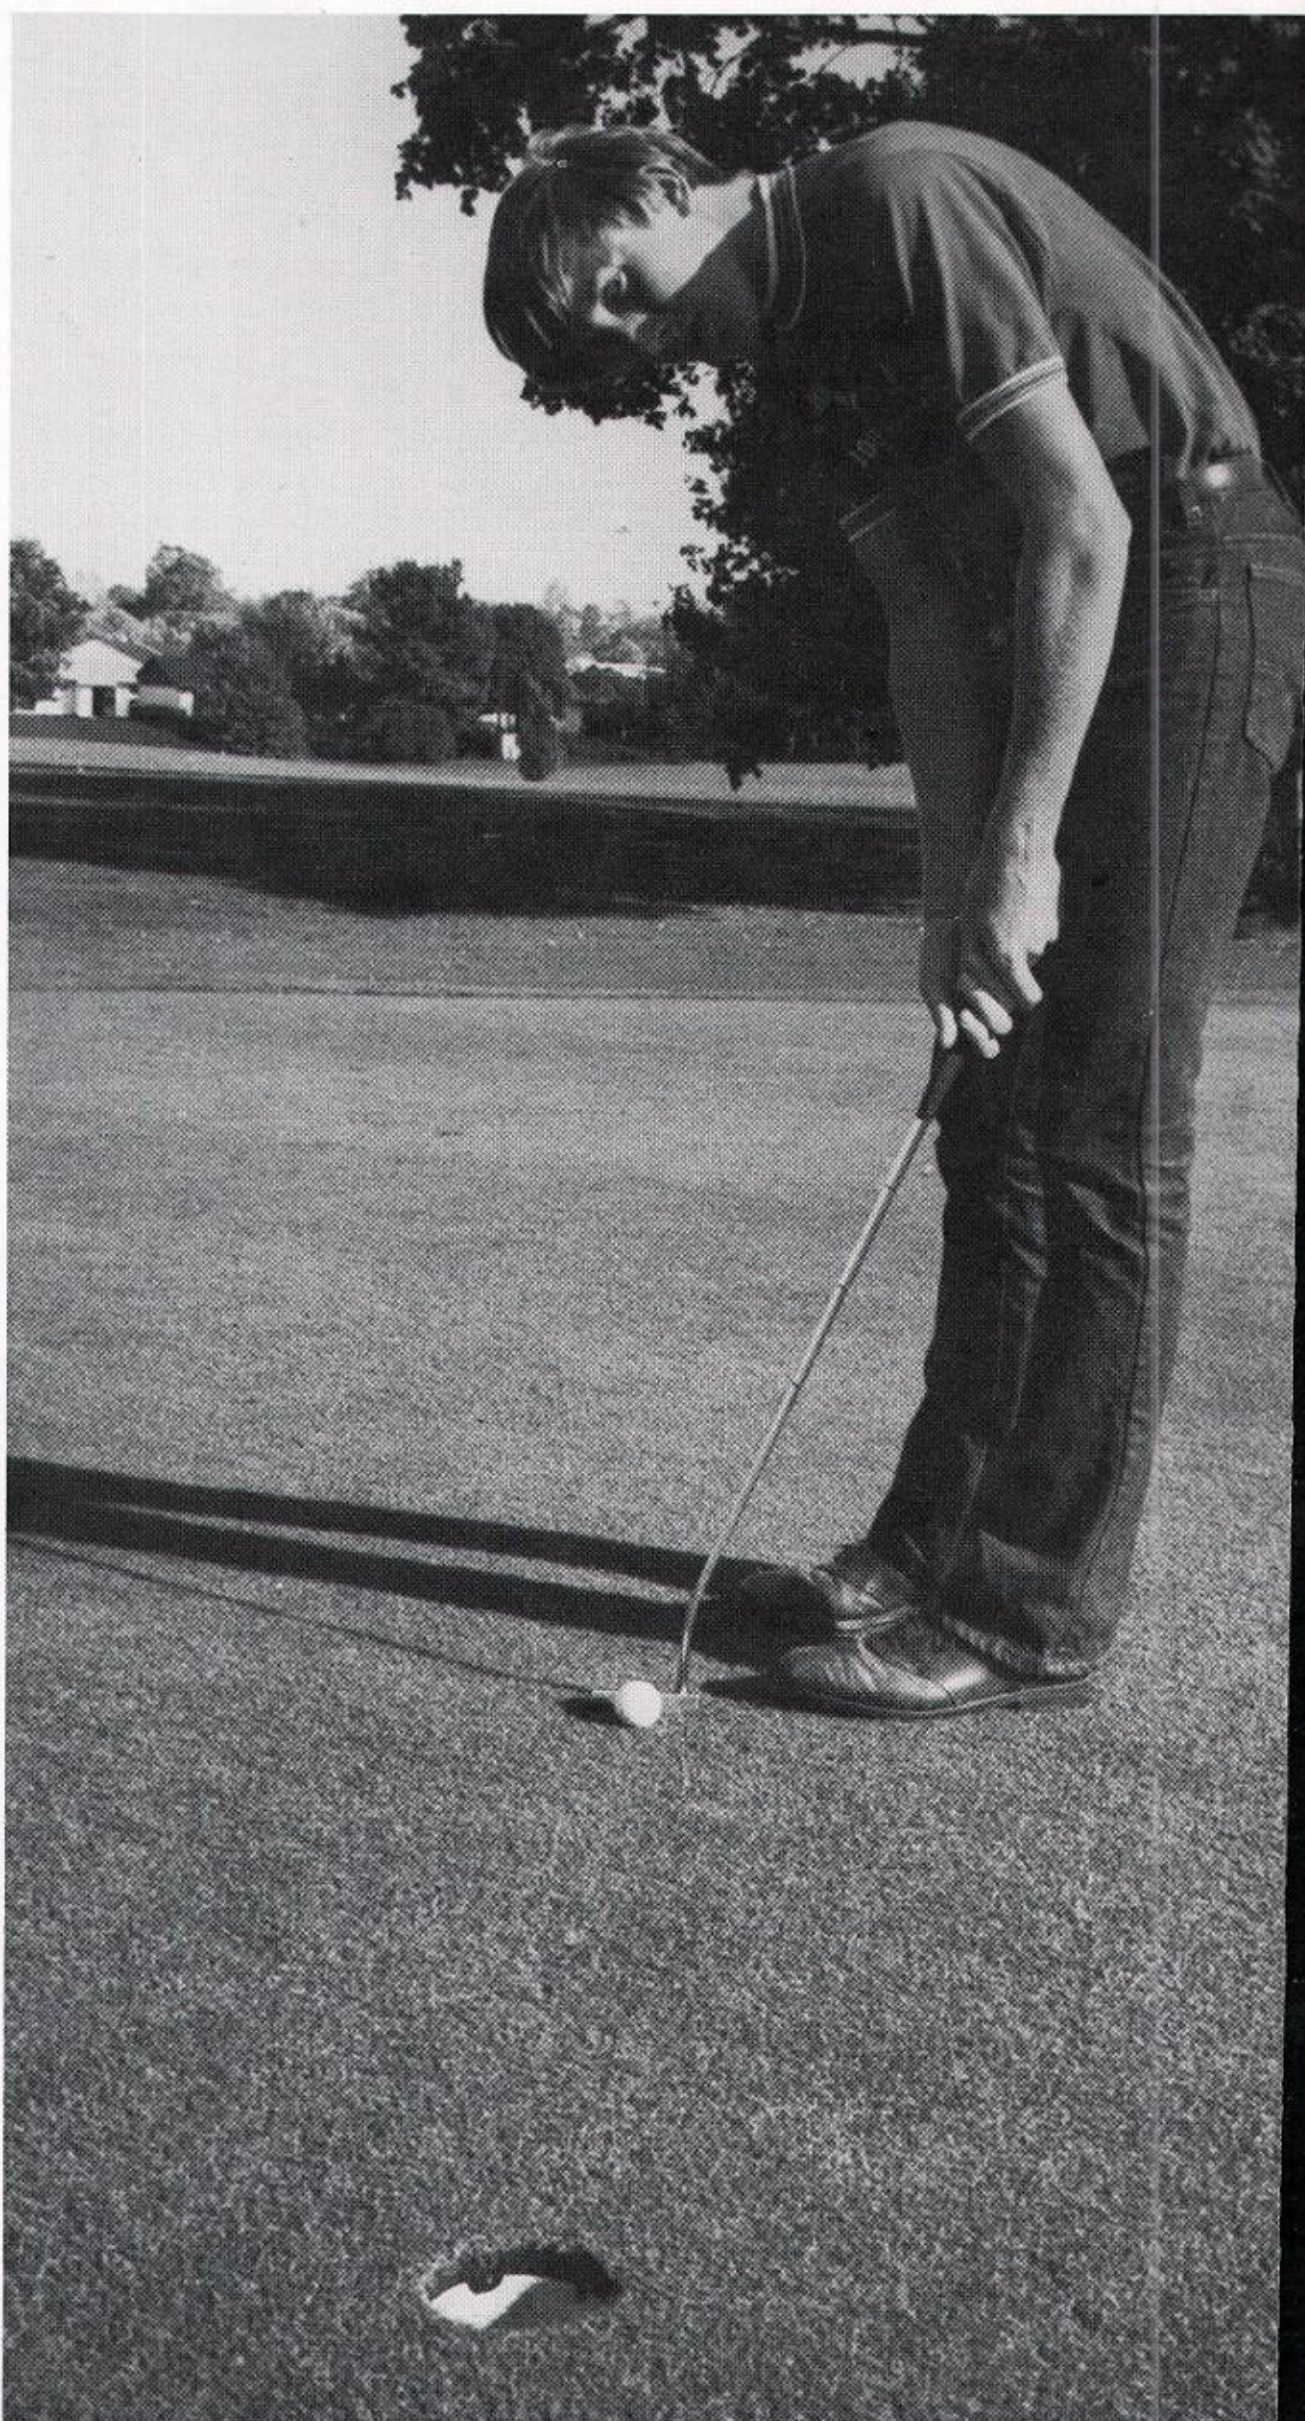

Coach Carl Fowler led the 1975 linksters to a 22-and-11 season. The golfers felt their first big victory by capturing the Marion County Championship. Mark Darland and Tom Sublette led the team with 77 and 79. Matt Bernhart shot 80, and seniors Glenn McClain and Mark Bay had the deciding scores of 81 and 83.

The team took second place in the sectionals and Darland took third place medalists with a 76.

The golfers then advanced to the regionals where they tied for seventh place. However this was not enough for them to proceed to the state finals.

Tom Sublette, senior, begins to show his style at a spring golf practice.

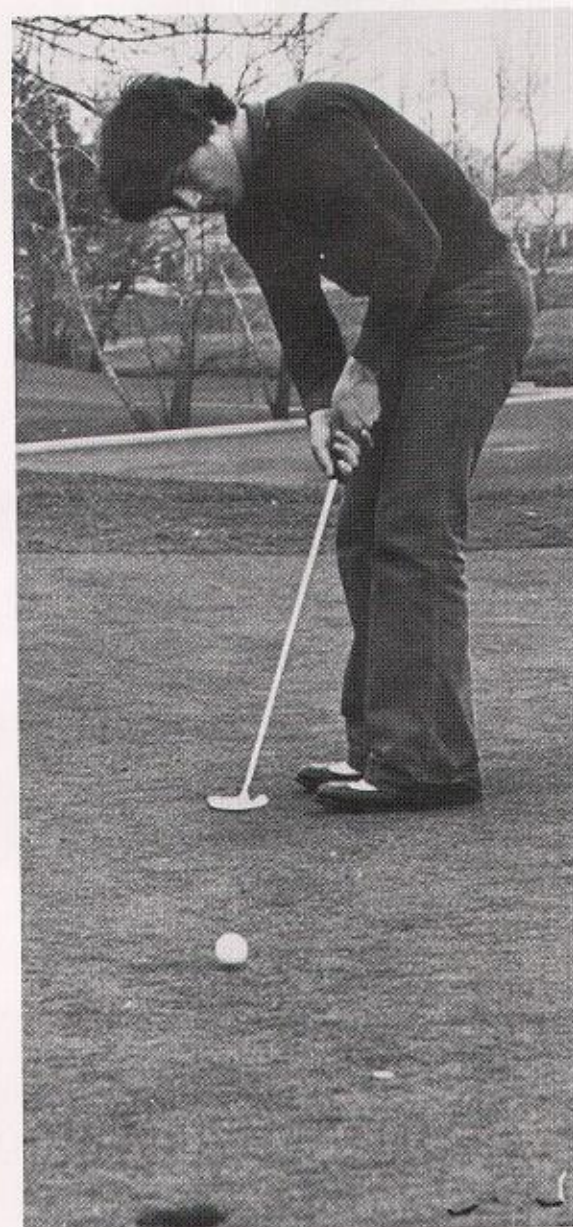

Senior letterman Matt Bernhart prepares to hole out a putt during practice at Sarah Shank. Bernhart now holds the school record with a 67.

Harriers are number one in state

Hathaway's harriers worked morning and night to reach for a dream they thought was possible.

And sure enough they did. Taking first in the sectionals and regional wasn't enough for the Cardinal crew as they rambled on to capture the trophy along with the glory of a state championship.

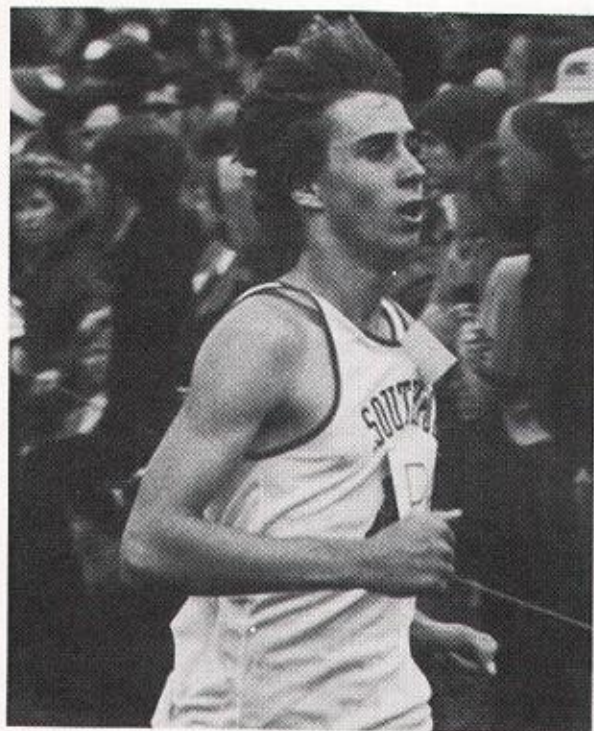

Herman Bueno, Erhard Bell, David Kays and Kurt Hurley, the four horsemen, placed high enough along with junior Jim Booher to offset a surprise Crown Point team which took second place honors. Sophomore Bob Browne and junior Kent Raker rounded out the seven-man punch.

The Harriers dual meet record was 8-0 including a 17-47 romp over arch-rival Perry Meridian for the all-sports trophy. The Cardinals also won three invitationals; the Pike Hokum Karem, Ben Davis invitational and the Howe Invite. They also displayed their pack in the county as they took that convincingly.

Coach Hathaway starts his training program in the summer with a thousand-mile club starting in June. To obtain a shirt a runner has to run 500 miles before practice Aug. 13 so that he will have 1000 miles by the end of the season. This year Kurt Hurley ran 1011 miles between June and September. Seniors Herman Bueno and Erhard Bell ran 900 miles.

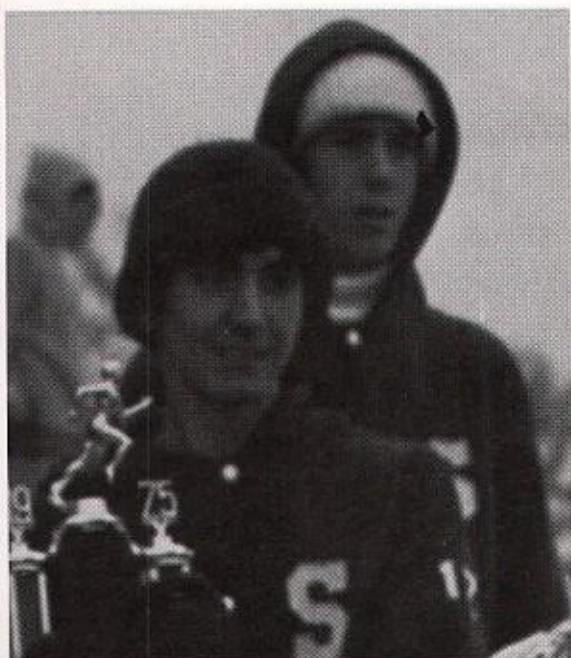

Bob Browne, sophomore standout, added depth to Hathaway's strong crew.

Kent Raker had an up-and-down season but came through in the county.

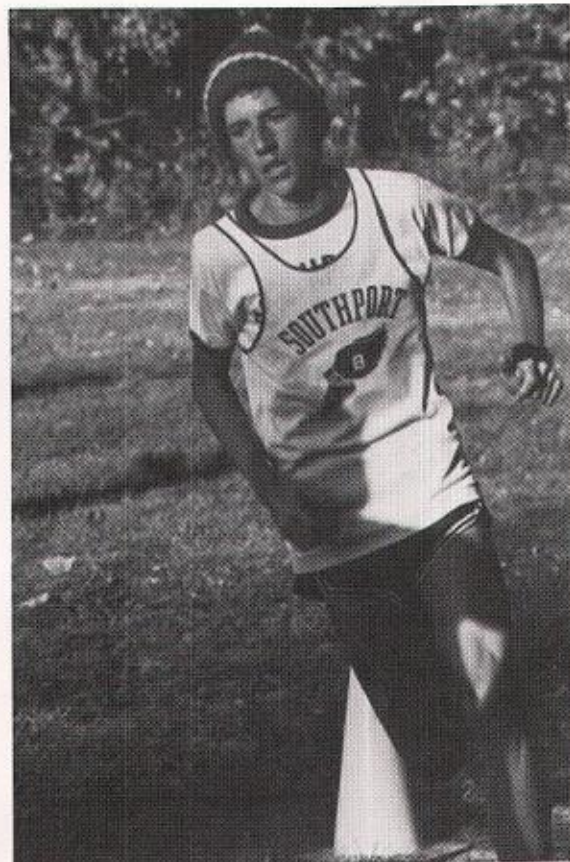

Sectional and county individual champ Herman Bueno strides through the state meet. Herman was Coach Hathaway's number one runner almost every meet.

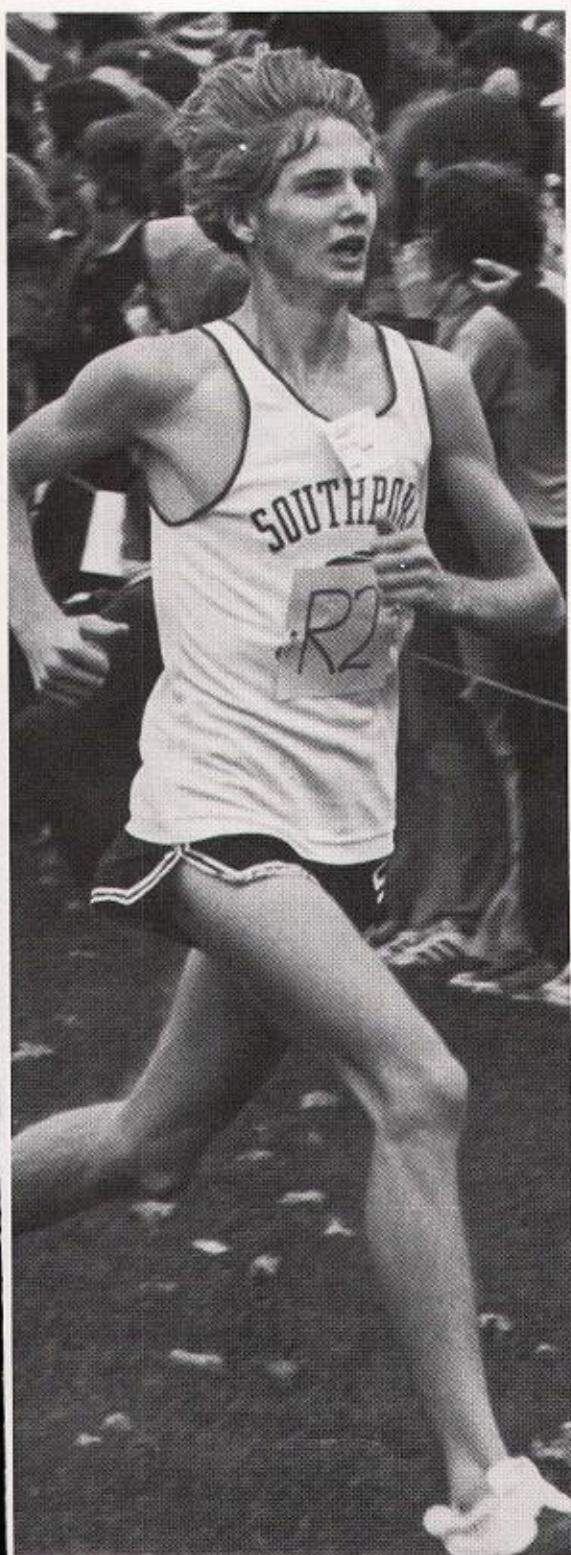

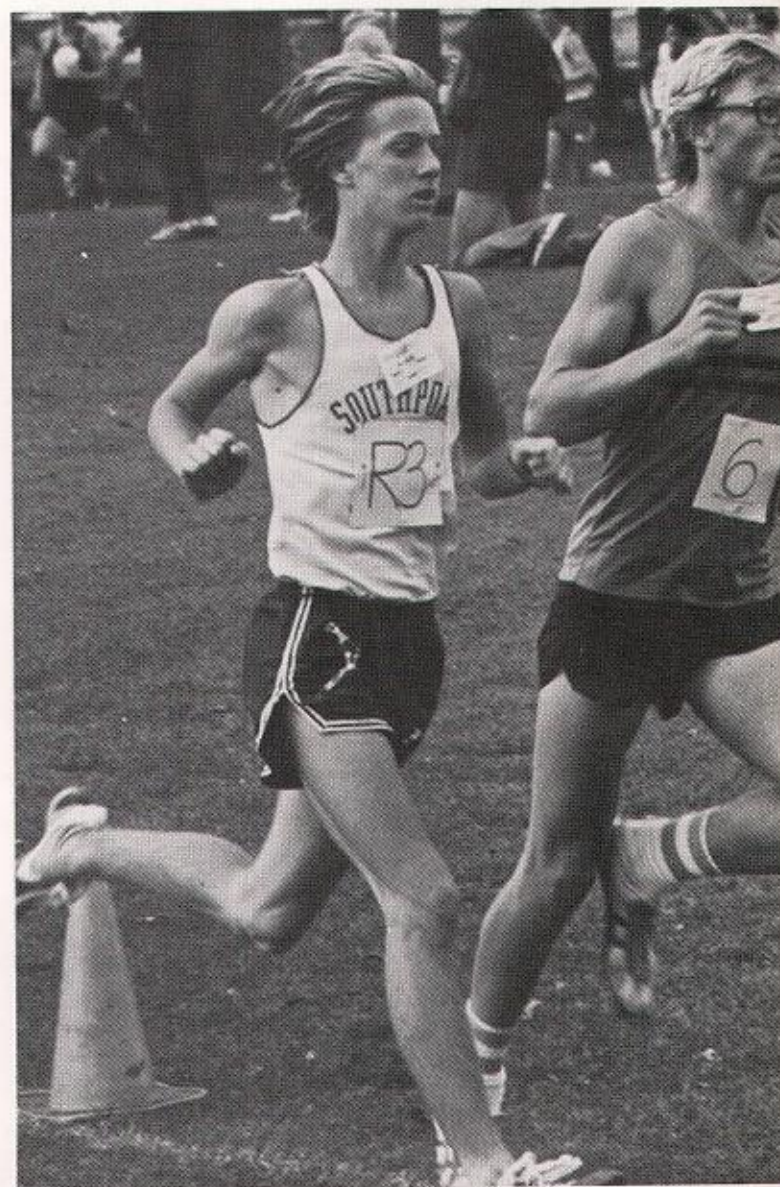

Jim Booher was the surprise this year running fifth man throughout the season.

Junior Ron Kesterson was eighth man and really pushed the top seven runners.

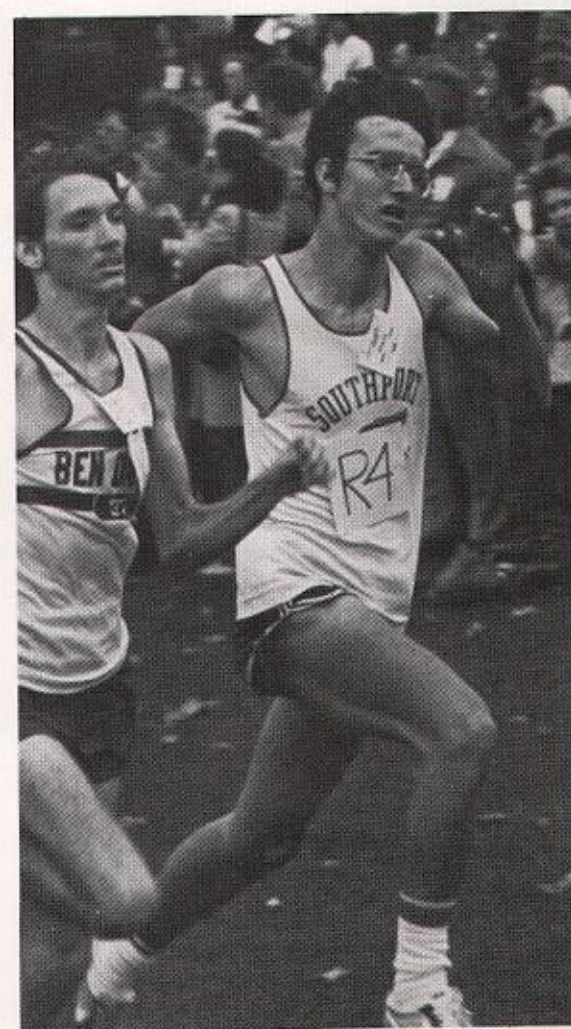

Coming up with his best meets during tourney time was third man Kurt Hurley.

Senior Erhard Bell became one of the strongest runners in Southport history.

The Cardinal mentor Thomas Hathaway gives his harriers a few words of wisdom.

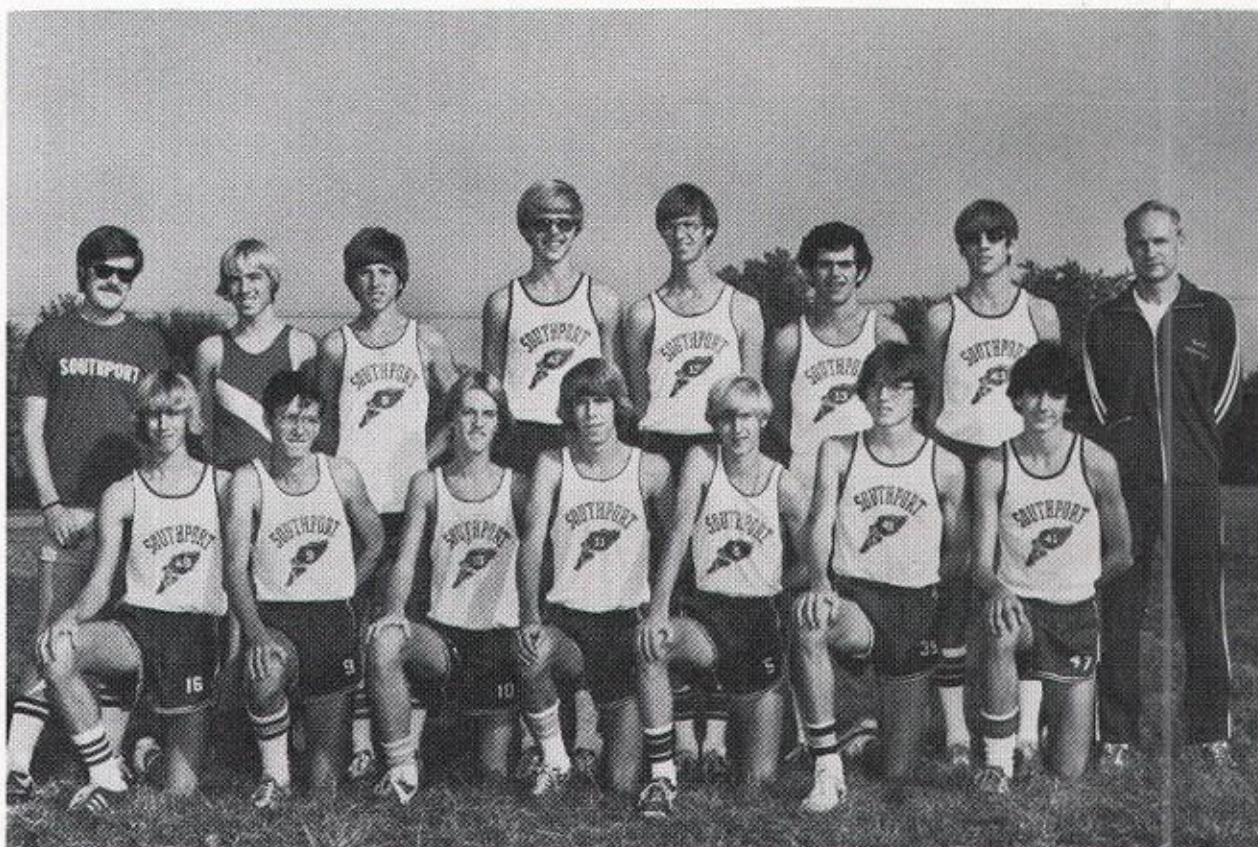

David "Radar" Kays was possibly the strongest fourth man in the state.

This is what hard work and faith brought the harriers: the championship trophy.

Gridsters scrap and scrape to 3-7

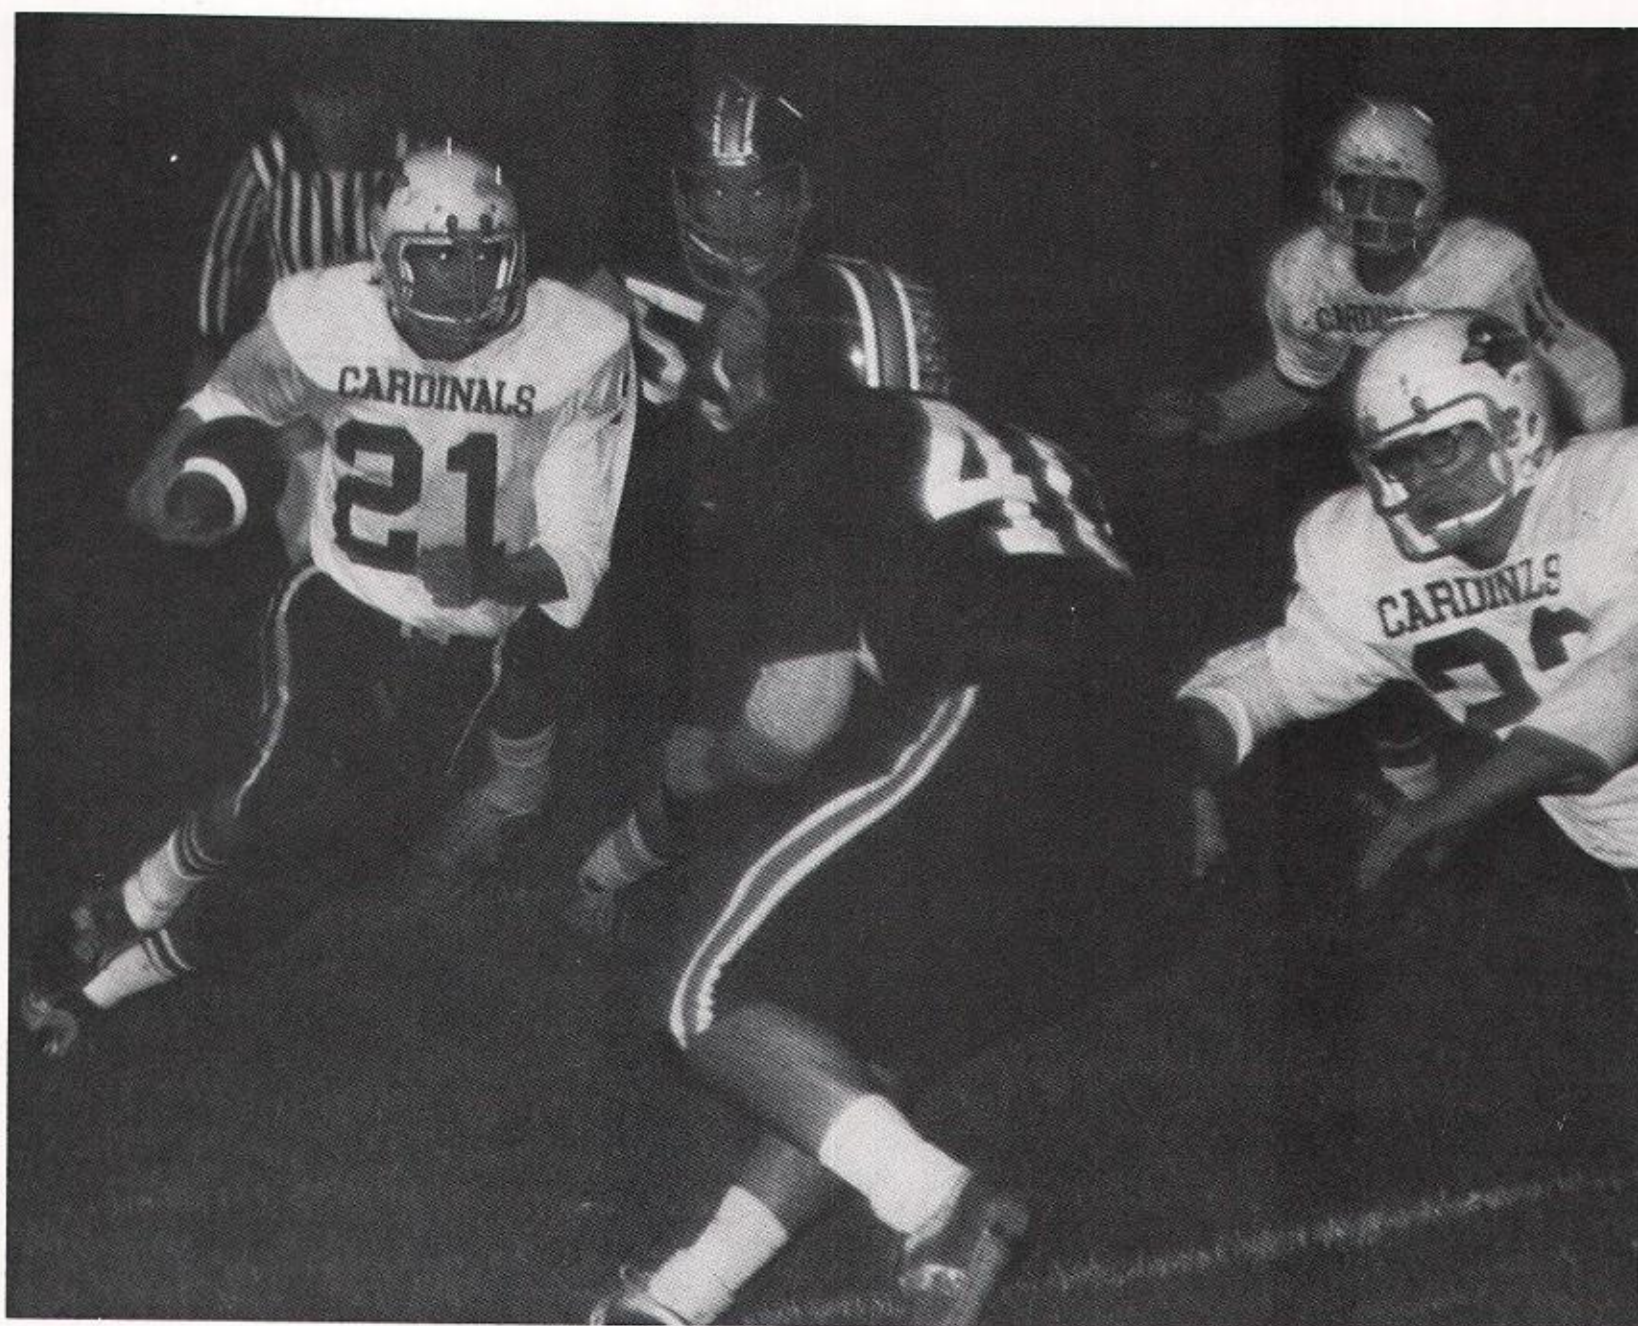

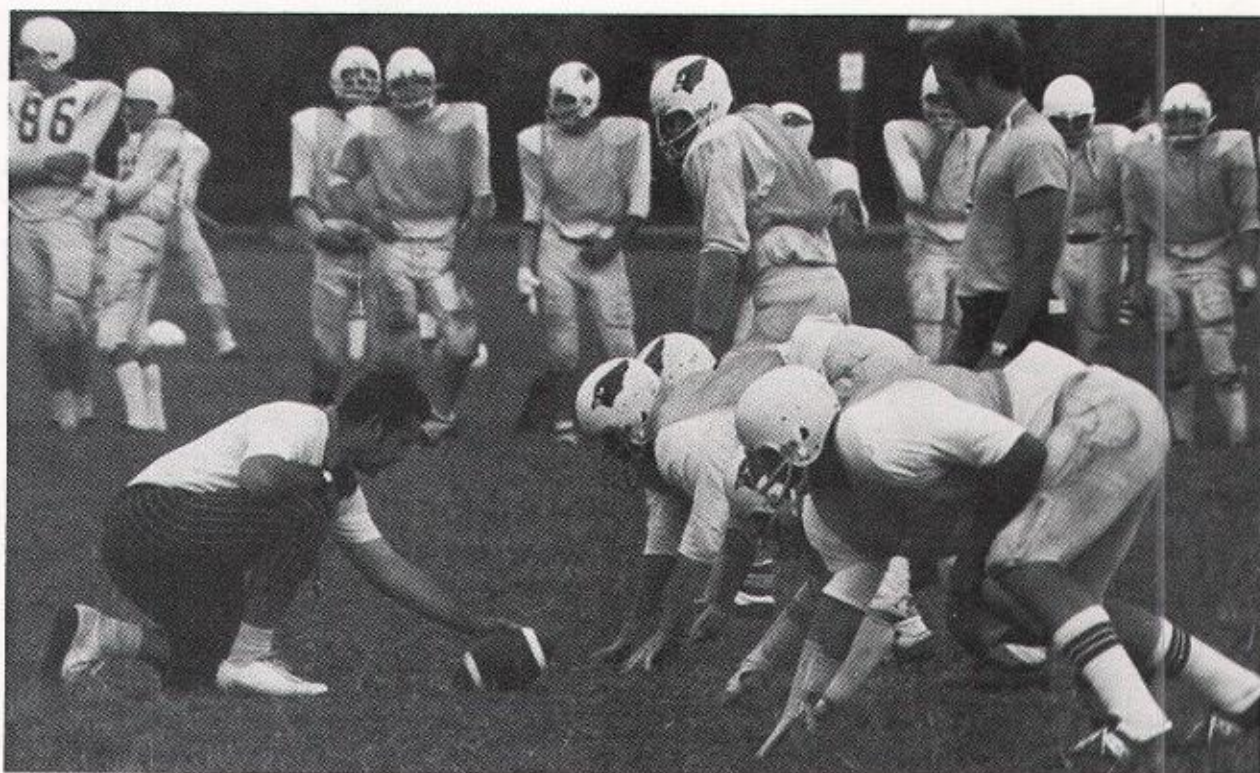

Playing some of the toughest and most grueling competition in the state and county, the Cardinal gridsters posted a 3-7 season.

Coach Chuck Robbins fired his squad up, over the grueling summer practices. Their first two games they lost to county powers Lawrence Central and Ben Davis.

By the time Columbus North came around, the Cards' defense was holding back yardage while the offensemen were grabbing every yard they could. They went on to capture victories against Brebeuf and Manual, led by all-county senior Danny Whalen.

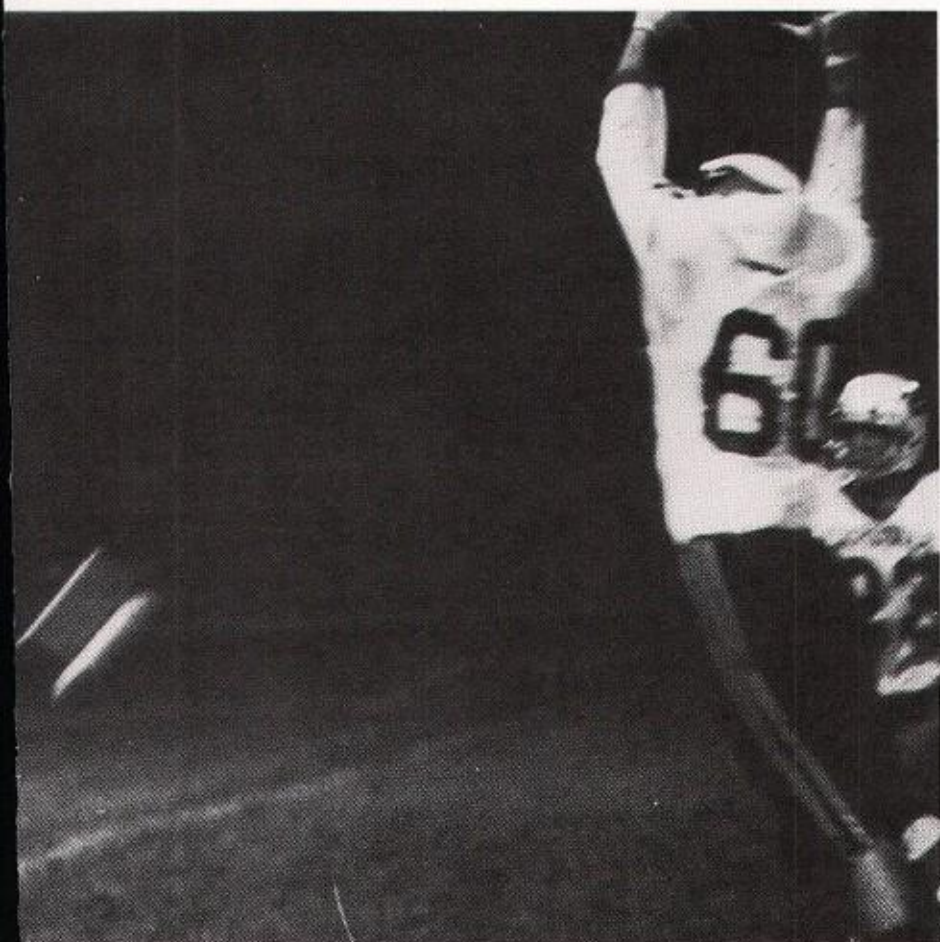

"Cheerful Chuck's" Cardinals took a 21-15 defeat in a hard-fought battle against the Northwest Pioneers Homecoming night.

Coach Chuck Robbins goes over the basic set formation the Cards will use this season. Assistant Coach James Beckham looks on to make sure everything goes right.

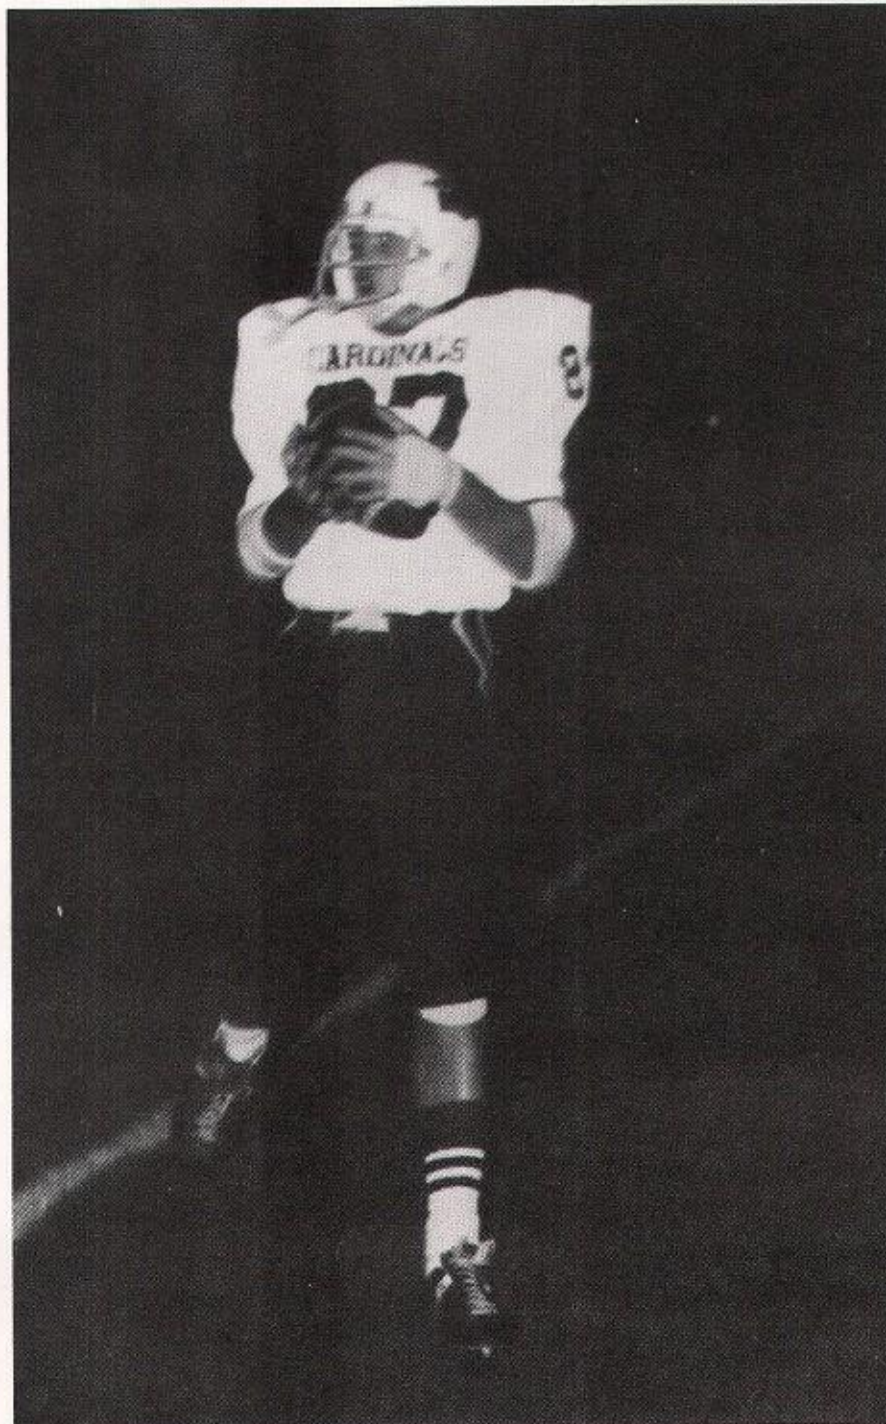

Danny Whalen, 21, all-county defensive back, attempts to gain yards against the Northwest Pioneers on Homecoming night. His help comes from Dave Pittman 22, and John Tandal 41.

A Continental kicker rushes a punt in fear of the Big Red Machine's Doug Guffy getting a piece of it.

Senior split end Dennis Young pulls in a Gary Brizendine pass. Dennis played split end throughout the year.

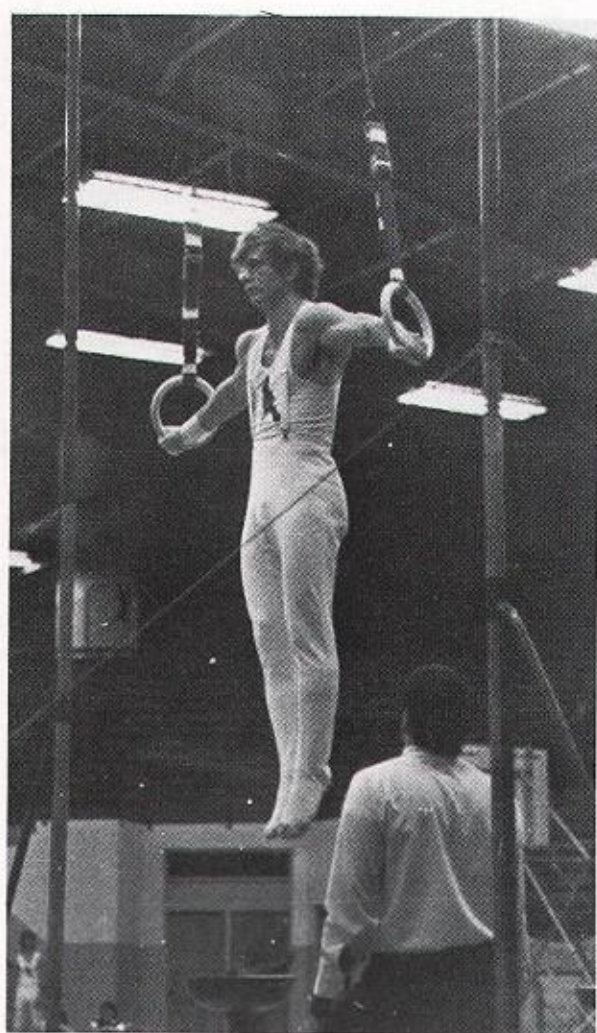

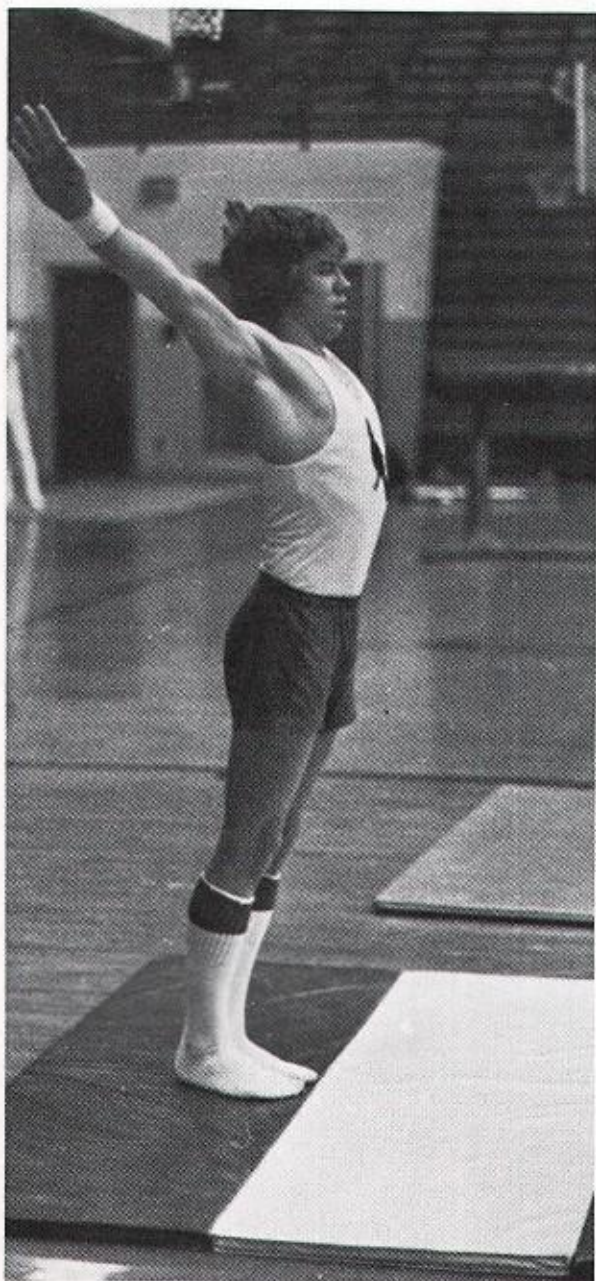

Anxiously awaiting the start of the game are coaches Jim Beckham and Bill Sharpe and the rest of the Cardinal crew.

Hoping for a successful kick and another three points for the Cardinal gridsters is kicker Kris Robbins and holder Mike Baas.

Senior Tom Sublette prepares for his free exercise routine against the Falcons.

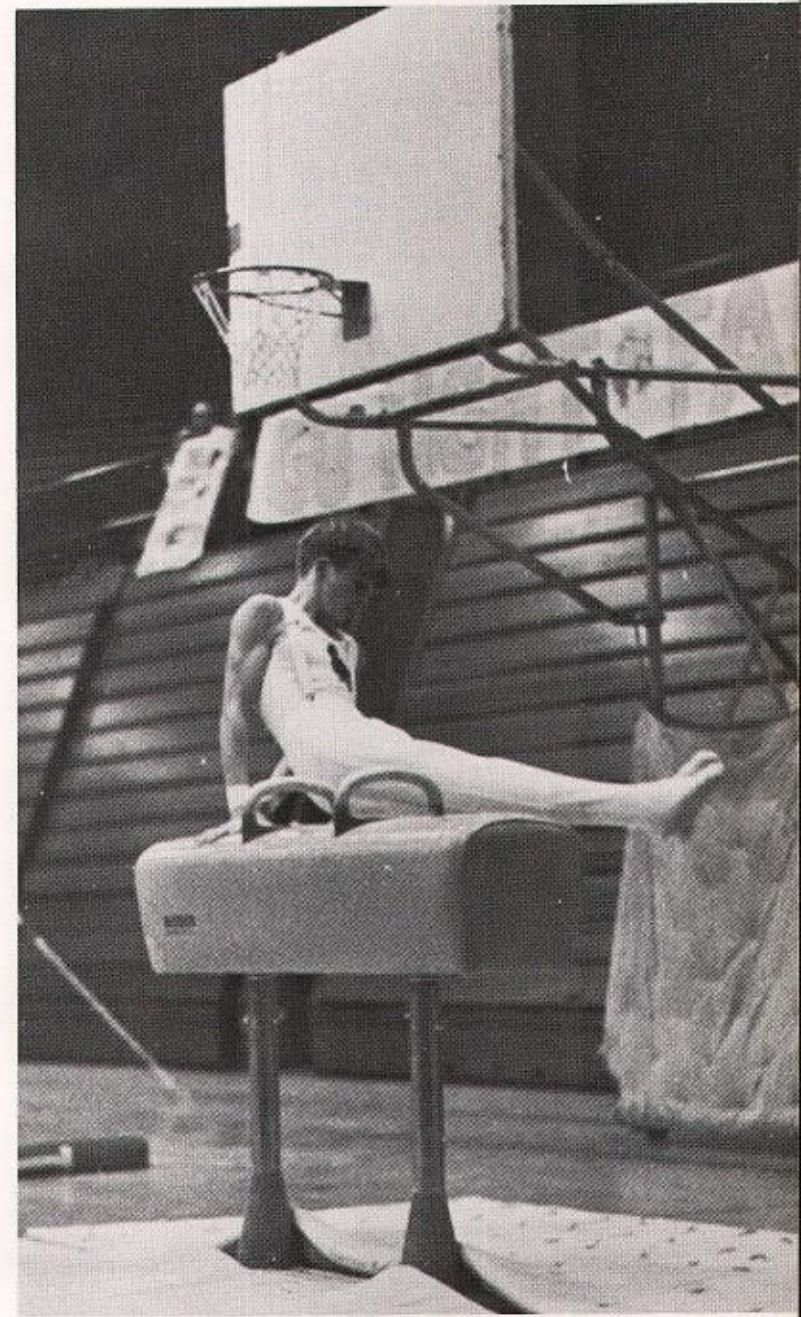

David Pittman performs an "Iron Cross" on the still rings during a home meet.

Senior Mike Scalf displays his talent in the vaulting event. Mike was this year's state champion on the horizontal bar and also in the all-around competition.

Gymnasts swing 2nd in Indiana

SHS's gymnastics team finished its season taking second place in the state. Led by horizontal bar and all-around state champ Mike Scalf and State Gymnastics Coach of the Year Larry Stanford, the team had its best season in Southport's history. The gymnasts set and broke their own records many times and won over rival Perry Meridian and the county championship.

Girls swim, tumble to team victories

"We had a great season and I'm proud of my girls!" said Miss Shirl Simpson, girls gymnastics coach. This was her first year as a gymnastics coach and much of her time was devoted to the team.

The girls spent many hard working hours practicing and ended with a 6-4 record, losing four meets by less than one point.

Senior Denise Larrabee, performs a routine during a home gymnastics meet.

Perry Meridian-vs.-Southport was the biggest and most exciting meet, according to team members, as the girls tumbled over Perry with a score of 86-82.

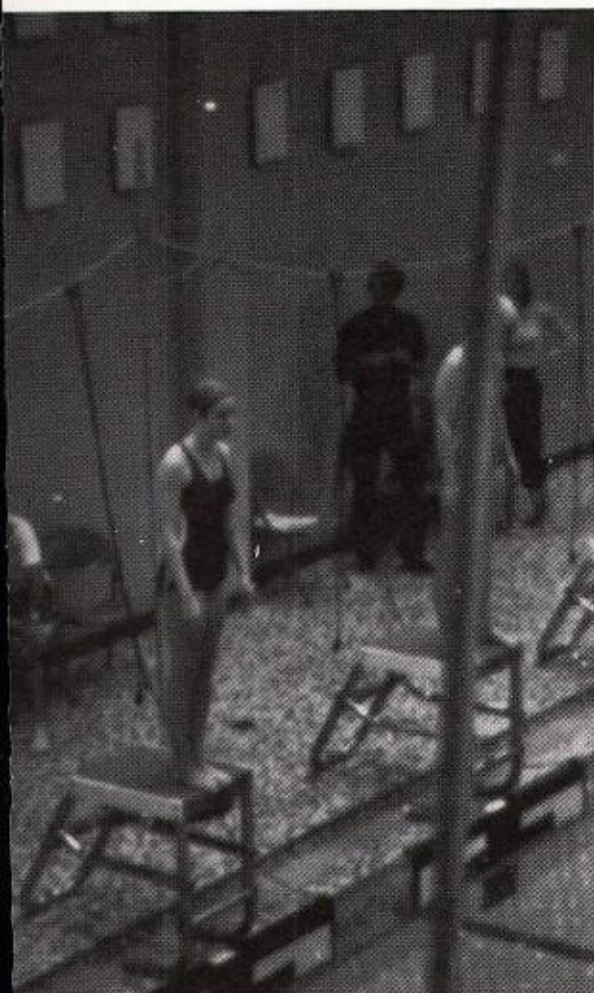

"Winning is finishing the race strong and well, performing better than you have ever performed at all before. This is what our fish accomplished towards the end of our season in both swimming and diving," stated Miss Karen Shea, girl's swim coach.

In the girl's wonderful wet world of competitive swimming, the girls won eight meets, and lost six. In the state meet the girls proved victorious over previously superior teams, with 12th place. Many girls swam in the spring Dolphinette show.

Sheree DeWester prepares for the 200-yard medley. Sheree won first place.

Swimming the breaststroke in the girls swim sectionals at Perry Meridian, Susie Winingham helped the girls come in a strong second place.

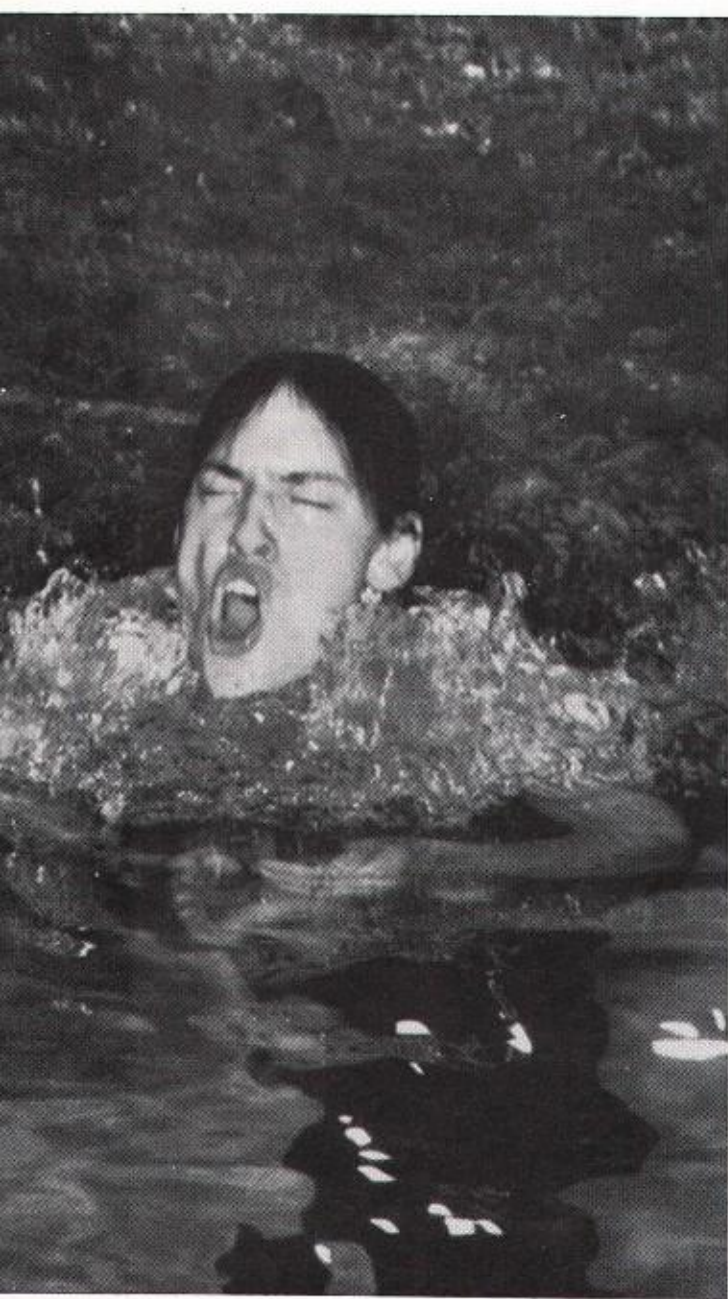

Marilyn Cox, sophomore, works with determination on a floor exercise in hopes of receiving a good score at the meet. The judge is scoring Marilyn on precision, form, balance and difficulty of exercise.

New school records set by tankers

The 1975-76 swim team, led by seniors Scott Schutz and Mike Cox, had a winning 10-7 dual meet record. Victories over Shelbyville, Pike, Bloomington South and Speedway showed much strength.

Two records were smashed by Coach Steve Rager's tankers. They were by junior Vince Pollard in the 200-yard individual medley and junior Mike Hopper in the 500-yard freestyle. Vince was also the only Cardinal tanker to advance to the state meet, taking seventh and eleventh places.

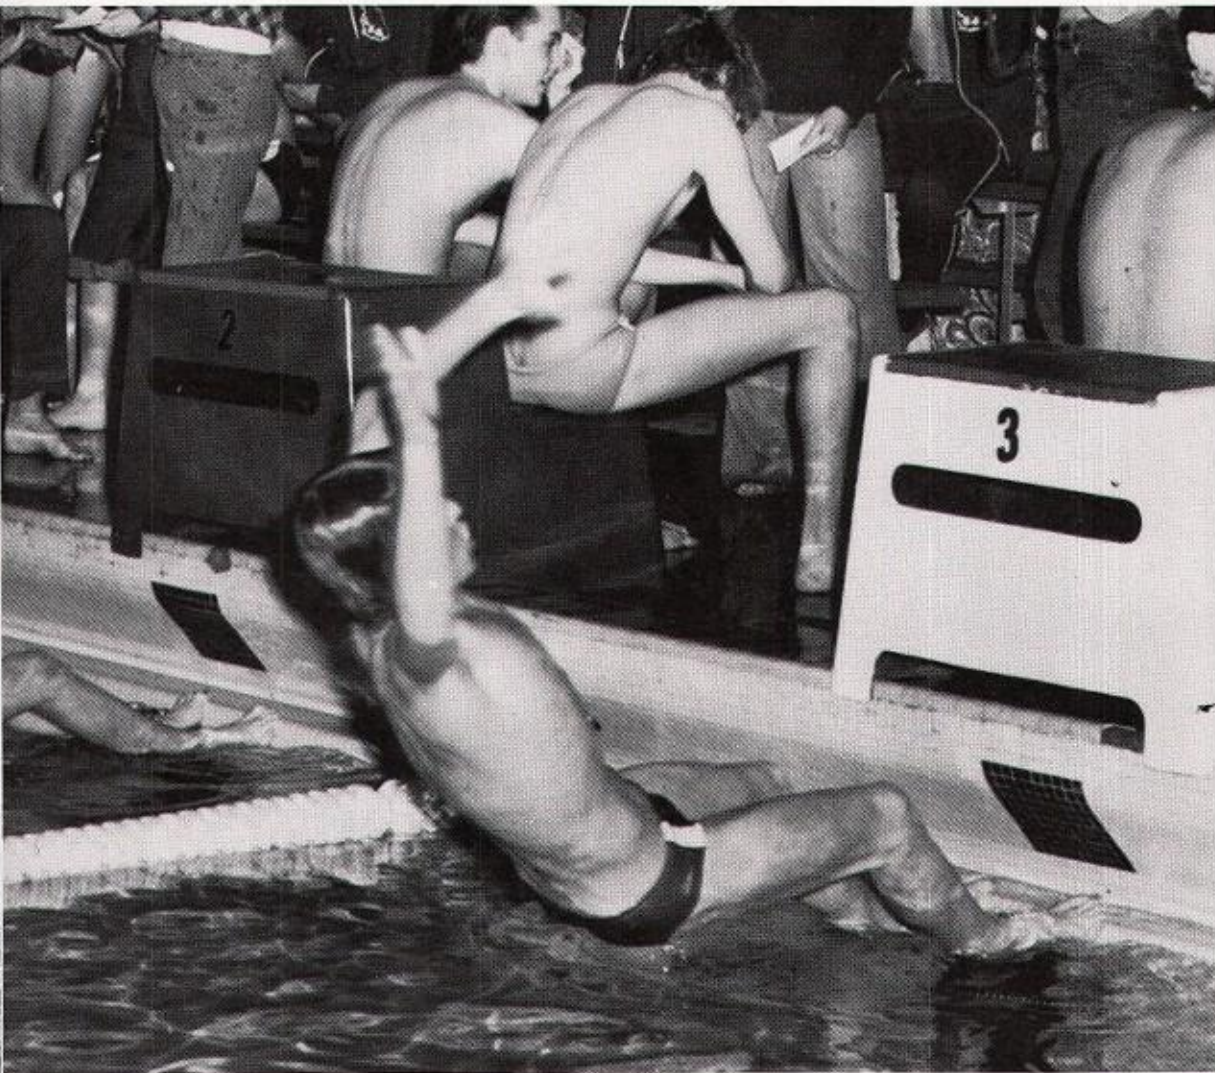

Herman Tilly, a two-year letter sweater winner, glides through the water.

"Rootee Toot Toot!" is heard being shouted above the crowd as Scott Schutz leads his team mates in the team's traditional most loved cheer. Scott is the swim team's captain.

It's a tanker away as sophomore Stan Schutz gets off to a flying start leading into a back-stroke event during a home swim meet.

At a swim meet junior Doug McCreary swims breaststroke full speed ahead.

Steve Bruner uses talent and experience as he puts a move on an opponent.

Heavyweight wrestler Rick Spurgeon prepares to take down an opponent.

Junior Randy Durham is in a position that he experienced many times throughout the year. Durham sported an undefeated regular season record.

Wrestlers show much experience

Chauncy McDaniel's wrestlers opened another tough competitive season against such state powers as Bloomington North and South, Kokomo and Richmond. Coming on strong in the latter part of the season, the grapplers finished their dual meets with a 7-6 record. Randy Durham, John Tandal and Richard Spurgeon placed in the Sectional, Regional and Semi-State.

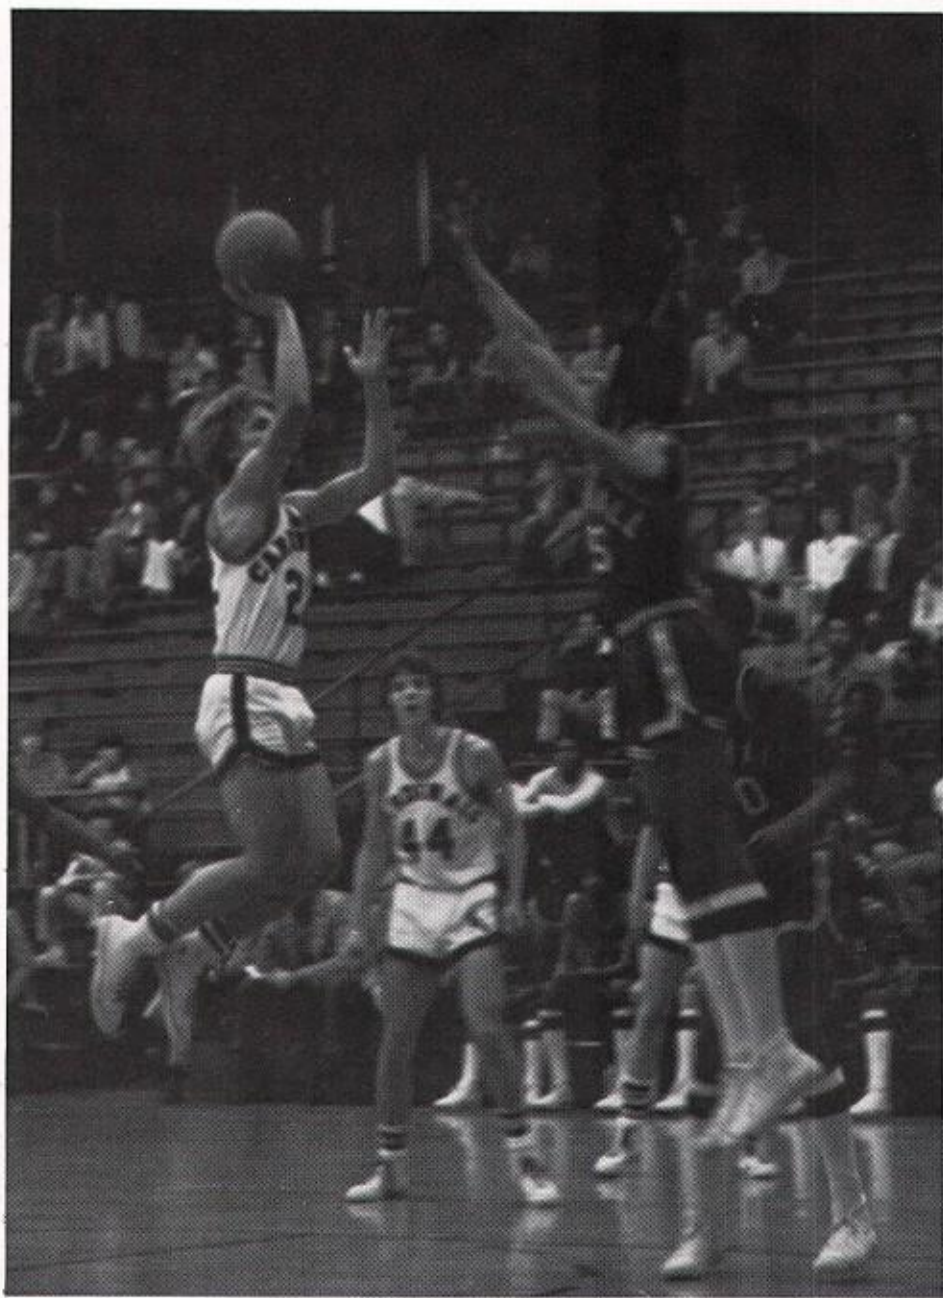

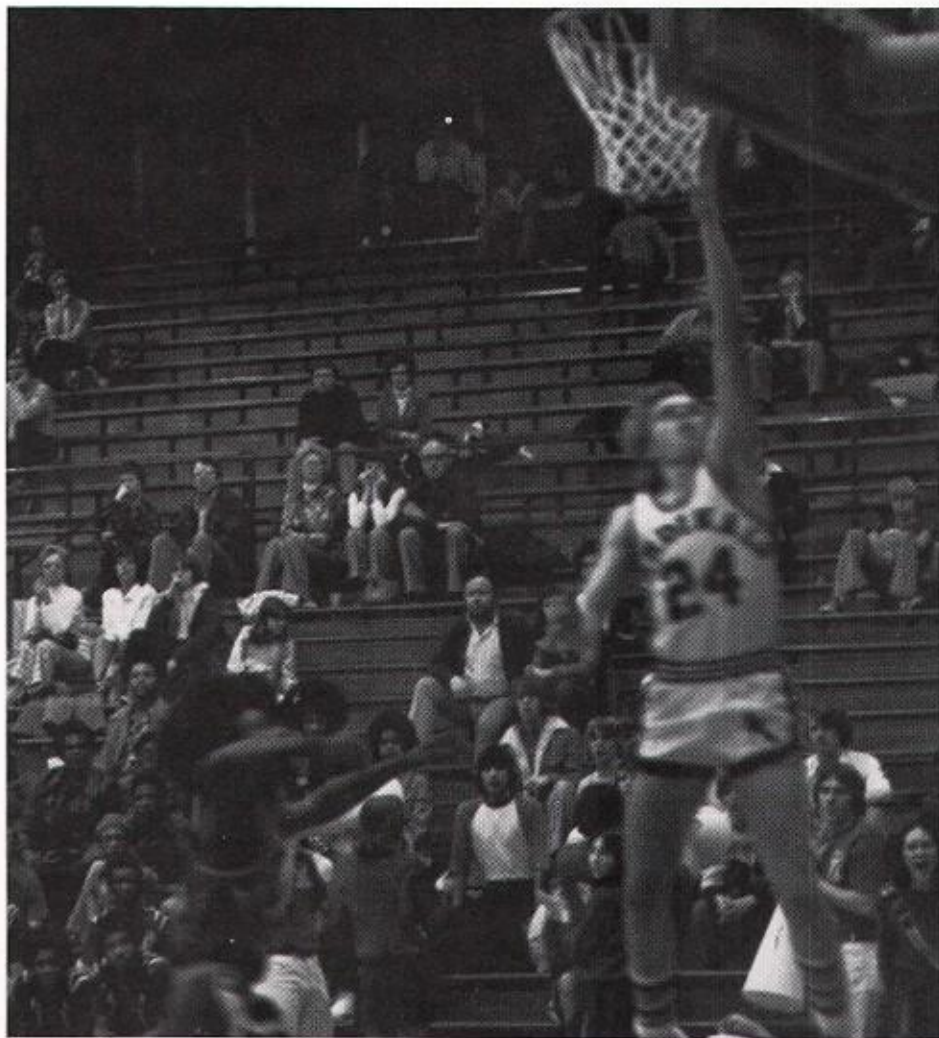

Freshman Wrestling Team—Bottom row: Jeff Guess, Jim Shields, Brook Salyers, Jack Denon. Top row: Randy Jones, Joe Blazek, Bill Rollison, Rocky Biggs, Jeff Hord.

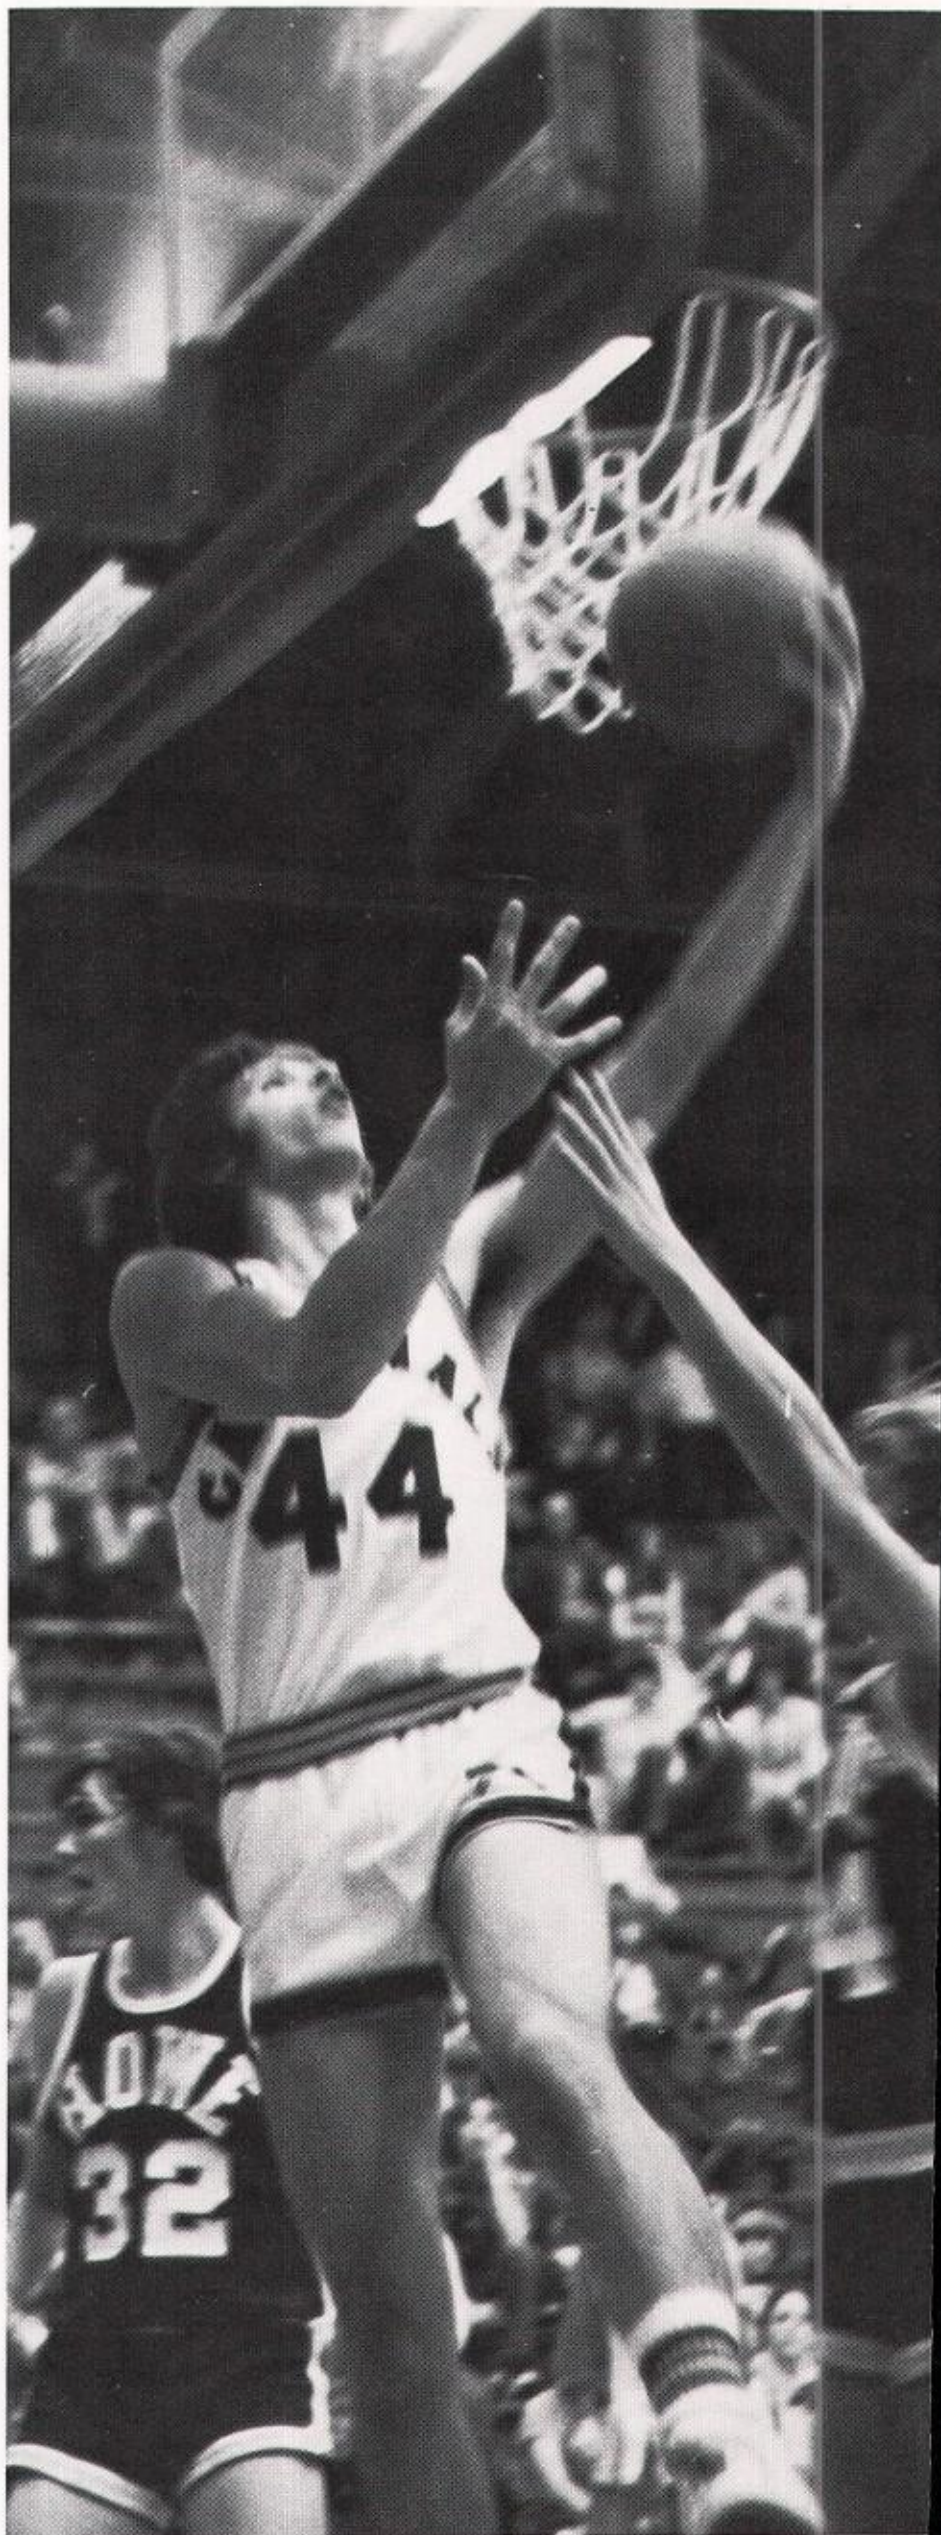

Dennis Bardy carefully examines his opponent for a chance to make his move.

Jeff Duhammel, senior guard for the Redbirds, tallies two points, against the two Marshall defenders.

As senior Andy Karozos looks on, Billy Poppa, junior, puts a move on two defenders and shoots up and over a Marshall player.

Pulling the roundball down from the Howe Hornets with a commanding ability is senior Andy Karozos.

Cardinals come back to beat county champs

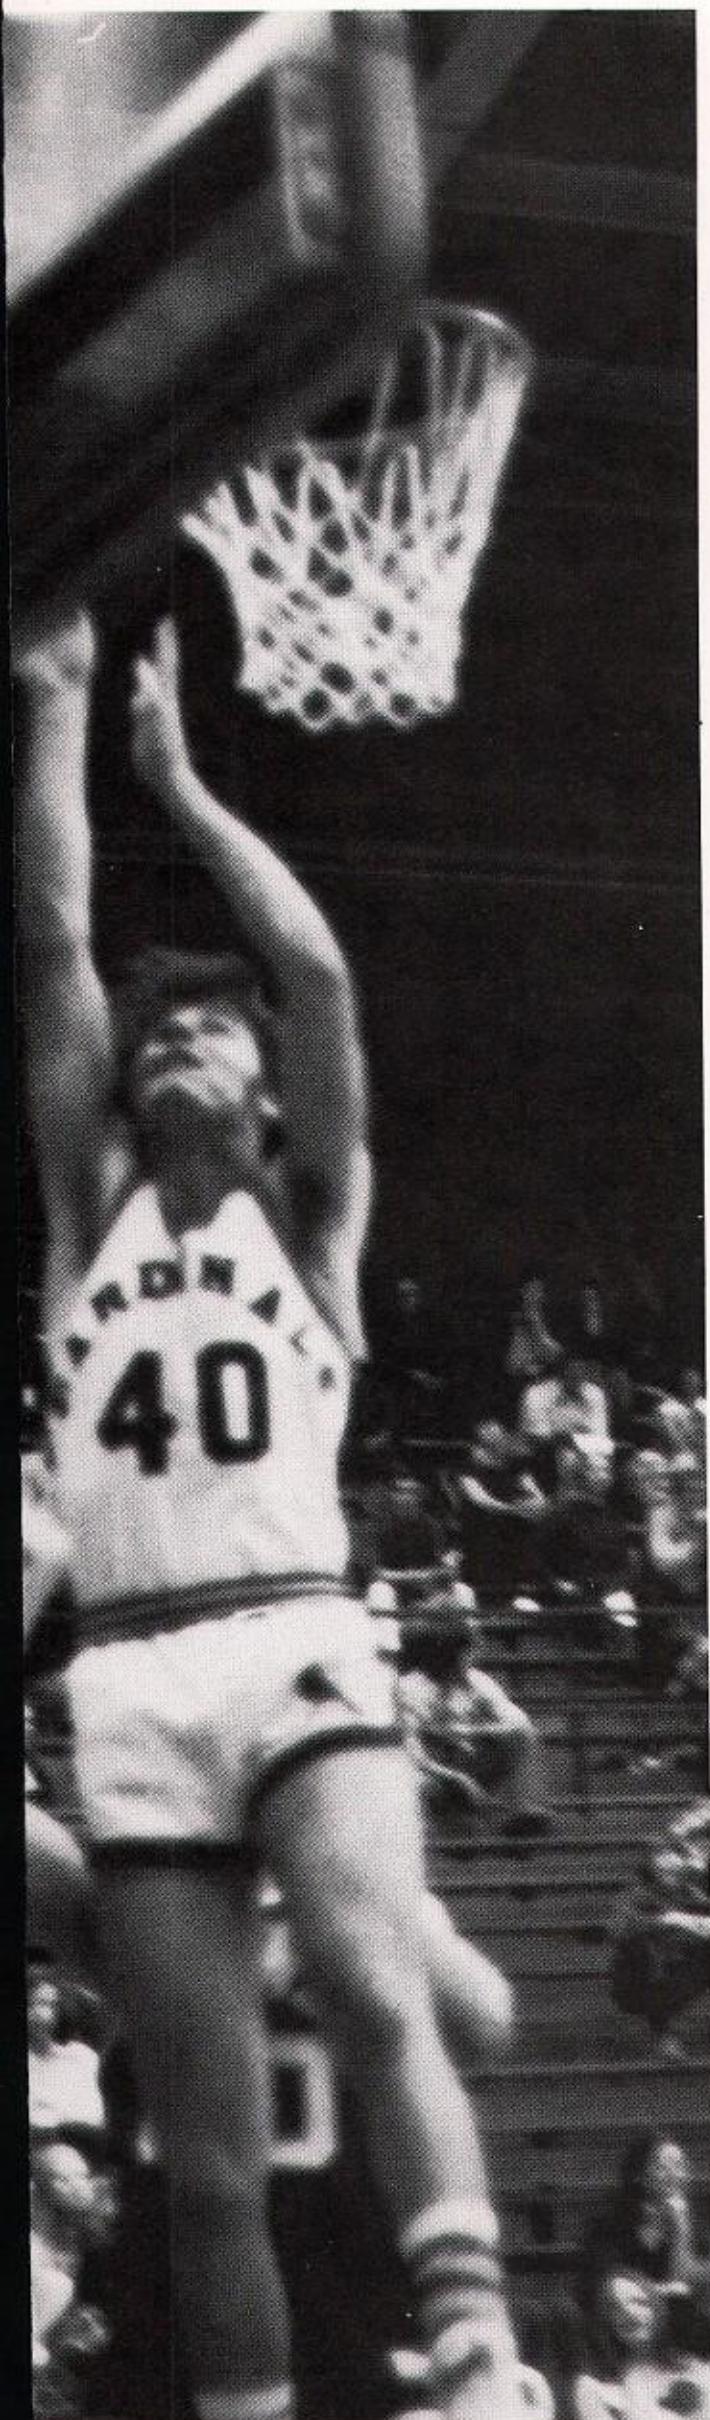

Upsetting county champion Lawrence Central was the highlight of this year's Big Red basketball team.

Coach Rich Theil's Cardinal crew played with poise in this game, coming from behind to upset the Bears 67-66.

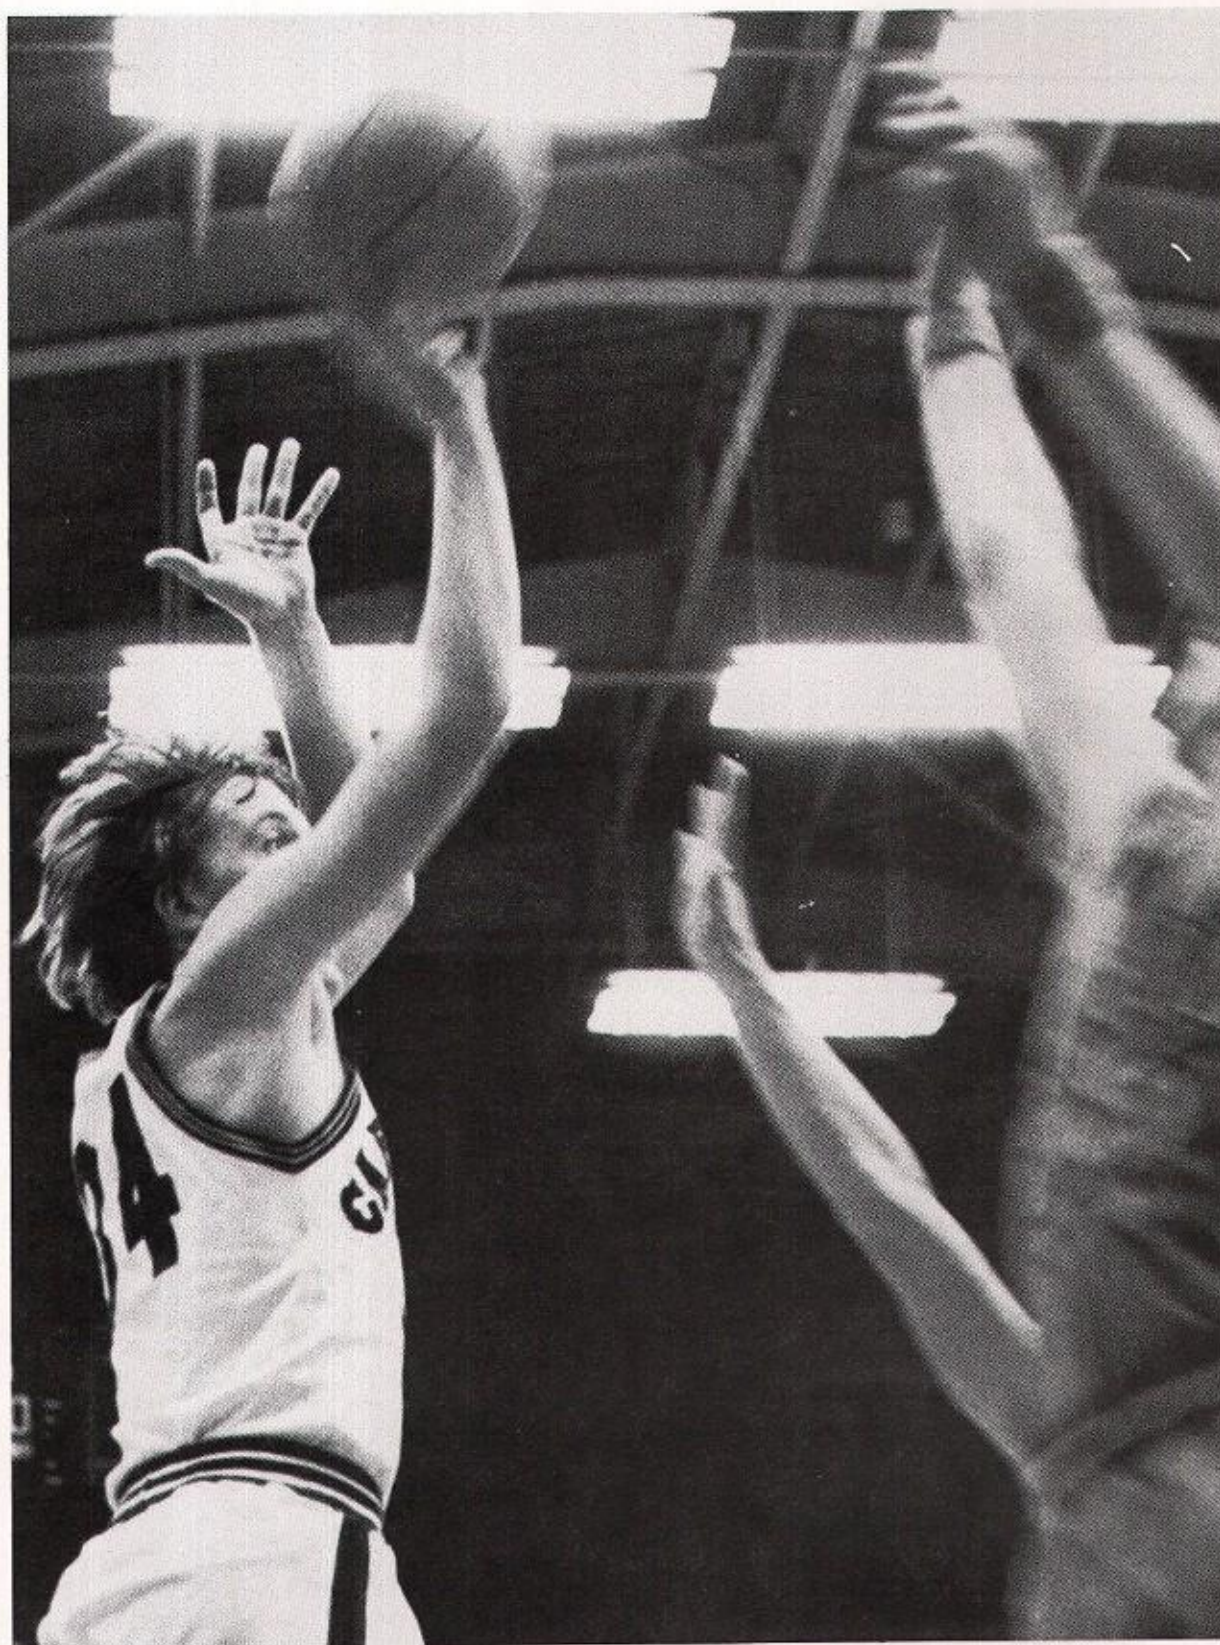

The 1975-76 team lost many heartbreakers by one, two or three points including a one-point shocking loss in the county tournament to Franklin Central.

Returning lettermen Matt Bernhardt, Joe Altman, Andy Karozos, Jeff Duhamell and Bill Poppa filled the starting slots along with Dan Whalen who was later injured.

Joe Altman stretches for 2 of the 65-63 points scored in a loss to Howe.

As one of the top leading scorers in the county, Matt Bernhardt shot over two Perry Meridian Falcons, with an outstanding effort, for two points.

Freshman take 2nd in County

The reserve and freshman basketball teams this year had an up and down season.

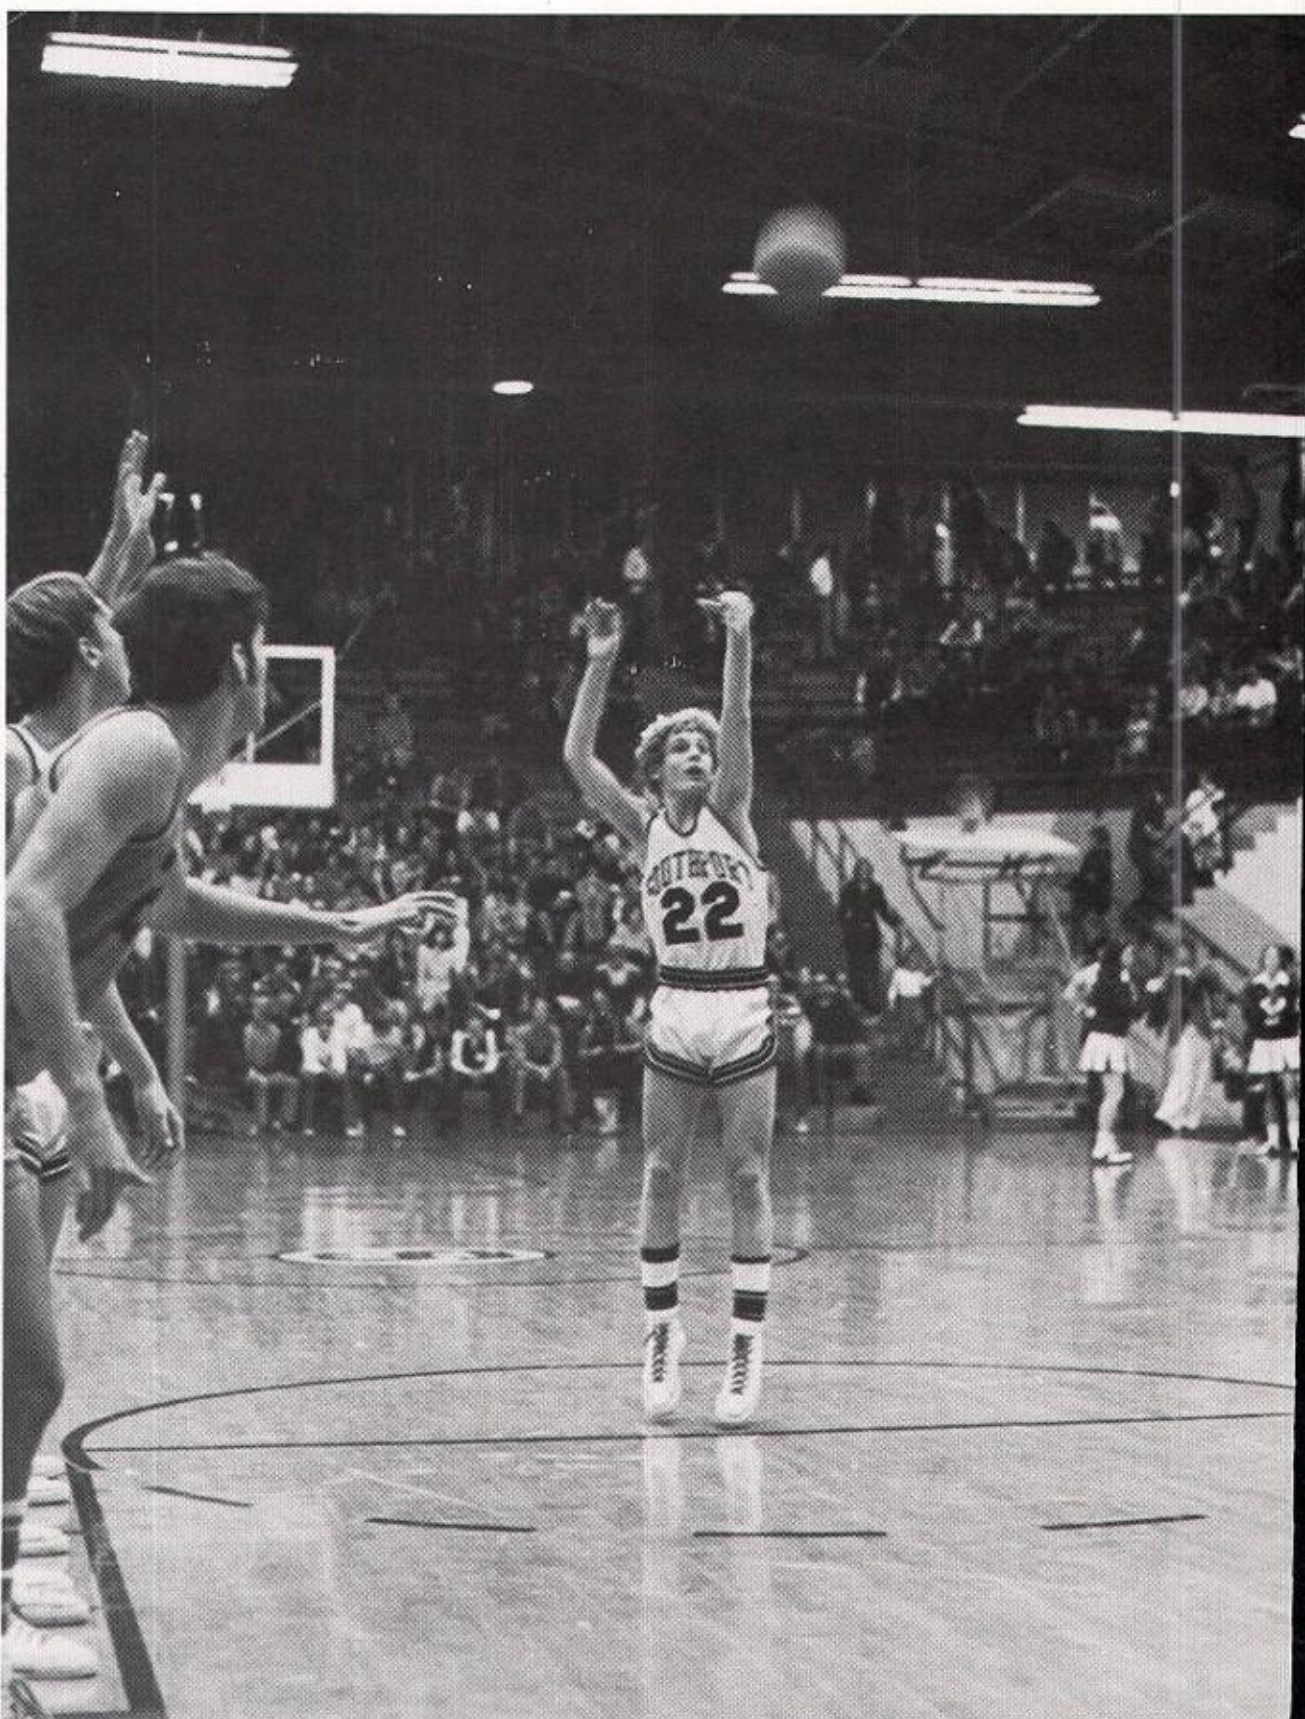

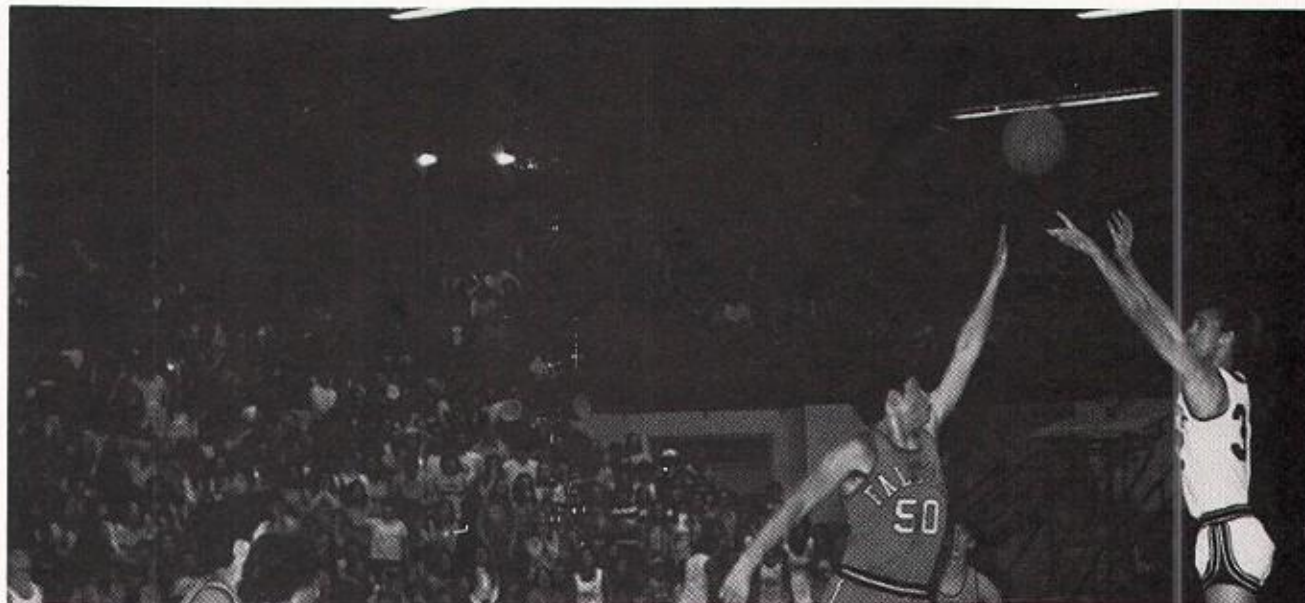

The freshman team, led by John Howell, finished 12-7 and runner-up in the County.

The reserves, led by sophomores Joe Brunk and Dave Bushur, ended with a good showing, a 6-12 season.

Jon Mansbury, sophomore, passes off as a Howe player attempts a steal.

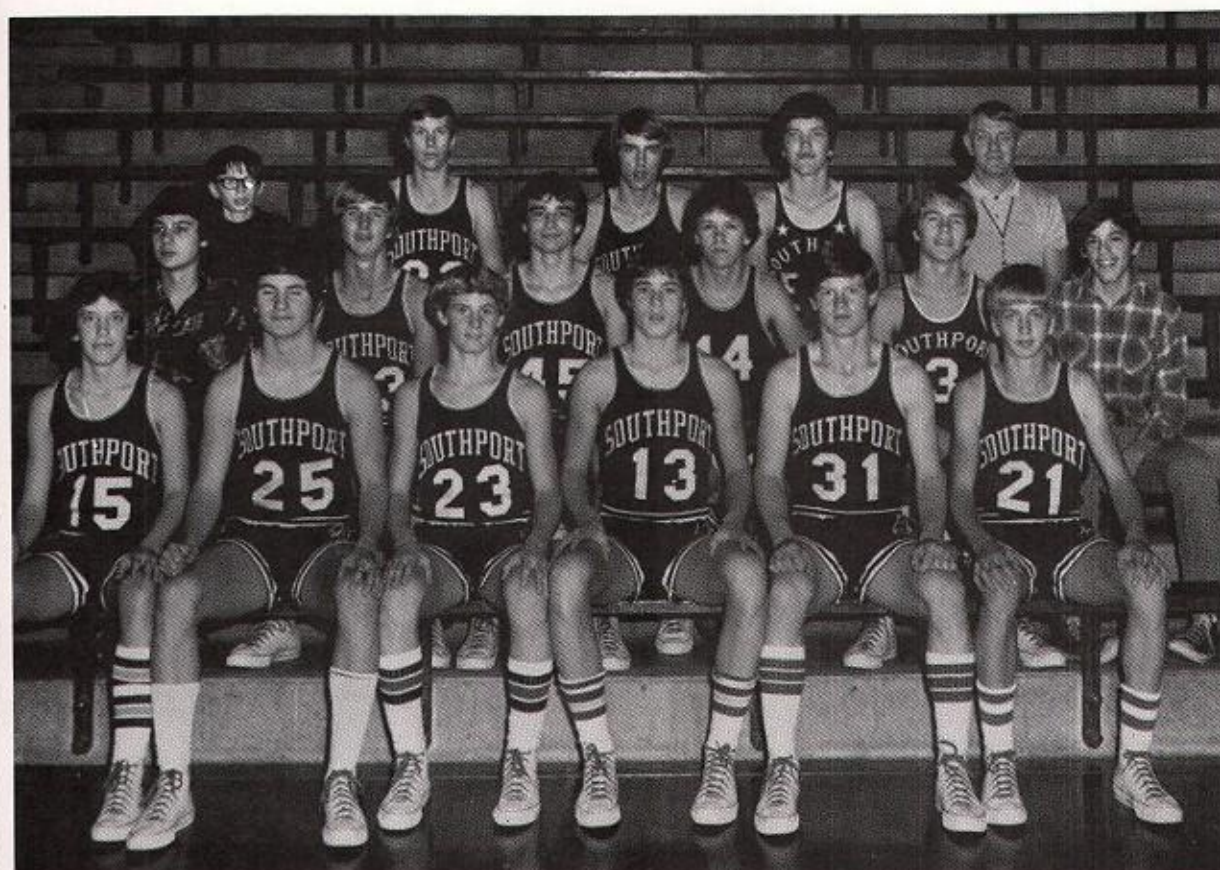

Craig Voris, junior, shoots for the winning basket against the Perry Meridian Falcons. Craig also dressed for the varsity team some games.

Girls set new b-ball team record

The girls basketball team set a new school point high record as they successfully scored 65 points against Franklin Central.

"I really feel this team has shown the greatest team spirit of any team I have ever coached," commented Miss Marilyn Ramsey, girls basketball coach.

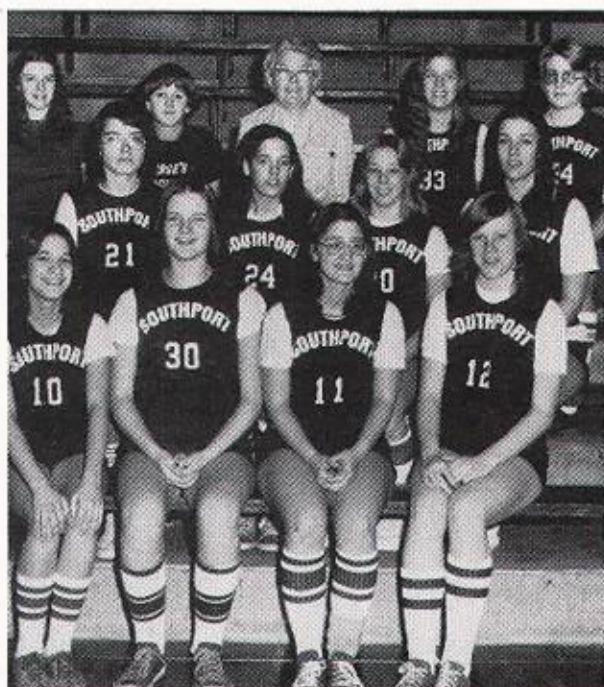

Finishing with a season record of eight and seven, the team of four seniors, one junior, eight sophomores and four freshmen beat many major teams.

During a game with the Warren Central Warriors Susie Baas has to take a trip to the foul line, as Anne Marie Dierkoff anticipates a rebound.

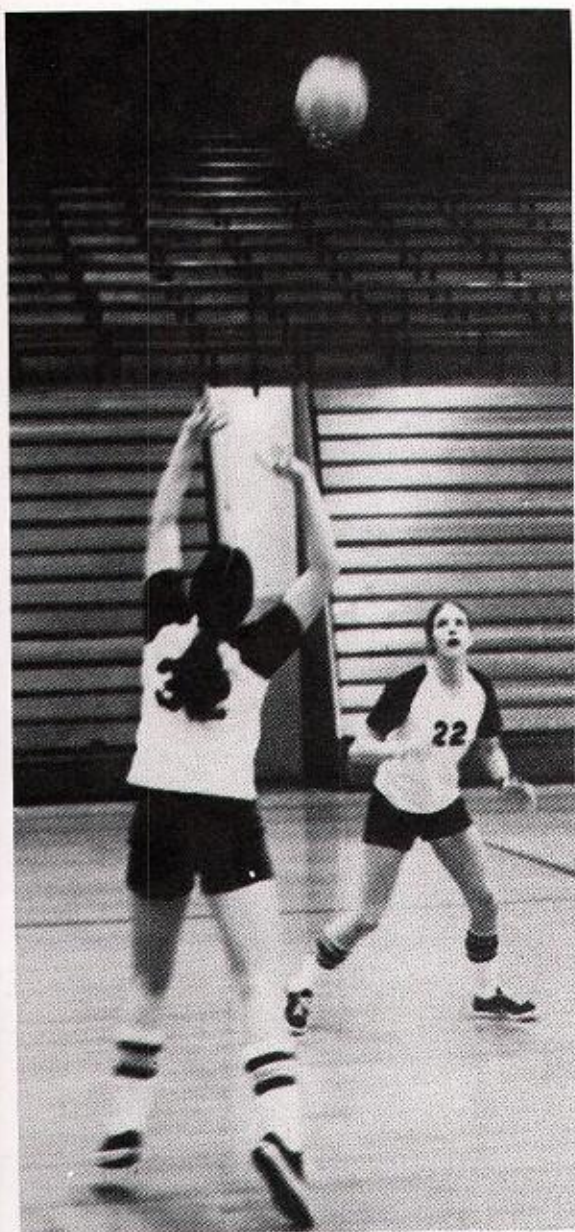

Varsity Basketball Team—Bottom row: Jenny Steffey, Kathy Steffey, Penny Porter, Paula Bueno, Anne Marie Dierkoff, Nancy Drulinger. Top row: Kathy Sawyer, Rita Krietemeier, Carol Harmon, Coach Marilyn Ramsey, Beth Stotts, Jayne Dierkoff, Cheryl Bishop.

Girls spike opponents to go 8-4

Side-out! Foul! Point! Game! The Southport volleyball team worked hard to achieve its 8-4 record for the 1975-76 season. Competing against such opposition as Ben Davis, Warren Central, Perry Meridian and many others, the girls had one of the toughest schedules in their division. The girls were defeated by Howe on the first night of Sectional competition.

Putting forth a great amount of effort is senior volleyball ace Michele Cosby.

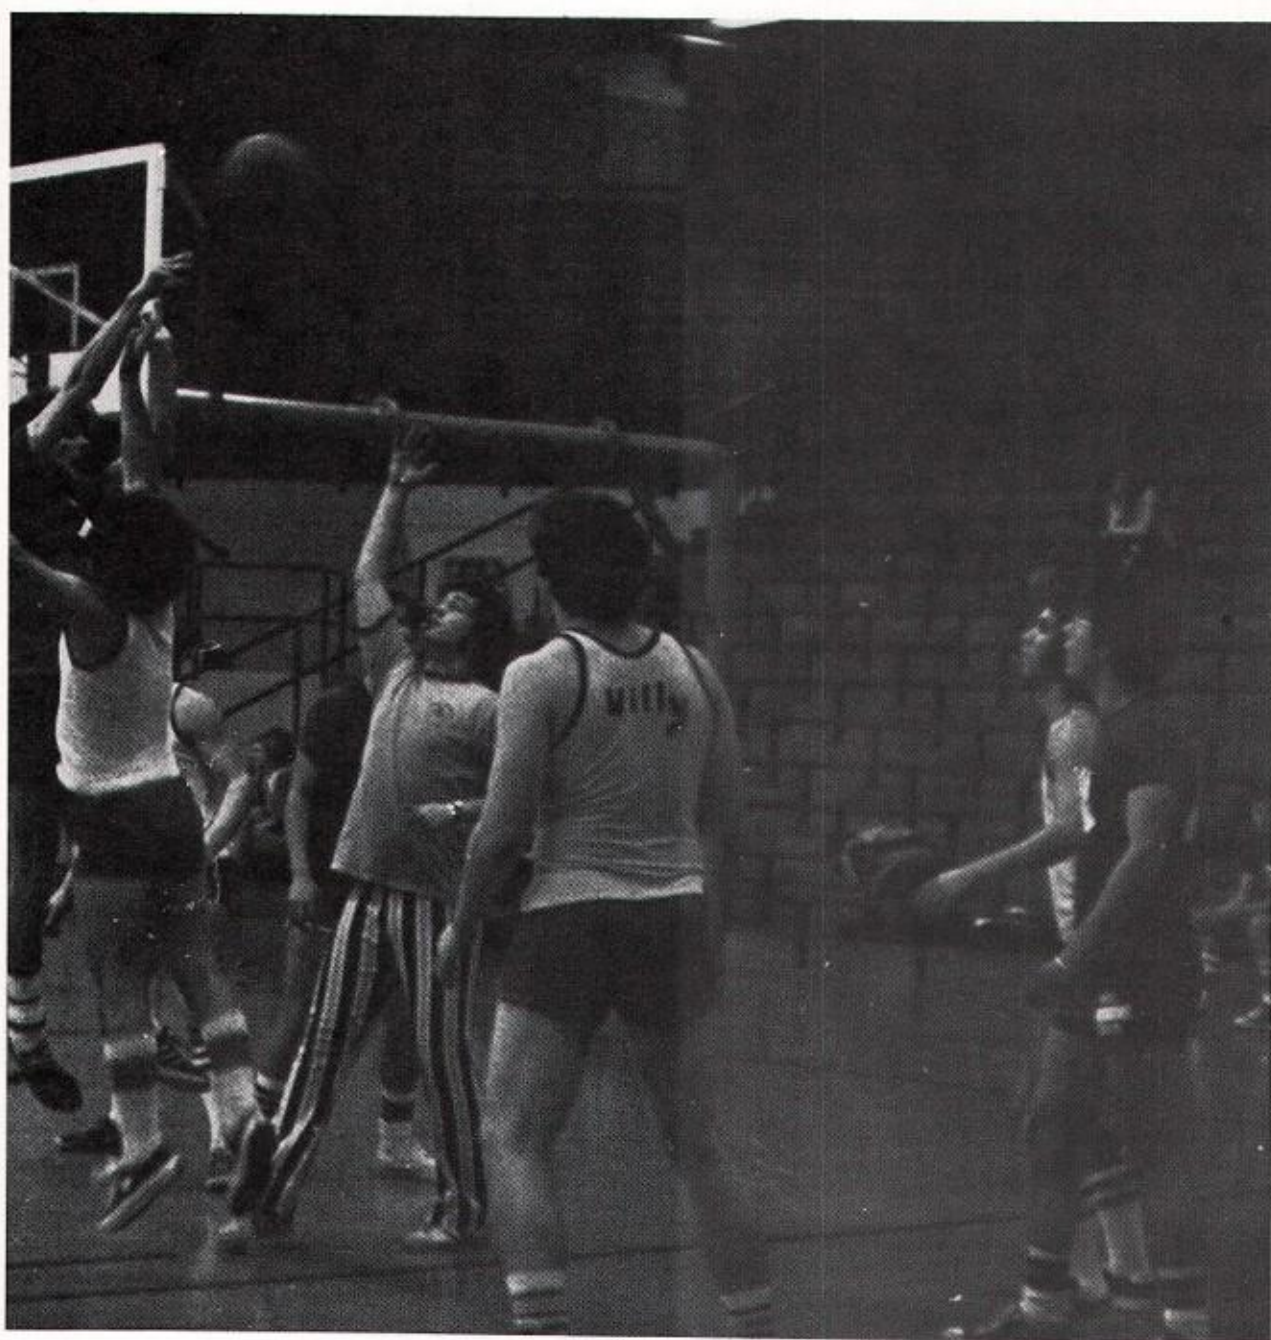

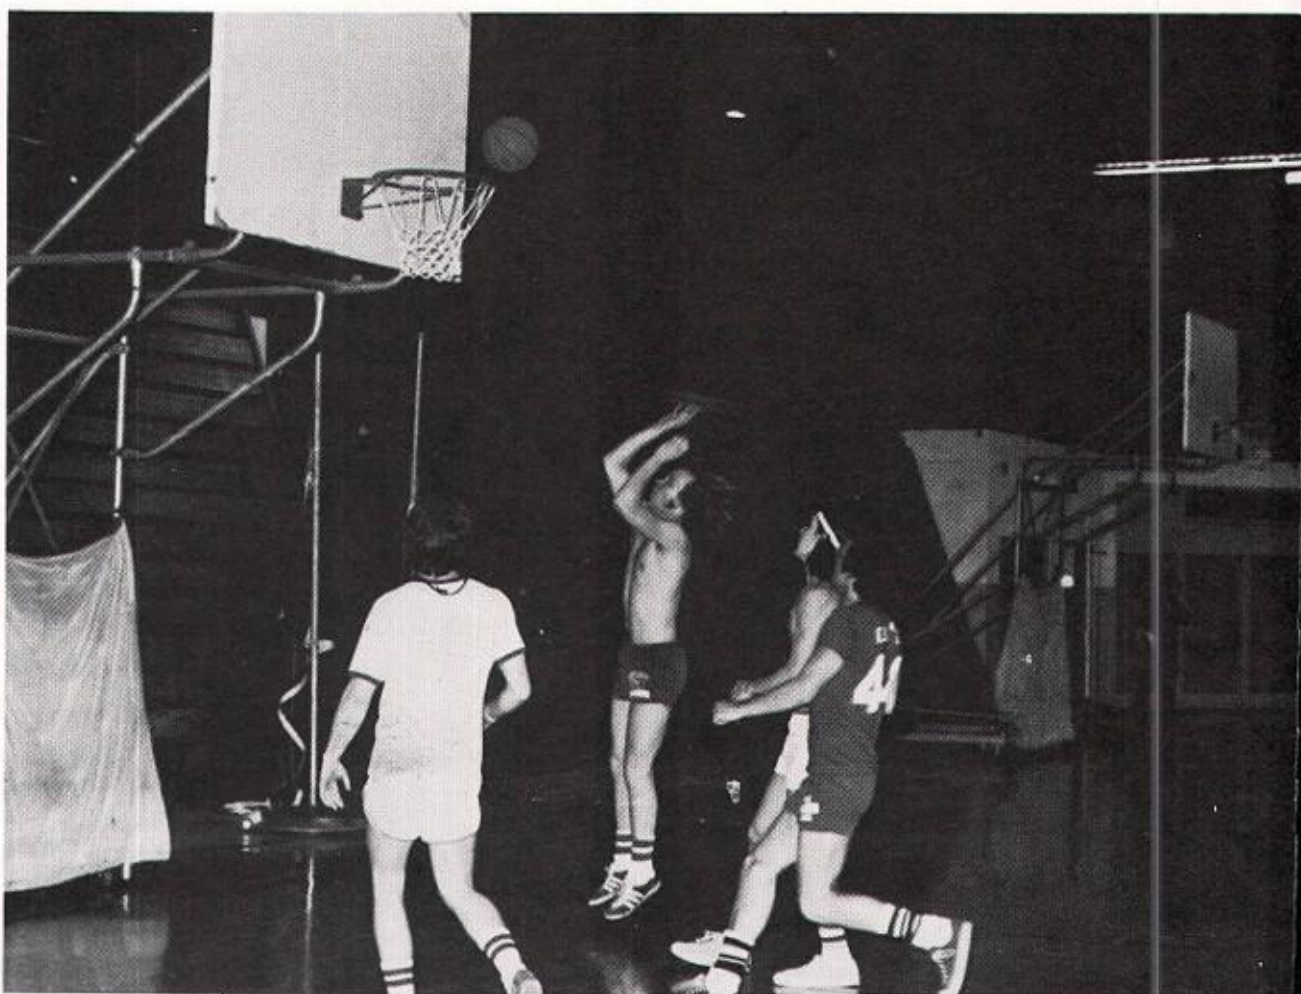

Intramurals encourage school spirit

What are intramurals? Intramurals are teams composed of students with an interest in basketball and who like to play with good sportsmanship.

Kender Remraf, Floortrotters and Marshall Tucker Group were just a few of the 27 teams that competed this year.

At the end of regular season play, the four top teams enter the tournament. This year they were the Kender Remrafs, Untouchables, All Star's and the Stogeys.

Rich Tate gives his soft touch to the roundball for two points as fellow intramural players watch, ready for the rebound.

Jeff Woods jumps over an opponent at a senior intramural game for Ed's Bait Shop. Other members of the Bait Shop are Mike Henthorne, Gary Farley and Kim Lawrence.

Mr. Bill Sharpe offers activity in intramural basketball for students of all classes.

Mike Henthorne strains to get the tip on a jump ball during a game while Jim Meador, Raymond Freese, Dan Clark, Jeff Woods and Rich Tate look on. Student referees contributed to the success of the intramurals, which were in the gymnasium.

Evening intramural games provide fun, enjoyment and activity for the students who like to participate in organized sport activities.

This frosh team, one of the 27 teams in the league, helped promote sportsmanship throughout the school.

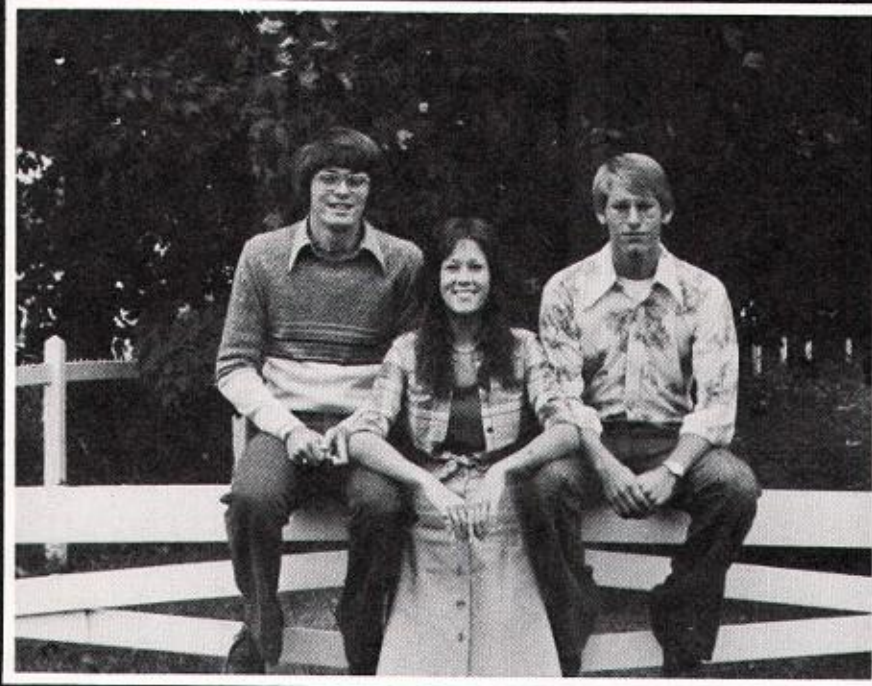

People make a school, whether it be more than 2,000 as in SHS today or as in this 1902 photograph of the students and their teacher at the old Moore School, which used to be at the corner of Gray Road and Edgewood Avenue and was moved in March into the heart of Southport to be restored. Bottom row: John Waldo

Intensive self-study for SHS

Self-study programs were started this year so the school can get ready for the North Central evaluation next October.

Mr. Carl Braden was chairman of the study. The purpose of it was to examine every facet of the school including activities, courses, and philosophies.

Student enrollment increased from 1,940 of last year, to 1,943, of which the sophomore class was the largest with 524. The freshmen number 517; juniors, 483; and seniors, 419.

Bright flashing neon lights and pollution-causing bumper-to-bumper traffic fill busy Madison Avenue today, but back in 1911 a drive along Madison was a rural excursion. Behind these students and teachers, posing on the lawn of the first Southport High School,

Our home style food is sure to please the whole family. Roast beef, Fish, Fried Chicken, Dressing, Potatoes, Country Noodles, 3 Vegetables, 15 Salads and FREE DESSERT from our dessert bar: featuring home-made Bread, Pudding, Pies. etc.

It has been said that dog is man's best friend. Snoopy, center, is very loyal. However, when the fuel is low and the car won't go, it's going to take someone who knows his stuff. Sarah Elliott, left, puts her trust in the folks at DE BAUN'S SUNOCO, located at 5912 Madison Ave. They do a good job for a good price.

When hunger pains strike and famine is soon to come, CAN-TEEN FOOD AND VENDING SERVICE, 3800 Shelby St., has the answer—food. Kathy Boyd and Jill Coutz try products.

Dave Baker and Tom Pressley "have a ball" at PUTT-PUTT, located at Southport Rd. and Madison Ave. Bob and Dave are hitting the ball till they hit the hole.

When the roof starts leaking, go to BILL BROCKMAN AND ASSOCIATES REALTY. Alane Funk, Lance Wilds, Dawn Newhouse and Eddie Deal see Mr. Brockman, 4020 Meridian.

When Spot is no longer your dog, but your coat . . . when bags under your eyes are in your clothes, take the hint. Shelley Stiegmeyer visits COTTAGE CLEANERS, 3637 Stop 11 Rd.

If you're a senior student and you're more interested in learning a skill than continuing on to college, you may be interested in what Mr. Werner has to say.

"If I see that some of my seniors are looking for an opportunity to start learning a good skill, I make them aware of the opportunities in the military."

Mr. Werner, who has recently visited a number of Navy installations, continues: "I'm very impressed with the quality, quantity and availability of Navy training."

If you qualify, the Navy can offer training in over 70 challenging job skill areas.

You may even be able to further your education under the new Navy Campus for Achievement program.

The Navy can offer you a satisfying lifelong career. You'll have your share of day-to-day duties, of course. But you'll also have a chance to travel. To make new friends. To be someone special.

Sound good? For more information, contact your local Navy recruiter or your high school guidance counselor or call this number toll-free: 800-841-8000.

"A penny saved is a penny earned." (Benjamin Franklin) Cindy John and Esther Shucklook visit the newest NATIONAL BANK OF GREENWOOD branch, located at 300 S. Madison. Other branch locations include Greenwood Center, Rd. 135 & Country Line Rd. and Westminster Village. Greenwood Bank, along with its other banking services, offers free checking accounts for full-time college students.

While many people know MERCHANTS BANK because of its little green man who does a cute little song and dance, or perhaps a green briefcase, Merchants Bank is more. The Southport Merchants Bank branch is located at 6912 Madison Ave. Nancy Drullinger and Jim Schwark talk to the people at Merchants about the variety of banking services they offer.

Nancy Drullinger "rides the rail" at KOOL-VENT SALES AND SERVICE. For aluminum awnings, storm doors, windows, or aluminum siding, see Dan Casey at 3447 Shelby St.

Curious to see if they could all fit in a Chevette, Connie Wieting, Debbie Eades, Susan Challman and Jeff Springmore squeeze in at HUBLER CHEVROLET, 3800 S. U.S. 31.

Robert L. Anderson, mayor of the city of Southport, reminisces the number of hours and hard work that he put into track during high school. Mayor Anderson, '51 Southport grad, has a daughter, Linda, who is a senior.

Kathy Weber, activities editor of the 1976 Anchor, works diligently, as do the eight other staff members throughout the school year to make the yearbook a book of memories.

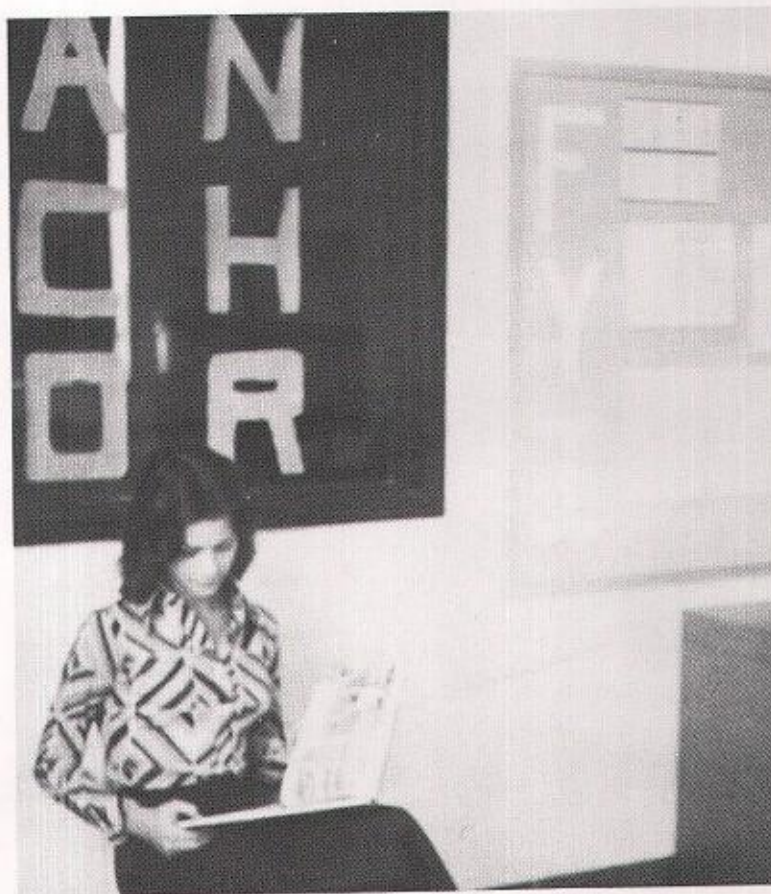

Yearbooks make memories. In times to come, students will remember their high school years fondly and cherish happy moments.

Football games, homecoming, basketball games, sock hops, Christmas dances, proms, the senior activity day . . .

Without advertisers the Anchor would not be possible. The Anchor staff would like to take this opportunity to say "Thank you."

Erhard Bell, senior, looks fondly at the cross country section of the yearbook. The Anchor reminds Erhard of all the time and effort he put into cross country.

Tina Bledsoe, senior, gazes intently at the Anchor, remembering times past. Hayrides, wiener roasts, boyfriends . . . The days seemed like they would never end—but they did.

ANCHOR

Staying after school till 9 p.m. the night before deadlines, eating hamburgers and pizzas in room 148, yelling at each other and not really meaning it, spending free time in each other's company, going to the dark-room to see what develops, leaving notes for each other on the board, roasting wieners at Denise's house, having our own special "Kurtmastree," going to journalism workshops, eating at McDonald's, hoping to win the "Bunny full of Money," announcing our successors at the first Journalism Banquet, kidding Ms. Schenck about graph Kool-Aid, waiting for proofs, hoping the kids will like the book, playing host when Mr. Braden visited, voting on the "group of the week," hunting teachers down on their supervision period, and most of all caring about each other—all of these times made the making of this year's Anchor all the more fun. From the whole staff a thank you to Ms. Schenck for making this year extra special.

With the 1975-76 school year almost over I would like to thank all the people who helped with this year's Anchor. As editor I want to say thank you to the staff. There were not many of us working on the Anchor, but everyone on the staff did their best to make this yearbook the best Southport has ever had.

A special thanks to Tom Sublette and Brian Voris for coming in during their spare time to help Kurt Hurley on the sports section. Journalism I and II really helped on the little details that take a lot of extra time. They also spent their time selling ads for the book and more importantly selling the book.

Mrs. Charlotte Dial, Mrs. Rosemary Peterson, Mrs. Marilyn Mayfield and the Indiana State Library aided us when we were working on the history of Southport and the research for the Almanac.

David Coy helped our busy photographers by taking pictures and developing them for us. Mr. Richard Hilfiker spent hours working on historical pictures that we asked him to reprint for us.

Tracy Williams stayed after school at deadline time to help Kathy Weber with the activities section.

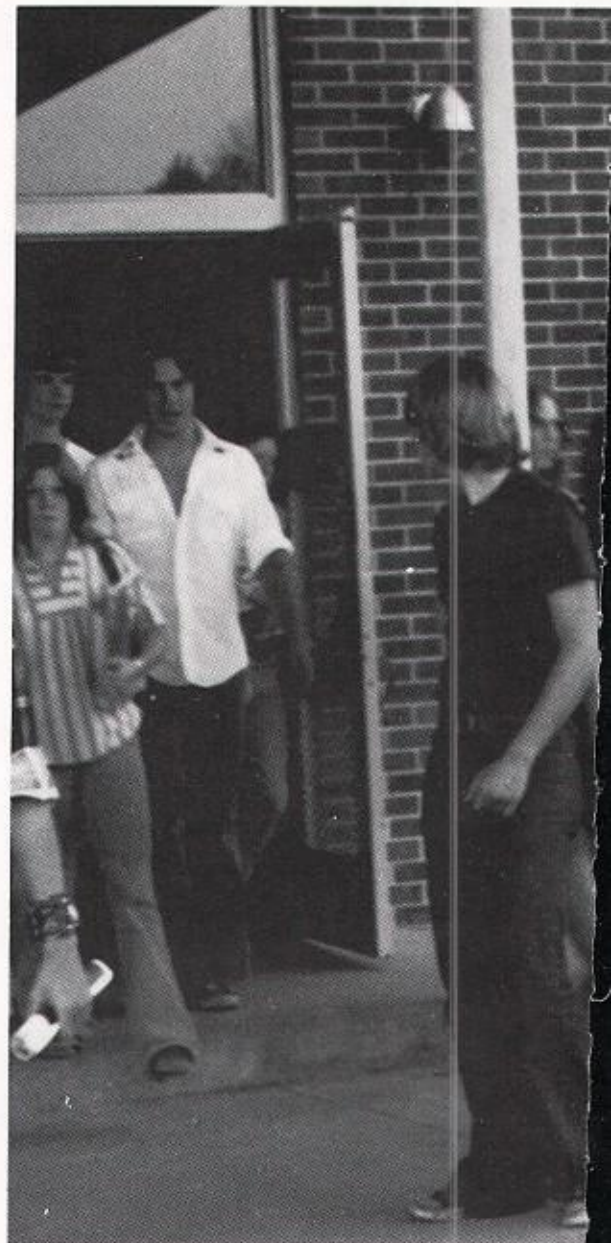

Mr. Dick Kennard of Newsfoto helped us keep our budget down and still do the special effects that made the book special.

Mr. Carl Braden coordinated the picture taking and the administration was really a big help in cooperating with us.

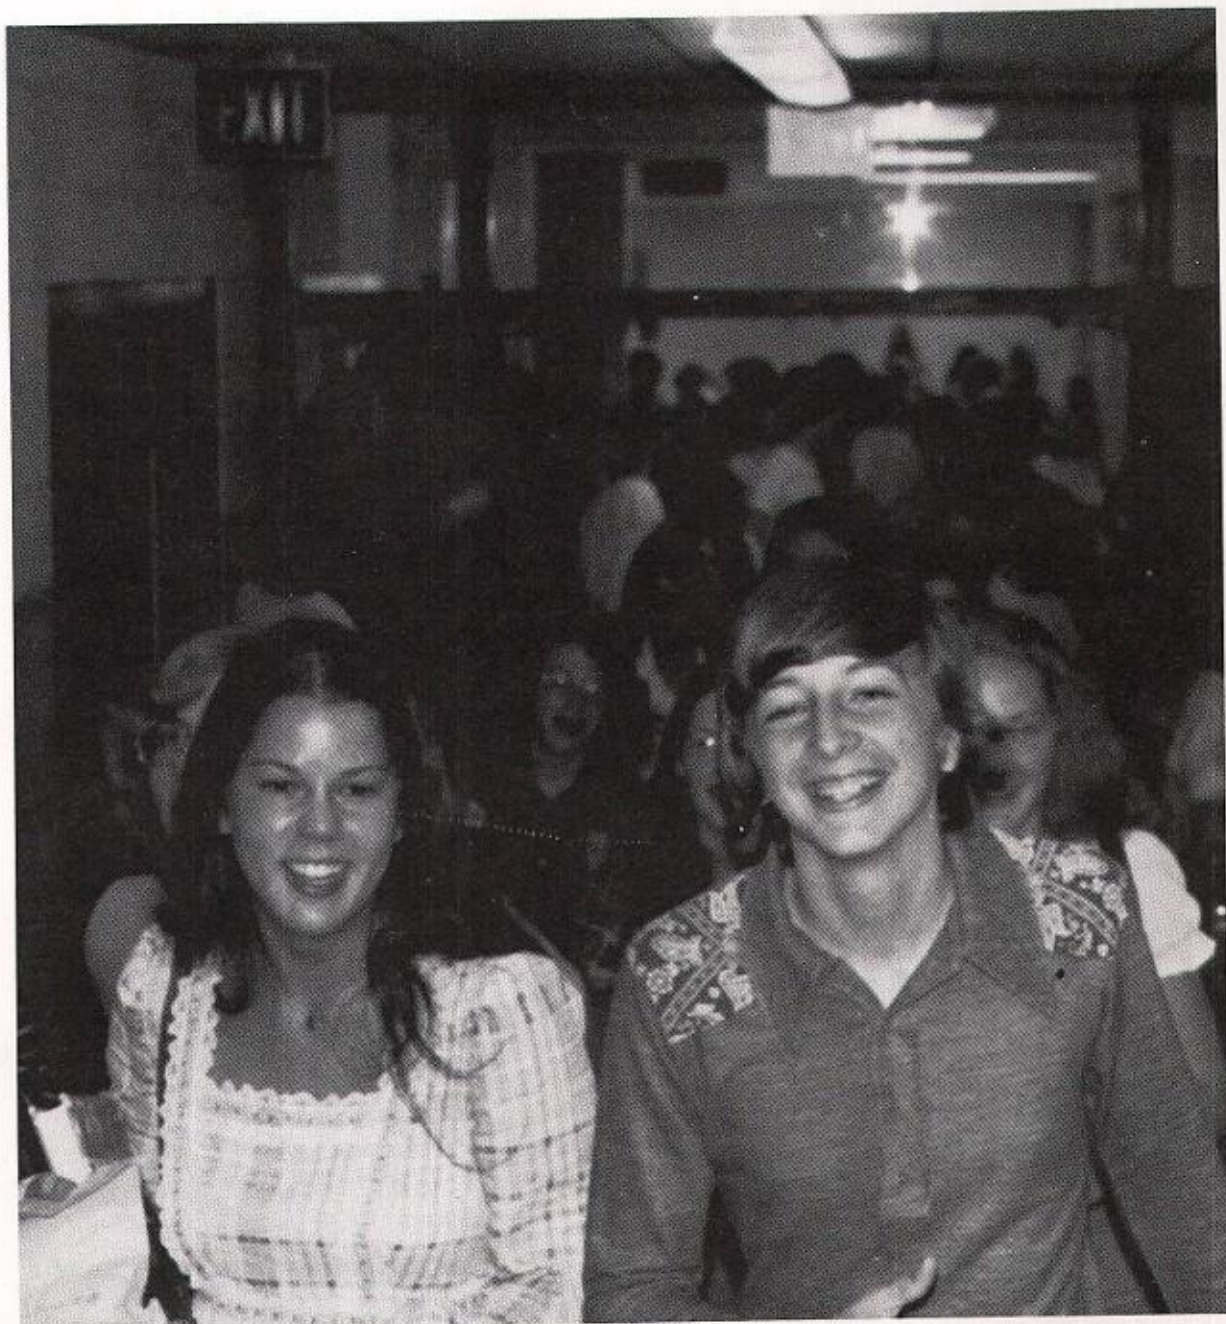

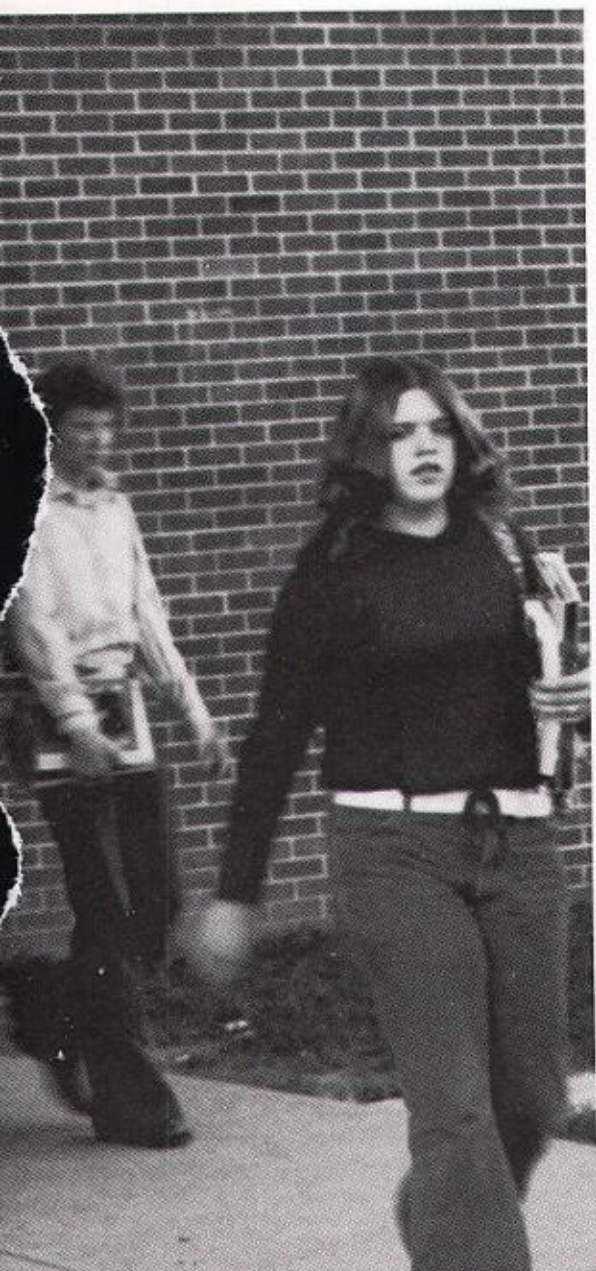

THE LITTLE THINGS

From September to June, high school becomes the second home to most everyone. Class schedules quickly become a daily routine, and you get used to waking up early and going to bed late. Friday is the magic day in the week and Mondays are always blue. Eating "type-A" lunches in the cafeteria, talking with friends, going to your locker after class, standing in line at the bookstore, riding the bus to school and finding a ride home, decorating friends' lockers on their birthdays, spending time in the library when there was nothing else to do, covering the cafeteria with signs during Student Council and Booster Club elections, discovering that "McDonalds is taking over the cafeteria," voting for the first time, getting Journals on Friday, buying Ho-Ho's from the snack bar, standing on the wall counting down till seniors' last day, attending convos and pep sessions, cheering and dreaming of the future all become second nature at Southport High School.

To Paul; it's been nice knowing you. Hope I see you next year.
Have fun this summer! Debbie '77"

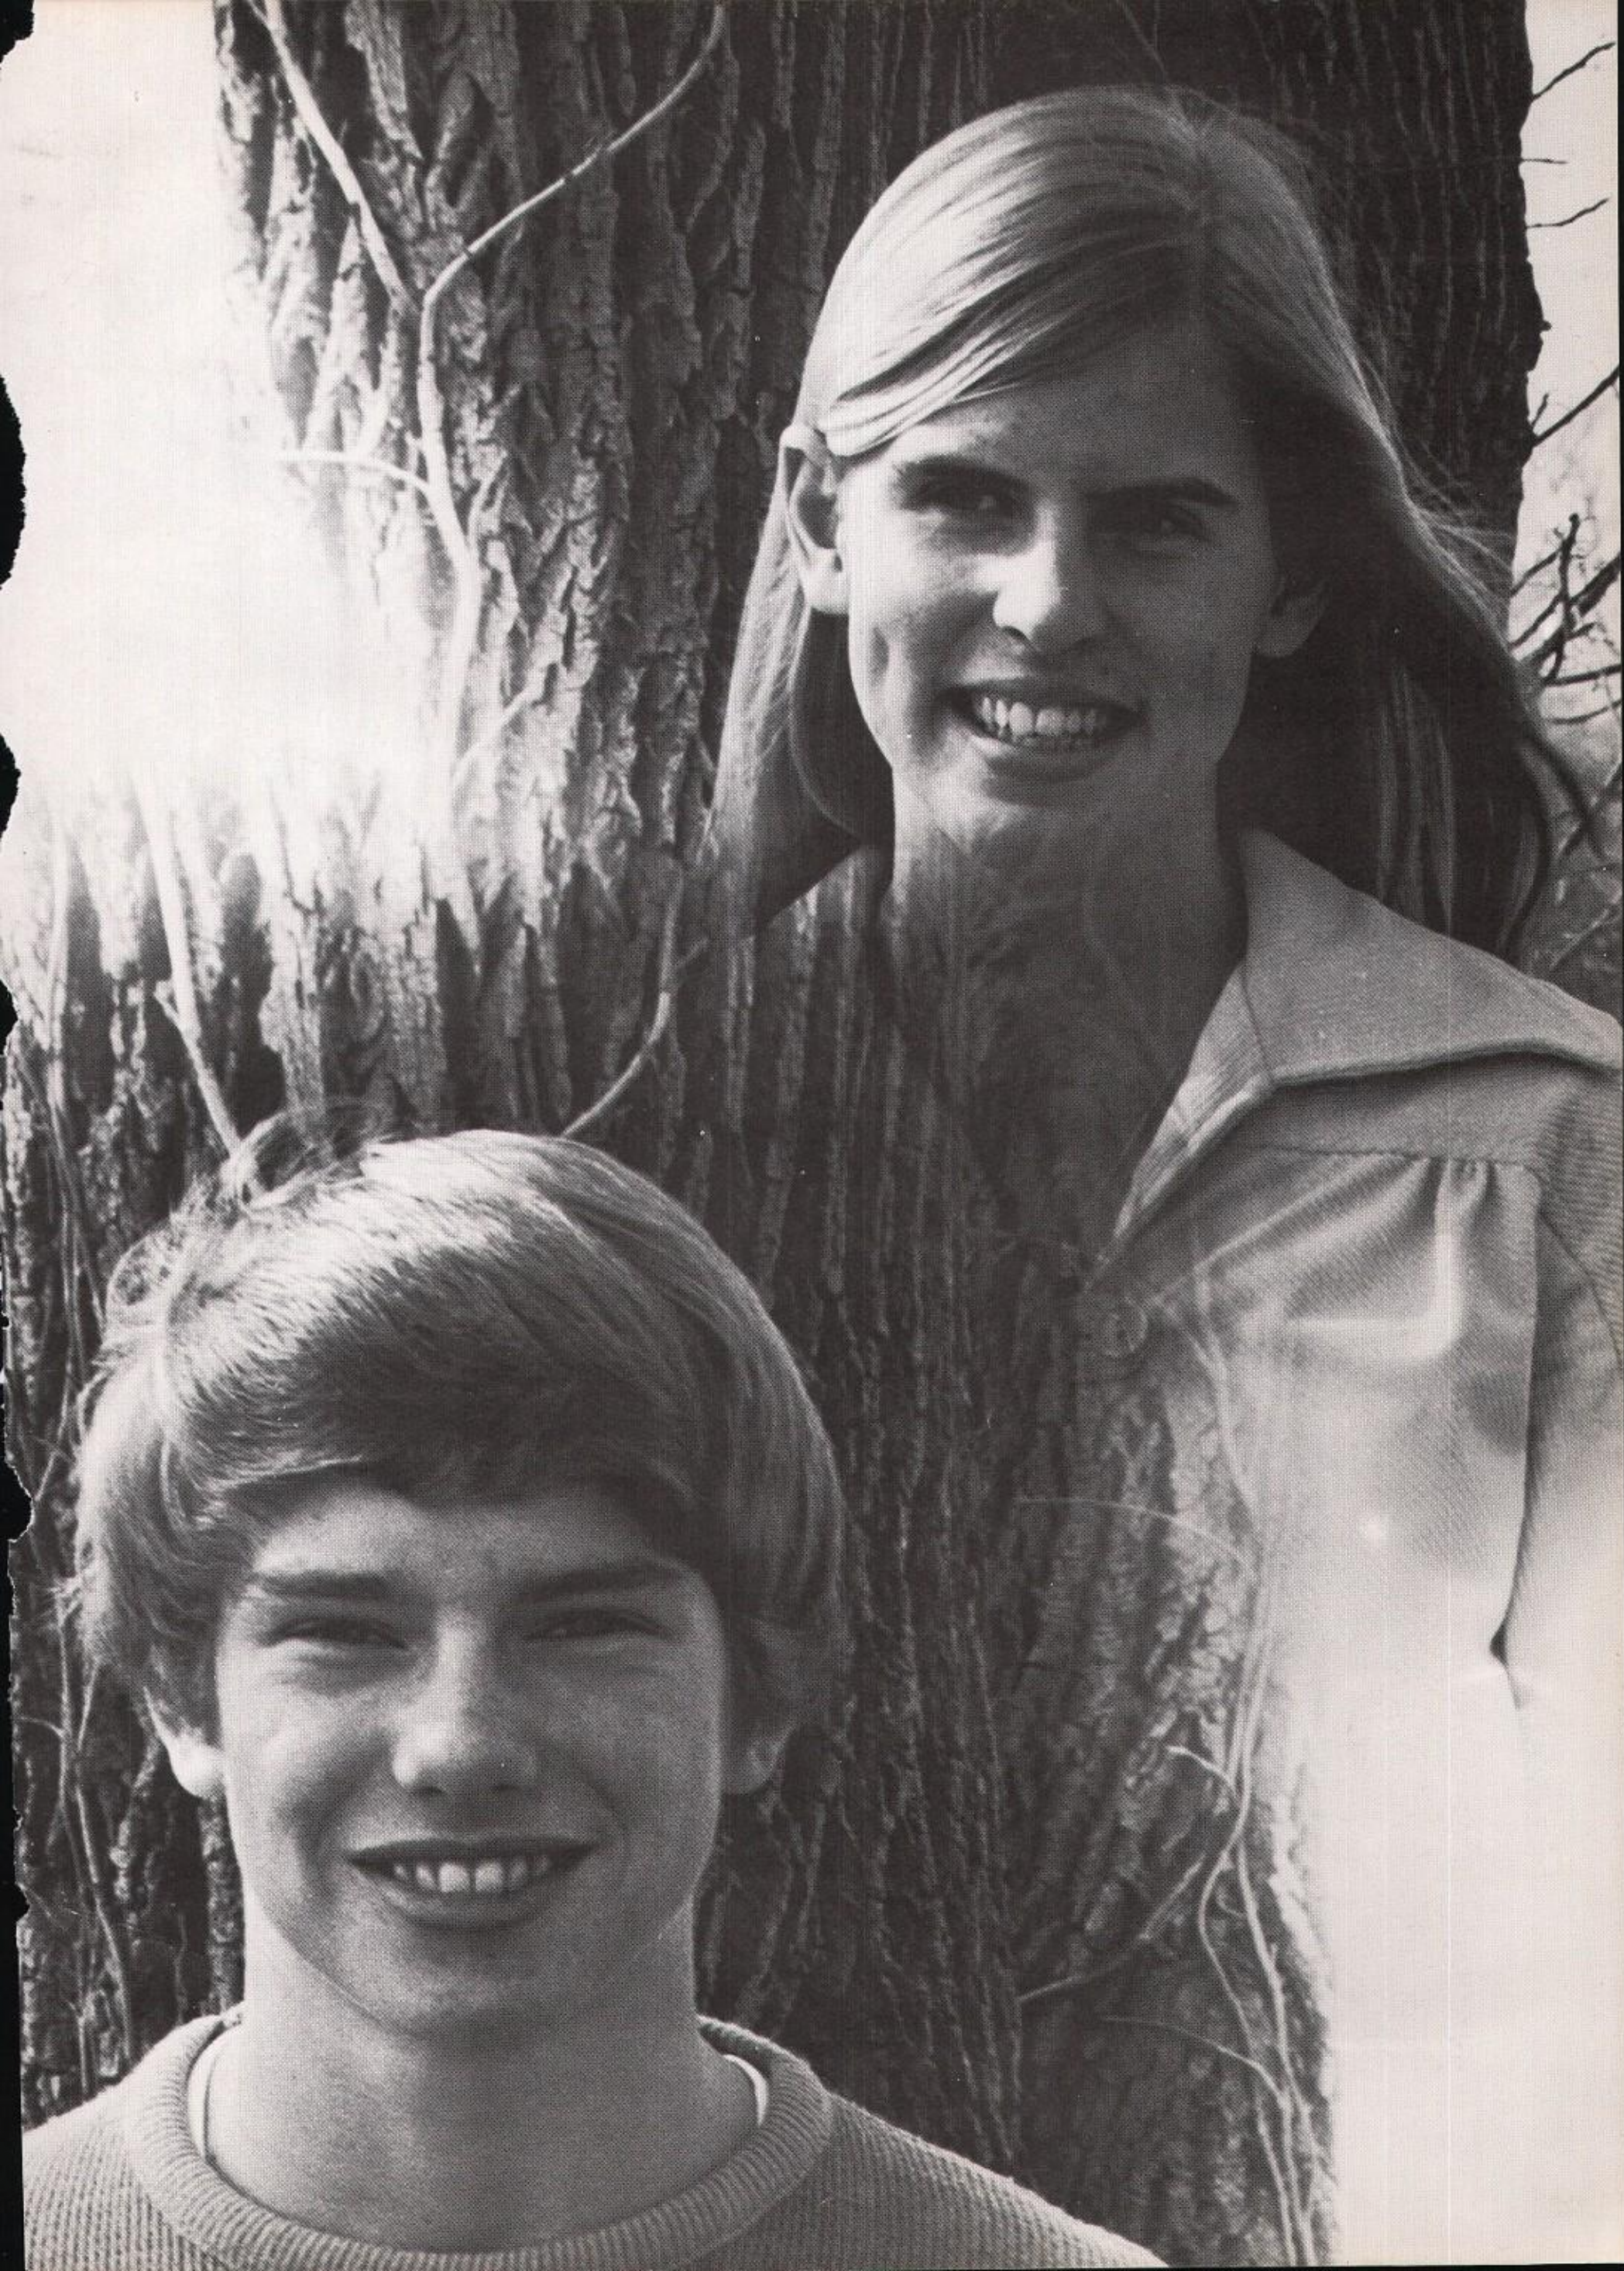

YESTERDAY, TODAY

"We must take a fresh look at America and see what we have to do," said senior Debbie Bretz. The class of '76 will be the only class to graduate in a Bicentennial year. Freshman Jim McAdams stated, "It, the Bicentennial, has made me more aware of America, but I want to be more involved with the future." He added, "I think when we have kids of our own, we will tell them how great it was." Debbie thinks our generation is going to make America better, so what was learned at SHS is just the start of what we will do out in the world. As the Bicentennial will happen only once, Southport participated in many activities saluting America. Stephen Vincent Benet's "Stories of America" was the fall play, the band played in several Bicentennial music programs, "America Waves" was the theme of the Dolphinette show, the township sponsored an essay contest, special PA announcements and a section in the Journal informed SHS students what happened "200 years ago today."

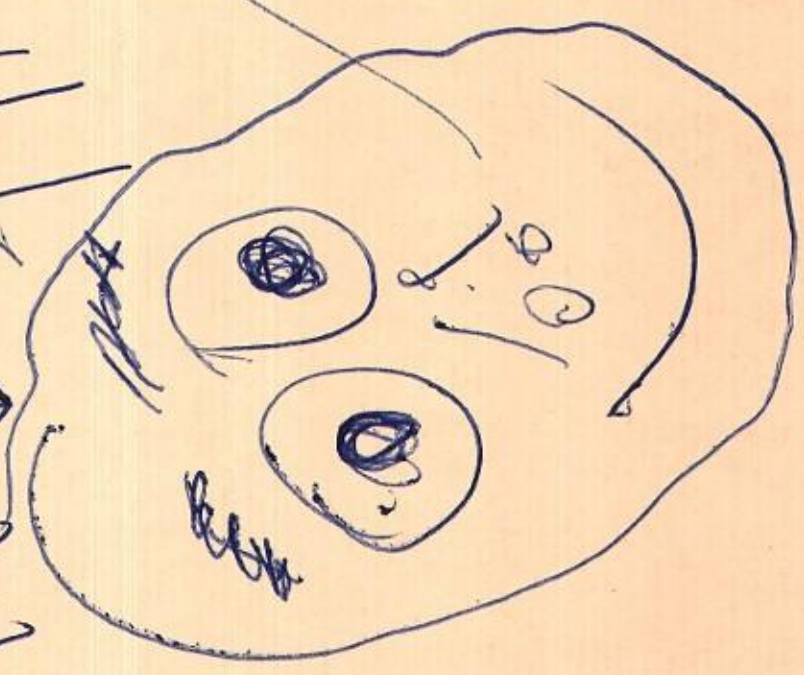

...10 years is a long way off!" exclaimed second-grader Michelle Davis, class of '86. After a little reminder that the Bicentennial isn't the President's birthday but America's, Michelle—just a little confused—came up on top remembering it was the "200th birthday of us." Michelle is going to be the future. When she grows up she wants to be "maybe a girl doctor." If Michelle and her classmates at Southport Elementary School really do what they say they want to, America can't help growing better—for their kids and ours.

Paul,
Thanks for all the paper
and pencils you lent me!
You're really a nice kid. Maybe we will have some classes together next year. Something not as boring as home-room
I hope. See you this summer.
